Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for Dr. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Marvellous Jugglery.

The jugglers of India have for centuries been noted for their remarkable skill in the mysteries of the "black art." The editor of the Commercial Bulletin, travelling in the East, has contributed to that paper some very interesting letters on the customs of the strange people he has visited. Under the above heading he tells, in the last issue, his readers that "convalescence is a capital time for mild amusements which will not tire the languid brain, and we had some jugglers up almost every day. We never could find out their tricks, which are very marvellous. Of course, everybody has heard of the basket trick, where a small boy gets inside a basket, and the juggler plunges a sword through and through it, bringing it out reeking with blood, then holds up the basket, shows there's nothing there, and calls the boy, who calmly appears from outside the circle of spectators. And also of the mango trick, where a seed is placed in the ground, is covered with a cloth, and appears as a shrub, growing visibly before one's very eyes, and then bears fruit, which ripens and is edible in five minutes from first planting. These fellows have very scanty clothing, and apparently no apparatus whatever. There are some wiseacres who profess to know all about these tricks. I never saw the disemboweling and immediate healing of fakirs, in India, nor men sitting in the air, 'levitated,' as Madame Blavatsky calls it. But I have seen other tricks as surprising, and equally unaccountable by any art or science with which Europeans or Americans appear to be acquainted nowadays. I have seen a man throw up into the air a number of balls numbered in succession from one upwards. As each went up, and there was no deception about their going up, the ball was seen clearly in the air, getting smaller and smaller until it disappeared altogether out of sight. When they were all up, twenty or more, the operator would politely ask which "ball you wanted to see, and then would shout out 'No. 1,' 'No. 15,' and so on, as instructed by the spectators, when the ball demanded would bound to his feet, violently from some remote distance.

Then I have seen them swallow three different colored powders, and then, throwing back the head, wash them down with water, drunk in the native fashion in a continuous stream from a lotah, or brass pot, held at arm's length from the lips, and keep on drinking till the swollen body could not hold another drop, and water overflowed from the lips. Then those fellows, after squirting out the water in their mouths, have spat out the three powders on a clean piece of paper, dry and unmixed. As to the thimble-riggery of their minor tricks, they are exceedingly expert, but are probably equalled by many of our distinguished prestidigitateurs; but whatever may be said of the basket and mango tricks, or the sitting in the air, I don't think any of our people are up to the sending of balls into space and recalling them in an unprecedented order. This reminds me of the trick Marco Polo, the great Venetian traveller of earlier times, speaks of having seen at the Court of Prester John, in Central Asia, when a bean was planted and sprung up rapidly toward the heavens, its summit being lost in the clouds. Up this, one juggler travelled, and then another after him, with a drawn sword. In a few minutes, down dropped ears, a nose, a head, and limbs of No. 1; No. 2 leisurely descends, wiping a bloody sword, and shovels up the fragments of his victim into a box, and goes on with other performances, presently calling out for his defunct companion, who thereupon presents himself, as large as life, all alive and kicking, from the throng. This is not a modern trick, but those I have seen are certainly not less marvellous. Then, too, it is a well authenticated fact that some of these jugglers, on more than one occasion in recent years, have suffered themselves to be buried alive, and have been dug out after the lapse of a year."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1877.

Murder Will Out.

The arrest of Charles W. Cooke, for the murder of Miss Susan Hanson at Ossipee over a year ago, was effected by a Boston detective. It will be remembered that Miss Hanson was shot dead while sitting in a room with her mother in the evening, the murderer firing through a window and literally blowing the top of the woman's head off. Joseph Buzzell of Brookfield was arrested for the crime, tried, and acquitted by the jury; so that whatever new evidence may be found against him he cannot again be tried for the murder. Buzzell's motive for getting rid of Miss Hanson was shown to be that he had for a long time been engaged to be married to her, but had at last broken his engagement and married another woman, and that Miss Hanson's friends had induced her to bring against him a suit for breach of promise, which was to have been tried at the term immediately following the date of her murder. The theory of the government was that Buzzell committed the murder; but the defence satisfied the jury that he could not have driven over the rough road between Miss Hanson's home and his own, in the brief period that elapsed between the time the gun was fired and the time he was seen at his own house by reliable witnesses.

Shortly after the trial, the buildings belonging to Mr. John Churchill, of Brookfield, who had been very active in endeavoring to secure Buzzell's conviction, were burned; other fires also occurred; and the detectives in whose hands the matter was placed became convinced that Charles W. Cooke, a young man of about twenty-two, a son of Moses Cooke of Milton and of not very brilliant intellect, had something to do with the fires, and private detective Cohen was set to work on the case. Mr. Cohen applied himself to gaining Cooke's confidence, and succeeded, Cooke finally telling Cohen that he was the man who shot Miss Hanson, being hired to do it by Buzzell for $200, and that he burned several buildings, also at Buzzell's instigation. It is said the money paid by Buzzell for the murder was deposited in the Wolfeboro' Bank by Cooke, and that it is there now; if this should prove true it will be an important piece of evidence, unless he can show that he obtained the money in some other way. Cooke was formerly employed by Buzzell as a farm laborer.

Cooke has often said that Buzzell did not shoot Miss Hanson; and it has been found out that Buzzell went to Milton for Cooke on the Sunday before the girl was murdered Monday night, and that Cooke got the buckshot with which she was murdered from a neighbor before he started. The gun, which was missing on Buzzell's trial, has been found. Cooke had been paid to leave the State on the 1st of May.

The War.

A telegram from Vienna, Tuesday morning, says a desperate battle commenced between the Russian and Turkish forces before Kars on Sunday, and was vigorously progressing all day Monday and up to latest advices.

Egypt will help the Porte all she can, but not at the expense of her creditors.

Prince Nicholas, of Montenegro, left Cettigne for camp on Monday. He said he did not expect the Turks would leave their fortifications and give the Montenegrins an opportunity for such brilliant victories as they achieved in the last campaign. He on his part had no intention of making rash movements.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 148.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

In the last number, an account was given of Rev. Hugh Adams, minister of Durham from 1718 to 1737. His successor was Rev. Nicholas Gilman. He was settled over the church in Durham in 1741. His ministry was but seven years, as he died in 1748. There were many excellencies in him and some vagaries, of which some account will be given.

Mr. Gilman was born in Exeter, Jan. 18, 1708. He was of the noted Gilman family of that town, several of whom arose to great distinction in the affairs of the State and nation. His father, Nicholas, was the great grandfather of Gov. J. T. Gilman, and had ten children, of which Nicholas was the fifth. He graduated at Harvard College in 1724. For many years, while in College and after, he kept a diary, from which we take the following: 1722, Aug. 31, had my declamation in the hall; Sept. 11, Classmate Neal, degraded one year. 1724, July 20, began to keep school in Stratham; Sept. 7, admitted to the church in Exeter. 1725, May 3, began to keep school in Exeter. 1727, April 30, preached my first sermon in Kingston. April 7, began to preach at Portsmouth plains. [Rev. J. Fitch was pastor in Portsmouth then, and this meeting of Mr. Gilman might have been a school house or some dwelling.] 1730, April 3, set out elms before father Gilman's; July 7, 8, new meeting house raised in Exeter; Oct. 22, I was married to Miss M. Thing. 1731, Aug. 26, my first son, Bartholomew, born. 1732, July 23, began to preach at Hampton to assist Mr. Gookin.

In some account of his salary at Durham, he names pork, 500 pounds, beef 600 pounds of that well-fatted, candles 30 pounds, wheat 10 bushels, rye 15 bushels, Indian corn 30 bushels, cider 10 barrels, rum, wine, wood 40 cords, pasturing and wintering four cows and a horse. Mr. Gilman was faithful in reproving errors in others, even those of high standing. He was intimately acquainted with the celebrated Whitefield and loved him. But, early in March, 1745, on hearing him pray at Kittery for Sir William Pepperell, about to take command of the forces raised for the capture of Louisburg, after getting home to Durham, he at once wrote to Mr. Whitefield at Portsmouth admonishing him that he might have been in error in complimenting Mr. Pepperell as having been moved of the Lord in what he was about to undertake, and that he was not influenced by secular motives, etc. Mr. Gilman evidently felt that in prayer, it was not fit to praise men, nor to inform the Most High of things that might be true, and might not. There are many prayers, if they can be called prayers, at this day, in which men are praised; and one has said, that such ministers evidently expect those thus complimented, to hear. Whether Mr. Whitefield was at fault in this, we do not know. But great and good men fail in some things. They may be small faults. Mr. Gilman did not spare Mr. Pepperell either. The same day he wrote to Mr. Whitefield, he wrote to Mr. Pepperell, calling his attention to the importance of making God his trust in his warlike expedition, and told him God would doubtless humble those, who left him out of their schemes.

Mr. Gilman was esteemed a man of devout piety and an evangelical preacher. He was of a living spirit, but evidently of a nervous temperament. After preaching at Durham about four years, and about 1746, a dark cloud came over his usefulness. The late Hon. John Kelly of Exeter put it in this form: "An enthusiast named Woodbury by great zeal ingratiated himself into the favor of Mr. Valentine, over whom he obtained a complete ascendancy. He would call him from bed at midnight, lead him into the woods and spend the night in prayer. His health was injured and his pulpit services neglected."

In April, Rev. Samuel Chilton of Gloucester, Mass., and Rev. Mr. Wise of Berwick, Me., visited Durham to hold a fast. A sermon was preached, but the people, who had become fanatical, acted strangely, turning out their eyes, muttering with their lips, and twisting their bodies into strange forms. Some fell down, some jumped up, catching hold of each other, clapping hands, talking, groaning, some saying, "it is so," others crying, "glory, glory." So the voice of Mr. Wise, who preached, was nearly drowned. After the services one or both ministers went to the house of Mr. Gilman, and it was said the "high fliers" came in like madmen, —but we forbear to quote further. But the next year, 1747, a committee from the ecclesiastical convention visited Durham and found the disorders still continued. A separate meeting was kept up where there was singing, dancing, cursing the devil and spitting in the faces of those supposed to not believe with them. This state of things did not last very long. Mr. Gilman was in feeble health, consumption was upon him, and April 13, 1748, he died, aged 41 years. He was buried in Exeter. A funeral procession was had, in which were many young men of Durham who followed his remains from Durham to his last resting place. An inscription on his tombstone recounts his many virtues and excellencies.

Mr. Gilman's son, Tristram, graduated at Harvard College in 1757, settled in the ministry at North Yarmouth, Me., was long successful pastor there, and died April 1, 1809, aged 73 years. A daughter of his, Elizabeth, become the wife of Rev. Francis Brown, a native of Chester, and for a time President of Dartmouth College.

Political.

Judge Henry Martin Spofford, recently elected Senator from Louisiana by the Nicholls legislature, is not a "carpet-bagger," though he was born in Massachusetts and educated there; for though a Yankee he was never a republican or Unionist, having been a democrat and secessionist before and during the war, and a democrat and opponent of the reconstruction measures since the war. It is a glaring injustice to stigmatise as a "carpet-bagger" a gentleman with so honorable a record as this, even if he was born in New England and is now some kind of a Senator-elect from Louisiana.

One peculiarity of the President is his frankness. He seems to have nothing to conceal. Access is easily had to him, and he is outspoken in his opinions. He has very positive views as to the manner in which United States officers should conduct themselves with respect to politics. In a recent conversation with a friend he stated these views: He said that in his judgment United States officers should not take any part in the primaries or ward meetings before elections, or attend any political conventions as delegates, or do anything to assist in securing the nomination of any particular candidate. But when the candidates are nominated the President said he saw no reason why Federal office-holders should not publicly express their opinions in favor of the candidates of their choice, and labor for their election in the same manner and under the same conditions as other citizens. —"Perley," in Boston Journal.

—When you see a newspaper article which promises in its beginning to be an essay of high merit, it is well to read it for the profit to accrue from so doing. But as a matter of precaution, it is better to glance first at the end to see if anything is said about two sizes of bottles—one for fifty cents and the other for a dollar.—Danbury News.

Local Matters.

THAT "BEER" ARTICLE.

"One that has the temperance cause at heart" writes us as follows: "I was very sorry to read an article in your paper on beer, advocating the use of it. I can't think the use of beer ever kept one person from intoxication. Oh, the many it has caused to be intoxicated! If it is so healthful, why do eminent physicians say it is almost impossible for a wound to heal on one that has drank beer as a common beverage?" Our correspondent closes by earnestly entreating us not to "contaminate" our paper "by advertising for Frank Jones."

We think it would puzzle our correspondent to find where, in the article on "Beer, and how it is brewed," or anywhere else, we ever "advocated the use" of beer, or claimed that it prevented intoxication. The article referred to contained one or two statements which we believe to be true, concerning the Germans and English; and it was added that "the advocates of beer claim that intemperance has fallen off" in this city since its introduction—a claim we neither endorsed nor denied. And the article was not an advertisement for Frank Jones or any other person, but a carefully written (and we thought interesting) account of a local business which amounts (for all the three breweries) to over a million of dollars a year. We propose to give a series of articles, historical and descriptive, concerning the various industries of the city; and the gentleman who has undertaken to prepare them for us considered the brewery business, from its extent and the amount of capital invested in it, of importance enough to have a place in the series. A newspaper may give all the details of a church fair raffle or a base ball match, as a matter of news, without "advocating" either.

A FINE VESSEL.

We have before mentioned the addition by Mr. Valentine Doane, Jr., to his valuable fleet of first-class fishing vessels, of the new schooner Henry M. Clark. On Tuesday, by invitation of Mr. Doane, we paid a visit to the new schooner, and were amply repaid for our trouble, for she is a beautiful specimen of marine architecture. We were shown over the vessel by Capt. Alvin Cahoon, Jr., of Harwich, Mass., who commanded the Daniel Marcy from the time she was launched up to the time of his taking charge of this new vessel, and last year landed twenty three hundred barrels of mackerel.

The Henry M. Clark is built in the best possible manner, of oak and yellow pine, and extra fastened; her dimensions, as given by Capt. Cahoon, are as follows: Length over all, 114 feet; breadth of beam, 25 feet; depth of hold, 10 feet. The length of her mainmast is 83 feet, of the topmast 53 feet; and the main boom is 70 feet long. She carries three jibs, and spreads 2000 feet of canvas. Her tonnage, carpenter's measurement, is 234 20-95; registered tonnage, ———. Her standing rigging is of hemp, served and wormed, and is seven inches in circumference; she carries four shrouds on a side. She carries two 1000-lb. anchors, with 90 fathoms of chains; has improved patent steering gear, and is also fitted with Stone's patent jibing gear,—a great improvement on the old arrangement, for instead of the sheets bringing up with a sudden jerk when the booms swing over, the shock is largely relieved by gutta percha bumpers. She will have two seines and two seine boats.

She will carry a crew of twenty-four men, but has accommodations for forty if necessary. The cabin is finely fitted up, in the most convenient manner; it has seven rooms, including pantry, sail room and water closet; the floor is laid in black walnut and ash, and the sides and ceiling beautifully grained; and the skylight over the saloon is handsomely fitted with red and blue stained glass. The forecastle is we think the finest we ever saw on any vessel; it is over eight feet in height, and has bunks on each side for the men, and a large store room connected with it for the provisions; there is a large stationary table and the cook-stove, yet still there is room enough for all without any being crowded; and the whole (excepting the cook stove) is very handsomely grained. Altogether, the Henry M. Clark is one of the finest vessels,—if not the finest,—in the whole fishing fleet on the coast, as she is one of the largest. She will hunt for mackerel during the season, and at its close will enter the fruit-carrying trade, and also take passengers if occasion requires.

A BIG ESTABLISHMENT.

It is hardly necessary for us to call attention to the advertisement of Houghton & Dutton on another page of this paper, as it cannot be overlooked by any one who opens the paper at all. The business carried on by that firm is immense, and their stock includes almost everything in the shape of necessary wear or articles of ornament and luxury, for men and women, girls and boys; they do not attempt to give a list of the articles they sell in their advertisements, as it would be impossible to do so in ordinary limits. A large part of their goods are imported direct from Europe by themselves, thus saving the charges of middlemen and jobbers; and the saving thus effected goes to the benefit of their patrons, in the shape of reduced prices. Mr. Dutton has within a few days returned from a three months' purchasing tour in Europe, with an immense supply of choice goods bought on most advantageous terms, and to be disposed of at correspondingly rates. One item of their stock is thirty thousand parasols and sun-umbrellas; they sell gents' shirts of Wamsutta cotton, with extra linen bosoms, at 66 to 84 cents; ladies' and gents' linen handkorchiefs from four cents to 25; Elmwood paper collars at 16 cents a box, linen collars and cuffs 13 cents a set; and other articles,—boots and shoes, underwear for ladies and children, suits, gloves and hosiery, shawls, etc., at similarly low prices; so that the boast made that a lady who has fifty dollars to spend, if she lives within a hundred miles of Boston can save money by paying railroad fares both ways and trading at Houghton & Dutton's, may not be entirely idle. Of this we are assured, that persons visiting Boston to make purchases will find as varied a stock of superior goods and at as low prices at No. 55 Tremont street as at any other place in that city.

News and Notes.

The bakers of Washington having raised the price of loaves one cent, the police made a simultaneous descent upon all their shops early Thursday morning, and confiscated hundreds of short weight loaves, besides collecting a fine of $2 for each loaf.

An engine on the Chicago, Alton & St. Louis Railroad ran off the track and turned over, near Chicago, Monday evening. Eight or ten persons were on the engine, five of whom were killed outright, two others being terribly injured, one of the latter, the engineer, having both legs broken.

The reported sale of the Stevens battery to Russia or Turkey is authoritatively denied.

It is stated that a trunk on a wagon of the New York Transfer Company was robbed last Thursday while standing in the stable of $53,000 worth of diamonds.

The United States man-of-war Tennessee arrived at Yokohama April 12th. Commander J. D. Marvin of the United States sloop-of-war Alert shot himself on board of his ship in Yokohama harbor April 10th.

The body found on the shore of the lake and supposed to be that of P. P. Bliss, turns out to be an unknown German.

The rapid growth of the debt of incorporated cities is a pressing danger. It is easy to borrow, the ease begets the desire, and soon the interest roll is so long as to become a real evil. The city of Montreal alone, the finest city in this Dominion, is in debt to such an extent that it is called upon this year to pay $718,000 of interest and sinking fund—nearly two thousand dollars a day! The Witness points out that the sum has nearly doubled since 1873, or in four years. The taxes for schools have trebled in four years. Of course the burden upon the tax payers, particularly as times grow poor, is simply enormous, and many have moved outside the city limits to escape payment, which makes it only so much the worse for those who remain.—St. John (N. B.) Globe.

The Wamsutta Mills, at New Bedford, started up Monday morning, less than half of the striking operatives going to work. There was much hooting and noise on the part of the strikers, and several persons were arrested.

Part of the roof of the new post office in New York city fell in on Tuesday, killing four persons and doing great damage to property.

DeKalb, Kemper county, Miss., has had a tragedy. John W. Gully, a prominent democrat, was recently assassinated, and on the affidavits of two negroes five white men, four republicans and one democrat, were arrested. On Monday a party of armed men attacked the prisoners and killed them all.

Ex-Chief Naval Constructor Hanscom will go on the retired list in June, with the rank of captain; had he held the position of Chief Constructor until his retirement he would have held the rank of commodore. There is some talk of a court-martial, which is expected (if held) to result in his dismissal from the service.

George Hodgkins, of Rockport, Mass., was found in a dying condition at Bristol, Me., Monday. It is supposed he was beaten to death by a man with whose wife he had been too intimate.

A meeting of the stockholders in the Michigan Central Railroad was held in Concord on Monday evening. Hon. Asa Fowler presided, with John V. Barron, Secretary. A series of resolutions was adopted in favor of a change in the management of the road and appointing a committee of three to solicit proxies in New Hampshire in favor of a change, and sending an agent to vote on the same at the annual meeting in June. The Committee appointed consists of Hon. E. H. Rollins and John V. Barron of Concord, and Hon. Dexter Richards of Newport.

And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

JOTTINGS.

This evening at Franklin Hall, Miss Maggie Mitchell will present her new play, "Mignon," for the first time in this city. The Boston Traveller says: "Mignon is a remarkably effective acting play. The situations are good, the plot is beautiful in its idea and the whole piece grows in strength and holds upon the spectators' attention to the end. It is a play well adapted to show to their best advantage the peculiar powers of the star. Miss Mitchell seems scarcely to have grown a day older during the last twelve years; and she is as vivacious and amusing, as well as capable of exciting the deeper emotions, as ever."

When Mr. Robeson was Secretary of the Navy he made some extensive purchases of live oak, which purchases were "investigated" by committees of the democratic House until it was found that the man (Swift) who sold the live oak was a good democrat and had never been anything else, and had contributed liberally to the funds in aid of Capt. Marcy's election as Governor of New Hampshire and Tilden's election as President of the United States. Then the "investigation" came to a dead stop. This navy yard, like the others, was pretty well blocked up with cargoes of this timber, and many republicans thought a large portion of the money spent for it would have been better laid out if paid for labor, while the democrats (until they found a democrat was the principal man in the business) were sure the whole thing was a big corruption and flat-footed fraud. It now seems the Secretary's timber speculations did not merit the censure they received, as the Navy Department can sell its large stock of live oak for fully twice what it cost.

The good people of North Hampton having expressed a desire to witness the famous Portsmouth Dramatic Club in their performance of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," the Company are considering the matter of giving an entertainment there some time during the last of next week. Concerning the performance of this play at Rye by the Dramatic Club, last Friday evening, the correspondent of the Times says: "It was admirably played and would have done no discredit to a company of professionals. Where all the characters were so finely rendered, it is perhaps needless to particularize; but Bryant's 'Sample Swichel' brought down the house with roars of laughter, while Gardner's 'Joe Morgan' drew the tears from many an eye. The parts of Joe Morgan's wife and daughter were very effectively played, as, indeed, were all the parts in this realistic drama of life. The play was worth a score of temperance lectures, in the interests of genuine reform."

Mr. Henry F. Gerrish on Tuesday displayed for sale at his store some very handsome asparagus, raised by himself,—the first in the market, so far as we have heard.

An Eastern Railroad train, Tuesday morning, ran over a fourteen-years-old son of John S. Pike at Newburyport, crushing his hand and badly bruising his head.

—Within seven years there have been married from a milliner's store on Temple Place, Boston, the precise number of fifty-seven young lady clerks. Of course all vacancies are promptly filled and salary is no object.

—The paint brush is being wafted over the hotels at Niagara Falls, the resident Irishmen are practicing upon their Indian dialect, the hackmen are robbing and murdering each other for practice, and all nature bears the unmistakable indications that the annual summer victim is approaching.—Rochester Democrat.

—Speaking of protocols and treaties, Mr. Labouchere tells this story: "Years ago I was in America, and went down with the English Minister in the United States to a small inn in Virginia, where we were to meet Mr. Marcy, the then United States Secretary of State, and a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States was to be quietly discussed. Mr. Marcy, the most genial of men, was as cross as a bear. He would agree to nothing. 'What on earth is the matter with your chief?' I said to a Secretary who accompanied him. 'He does not have his rubber of whist,' answered the Secretary. After this every night the Minister and I played at whist with Mr. Marcy and his Secretary, and every night we lost. The stakes were very trifling, but Mr. Marcy felt flattered by beating the Britishers at what he called their own game. His good humor returned, and every morning when the details of the treaty were being discussed we had our revenge, and scored a few points for Canada."

Scotching Malaria.

It is a fact widely and amply attested that where the powerful and pernicious drug, quinine, and other mineral poisons, administered as remedies for fever and ague and bilious remittents, fail to yield more than temporary relief to the sufferer, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters scotches those tremendous epidemics most thoroughly, and by strengthening the system and regulating its functions, protects it against malarial attacks. No resident of a locality where the above maladies prevail, or where they are likely to break out in consequence of the poisoning of the atmosphere by noxious exhalations, should fail to take practical cognizance of the above important truth, and by a timely use of the Bitters avoid the ravages of maladies so disastrous to the physical constitution. There is not in existence a finer tonic, corrective and defensive cordial.

Conveniently near the prominent business houses, all places of public interest and resort, and in the very heart of the best resident portion of the city, for good living, good treatment, and quiet comfort, the Colonnade Hotel, on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, can be conscientiously recommended.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

ESTABLISHED IN 1833.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL IN THE UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG, SUCCESSOR TO Dr. TELLER, DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1833 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Motte's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to DR. S. V. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Rat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had, I feel quite well, can eat and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1876.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22nd of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and forty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come. Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have. Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried in vain to know relief from many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room about all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting celebrated springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The pain was so agonizing my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost well. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas. J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will succeed in any case wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist or Clarenont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Colorado Potato Beetle.

In the year 1824, the Colorado Potato Beetle was found in Upper Missouri; from then to the year 1850, it had spread eastward and reached a point one hundred miles west of Omaha City in Nebraska. In 1861 it invaded Iowa, gradually in the next three or four years spreading eastward over that State. In 1864 and 1865, it crossed the Mississippi, invading Illinois, and pushing eastward at the rate of about fifty miles a year. In 1869, its presence was reported in Ohio. Early in the summer of 1874, it had made its appearance on the Atlantic seaboard, and was reported during the year from several parts of Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia. Its injuries also increased in its native home. During the year 1876, the insect swarmed in most of the New England States, and especially on the seashore. It has extended north around Montreal, and was especially abundant as far as Trois Rivieres; while in its eastern progress it has overrun Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire, and extended some distance into Maine. As the larva is sluggish and never leaves the plant from which it is hatched, except in quest of more food, until it is ready to pupate, all the journeys of this insect are necessarily made in the perfect or beetle state, by means of the ample rose-colored wings, which, when the insect is at rest, are completely folded up beneath the striped wing-cases. Its spread, however, over the more populous portions of the country, is not to be attributed to its powers of flight alone. It undoubtedly avails itself, to no inconsiderable extent, of every means of transportation afforded to other travellers, and often got a lift on eastern bound trains, and most probably crossed the more barren plains bordering its native confines through man's direct agency, i. e., by being carried. There is a possibility that in some instances it may have been carried in the egg state on living plants, or in the pupa state in lumps of earth; but these modes of transit, if at all, have necessarily been exceptional. Let it not be understood that the insect in its onward spread, or march, ever entirely quits any district where it has once attained a foothold. This idea of its itinerate character seems very generally to prevail, and a great many people labor under the impression that soon after its advent, this dreaded foe to the potato will of its own accord takes its leave as suddenly as it came—that like every other dog, it will have its day; it may, and very generally does, prove more injurious during the first two or three years of its advent than subsequently. From careful observation, I am confident in saying, the wetter the season, the less damage done by them.

The question that the juices of the insect on the human skin are poisonous, is as a rule, a mistake. Yet persons with blood in bad condition, may be poisoned by getting said juices in wounds or cuts. As to the method of destroying, and getting potato fields rid of them, I am of the opinion that the process of picking and burning on a pile of brush or straw, "not scalding them," is the cheapest and surest, as in this way, you have the chance to pick off also the leaves with the eggs on at the same time. From careful observation, I have found that the female begins to lay her eggs on the under side of the leaves, as soon as the potato plants appear above ground. The eggs are oval, of a translucent dark orange color, in clusters of from ten to forty. The larvæ are hatched in less than a week, and are at first of a dark Venetian red, becoming lighter and acquiring a double row of black lateral spots as they approach maturity.—Mass. Ploughman.

—It is said that Eve was made for Adams Express Company, but this is probably a figment of some common carrier of slander.

—This is the cool and candid way in which the London Court Journal notices a recent fashionable ball; "The dresses were, with a few exceptions, very handsome, and nearly all new."

—A gentleman took his little boy to a model farm to see the wonders of the place. After they had been there a short time, the little fellow ran crying to his father, being at the same time pursued by a big turkey-cock, which was trying to get a piece of bread out of his hand. "What, my boy," said the father, "are you afraid of a turkey? Why, you ate part of one yesterday." "Yes, papa," responded the little fellow, wiping his eyes; "but this one isn't cooked."

—Henry Wood, a man for many years a resident of Woodford, Vt., and very deaf, was recently coming home from Bennington when he became thirsty and stopped at the house of an acquaintance to get a drink of water. Hearing his knock the owner of the house called "come in," but Wood hearing neither the first nor a second invitation, entered not. Tramps had been plenty that day and it was but the work of a moment for the man of the house to grasp his gun, slip out of the back door and round to the front of the house. Here he took aim at the supposed tramp, who was wondering much, meanwhile, why the door was not opened, and fired, doing no harm. Wood heard nothing, rapped again and was saluted with a second and third charge of shot, neither of which hit him. After the third shot he gave it up and started along and not until the next day did he learn that he owed his life to his friend's poor marksmanship.

The Ossipee Murder.

Joseph Buzzell of Brookfield, and his wife Irene, are at Ossipee under arrest. A Post correspondent says a disclosure or confession of Cook was made before Charles D. Gaffney and John W. Sanborn, but has not been made public. The following is the substance of the confession as obtained from reports current on the streets, and is correct, but not official. Cook says the murder was arranged beforehand, and that Buzzell was to go to Wolfboro; when he returned he was to drive to a certain tree, where Cook was to meet him; Buzzell did arrive at the tree as promised, with his horse all in a foam; Cook had the gun, which they had loaded together with slugs and buckshot, and the two went on; they hitched the horse to the very tree named in the trial; they then went to the house where they could see Miss Hanson, and then Buzzell said, "You fire the gun;" Cook declined, and Buzzell threatened to kill him if he did not; Cook then took the gun and fired the fatal shot. They then ran, Cook through the woods and Buzzell across the ploughed ground. The gun was thrust into the hay-mow by Buzzell, and Cook has not seen the gun since. Buzzell promised to pay Cook $500 but has never paid him a cent. The $75 new in the Carroll County Bank was earned by Cook when working for John Churchill, whose house he afterwards burned as he now confesses. He states that Buzzell came to Churchill's where he was at work, on the evening of March 19, 1876, and rapped him up and got him to burn the house. He took kerosene and poured it all over the room and then lighted it with a candle. Cook says he does not know who burned the barns.

Irene Buzzell, Joseph Buzzell's wife, and Jonathan Sanborn, his brother-in-law, who were two of the most effective witnesses for Buzzell on his trial, are under arrest for being accessory to the murder after the fact. Sanborn is one of the most prominent citizens of Brookfield, and chairman of the County Commissioners of Carroll county.

The War.

Telegrams from London state that the reported great battle at Kars was but an affair of outposts. Mukhtar Pasha is in command of the Turks at Kars.

The policy of France is announced to be one of strict neutrality.

Turkey has officially declared that it will not carry on the war in Servian territory, notwithstanding which assurance the Servians do not seem satisfied; it is possible they think Turkey capable of lying.

Russia has promised to respect the neutrality of Servia.

The Turks have captured two Roumanian men-of-war. An English steamer entering the harbor of Kertch, without the necessary precautions, was totally destroyed by a torpedo.

Russia has declared the navigation of the Danube re-opened, subject to certain local restrictions. The re-opening is due to the very decided remonstrance of Austria.

An official Russian despatch announces that the Turkish garrison, numbering 1700, abandoned Bayazid on Monday and withdrew to Allada heights, leaving a large quantity of ammunition. The Russians occupied the town.

Austria is greatly incensed at the convention between Roumania and Russia.

A Herzegovinian insurgent force attacked the Turkish vanguard near Nevisigne on the 1st, killing fifteen men.

Immense activity prevails in all the British dockyard, and the powerful ironclads are being rapidly fitted for sea. Recruiting for the army has been carried on so briskly that nearly every regiment in the service is full.

The following account of the running the blockade at Galatz by the Turkish steamer Rethymo is given: "Hobart Pasha, the English Admiral of the Turkish fleet, left Rustchuk at eight o'clock. On arriving opposite Galatz, which was guarded by torpedoes and heavy batteries commanding the river, the lights on the steamer had been extinguished, but a rocket from the Roumanian shore showed that Hobart Pasha's approach was discovered and apprised the Russian gunners. On his coming abreast of the batteries the heavy guns began to fire, but the Rethymo was run so close in shore that the gunners were unable to depress their pieces fast enough to get good aim. The Admiral only fired one shot, and the Rethymo passed on to the Black Sea safely."

Perils of the Ocean.

The details of the loss of British barque Maria, of Yarmouth, N. S., and the death by starvation of thirteen men out of her crew of fourteen, and given to the public through the statement of the only survivor, James M. Linden, of Belfast. The Maria sailed from Darien, Ga., for Belfast, Ireland, with lumber, on the 15th of November last. A few days after leaving port the weather became very rough, and the cargo was shifted with the motion of the vessel with such force as to seriously damage the ship's frame and sheathing. A serious leak was the result of the storm, and in spite of the utmost exertions of the crew the barque became waterlogged, and steadily settled, lower and lower, into the sea. As the cargo was entirely of timber, the vessel did not sink, but careened and fell over on her broadside, with her spars under water. By desperate effort, the crew escaped destruction and gained the side of the vessel that was out of water, clinging for support to the rigging. The weather continued to be very heavy, and the waves dashed over the vessel and completely covered the unfortunate crew, who with great difficulty maintained their hold. The masts broke off one by one; and at last the barque was relieved of their weight and righted again. But this did not help the crew, already suffering not only from exhaustion, but the keenest pangs of hunger and thirst. The vessel's decks were submerged in the waves, and everything had been swept away. The boats had been carried off in the storm, and there was no hope of escape except by some happy rescue. All the ship's stores were out of reach, and all the horrors of death by starvation faced these fourteen miserable men as they drifted at the mercy of the waves. At last a sail was seen by the crew. The City of Montreal, Captain Mudgett, was near them; but, on account of the tremendous gale which prevailed, and the waves which fixed an impassable gulf between the two vessels, no help could be given. The great ship sailed away, and left the crew of the water-logged vessel in utter despair. Once more a sail was seen, on the 14th of December. But the Italian barque, Madree Figli, which then sighted the wreck, could render no help. The elements had conspired to work their doom upon the crew of the British vessel. All hope of rescue seems now to have been abandoned by these miserable men. Weeks of hunger and thirst had brought them to a state of utter savagery. As sheer starvation claimed its victims, one by one, the survivors watched for the agonies of death with eager eyes. No sooner had breath gone from the body than the famishing survivors cut the throat of the dead man and drank the blood that flowed sluggishly from the wound. The survivors, reduced to mere skeletons, could not long exist on such horrible sustenance, and day by day the number grew less. Savage instincts had now got complete away, and not content with drinking the blood of the dead, their bodies were cut up and the heart and brains were divided between the survivors. It is at least something to know that no murder was done on the wreck, though for thirty-two days the sufferings of the crew in the mid-Atlantic continued. At last, on the 17th of December, when only two living persons were left on the submerged deck of the Maria, rescue came. The three-masted schooner F. E. Macdonald, from Boston to Goree, came within sight of the wreck. It was by mere accident, says Captain Zenas Kane, her commander, that the waterlogged vessel was fallen in with, but certainly it was a happy Providence to the man who has escaped all these perils. A boat was sent to the wreck, and two living skeletons, all that were left of the crew of the Maria, were taken to the Macdonald. Both the men were more dead than alive when rescued, and one died in four hours after being taken to the American vessel. By kind care and assiduous attention, the other rescued man survived.

News and Notes.

One of the most remarkable games of base ball ever played was played on Tuesday, by the Stars of Syracuse and the Brown Stockings of St. Louis at St. Louis. Fifteen innings were played without either side scoring a run, and darkness then put an end to the game.

The Union Banking Company of Philadelphia, a concern which had a capital of $700,000 and stood high with the public, failed on the 1st of May.

The debt statement issued May 1st shows a reduction of $4,315,509 for the last month, and for the fiscal year since July 1st last of $29,000,000. This leaves only $4,000,000 to make the sinking fund good for this year, and two months to do it in. The sinking fund originated under the act of Feb. 25, 1862, amounted July 1st 1876, to $433,848,215, and it has been overpaid $223,000,000 during that time. For next year the amount due the sinking fund will be $35,000,000.

Two old Union soldiers, Thompson and Watson, have been indicted for murder by a West Virginia grand jury, for killing one Ice, a rebel sympathizer and suspected spy, whom they were detailed to arrest and fired upon as he was running away. Major General Kelley, who gave the order for Ice's arrest, is very much stirred up about it, and declares he will make trouble if injustice is done his old soldiers.

It is reported that President Gowan, of the Reading Railroad, is heartily sick of his onslaught on the engineers. The lock-out has cost the road many thousands of dollars and its business is suffering very much. Even should Gowan succeed in getting his road in good running condition without the aid of the discharged engineers, he will fail in injuring the Brotherhood, it is said, as the men intend to associate themselves with other divisions. It is announced in a Pittsburgh paper that the Boston and Maine Company has suffered a loss of over $200,000 so far in its contest with the Brotherhood, and the expense is rolling up at the rate of $50,000 a month. The Reading road has offered an advance of twenty-five per cent. to all the old engineers who will return and give up the Brotherhood, but so far the offer has failed to influence one man.—New Haven Union.

The Satsuma insurrection in Japan in extent and bloodshed exceeds all anticipation. A rigid censorship is exercised over newspapers, and no reports are published concerning the Government reverses. The hospitals are crowded with wounded Government soldiers. Many important leaders have been slain and not less than 10,000 troops have been killed. The forces against Saigon number 30,000.

A reporter of the Graphic has conversed with several well-posted British shipmasters, and the general opinion among them is that England will be drawn into the Eastern war. All acknowledge that if the trans-Atlantic traffic is lost to them by reason of a stoppage in the existing arrangement, and the "Yankees" put steamers in the ocean trade, it will be many years before they can regain their supremacy, if they ever do. There is much anxiety among all these men upon this subject.

Commodore D. McN. Fairfax has been ordered to command the naval station at New London, Conn. Lieutenant Samuel Belden is detached from duty in charge of the naval station at New London, and ordered to report to Commodore Fairfax as senior aid to the commandment at that station.

The papers report that steamer Hercules, at Newburyport 27th ult., from Philadelphia, had been in collision with steamer Aries and "had her cultivator knocked off."

A Constantinople correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes: "The Turkish recruit is awkward at first, stupid, and difficult to instruct, but he yields readily to discipline, and in time becomes the best of soldiers. In battle he has faith in his cause, and contempt for the enemy. He soon rallies under defeat. Victory elates him and renders him difficult of control. Plunder, massacre are outrage on the weak and helpless are the privileges of success which he insists on enjoying and which cannot be denied him. For this reason a conquering Turkish army leaves a track of desolation behind it that ages often cannot efface."

The New York Tribune intimates that the Turks lie and the Russians conceal the truth, when they are at war.

Judge Spofford, the democratic carpet-bag Senator from Louisiana, was born at Gilmanton, in this State.

The holder of deposit book No. 100 at the Strafford Savings Bank in Dover recently settled up the account with that institution —the account extending over a period of upwards of fifty years. The account of Mrs. John E. Bickford, of Dover, is the oldest on the books at the present time, a deposit having been made for her in infancy by her father, the late Capt. Moses Paul.

A son of Michael Howland, of Dover, a lad of about 12 years, dislocated one of his fingers while playing base ball, in such a manner that the bones were forced through the flesh.

John D'Orsay, of West Peterborough, during his lifetime has broken his left leg and left arm, received a bullet in his left lung during the war, lost his left thumb by a circular saw, and now has lost his left index finger in a picker. If he meets with many more accidents there won't be much left of him.

The Grand Lodge of New Hampshire of the Independent Order of Good Templars will hold its annual session in Dover on Wednesday, May 9. The business will be important, as one of the questions to be acted and decided upon will be in regard to the colored race and the order, which is now agitating the Good Templars all over the world. All the lodges in the State are to be represented.

An elderly lady named Ham has won a verdict in the Supreme Court against the city of Dover, on account of injuries received by a fall occasioned by a defect in the sidewalk. She was awarded $1300 by the jury, but the counsel for the city took exceptions and it is said a new trial will result.

—The silver question: "Is this here a counterfeit?"

—And now the gilt-edged handkerchief is the latest agony of swelldom. The edge must just peep from the dear boy's overcoat pocket on the port side.

—Gentlemen who can't tell a polonaise from an apron front will bear in the mind the prevailing distinction between a hat and a bonnet. One is worn over the ear and the other on the nape of the neck.

—Rev. Dr. Catheart in a lecture at Philadelphia said that every President of the United States, from Washington to the present occupant of the Presidential chair, had been a member of the Masonic order.

—An Iowa farmer preserves fence posts by boring a three-quarter inch hole from the side to the center of the post and filling it with salt, securing it in place by a pine plug. He set posts thirty-five years ago, thus treated, which are as sound now as when put in the ground.

—When a man leaves our side and goes to the other side, he is a traitor, and we always feel there is something wrong about him. But when a man leaves the other side and comes over to us, then he is a man of great moral courage, and we always feel that he has sterling stuff in him.

—The Fulton Times deplores that whereas, our forefathers were content to spread their frugal repast upon the bare bark that they stripped from the forest trees, the aristocracy of to-day not only insist upon having a $16 extension table, but stick up their noses if poverty compels them to use a sheet for a table-cloth.

—Viennese society is disturbed to its foundation by the conduct of the tenor Nicolini, who, during the performance of "Romeo and Juliet," kissed Patti's hand twenty-one times. A careful examination of the play develops the right to only six kisses, and the extra fifteen have convulsed Europe.

JOTTINGS.

C. Morris Tredick, Esq., has purchased the fishing schooner Harp.

Considerable excitement has been created on the line of the Eastern Railroad from Seabrook to North Conway, since midnight of Sunday, by the serving of nearly fifty writs on the road. The attachments include all the company's real estate in this city, between 4000 and 5000 cords of wood in Carroll county, and the trusteeing of station agents and others. The writs are being served through a Massachusetts bank to cover a note against the road amounting to $60,000.

The registered tonnage of the new schooner Henry M. Clark, the latest addition to the fishing fleet of Valentine Doane, Jr., is 173 42-100.

A subordinate association of "Provident Mutual Relief" was organized in this city on Tuesday evening at the Rockingham House, with Hon. Frank Jones as chairman of the board of trustees, Mr. A. C. Hoyt as clerk, and Dr. S. C. Whittier as medical examiner.

At the annual meeting of the Unitarian parish, held on Monday afternoon, it was voted to continue the salary of the pastor at $3500, but to cut down the appropriation for music from $1400 to $800. A request from Rev. Mr. DeNormandie that the parish accept the gift of $500 which had been unanimously voted to him for securing supplies during his summer vacation for the past three years, and which he deposited in one of our savings banks at interest for the benefit of the parish, the same to assist in liquidating the expenses for the current year, was not accepted, a vote of thanks, however, being extended to the pastor for his generous offer. It was voted to omit the vesper service during the months of June, July and August. The following were chosen officers for the ensuing year: Wardens, William W. Cotton, William R. Preston, Charles H. Rollins, James R. May, William H. Sise; Clerk, Joseph Hiller Foster; Treasurer, William H. Rollins. The present quartette of the church will conclude their services next Sunday.

The Maine Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at its late annual session appointed S. F. Strout as minister at Eliot and Scotland, A. Turner at South Eliot, B. Freeman at Kittery Navy Yard, J. W. Smith at Kittery, J. H. Trask at York.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council of New Hampshire, Wednesday, votes for Senators and Congressmen were counted and certificates were issued. The following was the count in the First Congressional District: Jones, 13,924; Marston, 13,881; scattering, 139; Jones's plurality, 43. Hon. Frank Jones never in his life made a better paying investment than when he "influenced" Caleb Moulton of Hampstead to nominate himself for Congress on the prohibition ticket. Had Moulton not put himself forward, the man he helped nominate in the republican convention would have been elected.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT THE SHOALS.

For some time past Messrs. Frank Brown, Charles E. Johnson and John Smart have occupied "Lunging" Island at the Shoals as a base from which to prosecute the business of fishing, and on Monday afternoon, April 30th, Brown and Johnson went out to set their trawl. The particulars of the trip, as reported by Mr. Johnson, are as follows:

After having set about one-half their trawl they picked up a piece of plank, and while setting the remainder ran across a log which Brown wished also to secure at once. Johnson objected to doing this until the trawl was all set, so they finished that job and then returned for the log. Johnson fastened a gaff into the log and it was hauled upon the gunwale of the dory, both men standing as far as possible over toward the other side to preserve the balance, when suddenly the hold of the gaff gave out and both men were thrown into the water, the dory capsizing at the same time. This was about six o'clock. They managed to right her, and held on, one on each side, until Brown thought it best to swim to the log, which he did, but finding it would not support him returned to the dory. Brown seemed very despondent from the first, saying to Johnson he had lost his boat and should lose his life. [A boat belonging to Mr. Brown was thrown ashore at the island and destroyed, during a gale, some time before.] Mr. Johnson encouraged him as well as he could, but after holding on the dory for about twenty minutes he loosed his hold and sank; Johnson still held on, and about twenty minutes later was discovered by Mr. Joseph Haley, who had been out setting trawl, and was rescued in a very exhausted condition after being in the water nearly an hour. Mr. Brown leaves a wife, but no children.

—A citizen of Philadelphia who was displeased at an article in the Ledger, met the proprietor and said, "I wish to stop your paper." He answered, "Do you mean to discontinue your copy, or stop the whole edition, as it makes some difference?"

The Wise Course in Rheumatism.

Rheumatic patients who have been induced to submit to depletion by blood letting, or to take colchicum and other drugs of an equally pernicious character, will consult their well being by abandoning such insane procedure and using as a substitute Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will infallibly afford them the much desired relief, and is absolutely safe. This benign vegetable depurent cools the blood by expelling from it the inflammatory elements which give rise to maladies of a rheumatic and gouty type, and rectifies disordered conditions of the stomach, nervous system and bowels which usually accompany them. As rheumatism has a tendency to attack the heart, the desirability of an early resort to the Bitters is obvious, since the danger is increased by every moment.

cannot wear out the teeth that are brushed daily with Sozodont. If it were in universal use the dentist would have little to do, for it is a positive preventive of dental disease.

The teeth of persons who use it cannot decay or turn yellow.

DR. A. J. FLAGG'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial, and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Thousands of living grave-robbed witnesses proclaim the wonderful virtues of Adamson's Botanic Balsam as a speedy cure for coughs, colds, asthma and consumption. Sample bottles free. Large bottles, 35 and 75 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR SORE THROAT, PULMOCINE CORDIAL is for sale at the UNION STORE, Market Street. Price 50 cents per bottle.

"Sulphuret Oil of Roses."

A wonderful External Remedy, almost miraculous in effect. By absorption it eradicates Rheumatic pains, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Throat Diseases. Sufferers do themselves positive injustice by not giving this Remedy a trial. Price 50 cents and $3. FLAVILLE, BROTHER & CO., Chemists, 30 Franklin street, Boston. ☞N. B. AGENTS WANTED IN EACH TOWN. An Eloquent Tribute.

The other day a young man called in at a Western florist's and bought a riotous bouquet which he desired should be sent to a certain young lady. The bouquet was to be composed of flowers expressing friendship, esteem, respect, admiration, passionate love, and adoration. It is believed that the tribute reached its destination, because next day a woman called at the florist's and inquired;

"Do you understand the language of flowers?"

He bowed and said he did. "And you can say with flowers anything you want to?"

"Certainly, I can express in the arrangement, color and fragrance of flowers, the whole gamut of passion, from timid love to jealousy, hatred and revenge."

"Then," she said, "give me a bouquet to mean 'You are a chuckle-headed, swallow-tailed, slim-waisted old clam.' I don't care how much it costs."

—This is what a theological Teuton with hands uplifted in holy horror, once said of a man: "He believes in nodings. He doosh not belief in Gott nor in ter tuyfel. Now when a man does not belief in Gott, dere he ish, but when he does not belief in ter tuyfel vere ish he?"

—Here is an English public-school boy's meditation on the subject of "Conceit:" "Conceit is a bad thing. Some people are conceited about their name, family pedigree, of anything else. This, also, is conceit. Women also are mostly conceited, also about their hair, eyes and teeth, and anything else. Conceit is also very bad."

—"That baby," said a thoughtless spectator at the Cleveland baby show the other day, "may look pretty enough at home, but it is hardly up to the standard here. Don't you think so?" addressing a lady who stood near. "Excuse me from commenting, sir," said the lady, "as my opinion might be biased. I am its mother." The man took a walk.

—The other evening at a cheap beer shop in Berlin, where the socialist leaders often meet, a young man in uniform entered and took a seat. At once the process of conversation began: "Soldier," said one burly demagogue, "would you fire upon the people?" "I no indeed." They offered him beer, and another said, "what is your regiment?" The —th infantry, they were informed. They gave him food, and then proceeded to ask. "Soldier, why wouldn't you shoot us when the revolution comes?" "Because I carry no gun; I belong to the regimental band."

UNITED STATES.
No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y
SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1853 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

Ladies will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of marriage are advised that any and all private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages, full of plates, price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

To the Ladies—Dr. YOUNG still retains the only Remedy in America for the sale of Dr. Michel's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

Dr. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting by letter, and enclosing residence. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel it my duty in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. Very many have been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indivisel him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and it has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years, as now. Wishing you success, I subscribed him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know of, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, but I care not for that, I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room nearly the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting the medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The improvement here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel Sulphur Springs, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
—USE—
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will Cure a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, writes as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

DR. FLAGG: My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

The Washington Monument.

The report of the Board of Army Engineers, appointed to examine the foundation of the Washington Monument, has just been published. The opinion of the Board is as follows:

First—That the stratum of sand and clay upon which the monument rests is already loaded to the limit of prudence, if not, indeed, the limit of safety, and that it does not offer sufficient resistance to compression to justify the completion of the shaft in accordance with the modified design, or any other design that will load the underlying soil beyond 10,000 pounds per square foot.

Second—That the additional weight imposed at the top of the structure will in all probability cause additional spalting and splitting on the ashlar facing near the base.

Third—It is evident that the masonry foundation was not given spread enough to carry with safety the weight designed to be placed on it. If a sufficient spread and depth had been originally provided, the full height of the structure might have been placed on it and the weight distributed over a larger area, so as to be within the limits of security.

Fourth—There has been an actual compression of the soil to the extent of between eight and nine inches; the shaft is sensibly out of plumb, and the foundation courses show an increasing departure from horizontality. These imperfections may be expected to increase as additions are made to the weight of the structure—if not to a dangerous degree, at least to an extent that will make the monument very unsuited for the purpose for which it was designed. If it were a tower, or shaft, or chimney intended for manufacturing or industrial uses, such might be overlooked and useful results still expected from it.

An Ingenious Punch.

The conductors on the Old Colony and the Boston & Providence Railroad, have been supplied with a registering punch, which is similar to the famous bell punch, except that it has no bell. There is a very ingenious ticket used with these punches, on which is printed, "The exact amount paid the conductor must be punched from this ticket." Around the margin is printed 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 dollars, in red ink, and from 1 to 95 cents in black ink. When the conductor collects a cash fare he is required to punch out the exact amount received in dollars and cents and hand the ticket to the passenger as a receipt for the money. The pieces punched out drop into a receptacle in the punch and are securely retained there by a small but complete lock, which has many thousand combinations which are only known to the officials in the accounting department, so that when a punch is returned to that department the cash collections must tally with the pieces found in the punch. These punches are used exclusively on some steam railroads in the West for punching all tickets and passes, the register in the punch giving the total number of passengers carried on any whole or half trip. This method of registering fares is not solely adopted to prevent peculation, but to give a system on the trains; and the inventor calls it mechanical bookkeeping, for every time the punch is operated it registers a point, thereby crediting the company with a fare, for which the conductor must account to the company either by money, ticket or pass. The Eastern Railroad has had these punches in use, successfully, on its Swampscott trains since last July. This system is intended to supply a long-felt want, and from the opinions expressed by experienced railroad men, there is reason to think it will do so.

—A Southern item: "Clarendon, Ark., will have a grand hanging on the 25th of June. Special trains and reduced rates."

—"Papa," said a four-year-old, "Won't you pray to God and have him stop this rain, so I can go out to play in my sand?" "Why don't you pray to him yourself?" asked papa. "I have," he replied, "but God don't pay any attention to a little boy."

—Backofen, the Swiss jurist, says that the regulation of marriage by which in primitive times it became possible for a woman to belong to only one man, came about by a religious reformation, wherein the women, in armed conflict, obtained a victory over the men.

—We recently interviewed Ah Tee, the principal Chinese merchant of this town, in relation to the Chinese massacre at Chico. The Chinaman is a good talker, and this is what he said: "Allee time black tlenty. Blime-by nex yeah, Chinaman big man, he come, he bling plenty men, he heap flight, shootee, kill, murdle, he have two tail, two swords, he smashee heolum, he no aflaid, makee white man respleck Chinamans." *Point Arena (Cal.) —An illustration of the shrinkage of late in mining shares on the Pacific coast is given in the following paragraph from a petition in bankruptcy filed by the notorious Laura Fair: "Her assets consist of twenty shares of Ophir and twenty-five of Mexican stock, valued at $550, pledged in January, 1875, as security for a debt of $7600." The shrinkage in Ophir is not exceptional. All stocks, including the famous bonanzas, have shared alike. Crown Point mine stocks, five years ago worth $1000 per share, can now be had in unlimited quantities at $5.

The War.

By way of Vienna, Paris, London and some other places, the following account of the battle of Kars reached here Wednesday night: "The centre of the Russian army, 40,000 strong, under Melikoff, attacked Mukhtar Pasha five miles from Kars, on April 29. The Turks fought desperately. The Russians, supported by a powerful artillery, succeeded in dislodging them from their position. Mukhtar called out all his reserves and attempted on the 30th to recover the lost ground, with 60,000 men, but was defeated and driven back under the guns of Kars. The Russian losses were considerable, and those of the Turks were enormous." The Russians immediately invested Kars for a seige.

Servia has concluded a loan of 12,000,000 francs with the French Union Commerce Bank.

A diplomatic rupture between Turkey and Roumania is imminent and will be followed by declarations of war. The Roumanians assert that the Turkish gunboats have seized seventeen corn-laden barges belonging to Greek merchants.

Lord Loftus, the British Minister at St. Petersburg, has notified the Russian Government that in consequence of its intention to expel Russians from Turkey the Porte has abandoned the idea of placing Turkish subjects remaining in Russia under British protection. The Russian Government, which had already accepted British protection for the Turks, replied that the Turks would nevertheless continue to receive the protection of the laws.

The Turkish fleet has a second time bombarded Fort St. Nicholas. The fort was abandoned by the Russians years ago. Not a shot has been fired at Poti, which the Turks said they had destroyed.

The Turkish posts on the Asiatic frontier have mostly surrendered without a blow. The Russians find the population in Asia friendly. A squadron of irregular cavalry applied for permission to enter the Russian service and surrendered its standard.

The Turkish commander on the Danube has been ordered to close the river to navigation. It is expected Austria will object to this.

A despatch from Bucharest, dated April 30th, says: "Fire opened this morning between the Russian batteries near Ibrail and three Turkish monitors. The latter began to bombard Ibrail, but were compelled toward noon to withdraw before the Russian fire. The loss of life and damage in Ibrail is unknown.

The Russians deny that they lost heavily at Batoum, as the Turks asserted; and the Turkish official journal says no important battle has been fought there.

The Czar and Czarowitch, and Grand Duke Vladimir, arrived at Odessa on the 3d.

News and Notes.

Some time ago a Mrs. Ward, of Somerset County, N. J., suspecting Mrs. Ida Shepard of undue intimacy with Mr. Ward, hired five young men to give her a coat of tar and feathers. They started out one night in the dead of winter, and while the snow lay on the ground dragged her from her cabin, stripped her night clothing from her and put on the tar and feathers. She was afterward found by her husband lying unconscious on the snow, and the case was put in the hands of detectives, who succeeded in tracing the act of ruffianism to the five young men, who have just been convicted, the leader being sent to the penitentiary for eighteen months, one for fifteen months, one for one year, and two for nine months.

The Boston and Alleghany base ball clubs had a game at Pittsburg on Wednesday, the latter club winning, 1 to 0.

John P. Phair was on Tuesday, May 2d, again reprieved by Gov. Fairbanks of Vermont, this time until the first Friday in April, 1879. The new evidence discovered will go to the Legislature first, and will be presented in the Supreme Court at the February term in 1879, in Rutland county.

A terrible accident occurred on the 1st inst. at St. Genevieve Batiscan, Canada. A mill owned by one Marchand fell in, crushing to death five persons.

The well-known millionaire and proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, Mr. John T. Daly, is reported missing at the New York police headquarters.

The Grand Jury in New York have found indictments against Thomas S. Lambert, President, Alexander J. Reed, Actuary, and James Cruikshank, Secretary, of the Popular Life Insurance Company, for falsely swearing to an inaccurate statement of the outstanding policies, etc., of the company; and charges have also been found against W. Frost, President, and S. P. Rogers, Secretary, of the Continental Life Insurance Company, for similar fraudulent transactions.

James J. Rheams, a young man employed in the Boston post-office for eight years past, has been arrested for stealing letters from the mail. He was seen by Special Agent Field to steal thirty-one letters, and others were found in his closet.

Col. John Forsyth, the editor of the Mobile Register, died on the 2d, aged about sixty-six years.

The evidence which points to Albert F. Joy, the prisoner in custody as the murderer of Charles F. Gilman, at Rockport, Mass., April 11, is considered conclusive. It is stated, also, that Joy attempted to murder Gilman on the Sunday night previous to the 11th. Joy's mother is living at Newburyport, her name being Mrs. Eunice Page. She has been married three times. Her first husband was the father of Joy. She is seeking work in the Newburyport mills. Her first knowledge of the accusation against her son she obtained on Sunday night, April 29th, when a friend read an account of the affair to her from a newspaper. She last saw him last summer at Newmarket, and believes him entirely innocent. The body of the murdered man, Gilman, was taken to the residence of his father in Wilmington; but the father said he had no room for it in the house, and ordered it to the depot. It was taken from there to Lowell and buried by Mrs. Hill, the deceased's former boarding-mistress. They seem to be queer lot, all around.

Very few readers of newspapers are unfamiliar with the name of Sallie Ward of Louisville, Ky., than whom no woman living has enjoyed a wider reputation as a belle. It may therefore interest the readers of the Graphic to hear how she is circumstanced now that she is for the third time a widow. The will of her late husband, Vene P. Armstrong of Louisville, has just been admitted to probate, and to her is devised by this will the bulk of her late husband's real estate and $50,000 in cash. She married the testator last June. Her first husband was Bigelow Lawrence, son of Abbott Lawrence of Boston. From him she was divorced by special act of the Kentucky Legislature. She subsequently married Dr. Hunt of Louisville, who died during the war, leaving her with one son, to whom her last husband has left $5000, to be paid him as soon as may be convenient to the executrix of the will, who is the widow, Mrs. Sallie Ward Armstrong. The testator left his own son the sum of $1, saying he had already given him $40,000, if not more, since his maturity.—Graphic.

A Mississippi Tragedy.

Thursday evening, April 26th, John W. Gully, a prominent citizen of Kemper county, Mississippi, was assassinated by an unknown party, which created intense excitement and every means were resorted to to discover the perpetrator. On Saturday two colored men made affidavit that Benjamin Rush (white) did the deed, and that Judge Chisolm, who ran for Congress on the republican ticket in the Third District at the last election, his son, Gilmer, and Rosenbaum and Hopper, two prominent white republicans, knew of and instigated the crime. Chisolm and son were arrested and imprisoned at Dekalb. Mrs. Chisolm and daughter insisted on sharing their confinement. On Sunday Chisolm sent to Scooba for Gilmer, for whom a warrant had been issued. Gilmer came, and on his arrival was arrested, but just as he arrived at the jail he was set upon by a mob and killed. The jailor was then overpowered by the mob, who immediately attacked Chisolm, mortally wounding him. Miss Chisolm, in defending her father, shot and killed one Dr. Rosslie, and Mrs. Chisolm severely wounded a Mr. Gully, a son of the Gully who was assassinated. Miss Chisolm was also seriously wounded. Rosenbaum and Hopper were carried to the woods by the mob for the purpose of extorting from them the whereabouts of Rush, the alleged assassin of Gully. When last heard from some weeks ago, Rush was in Arkansas. It is supposed that Rosenbaum and Hopper were hanged. It is reported that a horrible state of affairs exists throughout that section. The people are wild with excitement, and other hangings will probably soon follow.

Another account says Chisolm, Gilmer and A. McClelland (also murdered) were "all leading republicans, among the largest property owners in their section, all natives of the South and all served in the Confederate army. Chisolm and Gilmer have held responsible positions in Mississippi. After the war Chisolm advocated the acceptance of reconstruction, and early became an active republican. He was Probate Judge of his county before the rebellion, and elected sheriff of Kemper after the reconstruction, which office he held continuously up to last fall, when he was the republican candidate for Congress in the Third District. Gilmer was State Senator three or four years. It is believed that the assassination of these two men was the result of a pre-arranged plan, and that the assassination of Gully a short time previous was seized upon as a pretext for arresting Chisolm and Gilmer, in order that they might be disarmed and killed. Both men testified before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections in February last, and previous to leaving, stated that they would be murdered upon returning to Mississippi because of the testimony they gave before the committee.

New Hampshire Items.

It is stated that Vice President Wheeler has offered to Oscar Barron of the Twin Mountain House the position of keeper of the Senate restaurant.

The authorities of Manchester have ordered all liquor saloons to be closed at ten o'clock at night. The laws of the State of New Hampshire order them to be kept closed all the time.

John R. Varney has been appointed justices, and Charles A. Tuft special justice, of the police court of Dover.

Major George Wentworth, of Salmon Falls, was one of the liquor dealers who had their cases (all but one each) placed on file at the term of the Supreme Court at Dover, fine and costs on one case only being enforced,—on condition that they should not sell any more. Wentworth went to selling again, and has been sentenced on the old cases to six months in jail and costs and fines amounting to $200.

Tann's Hotel at Drewsville was burned on the night of the 1st inst. The fire started in the barn, and the occupants had barely time to escape. Loss about $5000; partially insured.

Charles M. Chase, of Thornton, hired a team at the Parker House stable, Woodsville, on Friday, April 27th. On Sunday it was found secreted in the woods four miles from Compton. Chase was arrested, examined and remanded to jail in default of bail. He was arrested for horse stealing four years ago, but escaped. He is wanted on four separate indictments now.

The vote for Congressmen in this State at the last election, as declared by the Governor and Council, was as follows: First District, Jones 13,924, Marston 13,881, scattering 129; Jones' plurality 43. Second District, Briggs 13,207, Sulloway 12,110, scattering 71; Briggs' plurality 1097. The Third District, Blair 12,683, Kent 11,822, scattering 44; Blair's plurality 861.

DR. QUAIN'S

CONDITION PILLS

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 25 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds. I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I owe to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you in advertising them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel bound to give them praise, and so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A few months ago Indivised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. He remarked to me, "I do not feel as I did when I first took these Pills." It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and, above all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so, I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried all I could hear of, consulted physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling in Texas for the benefit of my health and suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had met with for years. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to do so, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and am almost free from pain. The impression now seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

THE STREET SPRINKLER.

"Sprinkle, sprinkle, water-cart;
How I wonder where thou art!
Come, and lay thy blinding dust,
Ere our lungs fill up and 'bust.'"

Messrs. Editors:—Where is the street sprinkler? Why, if citizens are willing to pay every year to have their streets free from blinding dust,—why must we suffer as we do every year for a month before anything is done to lay the dust? If there is a time when we need the sprinkler it is now; and unless the proprietors of the machine whom we have paid for summer sprinkling can relieve us, some measures should be taken at once to supply the deficiency.

A SUBSCRIBER.

"MIGNON."

Maggie Mitchell was greeted on Wednesday evening by a large and select audience, and performed "Mignon" for the first time in this city. The little actress is sprightly as ever, and seemed to exert as much power as ever over the spectators, "moving to smiles or tears" according to the varying phases of the play. How she ever gained such a hold on the public, and how she keeps it, is almost a mystery, for she cannot be called beautiful of feature though she is beautifully formed, and her laugh is almost harsh; we suspect the secret of her popularity is that she is a consummate actress. Her support was excellent. Frederic, a heavy swell, Philina, an actress, Romaine, a gypsy chieftain, and Sperati, a crazed pilgrim, were all first-rate; and Wilhelm Meister, the hero of the play, a young man who finds himself constantly in a terrible fix through attempting to court two girls at once, (as any young man who has ever tried it could have told him would be the case,) was splendidly portrayed by Mr. Harris. The play, thoroughly enjoyable though it is as performed by this company, we do not think much of—if it has been "set up steep" by the dramatic critics of Boston and New York; it is full of the most glaring incongruities, the plot is old as the hills, (the play is of the "lost child" variety,) and in less skillful hands we believe the performance would have been an utter failure; yet, thanks to the superior excellence of the acting, the entertainment was more than satisfactory to the audience, who were as much delighted as ever with Maggie Mitchell, and lost sight of the absurdities of the drama in their delight at the way it was performed. But we would twice rather see the charming little lady in "Fanchon," if it is an old play, than in this new one.

A MOVABLE BOUNDARY.

Hon. John J. Bell, of Exeter, in a paper read before one of the societies not long since, referred to the change of position—a relative change, of course, as the big rock can never have moved—of "Bound Rock," which over two centuries ago was taken as the sea-shore mark of the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Mr. Bell is satisfied, from his studies and observations, that at the time it was marked it stood in the mouth of Hampton river. It has been on the south side and on the north side since then, and for thirty years was buried out of sight under thirty feet of sand, and many rods from the mouth. Now it stands in the stream. At the time it was located it was just three miles from the Merrimac River. Now it is over four miles away. The following explanation of this eccentric conduct of the rock is now given in the newspapers: "Hon. J. K. Weare of Seabrook explains the apparent change in the course of Hampton river, which has left the boundary rock between New Hampshire and Massachusetts some distance from its former position on the river bank. Some persons engaged in commerce at Hampton Falls, several years ago, dug a channel across Hampton Beach to make a more direct way of communication with the sea, thus causing the river to run over a new bed, and changing the boundary line." This may account for the rock's change of position with regard to Hampton River, but does not explain how it comes to be over four miles from Merrimac River now, when it was just three miles from it two hundred years ago. The latter river must have worn its way more than a mile southward since the "Bound Rock" was marked.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, May 3d.

Ann Flynn, who was sent to the House of Correction at Brentwood about a month ago for drunkenness, was brought up, charged with being illegally at large from that institution. The Court added a month to her former sentence, costs being taxed at $8.04.

JOTTINGS.

Col. Hackett will sell at auction to-day, by order of assignee, commencing at 10 o'clock, several houses and eligible lots of land. The sale will be positive. See advertisement.

At a meeting of Governor and Council, in Concord, Wednesday, Capt. Jacob H. Haddock, of the Portsmouth City Guards, was promoted to be major of the Second Regt., N. H. Vol. Militia; True Sanborn, Jr., of Chichester, was promoted from captain to lieutanant-colonel, and D. M. White, of Peterboro', from major to colonel.

Col. Frank W. Hilton has accepted the position of Chief Marshal for Memorial Day.

The following officers were elected by Whipple Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, at Kittery, at their annual meeting on Wednesday evening: Worthy Chief, Millard F. Staples; W. Y. T., Lucy J. Remick; W. S., Edward W. Getchell; W. T., Lucinda Hayes; W. C., Richard Williams; W. M., Daniel E. Parker; W. I. G., Elmer Mannent; W. O. G., Wallace S. Jackson.

All good citizens will lend all the aid in their power to the Health Officers in carrying out the provisions of the health regulations published in another column. The hot season is coming, (fact, although it has not yet made itself conspicuous to any great extent,) when carelessness in sanitary matters may result in putting the careless ones in a very uncomfortable position,—no great matter, were it not that innocent ones are even more likely to suffer.

The fine library of the late Rev. Charles Burroughs, D. D., containing over three thousand volumes, has been sent to the General Theological Library at Boston, to which it was bequeathed in his will. Dr. Burroughs was the founder of that institution.

Capt. J. Albert Sanborn, with his uncle, Mr. John Gulliver, who has had twenty years' experience in the mines of California, left this city Thursday morning for the Black Hills. They carry the good wishes of a host of friends.

Passers over the toll-bridge between this city and Newcastle cannot fail to notice the great improvement in the appearance of the toll-keeper's house and its surroundings, made by the keeper since he became lessee of the property.

In our item regarding Mr. Doane's new schooner, the Henry M. Clarke, we omitted to state that the graining and finishing of the cabin was done—and done in first-rate style, of course—by Mr. Edward D. Coffin, and the sail-making by Mr. John R. Holbrook; the upholstering of the cabin was done by Sheldon & Co. The schooner sailed on Friday, mackereling.

Dr. Hiram Parker, a native of Kittery, and for nearly forty years a physician in Lowell, Mass., died Wednesday of paralysis. He has been confined to his residence nearly three years by sickness. His age was 68 years.

A San Francisco paper of April 24th says: "The prospects are exceedingly favorable at present that the stranded ship Frank Jones, ashore off Fort Point, will be floated. The water which has been flowing into her hull is now under control, and it is expected that all the ballast will be taken out by Thursday next. The work of floating her after that is done is deemed quite a trifling matter by Von Schmidt." Mr. Von Schmidt is the eminent engineering contractor who removed Blossom Rock from San Francisco Bay, under contract with the United States Government, and he has taken the job of saving the Frank Jones, he to pay all expenses, and have a share of the vessel if successful in getting her off; if he fails his loss will be heavy,—but he is probably confident of success, or he would not have taken the job on such terms.

The Wise Course in Rheumatism.

Rheumatic patients who have been induced to submit to depletion by blood letting, or to take colchicum and other drugs of an equally pernicious character, will consult their well being by abandoning such insane procedure and using as a substitute Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will infallibly afford them the much desired relief, and is absolutely safe. This benign vegetable depurent cools the blood by expelling from it the inflammatory elements which give rise to maladies of a rheumatic and gouty type, and rectifies disordered conditions of the stomach, nervous system and bowels which usually accompany them. As rheumatism has a tendency to attack the heart, the desirability of an early resort to the Bitters is obvious, since the danger is increased by every moment.

The teeth of persons who use it cannot decay or turn yellow.

"Stick!" said Sumner. He referred to Spalding's Glue.

DR. A. J. FLAGG'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial, and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Thousands of living grave-robbed witnesses proclaim the wonderful virtues of Adamson's Botanic Balsam as a speedy cure for coughs, colds, asthma and consumption. Sample bottles free. Large bottles, 35 and 75 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR SORE THROAT, PULMOCINE CORDIAL is for sale at the UNION STORE, Market Street. Price 50 cents per bottle.

"Sulphuret Oil of Roses."

Tact.

People cannot help having been born without tact, any more than they can help having no ear for music; but there are occasions when it is almost impossible to be quite charitable to a tactless person. Yet people who have no tact deserve pity. They are almost always doing or saying something to get themselves into disgrace, or which does them an injury. They make enemies when they desire friends, and get a reputation for ill-nature which they do not deserve. They are also continually doing other people harm, treading on metaphorical corns, opening the cupboards where family skeletons are kept, angering people, shaming people, saying and doing the most awkward things, and apologizing for them with a still more terrible bluntness. If there is one social boon more to be desired than another, it is tact; for without tact, the career of the richest and most beautiful is often utterly marred.

—One day last week a Schenectady man cashed a draft for $700 at a bank and received $300 in small bills, which he put in his pocket thinking by its size that the package contained the the full amount. He was leaving when the cashier handed him out the balance, $400 in new, crisp five-dollar notes. The man took them, and supposing they were advertising notes distributed them among his friends. He was astonished at the eagerness of all to secure them, and was stunned when attempting jokingly to pass one in a store he was informed that the bills were good. He spent all that night and the greater part of next day in rushing around collecting bills that he had given away.

—In a recent letter from Paris, Mrs. Hooper says: I recently saw a young French lady at a party, in a gored princesse dress of pale salmon-colored silk, fitting as closely and with as little fulness in the skirt as possible. There was not a particle of drapery or flounces about the dress, the only trimming being a flat band of embroidery in pale blue and silver on a dark ground that went around the waist, sleeves and skirt, and transversely across the front from shoulder to skirt-hem. When the young wearer sat down, she looked like a figure molded in peach ice, and as the waist was cut very low, and there were no sleeves at all to speak of, she might have sat as a model to a sculptor with perfect ease, not to say propriety.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the long trying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
—USE—
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption it effects has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, writes as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a success ful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR FLAGG M. D.—DEAR SIR: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

SEVEN.

Seven fresh acorns on the lea,
Browned by summer's fiery glow,
Newly fallen from the tree,
Fit to plant, and apt to grow;
But six of seven shall rot and die,
And never flourish to the sky,
Or feel the breezes as they blow.
Choose the six—select the one—
Fool! you cannot! Fate must run.

Seven sharp daggers, newly made,
Each the others' counterpart,
Each the same in sheath and blade,
Point and edge and workman's art;
And yet by Destiny's command,
One shall fill a murderer's hand,
And stab a true man to the heart!
Choose the one—reject the rest—
Fool! you cannot! Fate knows best!

Seven young ladies at the ball,
Radiant as the new May morn,
Blithe and joyous, one and all,
With lips of love and eyes of scorn;
Yet four of seven, when wedded wives,
Shall make their husbands curse their lives,
And rue the hour that they were born.
Show the four—select the three—
Fool! you may not! Live and see!

NEW YORK FASHIONS: CITY GOSSIP.

BONNETS.

Shapes are like New England weather, where, according to Mark Twain, one may see 136 different kinds inside of an hour, but on one point all are agreed, and that is, in having very narrow brims; save indeed, those that have wide ones. What I mean to say is, that we must except the wide brimmed flats, but these after all are exclusively for country wear, so should properly find no place in a New York fashion letter. As to trimming let one collect all the flowers one can find, and all the silks and ribbons of different colors, and put them together. Then when ever so much is on, put on ever so much more, and the "milliner's touch" will be given. Red roses are piled on pink ones; pink ones on yellow ones; yellow ones on green ones; green ones on white ones, etc., etc., until one sees—I was going to say, 136 roses on one bonnet. That, however, I do not say for fear of exaggeration, but we really do see roses piled on until if asked to count them, I should prefer to hire a clerk, and should think he or she deserved good wages.

GREETING US EVERYWHERE

are dolmans. The great clumsy things—disfiguring pretty forms and causing ugly ones to look still uglier. For them, I find no word of commendation, ill fitting, shapeless as they are. 'Tis the exception which proves the rule, and as exceptions, we may see some few dolmans which give handsome finish, but they are few. Sacques are in the minority, but for that very reason will be preferred by the discriminating; a change is afforded by mantilla shapes, while charming little round capes and fichues of black silk, drap d'ete and the irrepressible grey cloth, steal forth with the advancing season.

COSTUMES.

'Tis only by "talking with past hours" that we perceive the progress which has been made in the devising of costumes. "Bunchy" and "patchy" styles have all departed, and instead, we see graceful lines of graceful drapery, and although combinations of two or more fabrics are in a great favor as they have ever been, yet the way in which they are put together is more elegantly simple than hitherto. In bustles we find improvements by which the train is conveniently supported. Apart from the superior shape of the Doughty bustle, a wonderful advantage may be observed, by which the interlocked tips prevent the sharp steel ends from protruding, while hinges turn when the wearer sits down, folding in such a way that the old awkwardness is obviated. A great desideratum is thus obtained, and in consequence, the demand has largely increased. Particular information can be obtained by applying to S. H. Doughty, the inventor, Canal and Centre streets. Circulars and price lists are forwarded gratuitously, and samples for examination to dealers with New York reference, or a full sized panier will be sent by mail for one dollar. The small hoop skirt will be much worn, and this also is made by the inventor, with his patent attachments.

NEW DESIGNS.

The Vincentia polonaise is in princesse style, slightly double breasted, and with the fronts closed diagonally. The Geraldine is also a very stylish polonaise, tight fitting, in princesse style, and the trimming so arranged as to to produce the effect of a Tunique Juive. For girls from twelve to fourteen, the Miriam and Eva polonaise are novel and effective. To fully realize what an angelic being woman really is, one need only survey the displayed in some first-class hosiery departments. True, these angels are at present so metamorphosed as to need "everyday" styles, but even here we find all manner of dark, sombre shades, while for dress occasions, they (stockings, I mean)—well, they are poetical. I have run the whole gamut of adjectives over, and can find no more expressive term. Now if the angelic half of humanity are yet so earthly as to need "sensible" stockings, they apparently stand in still greater need of shoes, and here we must surely descend so far as to write of something practical. Burt's shoes now as formerly take the lead over all others. Walking boots are of French kid, or

Indian goat, for the uppers of some dressy boots fine checked cloth or prunella being much used, but for all the above styles the square box toe has declined in favor. Half high shoes are still very popular, and here not unfrequently, we find the sandal a very coquette of a shoe, since it is wrought with studious art in such fashion as the rather to display than conceal the hosiery. The same also may be said of the sandal boot, which with delicate straps across gives opportunity for stolen glances of beauties half hidden only. In the last two sentences, I have risen again to the poetical. Madame Rumor tells us that in the city are owned by Mrs. Marshall P. Roberts. Her receptions are certainly as brilliant, if not more so than any other lady here, if we accept Mrs. Paran Stevens. The palatial residence owned by Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, on Fifth Avenue, is next to that of August Belmont, and a committee of inquiry would find it difficult to decide which is the handsomer of the two. A splendid picture gallery is attached to each, and to that of Mr. Belmont's the public is sometimes admitted.

The daughter of Commodore Wainwright, and the granddaughter of Bishop Wainwright, about to make a debut on the stage, is a sensation not always to be had, the more so when the young lady is really beautiful, and talented as she is handsome. Dr. Viro has reason to feel proud of his protege, and there is no doubt that Miss Maria Wainwright's first venture will be attended with much interest. She is finely proportioned, rather slender, having classic features, expressive gray eyes, and auburn hair.

The War.

The Roumanians have taken military possession of Kalafat with 9000 men and twenty-four Krupp guns. They will fortify and hold the position against the Turks. The Roumanians are making extraordinary preparations. The militia has been called out, mustering thirty-four infantry and twelve cavalry battalions. Even the heads of families are obliged to serve.

A Vienna correspondent reports that Austria has not protested against the stoppage of navigation on the Danube, and will not do so, as she would thereby prejudice her own cause in event of her having to use the Danube for military operations.

A Russian torpedo depot has been established at the mouth of the Pruth. Six hundred engineers and sailors constitute the torpedo detachment there.

Austria has recalled all her officers in the Turkish service.

A despatch from Kischeneff says that numbers of Bulgarians are arriving and are being formed into battalions, officered by Russians. It is expected that at least one division, numbering 10,000, will be formed of Bulgarians who have fled into Roumania.

Turkey on Thursday proclaimed a blockade of the Black Sea, giving vessels three days to enter and five to leave.

The Montenegrins hold the Duza pass, blockading Gorausk and Nicsic. Suleiman Pasha, with 20,000 men, is advancing to relieve Gorausk.

It is stated that the Turks have persuaded 20,000 South Albanians to take arms on condition of Montenegro being given up to plunder. All the Northern Albanian clans favor the Montenegrins.

The Ossipee Murder.

Cook, the confessed murderer of Miss Hanson, and Buzzell, who procured the murder, were fully committed for trial at Ossipee on Friday, and lodged in jail. Mrs. Buzzell was discharged. Cook begs to be transterred to some other jail, fearing Buzzell will murder him.

Jonathan Sanborn of Brookfield, Joseph B. Buzzell's brother-in-law, has been discharged from custody, the County Solicitor being satisfied he knew nothing of the Hanson murder either before or after it occurred.

News and Notes.

A railroad train in New Jersey on Thursday struck a carriage containing three men and two women, killing them all.

The seals placed on the doors of government offices in South Carolina by Wade Hampton were removed Wednesday, and the democratic officers installed. The rifle-club triumph is now complete, so far as securing control of the State government is concerned.

The accident at St. Genevieve, Canada, before reported, was occasioned by a landslide of about an acre and a half in length by 200 feet in depth and a height of eighty feet. Marchand's dam, mill, and a private dwelling, which were built on the bank of the river, were completely crushed in. Ten persons were buried alive. Seven bodies have been recovered. In one room a mother and her youngest child were found, half their bodies in the water, sitting on a chair, literally buried alive. The banks of the river gave away there seven years ago, carrying away a house with eight persons in it. This land-slide completely blocked up the river, changing its course, and causing great damage to farmers in the environs.

The Wamsutta Mills strike at New Bedford has totally collapsed. On Wednesday afternoon the strikers who still held out met together and unanimously resolved not to go to work, and Thursday morning they almost unanimously went to work.

The United States Consul at Liverpool states that the medals awarded to the crews of the Liverpool and New Brighton lifeboats in acknowledgement of their meritorious conduct on the occasion of the wreck of the American ship Ellen Southard, were formally presented to the men on the 16th of April, at the Town Hall, Liverpool, in the presence of a large assemblage of Americans, merchants, shipmasters, etc. A subscription of money to the families of the three drowned men was distributed a day or two subsequently.

Francisco Viras and Jose Chamalis, two young hoodlums of Santa Cruz, Cal., on the night of Saturday, April 28th, murdered a man named Deforest to get money to go to a circus. They were soon locked up, confessed the murder, and on Wednesday were lynched by the populace.

George W. Townsend, of Boston, has bought the wreck of the steamship Rusland as she lies on the beach at Long Branch for $9000.

New Hampshire Items.

James Gonler and William White, two of the young roughs who assaulted the keeper of the Manchester jail some weeks ago in an attempt to escape, and took his revolver and keys from him, were on Thursday sentenced to State prison for twenty years, for the assault. By the time they get out they will have learned that though it may be good fun to assault an officer of the law, it does not always pay in the long run.

Charles L. Elgar, of Winchester, was committed to jail in Keene on Wednesday, charged with outraging Lilla Belle Leonard of Winchester.

Indictments were reported by the Grand Jury at Amherst, Wednesday, as follows: For breaking and entering, 21; larceny, 12; fornication, 5; liquor selling, 12; disorderly house, 1; assault on officers, 8; aggravated assaults, 2. Those pleading guilty for assaulting officers were sentenced to five months in jail.

The Manchester Mirror says that at one time 12,000 shares of Michigan Central stock were owned in New Hampshire, which cost over $100 per share.

A Puff for Joachin Miller.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post writes thus of the "Poet of the Sierras:"

Speaking of office-seekers, "Wahkeen" Miller has been here seeking a consulship, 'tis said, and making a most unmitigated ass of himself as usual. Until I became eye and ear witness of his disgusting manners, I had imagined that Miller's hobby was his own belief that he is a great and unappreciated poet. I have learned better. Miller's hobby is his own belief that he is a lady killer, a regular "smasher," as the boys say. He worships his own genius. There is no doubt about that, and he really believes he has genius, and thinks the ladies see and worship it also. But genius is not his strong point. He is lank and angular, coarse featured, saffron-hued, and has a shock of mangey, carotty hair, but he thinks himself another Adonis come to Earth. If any one else attempted "Wahkeen's" method of love-making in the house of any civilized gentleman he would be unceremoniously kicked out. Two samples will suffice. The other day the staid matrons who were so unfortunate as to find themselves in the same boarding-house with him, found him sitting cross-legged, a la Turk or tailor, on the parlor sofa, his dirty boots resting complacently on the crimson rep. Finding the attitude created a sensation, he practiced it daily afterward. Again, at dinner one day, noticing his next neighbor at table, a blushing maiden of some thirty odd summers, was absent, and being told that she would not put in an appearance, he rolled up his eyes, bent down his head and kissed her chair. "Wahkeen" wants a consulate. May he get it speedily, is the prayer of all who have to endure his lunacies.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to have any offal, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any dealer of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit to the use of the town dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 20. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing owned by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—like said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause such nuisance or other thing adverse said to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an free from the Rheumatism Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for the last three years, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case incurable. I had seen a notice that they had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. May success to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

THE GREAT REAL ESTATE SALE.

Our reporter sharpened his pencil to chronicle the details of the auction sale of various lots of land on Gates, State, Deer, Market, Ladd, McDonough, Rockingham and other streets, advertised to come off Friday by direction of the assignee of J. C. Carr's estate in bankruptcy.

Promptly at ten o'clock in the fornoon, was gathered a goodly company of buyers at No. 26 Gates street, among them some of the salesmen who in these days of falling prices of Michigan Central, C. B. & Q., and such foreign investments, have an idea that a few hundreds planted about home, even if does not always promise ten per cent., is perhaps as safe an investment as funds left to the mercy of railroad wreckers or Wall street gamblers. Shortly after the arrival of the train from Manchester, Col. Hackett appeared upon the ground, having in his buggy Collector Howard, who had just returned from Manchester, where a question had been the day before argued before Hon. Daniel Clark, Judge of the United States District Court, raised by persons interested in the estate of Davis, Moulton & Company, a firm also in bankruptcy in Rochester, New York, and of which Mr. Carr was a partner. The counsel who have been here from New York filed a motion to vacate the appointment of Mr. Howard as assignee, on the ground that as the first bankrupt proceedings were commenced in the District of New York, against the firm of Davis, Moulton & Co., it was a proceeding there against Mr. Carr also, and the assignee of the firm, should administer the estate here as well as in New York, and it should not be administered by an assignee of Mr. Carr subsequently appointed in this District.

The question being a fundamental one, the Court have taken time to consider it. The auctioneer then briefly stated to the gentlemen assembled the condition of affairs, and explained that as Mr. Howard, if it was decided he was not the properly appointed assignee, of course would be unable to give a good title to any purchaser, there could be no sale of property under him, until the question as to the appointment was finally adjudicated. The consequence was the sale of all the various estates was postponed indefinitely. This is unfortunate for the estate and to whoever winds it up, as several of the buildings are at present tenantless and depreciating in value. We presume Judge Clark will soon announce his decision, and whoever may be the legal assignee, the estates will again be offered at auction the next time, it is hoped, without postponement.

JOTTINGS.

Michael Conley escaped from the jail on Friday. He was to have been discharged on Monday, having served out a sentence for a petty theft, and being detained only for non-payment of costs.

There will be a meeting of the Temperance Reform Club on Sunday evening, at Mechanics Hall, commencing at half-past seven o'clock, with praise service, followed by speaking by members of the club, and others. Seats free; all are invited.

Joseph Hiller Foster, Esq., who has held the office of treasurer pro tem. of the Portsmouth Savings Bank since Mr. Shores' illness, has been unanimously elected to the office of treasurer by the trustees.

U. S. S. Tallapoosa arrived at the Navy Yard on Friday from Washington, via intermediate yards, bringing stores to the yard. Commodore John Guest arrived in her, and immediately took command of the yard. Capt. Earl English remains on duty as captain of the yard and equipment officer; and Capt. Erben assumes the duty of senior aid to the commandant. Commodore Guest was received with the customary honors, salute, etc.

Steamer Clara Bateman did a good day's work on Friday, between noon and six o'clock, towing up and berthing five deep laden coal vessels, and taking two light vessels to sea. If Capt. Rand had all the work he could do with his steamer, he would make her pay.

On Thursday the final arrangements were completed for the ten-miles road race from this city to the Union House at Hampton, between Woodbury Locke's "Kanoza Boy" and Col. Frank W. Hilton's "Julius Cæsar." It will take place on Friday next, if fair weather.

At the regular drill meeting of the Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Thursday evening, Major Daniel J. Vaughan, captain of the company, was the recipient of a splendid sword and belt from his command.

"Favorite," a fine black horse belonging to Mr. R. H. Beacham, died Thursday night of cerebro-spinal meningitis, having been sick only about twenty-four hours. The animal was valued at over $200, and is the second one lost by the same gentleman within a few weeks, the other one (a valuable mare) having died of laryngitis.

G. W. & C. B. Colton & Co., 172 William St., N. Y., have prepared a very complete and handsome Map of the Seat of War—or rather two Maps on one sheet—29x18 inches, showing Turkey in Europe and Turkey in Asia, with portions of the countries adjoining, the whole of the Black Sea, and the eastern portion of the Mediterranean Sea, which they sell for thirty cents. A copy of this Map will aid materially in getting a clear understanding of the newspaper reports relating to the Eastern complications.

Industrial Sketches--No. 2.

THE ELDREDGE BREWING COMPANY.

The site on which this brewery stands has been the scene of various enterprises. In 1833 the first building was erected by a company known as the "Bleaching Company," for the purpose of bleaching cotton cloth. Among the projectors were Alfred W. Haven, John Yeaton, Stephen Simes, Dr. Charles A. Cheever, Daniel R. Rogers, and others who in those days were associated with the business interests of Portsmouth. Probably no adventure was ever started with stronger hopes of success. The stock was eagerly sought for and could have been sold far above the original cost. The project was started under inducements given by Mr. John Green, who claimed to possess the secret of bleaching in not only a much less time but at a smaller expense than that attending other bleacheries; but the first attempt shew its utter failure. The material or solution used badly injured the fabric, and the machinery for ironing, etc., proved useless for the intended purpose. After some time and money expended in fruitless efforts to overcome these obstacles, a meeting of the stockholders was called, when it was decided to stop all further expenditures, pay all claims and make a final close of the concern. In this transaction was shown the sterling honesty of those connected with this enterprise. As soon as any doubt of its success was had it was voted not to sell any more stock, and in but a single instance was this vote violated. One of the stockholders, whose name we shall not mention, disposed of his shares, while the others, whose high sense of honor would not allow them under the circumstances to sell, lost all that they invested.

In 1835 a new organization was formed, for the making of hosiery, called the "Portsmouth Spinning and Stocking Factory." On the 27th of April, 1837, the establishment was mostly destroyed by fire; the loss was about $25,000, with an insurance of $12,000 or $13,000. It was immediately rebuilt, and December 4th of the same year shows the first entry in the Day Book, as follows; "The association formed by several persons per Ledger A, for the manufacture of Hosiery etc., Having now procured and accepted a charter * in the name and style of the Portsmouth Steam Factory—the business hereafter will be transacted in that corporate capacity and the several balances are transferred from the Books of that association as follow, viz: On hand Real Estate $4912.-57, Machinery $7550.19, Dye House and apparatus $263.55, Fuel 66.75, Merchandise $1441.92, Bills receivable $185.00, Cash $45.29, Total $14,265,27." The amount of indebtedness on account and notes in bank was $4,664.05. The amount of stock was $12.000, which was equally divided among the eight stockholders. The names of those who composed this Company were John H. Sheafe, Samuel Hale, William Neal, George Raynes, Dr. Charles A. Cheever, Alfred W. Haven, Thomas A. Adams, Hosea Crane, with Joseph D. Pillow as clerk. On June 8th, 1846, the buildings were again partially burned, the fire commencing near the engine and boiler, and extending through the weave room to an extension on the east end which was used as a machine shop and sash and blind factory. The loss at this time was about $3000. In a few weeks the business was again in operation, and continued with incidental changes of stockholders until 1849. Having no liabilities, it disposed of its charter to the present "Kearsarge Mills."

Following this, the factory was occupied by Messrs. Haskell and Warren, of Boston, who continued the making of hosiery for a short time only; and it was afterwards used as a machine shop and for the making of agricultural implements.

In 1854 it was again converted into a stocking factory by Mr. John Brugger, and in 1855 it fell into the hands of Michael and Solomon Fisher, who thinking it a poor investment offered it for sale at a price greatly below its tax valuation. Here followed one of those incidents in business life which one is brought or forced into through certain conditions or circumstances of capital invested, rather than by any premeditated plan or foresight. The property could not be disposed of unless at a great loss; the question was, what available use could it be put to. In 1856 Mr. Homan Eldredge bought a portion of it, and it was then decided to establish a brewery for the manufacture of Cream Ale, under the firm of M. Fisher & Co. This enterprise proved successful. In 1870 Mr. Fisher retired and it was continued by H. Eldredge & Son. In 1875 it merged into a stock company, and is now distinguished as the Eldredge Brewery Co., consisting of ten stockholders, five of whom are residents of this city, Hon. Marcellus Eldredge, who has been connected with this establishment since its commencement, was elected President and Treasurer, and Mr. James F. Jenness, who had been the clerk for a number of years and one of the parties interested in its present formation, was selected as Secretary and Cashier. Messrs. Eldredge and Jenness are also members of the board of directors.

The location of this brewery has not only superior advantages for the manufacturing of ale, but possesses a charm of natural surroundings. There are many who can remember the unpretending building nestling in the shade of broad-spreading oaks, and sending out its merry hum from spinning looms; the little brook, fed from fountain springs, that ran to the river and with the river flowed to the sea; the neighboring groves and orchards; the meadows fragrant with the perfume from dimpled beds of clover; and with all the inroads which time has made, the place is not yet disrobed of all its rural attractions.

From the original building, which was 43 by 28 feet and two stories high, has grown a pile which with its several additions and extensions now presents a front of about 250 feet in length, three to five stories high, and varying from 40 to 70 feet in width. It contains all of the modern appliances of machinery, etc., for the carrying on of this business; and when one visits this vast workshop with its labyrinth of rooms, and sees the result of the amount of labor and the various operations which malt and its extract passes through before it becomes beer, he is surprised not only at the cleanliness and order which pervades every department but also at the comparative small number of persons employed. Its first brew, which was March 1, 1856, was twenty-eight barrels; it now manufactures 250 barrels a day, and has a regular sale of from 50,000 to 60,000 barrels a year, involving the use of from 125,000 to 150,000 barrels of malt. The fermenting room, or room in which the fermenting tuns are placed, is said to be equal if not superior to that of any brewery in the country; it is 28 feet high, and finely ventilated. The Brewery has two engines, two boilers of eighty and one hundred and twenty-five horse power, three force pumps, 17 cisterns, tub, etc., a capacious scald and barrel shed (with cooper shop attached), coal shed 160 by 25 feet, ice houses, stables, and other buildings for storage purposes, etc. The cellar extends under the main buildings, and affords ample accommodation for storage of ale. The brewery is connected with the several railroads by a track some 1200 feet long, part of which is bridged across the Mill Pond, running parallel with the Eastern and Concord & Portsmouth Railroads. A new copper mash tub, holding 600 barrels, has lately been put up; also a conveyer that takes the malt to the elevator, by means of which it is then raised to the grain room, a distance in all of about 90 feet.

A pond 90 by 225 feet, supported at one end by a stone dam, furnishes all the ice necessary; 1200 tons were cut from it last winter; and it can be extended so as to supply any amount required. A new ice house has been built, close to the pond and directly back of that part of the brewery used for the cooler, affording a convenience which those in the business can fully appreciate. The water is constantly running from the pond, and passes under the scald and barrel shed, forming a natural drainage carrying all the waste matter to the mill pond beyond. This is also an admirable feature, as by this means all odor is avoided in and around the premises. There are on an average thirty-five men employed, with the requisite number of horses, teams, etc. It is proverbial that brewers possess the finest draught horses in this and other countries. One of the teams owned by the Eldredge Brewing Co. excites the admiration of those who can appreciate the appearance of a noble horse, and is considered to be the finest in the State. There are three horses whose average weight is 1500 pounds each, the wagon weighing some 3000 pounds; and one can estimate the strength of these animals in seeing them quietly passing through the streets with a five or six ton load.

One of the difficulties that brewers have to contend with is the bursting of the heads of the barrels, and frequently a large quantity of ale is lost in this way. The force of ale is supposed to be eighty pounds to a square inch, and this immense power necessitates a counteracting strength to retain it. The staves of the barrels are about one inch and three-quarters thick, encompassed by heavy iron hoops. The head used by this company was invented and patented by Mr. Hiram F. Williams, in charge of their cooper shop; it is constructed on scientific principles and will resist a pressure of 150 pounds to a square inch. The merit in its construction is that it removes all danger of explosion, and it will ultimately be in general use.

This company also occupies two large buildings on Bow street, used for office, storage of hops, etc.; a telegraph transmits orders from the office to the brewery, and also connects with Mr. Eldredge's house on Islington street, and will soon extend to the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph office.

In connection with the making of cream ale the company will shortly introduce the manufacture of stock ale and porter. The increasing demand for Portsmouth beer in preference to that of many of the older breweries shows the reputation which it has in the market, and the energy and ability of those engaged in the business is a guarantee of its continued success.

*Note. The Charter referred to in the above article under the name of the "Portsmouth Steam Factory" was first granted in 1823 to Isaac Walcron, Elisha Whidden, Robert Rice and Elisha Hill, Jr., and their associates, for the purpose of manufacturing in iron and other metal, and in cotton and wool, with a capital not exceeding two hundred thousand dollars. It was at about this date that the introduction of manufactures was first agitated by our capitalists. Either from not sufficient encouragement or some other cause the enterprise was not started, and the charter was sold to the Hosiery Company and used by them until 1840, where they disposed of it to the Kearsarge Mills, who by an act of the Legislature, increased their capital to one million dollars. Mr. Hosea Crane, who was Superintendent of the Hosiery Company, received some four or five hundred dollars for his interest, and the stockholders one dollar a share.

Daily Chronicle.

Cross Husbands and Scolding Wives.

"Domestic Infelicity," which newspaper reporters nowadays credit with playing such on important part in life's drama, is often the result of lingering or chronic disease. What husband or wife can be cheerful, smiling, and pleasant, when constantly suffering from the tortures of some dread disease? Perhaps the husband's liver becomes torpid, and he experiences bitter, disagreeable taste or nausa, has chilly sensations, alternating with great heat and dryness of the surface of his body, pain in his sides, shoulders, or back, eyes and skin are tinged with yellow, feels dull, indisposed, and dizzy. Through his suffering he becomes gloomy, despondent, and exceedingly irritable in temper. Instead of resorting to so reliable a remedy as a few small doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets, and following up their action with the use of Golden Medical Discovery, to work the biliary poison out of the system and purify the blood, if he play the part of a "penny wise and pound foolish" man he will attempt to economize by saving the small cost of these medicines. Continuing to suffer, his nervous system becomes impaired, and he is fretful and peevish—a fit subject to become embroiled in "domestic infelicity." Or the good wife may, from her too laborious duties or family cares, have become subject to such chronic affections as are peculiarly incident to her sex, and being reduced in blood and strength, suffering from backache, nervousness, internal fever, headache, and enduring pains too numerous to mention, she may become peevish and fretful—any thing but a genial helpmate. In this deplorable condition of ill health, should she act wisely and employ Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, it will in due time, by its cordial, tonic and nervine properties, restore her health and transform her from the peevish, scolding, irritable-tempered invalid to a very happy, cheerful wife. Laying aside levity and speaking seriously, husbands and wives, you will find the Family Medicines above mentioned reliable and potent remedies. For full particulars of their properties and uses, see Pierce's Memorandum Book, which is given away by all druggists.

The Wise Course in Rheumatism.

Rheumatic patients who have been induced to submit to depletion by blood letting, or to take colchicum and other drugs of an equally pernicious character, will consult their well being by abandoning such insane procedure and using as a substitute Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will infallibly afford them the much desired relief, and is absolutely safe. This benign vegetable depurent cools the blood, by expelling from it the inflammatory elements which give rise to maladies of a rheumatic and gouty type, and rectifies disordered conditions of the stomach, nervous system and bowels which usually accompany them. As Rheumatism has a tendency to attack the heart, the desirability of an early resort to the Bitters is obvious, since the danger is increased by every moment.

A New York Physician, of many years' practice in the treatment of lung diseases, writes as follows Walter Baker & Co. regarding their preparations of Chocolate and Cocoa:—

"Experience from many years' practice in the treatment of lung diseases has convinced me that as an article of diet for those suffering with any form of consumption, Chocolate is far preferable to Tea or Coffee; in fact, the two last-mentioned articles are injurious in many cases, while Chocolate, being an aliment and analeptic, is particularly serviceable when digestion has been impaired by disease. Having examined several specimens of Chocolate, I find that Baker's may be conscientiously recommended to invalids."

cannot wear out the teeth that are brushed daily with Sozodont. If it were in universal use the dentist would have little to do, for it is a positive preventive of dental disease.

The teeth of persons who use it cannot decay or turn yellow.

"Stick!" said Sumner. He referred to Spalding's Glue.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial, and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Thousands of living grave-robbed witnesses proclaim the wonderful virtues of Adamson's Botanic Balsam as a speedy cure for coughs, colds, asthma and consumption. Sample bottles free. Large bottles, 25 and 75 cents.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is nutritive and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung frying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not compoused of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a wild and fearfully cured him self. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing phys cian, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. Oyster Exportation.

The exportation of American oysters to England is quite as notable in its way as that of American beef, which has of late attracted so much attention. The first venture was made about seven years ago by a Washington (New York) marketman, but the oysters spoiled on the voyage. Another consignment of the largest, finest specimens to be had was then sent, arriving in prime condition, but the Englishmen, failing to find in them the coppery flavor to which they had been educated by their own small, inferior oysters, discarded the American bivalve as unfit for British palates. Finally some of our prime "bushel" oysters were sent out. These are of small size, usually served up for "raws," and are of delicious flavor, and after a period of hostility from the English dealers, who tried to persuade the public that they were poisonous, they speedily took the popular taste by storm. Having gained a foothold, the American oyster became a staple article of export, yielding a goodly profit to those engaged in the business.

Where a few barrels constituted the first venture, the orders increased gradually until at the present time the exportation of oysters averages over 2000 barrels per week. Eight or ten New York firms have their agencies in Liverpool, where all oysters are consigned, and whence they are distributed through the country. The profit on them is good. Here they are worth about $3.50 per barrel, the transportation costs $1.50, and they sell for from $8 to $10 per barrel. There is comparatively little risk attending their transportation by steamer. In warm weather they require to be kept cool with ice, but in the fall and winter months they do not need this frigid attention. If they are fed and watered occasionally, they stand the voyage splendidly, arriving in as fat and tempting condition as when they left. Not being subject to seasickness, they waste none of their substance by foolishly throwing it overboard. Thus this industry has grown to important dimensions. What with our exportations of beef, oysters, sheep, flour, wheat, corn, etc., America bids fair to supply the whole world with food.

Journalists and Journalism.

Dr. Redfield writes as follows to the Cincinnati Commercial:

It has been remarked that very few who get into journalism start out with such intention. They drift in accidentally, and are promoted as they develop capacity. Money, wealthy parents and influence are of no sort of service in getting a young man a place on a newspaper. There is no business that is so entirely independent of all these considerations as this. A wealthy father can easily get his son a location to read law, or medicine, or push him forward in almost any walk of life he may select, but he is utterly powerless to do anything for him in a journalistic way. To be sure he may buy a newspaper, and set up his hopeful in that manner, but unless there is something in the youth called journalistic knack, a natural knowledge of what to write and how to write it, he will be a failure in that line, and all the money and influence of wealthy and perhaps powerful relatives will count for nothing.

Some fond parents educate their sons with especial view to making journalists of them; but it is rare that we hear of these young men after a few years. Meantime some scrub, born among the hills, having nothing but a common school education, and perhaps a very common one at that, and the knowledge scraped up in a country printing office, will advance to a front rank in the profession. He has the journalistic knack, and forces recognition because he has it. He gets a place, not because he has wealthy parents to influence the proprietors of leading newspapers, but because he knows what to write and how to write it, and the editors take it because it is what they want. His articles go in because they supply a demand, while perhaps the elaborate essays from the pen of a man educated on two continents with an especial view to journalism, are cast into the waste basket.

Young men just out of college, and with journalistic ambition, who have had their essays passed upon by admiring relatives, and pronounced the productions of genius, think if they can get a letter of introduction to the manager of some leading newspaper, they will forthwith find recognition in his columns. I don't know how many applications by mail and in person I have had from young men asking me for a letter of "recommendation" to the editor of the Commercial. I never complied, because I know that these agencies are not worth five cents a peck toward getting anything into the paper. I tell the applicants to send along whatever essays and so forth they have on hand, and that a letter of introduction a mile long would not be of the least service in influencing the editor to print what didn't fill the bill. Recommendations from those known to the editor, or the influence of wealthy relatives of young men ambitious to shine in journalism are of no earthly benefit in this matter, unless, indeed, the latter might furnish money to have the maiden efforts published as advertisements. But fame at thirty dollars a column is expensive.

The majority of successful journalists drift into it from other walks of life, and perhaps the most of them, up to the time they are eighteen or twenty years old, had no thought in that direction.

The War.

The Roumanian minister has been ordered to leave Constantinople.

The reported bombardment of Ibrail by Turkish ironclads was but an exchange of a few shots between a Turkish turret ship and the Russian batteries.

The English declaration of neutrality has plunged the Greeks into despair. They say that if Turkey is victorious they will gain nothing, and if Russia, they lose all chance of gaining Macedonia and Thrace. A military company has been organized, and, unless resolutely opposed by the Government, will cross the frontier in a day or two, not so much to fight as to exasperate the Turks and provoke a collision between Greece and the Porte.

Austria is determined as a precautionary measure to occupy Bosnia and the Herzegovina. According to present arrangements the movements of troops for that purpose will begin in about a fortnight.

Russia has obtained a loan of one hundred million francs.

St. Petersburg advices state that the greatest distrust prevails against England; batteries on the shore of the Baltic are being repaired and armed. Hundreds of torpedos are ready for immersion near the Gulf of Finland, and numbers of houses are reserved for troops to be quartered there.

News and Notes.

The extra session of Congress is not to come until the middle of October. Secretary McCrary says the War Department can get along, and that being the case there is no good reason for having Congress in session this summer. We are glad that high pressure gas manufacturing establishment is not to be run till cool weather.

A despatch from Halifax, N. S., says: "The forts in the neighborhood of the city are being supplied with improved guns and ammunition. Much activity is displayed by the military authorities. Three iron-clads are to be stationed here. Another regiment, the Forty-second Highlanders, is expected here shortly."

Great anxiety is felt for the safety of the City of Brussels, upon which the Irish pilgrims sailed. She left New York for Liverpool the same day as the Germanic. The latter arrived out a week ago.

The Mormons, expecting Brigham Young's arrest, are perfecting their military organizations to resist Federal authority if necessary.

Escort duty at the funeral of Parson Brownlow was performed by the O'Conor Guard of Nashville, Tenn., the commander being an ex-Confederate officer.

Dobson's carpet mills at Schuylkill Falls, Penn., the largest in the country, closed on Friday, leaving 1400 hands unemployed. Last April seventy weavers struck. The proprietors, learning that the balance of the hands were supporting the strikers, resolved to close the mills.

The Seventh Cavalry, with 1100 men, has left Fort Lincoln and gone in search of Sitting Bull, who is supposed to be north or south of the Yellowstone with some 500 recalcitrant warriors. The command will hunt down and bring in the hostiles, when found, to the agencies.

Three Russian merchantmen are lying in the Delaware, near Philadelphia. The crews take no interest in the war or in the Czar's manifesto. They have enough to eat and their pipes are loaded to the muzzle, and they are willing to stay where they are until the war is over.

The number of vessels belonging to, or bound to or from ports in the United States, reported totally lost and missing during the past month, is 55, of which 25 were wrecked, 15 abandoned, 3 burned, 1 sunk by collision, 5 foundered, and 6 are missing. The list comprises 4 steamers, 3 ships, 12 barques, 6 brigs, and 30 schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $1,055,000.

Rev. Mr. Miller of the First Presbyterian Church of Trenton, N. J., has been tried for heresy. He denied the charge, and claimed that his idea of God was drawn from the Bible; he regards the Father as God, the Son as God, and the Holy Ghost as God, but they are three and not one. Mr. Miller was found guilty by a unanimous vote, and a resolution was passed that he be suspended. He appealed, and the case will go to a higher tribunal.

It is reported that Kate Claxton and her husband, Dore Lyon, have been reconciled, and that the cross suits for divorce have been discontinued.

John Daly, aged twenty years, convicted of murder in the second degree in killing Francis J. Reilly in New York, was on Friday sentenced to State Prison for life.

The Midgo, a torpedo boat, built by the Confederates during the late war, was on Friday sold at auction at the Brooklyn Navy Yard to James T. Powers & Co., for $250.

Capt. Barnaby, of the barque Quickstep, of New York, on a recent passage from Batavia saw what appeared to be a shoal, the sea breaking white in patches over a space a mile and a quarter long and only an eighth of a mile wide. The position (carried forward from the noon reckoning) of the shoal was in lat. 4 deg. 18 min. north, lon. 136 deg. 21 min. east. This agrees with the position of the Warwick Shoal, as laid down in the old charts, but omitted in the new charts.

Hon. Alfred Kittredge, of the Haverhill (Mass.) Gazette, died Tuesday morning, May 1st, of heart disease, aged 72. He has been a prominent and active citizen of that place for forty years, and died in the harness, having been conveyed from his office to his home five days ago. He was a native of Canterbury, in this State, graduated at Dartmouth in 1827, first became a teacher, subsequently a lawyer, and after his removal to Haverhill engaged in the practice of law and business enterprises. He became proprietor of the Gazette in 1869; had represented the city in both branches of the legislature; was director in the Haverhill & Andover Railroad and president of the Haverhill Fire Insurance Company from its organization, 1841, to its close. His wife and daughter survive him.

One of the New York papers tells a strange story of a clandestine marriage in that city between an adventurer named Joseph Lopez and the daughter of a wealthy real estate owner by the name of Morrison. The girl was somewhat weak-minded, and the adventurer gained her acquaintance through female confederates employed in the family as servants. She was induced to marry him, and a clergyman performed the ceremony without suspecting there was anything wrong. As soon as the matter came to the knowledge of her father he took steps to have the marriage annulled, and it is said that the young lady is now in a private insane asylum. The object of Lopez is believed to have been blackmail, he suspecting that the old man would be anxious to buy him off at a high price. It is further stated that he has two or three wives in different parts of the country, and that he married a girl in Chicago whose father is paying him $3000 a year to keep away. This appears to be rather a peculiar way of making money, and one involving heavy risks.

Capt. McCobb, (of schooner Frank and Emily, of Rockport, Mass., before reported wrecked,) who was picked up at sea after having been twenty-four hours in the water, gives the following account of the disaster: On the day of the wreck, April 14th, during a terrific gale, at about eight o'clock in the morning the mainboom broke adrift, and while securing it a sea boarded the vessel and swept the cook overboard. At two o'clock P. M., another sea boarded her and opened a seam in her quarter. When the mate saw this he said to the captain, "Our wives will be widows before night." Hope, however, was not entirely extinguished, for the crew set to work to make a raft, "but before it could be done the vessel sank. This was about four o'clock. I saw the two remaining hands rise and swim to the top of the house. I swam to the side of the house, but the mate was not seen to rise. During the night I was swept three times by the sea from the raft, and twice the raft caps'zed upon me. I was tempted several times to give up the struggle in despair, and it was only by the aid of Divine help that I survived the horrors of that day and night."

The Boston young man in society began long ago to set apart annually a portion of his income for wedding presents. He is now forced to consecrate another moiety to the work of saving the Old South Church. The number of entertainments, by amateurs for the most part, from readings and lectures to the theatricals and concerts passeth belief, and he is obliged to attend them all and sit through them. Now as the income of the Boston young man has been a good deal curtailed, while the drains upon it are by no means decreasing, he groaneth much in secret and privately would be glad to see the ancient meeting-house turned into a retail dry-goods store. —Worcester Gazette.

Mr. Murat Halstead has a decidedly original way of sowing business puffs in with his editorial composition, like grasshoppers' eggs in a wheat-field. He says in his paper, the Cincinnati Commercial: "We are not in the habit of calling attention to advertisements, but we remark that the Australian perfume advertisement in another column strikes us as a fraud."

Admiral Hobart Pasha, of the Turkish navy, whose exploit in running by the Russian batteries at Galatz has been told, is well known in Washington. He was one of the most successful and most annoying of the blockade runners of our civil war, in which service he was employed by the formerly wealthy but recently bankrupt London firm of Alexander Collie & Co. He was a captain in the British navy, but took advantage of a leave of absence granted him by the English Government to go into the blockade running business. When this came to the knowledge of the Lords of the Admiralty he was suspended from his rank in the British navy. Thereupon he entered the Turkish service, and, besides being invested with the rank of Admiral, he was made a Pasha by an imperial firman. He next became conspicuous in checking the rebellion in Crete, where his knowledge of the blockade running business was of great service to him in preventing the Greeks from furnishing supplies of arms and ammunition to the insurgents. By a subsequent decree in council of the Lords of the Admiralty he has been restored to his rank and number in the British navy.

At Belfast, Me., Friday, the case of Charles B. Mahan, agent of the Granite Agricultural Works of Lebanon, in this State, indicted for cheating, was continued to the October term, and the defendant was ordered to give bail in $1500.

Mr. and Mrs. Jotham Johnson of Freeport are supposed to be the oldest couple in Maine. They are 91 and 90 respectively, and have been married 70 years.

The Bangor Whig publishes an original map of the seat of war in Europe. A Commercial street man looked at the strongly marked lines of the engraving one afternoon, and observed, with a smile of recognition, "That was originally a portrait of Mr. Blaine."—Portland Adv.

Some Vermont women have done notable temperance work of late in collecting evidence against liquor-sellers and appearing as prosecuting witnesses. At Vergennes they prosecuted one poor fellow three times and then converted him. The Middlebury women had the druggists locked up, and wouldn't release them till they signed a bond to stop liquor-selling, which they had printed in the local papers. They also secured a column in every paper in the county, and appointed an editress to fill the space with temperance matter, and have, moreover, induced the County Commissioners to make a woman the liquor agent, which has resulted in decreasing the sales fully two-thirds.

At the Bangor city farm, there is residing an aged lady, Mrs. Taintor, 84 years old, who has eleven children, all well-to-do and living in plenty. The Bangor Commercial well says, "It is one of the most shameful occurrences on record, for eleven children all well off to let their mother remain in the Poor-house. David Taintor of Winterport is one of her children. Mrs. Taintor is a nice old lady, very smart, with good eyesight and improves her time in knitting or reading."

Dot's Prayer.

Dot was usually a remarkably good little child, but one day she behaved so badly that both papa and mamma had to reprove her. Thoroughly ashamed, but in no way penitent, Dot brooded over the affront till bedtime, and was still full of indignation when she knelt to say her prayer. Even "Now I lay me" was said with pouting lips, and when it came to the little addendum, "Bless my dear father and mother," she stopped short.

"Go on, darling," said mamma.

"O Lord, please bless"—there was another pause—"just bless me, my own self, Amen."

The Wise Course in Rheumatism.

Rheumatic patients who have been induced to submit to depletion by blood letting, or to take calchicum and other drugs of an equally pernicious character, will consult their well being by abandoning such insane procedure and using as a substitute Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will infallibly afford them the much desired relief, and is absolutely safe. This benign vegetable depurent cools the blood by expelling from it the inflammatory elements which give rise to maladies of a rheumatic and gouty type, and rectifies disordered conditions of the stomach, nervous system and bowels which usually accompany them. As rheumatism has a tendency to attack the heart, the desirability of an early resort to the Bitters is obvious, since the danger is increased by every moment.

Active Service

cannot wear out the teeth that are brushed daily with Sozodont. If it were in universal use the dentist would have little to do, for it is a positive preventive of dental disease.

The teeth of persons who use it cannot decay or turn yellow.

DR. A. J. FLAGG'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Thousands of living grave-robbed witnesses proclaim the wonderful virtues of Adamson's Botanic Balsam as a speedy cure for coughs, colds, asthma and consumption. Sample bottles free. Large bottles, 35 and 75 cents.

A NEW YORK PHYSICIAN, of many years' practice in the treatment of lung diseases, writes as follows Walter Baker & Co. regarding their preparations of Chocolate and Cocoa:—

"Experience from many years' practice in the treatment of lung diseases has convinced me that as an article of diet for those suffering with any form of consumption, Chocolate is far preferable to Tea or Coffee; in fact, the two last-mentioned articles are injurious in many cases, while Chocolate, being an ailment and analeptic, is particularly serviceable where digestion has been impaired by disease. Having examined several specimens of Chocolate, I find that Baker's may be conscientiously recommended to invalids."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 187

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift the hands to his head or do a work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indivised him to get some of these Pills. I believed nothing in them, but I gave him the first package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helps him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. FEVAR

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Quain's Condition Pills upon Rheumatism of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15,

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and stomach. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with no good result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or ten winters, and have been taking and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had and wishing to do with. One told me I could not get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mudge my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately wrote to you for a package. I have taken four doses and am almost free from pain. The impression I have seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherman, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 187

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to those who are similarly afflicted, they have done me much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

JOTTINGS.

In our item regarding the postponement of the real estate sale on Friday, it was stated that among the goodly company of buyers who congregated were "some of the salesmen" of the city. It was written "solid men," but didn't get put in type that way.

The stockholders of the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth railroad hold a special meeting at Kittery to-day.

The Times says: "Mr. Alfred Stavers has notified his tenants on Vaughan street to vacate, this being preparatory to building an opera hall. The plan will be similar to the old Temple."

The schooner Mary Marden, of this port, has been purchased by Newburyport parties for $1200, to take the place of the wrecked Flying Fish. She was taken around to that port last week.

Messrs. C. E. Walker & Co., in another column announce a reduction in the price of coal.

Cook, the confessed murderer of Miss Hanson, was lodged in jail in this city Saturday forenoon, and will be kept there until his trial comes off, he being in fear that Buzzell would find some way to kill him if the two were kept in the same jail. He is hardly more than a boy in appearance, and does not look like a person of criminal predelictions. His age is but twenty-two.

Charles Watson, a New York "confidence man," got seriously taken in last week. He saw the good-humored countenance of B. P. Shillaber, Esq., and assumed that so pleasant-looking a gentleman must be a flat; so he "tried it on," but instead of capturing Mrs. Partington's shekels he found himself in the lock-up.

THE ECLECTIC THEATRICALS.

Franklin Hall was filled Friday evening with an appreciative and admiring audience to witness the complete success of the long promised amateur entertainment given by members of the "Eclectic Club." To particularize each individual in so small a space would be almost impossible, but each and all were as perfect in the rendition of their characters as any professed artist we have ever seen. The personal beauty, and rich dresses of the ladies, added not a little in setting off their fine acting, and graceful movements.

Mischievous Meg was simply charming, and even outdid her former efforts; while Mrs. Netwell's easy, graceful vivacity, won for her the hearts of her audience, as well as that of Sir Ashley Merton, causing us to recall Tony Weller's advice to his son, "Beware of the widows." Cornelia's striking beauty and charmingly acted love scene could not be surpassed.

The gentlemen were wakened to a degree of enthusiasm seldom seen among amateurs. The part of Farmer Crow was a very difficult one, and with its Yorkshire dialect, was very finely rendered by Mr. Foster, and would have done credit to a veteran actor. Mr. Frank Hatch as Meg's lover was even better, if possible, than in his former characters, while nature surely intended Capt. Higbee to be a "hero of the sock and buskin," for his part was acted to a charm. Dr. May so thoroughly disguised himself as Mr. Eytem, that it was only his usual excellent acting that discovered his identity to the audience. The acting of Dr. Ruth was admirable, and his uncommonly fine presence, added to the good conception of his character, gave the greatest satisfaction. One of the most finished pieces of acting was that of the impoverished artist, sustained by Mr. Larkin; the text was most perfectly given, and the character finely conceived. Mrs. Mills, while flourishing her feather duster, could not hide the sweet, gentle, ladylike bearing, for which she is so noted among her friends. We hope Mr. Williamson may find "Uncle Sam" will continue to be a better paymaster than the poor artist, from whom he failed to collect his bill. One of the loveliest scenes of the evening was that of the two beautiful girls sitting for their pictures—but words fail to tell all the good points; suffice to say the plays in their stage appointments, management and acting, were fully equal, if not beyond any theatrical entertainment ever given here, and the writer but expresses the feelings of the audience, in saying thanks, many thanks, for a most agreeable evening.

THE SUNKEN TREES AT RYE.

A Rye correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter writes a long article concerning the submerged forest at Jenness' beach, Rye, from which we take the following:

Where was once a hardened pathway almost as smooth as marble, now are ragged rocks of all sizes, from the tiny pebble to huge boulders of twenty tons in weight. Further along are huge stumps and logs, roots, limbs and all the appearances that any ten-acre stump lot would exhibit if the dirt were suddenly scaped away to the depth of three or four feet. Many of the stumps are now more than two feet in diameter, and the "rings" or annual layers of the woody fibre indicate that they grew very rapidly, and were in a thrifty condition when they were cut, or when they fell down. Originally many of the trees must have been very large; for although the salt water acts as a preservative against decay, yet the action of the sharp particles of sand must have worn them away considerably. They are generally covered with a slimy incrustation, such as usually gathers upon wood when exposed to the salt water, but this winter and spring they have been uncovered a good portion of the time, and have become worn pretty smooth. There is nothing to indicate the slightest trace of decay, so far as the wood itself is concerned. When cut into with an axe, the outside, to the depth of an inch or two, appears somewhat disacolored, but a very few inches further in, the wood is as sound and bright as the wood of any thrifty inland tree growing in the forests of New Hampshire. The sand is gradually covering them again, and in a short time they will be lost to sight, and buried, perhaps, for only a month or two, and perhaps for ten years. I have known them to remain covered for several years in succession. I have never seen them so thoroughly exposed as during the past few weeks. It is only certain conditions, even in a storm, that produce the peculiar "sweep" of the waters necessary to remove their sandy covering. That they extend further seaward than the present line of low water is proved from the fact that a vessel in "heaving up" a few years since, several hundred yards from shore, brought to the surface of the water a stump, which had caught upon the fluke of her anchor. That shores settle and are submerged, and indeed, that whole countries were once beneath the waters of the sea, is no new geological fact; but it is not often that we see the fact so clearly demonstrated. There is every reason to believe that the stumps, of which I have written, must have been exposed to the sea for many centuries, and certainly there is abundant reason for belief that they will remain for hundreds of years to come.

New Hampshire Items.

A few days since Edwin Prescott of Hampton Falls discovered a fox in the act of skirmishing with his cat, with the evident intention of circumventing that honest feline, in the public highway. Suddenly leaving the cat, Reynard went for a hen, which he despatched in short order and then returned to the cat, but pussy proved to be too smart for him and got out of his way. In the meantime Mr. Prescott procured a gun, but before he could load it the fox was beyond the reach of shot. The next day he traced the fox to its den, and, on digging into it, found therein six little whelps, the dead body of a sucking pig and divers heads, wings and feathers of sundry poultry.

At Seabrook, on a recent Saturday night, some miscreant girdled twenty-five growing pines belonging to George A. Philbrick. The gate in front of his house, which had been secured by a locked chain, was sawed apart, carried from the house and broken in pieces.

Hardly a night passes without an attempt to commit burglary in some part of Manchester. Friday morning five cases were reported, apparently by the same gang, only one being successful, viz., the grocery store of Albert Mallard & Son, where provisions were stolen and the money-drawer rifled. A few nights since the front window of a fancy goods store was broken on Elm street and goods valued at $150 were stolen.

Dennis Cornine of Rutland, Vt., was put into Keene jail, Friday, for attempting highway robbery in Hinsdale, May 2, when he took John Stearns' horse by the bit and demanded his money.

Political.

The typical democratic editor at the North gets madder and madder every day. He threatens now to bust up all the Presidential plans and combinations, abolish the army, smash the suppositious new party, and cut Mr. Evarts, unless the enforcement laws are immediately repealed,—his anger being intensely aggravated by the fact that the South refuses to get mad at all. To borrow the language of the younger Evergreen, "This gentleman seems to have been bitten by a Spitz cat."—N. Y. Tribune.

Senator Edmunds of Vermont, who has recovered his health so that he is able to ride out on horseback, has called on the President and talked over the political situation with him. Mr. Edmunds admits that he was at first disposed to oppose the President's course in the South, but that he is now willing to see the new policy have a fair trial, and that if President Hayes is assailed on the floor of the Senate he will defend him.

Here is an item of foreign news that may be interesting to the late American nation. The recently elected democratic Police Commissioners of Jersey City, N. J., have removed Capts. Dickson and Van Reiper, and put in Patrick Jordan and Hugh Mullany; have made Patrick Cronan the Health Inspector, Patrick Dowling the Lamp Inspector, and Patrick Fariner a Sergeant.

The Lemon Cure.

A correspondent of an English medical journal furnishes the following receipe as a new cure for consumption:—Put a dozen whole lemons in cold water and boil until soft (not too soft,) roll and squeeze until the juice is all extracted, sweeten the juice enough to be palatable, then drink. Use as many as a dozen a day. Should they cause pain or looseness of the bowels, then lessen the quantity and use five or six a day until better, then begin and use a dozen again. By the time you have used five or six dozen you will begin to gain strength and have an appetite. Of course as you get better you need not use so many. Follow these directions and we know that you will never regret it if there is any help for you. Only keep it up faithfully. We know of two cases where both of the patients were given up by the physicians, and were in the last stages of consumption, yet both were cured by using lemons according to the directions we have stated. One lady in particular was bedridden and very low; had tried everything that money could procure, but all in vain, when to please a friend, she was finally persuaded to use the lemons. She began to use them in February, and in April she weighed 140 pounds. She is a well woman to-day and likely to live as long as any of us.

The Fun E. B. Grannis Has.

E. B. Grannis is editor of the Church Union, New York, a large quarto of influence and considerable circulation. Grannis publishes the paper, edits it, and canvasses for advertising, and does all the heavy work, with the assistance of a young and bright-eyed girl who keeps the books. Grannis receives scores of letters addressed to Rev. Dr. Grannis, D. D., Elder E. B. Grannis, etc., and beginning, "My dear sir," or "Dear Brother Grannis." Grannis, though, is a woman—a little, nervous, active, black-eyed woman, who weighs about ninety pounds. "I have never intended to mask myself," she says, "but I have felt that if the paper suited, my sex was nothing to anybody; and that, perhaps, my arguments would seem weaker if it were known that a little woman uttered them. I had a letter the other day from a confiding clergyman in Ohio, who saluted me as 'Brother E. B.,' and asked my private opinion as to whether women ought to be allowed to speak in prayer-meeting. I wrote confidentially that I did not think it would do any hurt."

—Specimen southern item—A Georgia negro twisted a mule's tail to urge it over a fence. The small attendance at the funeral next day showed that the people didn't care if he did twist the mule's tail.

—Garnets stood the St. Louis fire better than any other precious stones, while amethysts lost their color and became like opals, pearls were entirely ruined, diamonds crumbled to dust and cameos became as soft and brittle as chalk.

Killing Potato Bugs.

Hand-picking is the only effectual remedy I know, and this is the way I apply it. Take some broad shallow vessel, say a gallon milk-pan, put into it water to an inch depth, and pour in enough coal oil to cover the water. With this preparation place the pan near the potato plant; take hold gently of the top of the plant and incline it over the pan; give the plant a few gentle taps, and the bugs will drop into the liquid below. The advantages of this plan are cleanliness, certainty of killing the bugs, no danger of poisoning by handling either bugs or drugs, and the ease and rapidity of execution. Not a bug escapes death if it drops into the pan, which it certainly will do if the operator is careful. This plan works equally well upon the Colorado beetle, the black potato and the ash-colored bug, as all drop from the plant at a slight concussion. With this plan there is no necessity for going to the house for boiling water, as suggested by your Nebraska correspondent. Last year I saved my potatoes from bugs in this way, and if some one will give me as effectual a remedy for grasshoppers, it will be gratefully received.—Kansas Cor. Congregationalist.

Hatching Chickens.

We always choose the evening, after dark, as the best time to set hens. If they are young fowls, you cannot be assured that they will be steady sitters upon their first attempt at this undertaking, however earnest they seem at the outset. They should, therefore, be placed upon artificial or valueless eggs at the beginning, say for three or four days, to ascertain if they really "mean business" when they appear inclined to follow the motherly instinct. If they stick to the nest determinedly, then give them the eggs you desire them to hatch, and you will be more successful, generally, than if you neglect this kind of trial at the outset.—Poultry World.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the damp trying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
— USE —
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

In Hot Water.

Madison Wells, school trustee of Southold, Suffolk county, L. I., and David A. Cooper, teacher of the school at that place, had a rough-and-tumble fight the other day, in the school-room, to the immense delight of the pupils, who mounted the desks and encouraged the combatants by singing in concert "Hold the Fort." They didn't get up on the desks merely for the purpose of seeing the fight, but it was to keep their feet dry, as the principals in the affair had upset a boiler of hot water in their struggles. The boiler, or the woman that owned it, was in part the occasion of the fight. Cooper brought her there to scrub the floor. Wells tried to throw the boiler out of the school and Cooper resisted the attempt. The trouble, however, dates back to October last, when one Simons was trustee, and engaged Cooper to teach for forty weeks, and having done that he killed himself, and Wells was elected in his stead. He told Cooper that he must leave at the end of twenty weeks. This caused bad feeling, and then came the scrubbing-woman, and the boiler, and the hot water, and the fight; and then Madison Wells was arrested, and refusing to recognize the authority of the court or give bail, he now languishes in Riverhead jail.

American Actresses in London.

Kate Field's comedietta, "Extremes Meet," has survived the general change of Easter and finds favor with the better class of playgoers. The criticism is that her acting is too quiet—too much like that of a lady performing in her own drawing room. A good judge in such things remarked to me that the piece and the acting together resembled a pretty water-color laid on with a camel-hair brush—the strokes were not heavy and coarse enough for stage perspective. I hear that Kate Field is at work on a new play, which is already sufficiently advanced to have been accepted by Mr. Chatterton for Drury Lane. We have another American actress here, Miss Ella Dietz, on whose performances at the Haymarket I hear sometimes criticisms similar to that mentioned concerning Kate Field. The beautiful sonnets which Miss Dietz writes—curiously enough in the Hornet—might indicate to any one a mind too spiritual for any popular success on the stage; but those who like refined acting and delicate effects could fain wish that some theatre would raise up a troupe of these quiet and ladylike performers; in which case we might cease to wonder why America sends so few actresses to this country which has so many of its actors.—London Letter.

A Formidable Torpedo Vessel.

The Scientific American gives an illustrated description of the torpedo boat Alarm. It says while foreign nations have bestowed chief attention upon immensely costly experiments on guns and armor, here in the United States the principal aim has been the perfection of the torpedo system. An admirably organized and thoroughly equipped torpedo school for the navy has for several years been in existence in Newport, R. I. The work which there is done is not published, but many of its results are of great importance. There is also an army torpedo station at Willet's Point, Long Island. We have also constructed one torpedo vessel, which is probably the most formidable craft afloat (not excepting the Italian iron-clads with their 100-ton guns), and in time of war will form the model for a fleet of like steamers. This vessel is the Alarm, which would be a disagreeable craft for a heavy iron-clad (one like the Vanguard, for instance, which went down like a shot on being slightly rammed) to encounter. She is well provided with defensive means. Having sighted an enemy—say at night—her compound engines drive her headlong at the rate of fifteen knots per hour. As she nears him the immense electric light on her bow flashes out its glare, blinding her adversary to her own hull (which is already sunk so low that her deck is but three feet above the sea), while displaying his every proportion. The roar of her fifteen-inch gun as it hurls its huge shot or shell into the attacked vessel, is followed by the crash of the bow spar torpedo striking the devoted craft below the water line. Then, perhaps, after a momentary check due to the torpedo recoil, the Alarm plunges forward, driving her immense ram into her adversary's crushed side. As she swings broadside on to her foe another torpedo is exploded under the unguarded bottom of the enemy; while the machine guns under the torpedo boat's rail keep up a deadly fire of thousands of bullets per minute, sweeping her opponent's decks. Her length is 172 feet, of which 32 feet is snout or ram; her beam is 27 feet 6 inches, and she draws 11 feet of water, displacing about 700 tons. She is built of thoroughly tested charcoal iron, and on the English bracket-plan system; that is to say she has really a double hull, one shell being constructed inside the other. Within the outside shell three longitudinals of great strength run the entire length of the vessel, and are connected with bars running in a horizontal direction by brackets. The different sections can be entered through manholes, so that a person can pass from stem to stern between the inner and outer vessels. These compartments are all water tight, so that in the event of a leak only one section could fill. The whole interior of the vessel is also built in compartments, which may be hermetically sealed.

The War.

Grand Duke Nicholas telegraphs as follows: "The passage of the Pruth is retarded by the unusually swollen condition of the river. Necessary steps, however, have been taken that the concentration of troops will not be interfered with."

A despatch from Bucharest says that some Turkish monitors arrived on Friday before Oltenitza and insisted upon the withdrawal of the Roumanian detachments. Thereupon they laid torpedoes.

The open town of Reni was bombarded on Friday by Turkish monitors for three hours. All the inhabitants of Reni, Ibrail and Oltenitza fled.

The British underwriters are demanding heavy rates for insuring property afloat, and to be afloat.

Lord Derby has replied to Prince Gortschakoff's circular to the powers. Lord Derby intimates that the war is unjustifiable; that it is unlikely to alleviate the condition of the Christians; that it is in direct contravention of the Treaty of Paris and a breach of the Czar's solemn promise.

A despatch from Vienna says that it is rumored there that Kars had capitulated.

The Khedive of Egypt will send no more troops to aid Turkey, as he will have all he can attend to at home. The Abyssinians, finding Egypt sending away troops, improve the opportunity to attack her.

A despatch from St. Petersburg, Monday, says the Russians have taken Kars, with 17,000 Turkish prisoners. The attacking army numbered 50,000. This, if true, is an important success for the Russians, and indicates a rapid and successful advance of their armies in Asia Minor.

Kars is considered by the highest military authorities as the military key of Asia Minor. Having possession of it, the Russians have comparatively easy access south to Erzeroum, and then, either capturing or masking this place, they can descend into the fertile plains of Trebizond, and take or destroy an enormous quantity of the agricultural wealth of the Ottoman Empire, and finally gain a foothold at Trebizond, or some other point on the Black Sea. The damage they could do to Turkey here would be immeasurable. Whether they could advance in this direction toward Constantinople would depend on the numbers which they have concentrated between the Caucasus and Ararat. They could certainly advance through Armenia, supporting the army on the country, and not requiring the assistance of a fleet, as would an advance over the Balkans.

News and Notes.

There is trouble over the appointment of M. R. Wickersham as Postmaster at Mobile. Wickersham was a Greeley man. He was in the Harrington city ring. Harrington was Mayor. When Mayor he sold to the city $36,000 worth of fraudulent bonds. Wickersham is universally hated in Mobile for his connection with this ring. He was a carpet-bagger also. Bingham, the present incumbent, is a native and very popular.

The hills of three southern counties in California, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, and San Bonaventura, are covered with wild and eager men boring for oil and locating claims. The oil furore of 1856 is repeated, but there is this difference: In 1856 they did not know where paying oil was; now they do. They find an abundance of light green and heavy black oil, and Prof. Silliman's prophecies are confirmed. The total product is not very large, but California now expects to supply the whole Pacific in a very short time, and also the markets of Eastern Asia.

Washington reports say that under the new organization of the pension bureau, only four eastern offices will be retained. One for Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, of which the agency will probably be at Portland; one for the rest of New England, with the agency at Boston, and two in New York, with agencies at New York city and Canandaigua. The present fifty-eight agencies are to be consolidated into eighteen. The aggregate reduction of expenditures will be $135,000.

Oakey Hall not only refuses to communicate with his family, but will not receive any letters from them or read an American newspaper. And yet they said he was on the kindest terms with his wife and daughters.

Three negroes have been hanged and seven imprisoned for life in South Carolina for the murder of one white man. It is doubtless all right; but we are afraid it would not be so easy to have three white men hanged and seven imprisoned for killing one negro.—Boston Globe.

Mr. John T. Daly, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, New York, who has been missing since May 1st, was found dead in a vacant house on Long Island on Sunday, hanging by the neck from a door in the second story. Mr. Daly, Jr., fully identified the body as that of his father. Several thousand dollars in bonds and money, and a gold watch were found safe upon his person. He had, without doubt, committed suicide while laboring under an aberration of mind. An examination of Mr. Daly's body revealed the fact that the unfortunate man, before hanging himself, had discharged the contents of a pistol into his head. It is stated that he had been seen wandering about the neighborhood two or three days before he committed suicide.

The Sewing Machine Companies, in consequence of the expiration of the last of the patents owned by large manufacturers, have reduced the price fifty per cent.

Burglars on Friday night robbed the house of Harrison Prescott, of Newton, Mass., of $12,500 in money and bonds.

Freight steamship Sidonian, of the Anchor Line between New York and Bristol, England, burst a boiler in mid-ocean, by which the captain, first, second and third engineers, two firemen and a coal trimmer were scalded to death, and the cook injured. The Sidonian was spoken after the accident by the Cunard liner China, but wanted no assistance except medical aid for the cook. She would try to reach port under sail.

A poisoned breakfast at Level Green plantation, Princess Anne county, Va., caused the death of five ladies and the serious illness of three gentlemen.

The Cathedral of Metz was badly damaged by fire on Sunday.

Naval Constructor F. L. Fernald will be assigned to duty as Naval Constructor at the Washington Navy Yard in place of John W. Easby, recently appointed Chief of Bureau, vice Hanscom removed. The double turreted iron-clad Miantonomah has been ordered to get ready for sea.

Three men were found hanging to a tree near Sherman, Texas, recently, with a large card on them bearing the words: "Cattle Thieves. Such is life."

Advices from South America say that the Archbishop of Quito was poisoned Good Friday while saying mass, by means of strychnine introduced into the wine used in the ceremony. Great excitement and indignation naturally prevailed over the awful sacrilege. The perpetrators were not discovered.

Two of Bergh's officers who interfered in a cock fight on Long Island last Friday night, were killed by roughs.

Crazy Horse and his band, to the number of thirteen hundred have surrendered to the United States authorities at Camp Robinson, Nebraska.

At the close of a heavy storm at the end of last month, portions of a vessel went ashore near Smithville, N. C., one part landing on Fort Caswell beach. This part showed the wrecked vessel to have been a large vessel with three masts, either a ship or a barque. She was covered up as high as fifteen feet with bright metal, and probably when loaded would draw sixteen and a half feet of water. All the bolts are brass, four, six and even eight feet long; the knees are solid iron, and the outside planking six inches through and of stout pine, probably Norway pine. She must have been a staunch ship. A ship coming in a few days before found the sails of a large ship floating at sea, and the captain took the topgallant sail off and found it covered with sand, which showed that the vessel from which it came was wrecked on or near the Frying Pan Shoals. The wreck on the beach at Fort Caswell is probably part of the same ship.

Commencement exercises at Tilden Ladies' Seminary, West Lebanon, will be attended on the week opening June 17. Baccalaureate sermon, by Rev. Cyrus Richards, Keene; annual address by General John Eaton, Jr., LL. D., Washington, D. C. Class honors have been assigned: Valedictory to Mary L. Durkee, West Lebanon; salutatory to Emma M. Woods, Chester, Vt.; class hymn to Louise W. Guibord, Boston.

Thomas Murphy, the young Irishman arrested on suspicion of having poisoned Samuel Dascomb of Greenfield, has been discharged from custody, the experts having failed to find poison in Dascomb's stomach.

The body of an unknown man, apparently about forty years of age, was found in the canal near the Amoskeag counting-room, in Manchester, on Monday. The body appeared to have been in the water all winter.

The saw and grist mill of E. Heald, of Epsom, were burned by an incendiary fire on Sunday. Loss, $4000; insurance, $2000. The house and barn of Mr. Carpenter Stevens, in Epsom, were burned Thursday night. Insured $2300.

Political.

Foster's Democrat, in commenting on a denunciation by the Nashua Gazette of the decision of the Supreme Court on the question submitted by the Governor and Council, says: "If Judge Bingham's addendum to the decision of the present court, which was published last week, be correct, there have now been three distinct decisions of this question, and they all agree that the Governor and Council have no authority to go behind the returns and throw out, reject or disregard any votes. The clear deduction from this is that the acts of Gov. Weston and Council in the Natt Head and Deering cases were not only unconstitutional, but were directly opposed to two previous decisions of the court." We are not sure, but our impression is that the Democrat opposed the Weston infamy at the time it was perpetrated, and that it was the only democratic paper in the State that took that ground.

The Tribune says: "Political sensations follow each other with startling rapidity this season. Here, now, is the Democratic Jackson Association of Washington, which wanted to arrange for Mr. Tilden's inauguration before the question of who was to be inaugurated was settled—here now is this organization endorsing Hayes!" In explanation of this performance by the Dem. Jack. Ass. of Washington, the correspondent of the Boston Post says: "The President of the Association, who presided at a meeting held in March at which resolutions were passed denouncing Hayes' election to the Presidency as the result of fraud, is now a candidate for the District Commissionership, which explains the endorsement of the Southern policy." So it seems the prospect of getting an office is soothing to the loudest talking of the "reformers."

—The following is attributed to Beecher: "Men and women, before marriage, are as figures and ciphers. The woman is the cipher and counts for nothing till she gets the figure of a husband beside her, when she becomes of importance herself and adds tenfold to the sum of his. But this, it must be observed, occurs only when she gets and remains on the right side of him, for when she shifts from this position he returns to his lesser estate, and she to her original insignificance."

—When Parson Brownlow was attending conference at Abingdon, Va., in 1850, he suffered a serious illness, and Bishop Capers and other divines present were rather anxious to know how the "eccentric parson" felt in view of an exchange of worlds. Accordingly they visited his room, and the Bishop read the Scriptures and sang and prayed with him. On taking his leave, Dr. Capers took him by the hand and, looking him full in the face, inquired as to his prospects beyond the grave. The answer was prompt and confident. "Well, Bishop, if I had my life to live over again I could improve it in many respects, and would try to do so. However, if the books have been properly kept in the other world—and of this I have no doubt—there is a small balance in my favor."

—The timber lands of the South will within the next ten years become a valuable property. It is estimated that the lower peninsula of Michigan, once called the timber reserve of the continent, will be denuded in ten years. The destruction of the forests all over the North is terrible; and James Little of Montreal, well known as an authority in these matters, has recently published a declaration that in Canada "the whole Ottawa Valley could not to-day furnish as much pine as would supply the present consumption of sawed lumber in the United States for ten months." The young men of to-day will see the forest lands of the South become as rich a possession as the cotton lands; and they may possibly see lumbering become as much of an industry in the Rocky Mountains as gold mining.

O man! why linger in thy misery, when Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cleanse your blood of virulent poisons, cause ulcers to heal, pimples, blotches, and eruptions, to disappear, and health and strength to reign supreme! Pierce's Memorandum Books given away by all druggists.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years his affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 29 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, being only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—500 pages—full of plates, price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under sealed mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichoi's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. Le Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting he Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or cause or to be cast into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any part of the fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substance.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the source of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2[illegible] years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 29, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indivisci him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not send them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Who helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my house for nearly the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that your pills will cure anything they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1876.

MESSRS. W. LANE—Sirs:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of these Pills.

JOTTINGS.

The Probate Court sits in this city to-day.

The street sprinklers commenced business on Monday.

Steamer Allentown (steam collier No. 13) arrived at this port from Philadelphia on Sunday, with 1641 tons of coal.

News is so scarce in New Hampshire that the Portsmouth CHRONICLE notices the eighth anniversary of the freezing to death of a litter of pigs in another State.—Portland Advertiser.

B. P. Shillaber, Esq., writes the Boston Journal that he thinks it was not he who circumvented and demoralized the "confidence man" in New York, and says: "As I should assuredly have been swindled had I been there—having a special gift for being taken in—the fact that my other self escaped proves an alibi."

Mr. Wm. Flynn of this city, while assisting in hauling one of Mr. Poor's large boats ashore on Star Island, Monday, had his arm badly broken by being crushed under the boat, owing to her falling over from the breaking of a shore.

A little daughter of Mr. James Rutledge was badly bitten in the hand by a large dog belonging to Mr. Rutledge, Monday evening.

A horse belonging to Mr. H. R. Stoddard ran away Monday evening, just after being harnessed, and went up Warren street to Haymarket square on a run. Here he struck a wheel of the carriage against the reservoir curbing, which upset the carriage and threw the horse down; and before he could get up two men secured him, with but slight damage either to himself or the vehicle. At about the same time one of Mr. Beacham's horses started off on a lone trip, but was stopped on the corner of Congress and Fleet streets.

Rev. Carlos Martyn, formerly pastor of the North Church, in this city, was installed over the Thirty-Fourth street Dutch Reform Church, New York city, Sunday evening.

DROWNED.

On Monday evening, as William S. Roberts and Edward F. Hall of this city, and Frank Frost of Eliot, were going up the river in a dory, when near "boiling rock" two of them attempted to change seats, and in doing so capsized the boat. Frost and Hall (the latter of whom has but one arm) hung to the dory, Roberts attempting to swim to the shore to relieve the boat of his weight; he proceeded apparently well enough until about half-way ashore, when the men on the boat saw him throw up his hands, and sink without a cry. A boat from the shore picked up the survivors.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, May 7th.

George Smith, drunk, was fined $3, costs $3 Same, for brawl and tumult, was assessed $9.90,—a total of $15.90 for one spree. Paid.

RAILROAD MEETING.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad, held at Kittery Monday forenoon, it was voted to accept the arrangement previously made by the directors with the officials of the Eastern Railroad and directors of the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, by which the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad is mortgaged to the creditors for the sum of $250,000, the Eastern to pay the amount of indebtedness with interest. One-half of said principal of the mortgage note is to be paid next July and the other half to become due in six months; but on payment, at maturity, of one-eighth of the amount thereof with interest, it shall be renewable, for the balance, for another six months by giving another note, and so on, paying one-eighth at the end of each six months until the whole amount with interest shall have been paid. It was voted to accept a continuance of the existing guarantee of six per cent. from the Eastern Railroad as in past years.

[Communicated.]

A CORRECTION.

Messrs. Editors: My attention has recently been called to an item in your Rye correspondence of last week, wherein some reflections are cast upon a conductor of one of the trains on the Eastern Railroad, that are unjust as well as unfounded in fact. I chanced to be a passenger on that train, and not only saw no reason for complaint but saw that there was room enough and to spare, in the two cars alluded to, for all. And then I wish to bear testimony to the over courteous and patient conductor of that train. Surely, if there ever was such an anomaly as a patient conductor, then John Leavitt fills the bill. Not obtrusive nor oily,—but pleasantly, quietly and courteously he moves among his passengers, attending strictly to his own business, and is known among the patrons of the road as just the kind of a man who will do all in his power to accommodate those who place themselves in his charge. There are some conductors that I have met in my travels who are as consummate hogs as their human form will allow them to be, having a thoroughly swinish temperament added to an immense ability for exhibiting it on the slightest causes; but in pleasant and marked contrast to such characters is Conductor Leavitt, and this testimonial to his merits is wholly gratuitous and unsolicited, being prompted solely by the temptation "to speak of a man as we find him."

Yours, G.

A CRITIC CRITICISED.

The Eclectic Club will have reason to exclaim, "Oh, save me from my friends," and insist that the writer of its puffs must learn to discriminate in order to give his praises the ring of truth. No artist paints his picture entirely without a shadow. The glaring picture drawn by a too partial observer of the pleasant entertainment given at Franklin Hall, Friday evening, loses its best effects by its blazing lights all through, if we may except the allusion to Mr. Williamson—a gentleman whose truthful, delicate and artistic delineations have made him the favorite of the mimic stage. It is possible to kill with kindness, and when one states that "each and all were as perfect in the rendition of their characters as any professed artists we have ever seen," he compels us to the conclusion that the writer's opportunities have been painfully limited. In the first place, it is simply impossible to collect a dozen persons of whom each one is able to achieve supreme success; it is never expected in the best drilled companies, and it is claiming something unreasonable to assert that twelve or fourteen stars were obtained from our private parlors on a month's notice, and that each outshone the other. Actors do not spring, fully armed and equipped like Minerva from the head of Jupiter, ready for action, but they have to climb through patient labor and unceasing drill toward the upper rounds of the ladder, and then with modest self-distrust conceive of heights that they despair of attaining; and I think the amateurs themselves who have done so much toward giving us delightful entertainments would shrink from being put before Kate Reignolds, Maggie Mitchell, Sara Jewett and Edwin Booth.

AN ADMIRER OF HOME TALENT.

RYE.

RYE, May 7th.

Preparations for summer boarders are in order at the beaches, and probably the usual number of guests in search of health and a cheaper place than home to live in during the heated term, will be on hand about the first of July, and remain until September. There is a difference of opinion among our citizens in regard to the benefits arising from this "boarding business," some asserting that it is, and always has been, to speak plainly a "curse to the town." This class represents those who live a little distance from the beaches, and don't take boarders, and claim that, while those who do are reaping all the benefits derived from the business they still are not satisfied, but are all the time asking the town to build them new roads, bridges, etc., and are not willing to pay their just proportion of the expense caused thereby, notwithstanding it benefits them personally, and is no accommodation to citizens living away from the beaches; and they say it makes taxes higher and does not help them in the way of selling their produce to any better advantage than though there was not a solitary boarder here, for the parties who have to buy send to Boston for everything they want. On the other hand, it is claimed that the business benefits the whole town, and that it is to be seen on all sides in the improved condition of the buildings and surroundings, from what they were twenty or thirty years ago; also in various other ways, which no one at all conversant with the general appearance of things now and twenty years ago can fail to notice. At any rate, there is no sign of any decline in the business, and for the coming season there will be accommodation for one hundred more boarders than there was last year. Mr. Richard L. Locke has a fine house nearly completed, which will accommodate a large family; and near by Mr. C. Austin Jenness is busily at work on another fine house, which will be ready for company the first of July; while Mr. Otis S. Jenness, in close proximity, is about putting the finishing touches to a commodious dwelling which will be in order for guests by the time the season opens. Mr. Richard Jenness, on the south road, whose house was destroyed by fire last year, has also had a fine house built for him, which is about ready for occupancy and will accommodate quite a number of boarders, if he should desire to take any. The Hotels have made no additions to their accommodating capacity, so far as numbers are concerned, since last season, but there will probably be "room for one more" at any time while the season lasts.

Probably, during the height of the season, the papers will have the annual announcement of some "New York capitalist" negotiating for the site of the Old Ocean House and proposing to put up" in time for next season's business" a magnificent hotel, and also we shall read of the proposed adding on to the front of the Farragut House sixty feet, so as to have the piazza of that popular resort covered twice during the twenty-four hours with the ocean at high tide, and so preclude the necessity of guests going a step from the house to enjoy all the benefits of the ocean, including bathing, and moonlight flirting by the sad sea waves. As for the Sea View, it don't seem as though there could be much chance for any more enlarging there at present, as the whole available space is pretty well covered with buildings now.

The selectmen have advertised for proposals to build a road laid out by the County Commissioners, from John O. Foss', on the sandy beach road, so called, to Mr. E. W. Lang's on the back road; also to build a road from the Farragut House to North Hampton line.

The Wise Course in Rheumatism.

Rheumatic patients who have been induced to submit to depletion by blood letting, or to take colchicum and other drugs of an equally pernicious character, will consult their well being by abandoning such insane procedure and using as a substitute Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will infallibly afford them the much desired relief, and is absolutely safe. This benign vegetable depurent cools the blood by expelling from it the inflammatory elements which give rise to maladies of a rheumatic and gouty type, and rectifies disordered conditions of the stomach, nervous system and bowels which usually accompany them. As rheumatism has a tendency to attack the heart, the desirability of an early resort to the Bitters is obvious, since the danger is increased by every moment.

DR. A. J. FLAGG'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Thousands of living grave-robbed witnesses proclaim the wonderful virtues of Adamson's Botanic Balsam as a speedy cure for coughs, colds, asthma and consumption. Sample bottles free. Large bottles, 35 and 75 cents.

A NEW YORK PHYSICIAN, of many years' practice in the treatment of lung diseases, writes as follows Walter Baker & Co. regarding their preparations of Chocolate and Cocoa:—

"Experience from many years' practice in the treatment of lung diseases has convinced me that as an article of diet for those suffering with any form of consumption, Chocolate is far preferable to Tea or Coffee; in fact, the two last-mentioned articles are injurious in many cases, while Chocolate, being an aliment and analeptic, is particularly serviceable where digestion has been impaired by disease. Having examined several specimens of Chocolate, I find that Baker's may be conscientiously recommended to invalids."

No hotel in this country or Europe is more thoroughly comfortable for families and ladies travelling alone, than the well-known Colonnade Hotel in Philadelphia, Pa.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

PARTIES having vaults they wish cleaned out can get it done by leaving their orders at the City Rooms. WM. SHANNON, Supt. City Farm.

Daily Chronicle.

—A placard in the window of a patent medicine vender in Paris, is as follows: "The public are requested not to mistake this shop for that of another quack opposite."

—This is what a pilgrim writes from Deadwood: "Lot jumpers are bold, bad men; they jumped my lot. They also dodge bullets and let the wrong man get shot. Night before last a man jumped his brother-in-law's lot, and when he was upbraided therefor smote his kinsman hip and thigh. The injured party got his navy, found his man, took a good aim, fired—and killed an innocent bystander. About a dozen of us smart Alecks laid out a new street. We did it by stealth, like thieves in the night, as it were, to keep out the jumpers. Next morning we went to take possession of our lots, and found our thoroughfare blocked up with frame shanties. We withdrew. That's why I don't think a lot jumper is entitled to don an angel's plumage when he shall have crossed over to the other side."

—This story comes from Paris: A necklace that was last seen on the neck of a charming lady was the object of admiration. Some time ago a gentleman took this necklace to the late Moina, asking him to buy it, and to substitute false diamonds in their place. His wife, he said, would never know the difference. Mr. Moina, who was a friend of the wife's family, asked twenty-four hours to reflect. In that time he went and told the story to the lady's grandmother, who gave Moina £2000 for the husband, telling him to give back the real necklace, but not to mention the truth. This was done. Some months later it was the wife who took the necklet to Moina, asking him to buy it and substitute false diamonds in the place of the real ones. "My husband will never know the difference," she said. Again a visit to the grandmother, who again gave £2000 to keep the diamonds in the family, and as both husband and wife still think that the diamonds are false there is no fear of the necklace being resold.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
— USE —
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter liable to produce offensive effluvia, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance or any other nuisance shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

A Bird Story.

In the many long years that Thomas Edward spent in intimate fellowship with animate nature, he was a witness of manifold curious incidents happening in the history of birds and beasts, which he narrates in a spirited and picturesque manner. Among such anecdotes which Mr. Smiles has introduced into Edward's biography, one of the most interesting is that illustrating the surprising degree of feeling which the tern is capable of entertaining. Edward was, one afternoon in August, watching the evolutions of a flock of these birds, which were engaged in fishing in the Fryth of Boyndie. He was seeking an opportunity to bag one of the beautiful creatures, when, as if in answer to his desire, a noble specimen directed its course to the shore, fishing all the way as it came. In the midst of a vivid description of the habits of the bird in the pursuit of its prey, Edward relates:

"Once more he soars aloft on lively wing, and, having attained a certain elevation, and hovering, kestral-like for a little, with quick-repeated strokes of his pinions he rapidly descends. Again, however, his hoped-for victim has made its escape; and he bounds away in an oblique direction, describing a beautiful curve as he rises without touching the water. Shortly after he wings his way nearer and nearer to the beach; onward he advances with zigzag flight, when suddenly, as if struck down with an unseen hand, he drops into the water within about thirty yards of the place where I am standing. As he righted and sat on the bosom of the deep, I was enabled distinctly to perceive that he held in his bill a little scaly captive, which he had snatched from its home, which struggled violently to regain its liberty. Its struggles were in vain; a few squeezes from the mandibles of the bird put an end to its existence.

Being now within my reach, I stood prepared for the moment when he should again arise. This he did as soon as the fish was dispatched. I fired and he came down with a broken wing, screaming as he fell into the water. The report of the gun together with his cries, brought together the party he had left, that they might ascertain the cause of the alarm. After surveying their wounded brother round and round, as he was drifting unwittingly toward the shore with the flowing tide, they came flying in a body to the spot where I stood, and rent the air with their screams. These they continued to utter, regardless of their individual safety, until I began to make preparations for receiving the approaching bird. I could already see that it was a beautiful specimen; and I expected in a few moments to have it in my possession, being not very far from the water's edge.

While matters were in this position, I beheld to my utter astonishment and surprise, two of the unwounded terns take hold of their disabled comrade, one at each wing, lift him out of the water, and bear him out seaward. They were followed by two other birds. After being carried six or seven yards, he was let gently down again, when he was taken up in a similar manner by the two who had been hitherto inactive. In this way they continued to carry him alternately, until they had conveyed him to a rock at a considerable distance, upon which they landed him safely. Having recovered my self-possession, I made toward the rock, wishing to obtain the prize which had been so unceremoniously snatched from my grasp. I was observed, however, by the terns, and, instead of four, I had in a short time a whole swarm about me. On my near approach to the rock, I once more beheld two of them take hold of the wounded bird as they had done already, and bear him out to sea in triumph, far beyond my reach. This, had I been so inclined, I could no doubt have prevented. Under the circumstances, however, my feelings would not permit me; and I willingly allowed them to perform without molestation an act of mercy, and to exhibit an instance of affection which man himself need not be ashamed to imitate. I was, indeed, rejoiced at the disappointment which they had occasioned, for they had thereby rendered me the witness of a scene which I could scarcely have believed, and which no length of time will efface from my recollection."

An Editor Who Loves Babies.

We love babies, and also anybody else who loves babies. No man has music in his soul who doesn't love babies. Babies were made to be loved, especially girl babies—when they grow up. A man isn't worth a "shuck" who doesn't love a baby, and the same rule applies to a woman. A baby is a spring day in winter, a hothouse in summer, a ray of sunshine in frigid winter, and, if it's a healthy, good-natured little baby, and it's yours, it's a bushel of sunshine, no matter how cold the weather. A man cannot be a hopeless case so long as he loves babies—one at a time. We love babies all over, no matter how dirty they are. Babies were born to be dirty. Our love for babies is only bounded by the number of babies in the world. We also have sorrowful feelings for mothers who have no babies. Women always look down-hearted who have no babies; and men who have none always grumble and drink and stay out nights, trying to get music in their souls; but they can't come it.

Babies are babies, and nothing can take their place.—Atchison Patriot.

Daily Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1877.

A Vast Monopoly Ended.

At twelve o'clock, noon, on Tuesday, the sewing machine monopoly came to an end by the expiration of the Bachelder patents, which were originally granted on the 8th of May, 1847, for a term of sixteen years, and twice extended for successive periods of seven years each. The expired patents covered the vibrating needle and rotating hook, and a continuous feed in connection with the above, whether wheel or what is known as a fore motion feed. The refusal to grant a reissue of these patents has destroyed the exclusive monopoly enjoyed up to this time by the companies known as the Grover & Baker, the Wheeler & Wilson, Howe and Singer. The John Batchelder patent for continuous feed motion was the most valuable patent in their possession, and of vital value, as machines constructed without this motion have no value in this market. This sewing machine combination cleared no less than six millions profit from this patent. The four companies named, in 1851, entered into an agreement of mutual protection, by which patents of any value owned by either of them should become common property to all, and it was also stipulated that no machine should be sold at less than the regulation price, which was placed at six times the cost of first manufacture! They would also license other companies, not in the combination, to use their patents, demanding a royalty of from $3 to $20 per machine, according to the number of machines made, but always stipulating that the price should be uniform. This arrangement gave the four companies the absolute control of all sewing machines manufactured in America. The invaluable Bachelder patent has been twice extended, and last winter the companies interested pooled one million dollars, and despatched attorneys to Washington to endeavor to induce Congress to further extend the patent by legislation. This movement, however, strange to say, with so much money behind it, failed. Ever since great efforts have been made by the combination to secure some monopoly in minor details of construction, which could be reissued, and thus save something from the wreck, but without avail; the backbone of the sewing machine ring is hopelessly broken. The cost of manufacturing any of the ordinary machines, exclusive of ornamentation, is about $8.75, and it is the testimony of reputable sewing machine manufacturers that they will soon be put on the market at $25 each, if indeed not less. As anybody that wants to can now manufacture sewing machines, it is quite likely they will be on the market at $10 or $15 each, before the year ends.

The War.

A despatch from Erzeroum, received in London on Monday, says: "The Russian right wing is reaching through Geulis and Tchilder, evidently with the purpose, unless prevented by the Turks, of turning the second Turkish line of defence at Soghaule. The Russian centre, in the plain of Kars, seems to be awaiting the result of this movement and of the manœuvres of the left wing, which is trying to force its way from Bayazid by the way of Surikay. Mukhtar Pasha telegraphs the Porte that he occupies a strong position between Kars and Erzeroum, and is confident that he can stop the Russian advance. The Porte has decided to grant a general amnesty to the Bulgarians.

Austria has notified Russia and the Porte that the interruption of free navigation of the Danube can only be temporary. Navigation must, after the war, be restored to its full force, in accordance with the treaty of Paris.

The Sultan has resolved to proclaim a holy war.

Prince Charles of Roumania officially announces that Roumania will oppose force to force so far as Turkey is concerned.

Later intelligence confirms the rumor that the Turks have been defeated before Kars, and sustained heavy losses. Ali Pasha was taken prisoner. Great uneasiness prevails at Constantinople.

The Turks on Tuesday, without declaring war against Roumania commenced bombarding Kalafat, the Roumanian batteries answering with spirit.

New Hampshire Items.

There are only seventeen lawyers in the next House of Representatives, and about half the entire number are farmers. A short session is confidently anticipated as a consequence.

John L. Gilman, aged 66 years, in business at Great Falls for many years, died on Friday and was buried Monday. All the business places were closed during the funeral services as a mark of respect.

Rev. William Hayne Leavell was on Monday installed pastor of the First Baptist Church in Manchester.

At the Manchester office of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, Saturday night, in the presence of Governor Cheney and wife, Mayor Cross and wife, Dr. E. M. Tubbs, President of the New Hampshire Telegraph Company, Professor Cheney of Bates College, Lewiston, Me., and many prominent gentlemen and ladies, Professor A. Graham Bell made a most successful experiment with the telephone between that city and Boston.

Men and Notes.

It is reported that Russian emissaries are in every large port on the Atlantic coast of the United States, in constant communication with the commander of the Russian fleet in New York harbor, and that if any vessels now loading arms and ammunition for Turkey should sail, one of the Russian men-of-war will pursue and capture it. In this connection it is stated that should such an event take place the Turkish Government could claim exemplary damages, as that Government has formally notified the United States of the war against Russia.

The official report of the surrender of Crazy Horse puts the whole number of surrendering Indians at 889, of whom 217 were men. Two thousand ponies, and 117 stands of arms were given up. Other firearms are known to be in their possession.

The coast steamer Waloon exploded her boiler at Delacroix, nine miles below New Orleans, Monday, killing Bernard Donnelly, the engineer, and McGiff, the fireman. Two others were wounded and six are reported missing. They are supposed to have been drowned.

A transport from Woolwich, England, laden with long range rifled 68-pounders, for citadel batteries, is now en route to Quebec. It is rumored that the Twenty-third Fusiliers are coming out, and will be stationed at Quebec.

Charles S. Brown's trial for the murder of his father commenced in Newport, R. I., on Monday.

The trial of Smith, at Ellsworth, Me., for the murder of Mr. Trim, his daughter, Mrs. Thayer, and her little girl, commenced last week and was continued Monday and Tuesday.

Having failed to put down the Cuban rebellion by arms, or threats of extermination, the Spanish authorities are now apparently going to try conciliation. A recent decree declares that all persons banished from the island for political reasons are pardoned without reserve. Embargoes are raised on the property of insurgents who have surrendered or shall surrender before the end of the war, except insurgent chiefs and those who, having received pardon, again go into the rebellion; persons thus excepted are to await the disposition of the Government. Embargoes on the property of deceased insurgents are also raised, the property being restored to the heirs if the heirs remain faithful to Spain.

The mission to England has been tendered to Ex-Secretary Fish.

The Russian Advance.

The Russians appear to be steadily advancing in European Turkey, as well as in Asia. The shrewd tactics of Russia have almost completely baffled the Turks. The Russians are threatening in three directions, and the Turks are trying to keep the Danube covered at all vital points. The Turkish monitors keep hammering away at Reni, below Galatz, to keep the Russians from crossing at that point, but it is clear that they are beginning to suspect trouble higher up the river, for they have been hovering round Oltenitza, a place half way between Rustchuk and Silistria, and laying torpedoes in the river. It must be remembered in looking at the movements of these Turkish gunboats and monitors on the Danube, that there are two fleets of them, and that the Russians have cut in between them at Galatz and separated them hopelessly. The larger portion of these gunboats were, at the commencement of hostilities, up at Widden, where they had been stationed all through the Servian war. Hobart Pasha took them down to Rustchuk with the probable expectation that he would be able to patrol the Danube and make things lively for the Russians. The sudden seizure of Galatz and Ibrail spoiled all his plans. The banks are occupied and fortified, the monitors are imprisoned. To test the strength of the Russian line, Hobart Pasha took a swift despatch boat and dashed past their batteries in the night, but there does not seem to be sufficient enterprise in the other Turkish officers to follow his example, although the sure result of their continuance in the river must be their capture whenever the Russians want them. The upper squadron seems to be hovering around Oltenitza, having backed out of another bombardment of Ibrail, and meantime the Russians have only to seize Turna, high up the river, and plant a line of torpedoes there, to have the river flotilla of Hobart Pasha in a trap from whence they cannot escape. Every move the monitors make up and down the river leaves the track behind them open for the planting of more torpedoes, and they must at last be hemmed in and run down, at Rustchuk or thereabouts. The smaller division at the mouth of the Danube—the one whose gunboats are bombarding Reni at intervals—is not exposed to the risk of capture, but it is doubtful whether it can accomplish much of importance. The line of the river from Reni to Ibrail is now occupied, according to the latest despatches, by 80,000 Russians, with 100 heavy guns in position. No gunboats possessed by the Turks can hope to run the gauntlet of a passage thus protected, and when we consider the additional perils of torpedoes, it is clear that the river may be said to be practically closed whenever the Russians choose to close it. Meantime the Grand Duke Nicholas telegraphs that the Pruth is much swollen, but that "the concentration of troops shall not be interfered with." His movements are very slow, but those of the Turks are so timid and hesitating that he will be enabled to choose his own point of attack at leisure.

Political.

Senator Thurman says that no democrat can honestly find any fault with the President's policy, since he has granted the Southern democrats all they asked or could have obtained if Mr. Tilden had been declared the duly elected President.

At the seventh annual Convention of the American Labor Reform League, commenced on Sunday in Masonic Hall, New York, long resolutions were offered, denouncing both the republican and democratic parties, and declaring that no candidate will receive a labor reform vote who is not opposed to property in land, money monopoly, compulsory taxation and every device giving increase to property and an income, without labor, to its holders. These reformers are evidently of the kind that hang around barrooms and talk about the rights of the working man.

The famous "Parsee Merchant," James L. Moore, who abused Horace Greeley and other protectionists for a number of years in the columns of the New York World under Manton Marble's management, has been holding a sinecure position in the Custom House for a long time. The committee investigating the management of the New York Custom House discovered on Thursday that Moore has been drawing $1,800 per year from the Government for which he rendered no equivalent. It is in rather bad grace for such a fellow to preach on "revenue reform." He could say knowingly, as he often did, that our revenue system was rotten.—New Haven Union (dem.)

Converting a Preacher.

We alluded last week to certain outrages in Oglethorpe County, Ga., where, among others, a negro preacher was flogged to cure him of republicanism. We now see by the Oglethorpe Echo, published in the county, that the prescription was effective. The Echo prints the following:

"Anthony Thurster, the negro preacher, who was so severely whipped by a party of disguised men near Maxey's recently, asks that we announce to his white friends that he would prove himself a better man—will never again make a political speech, deliver a sermon, or vote a republican ticket; from henceforth he is an unswerving democrat. We are glad that Anthony's eyes are at last opened to a proper course for him to pursue, but sorry that such 'stringent measures' had to be adopted ere he would, as it were, 'be born again.'"

Meanwhile the negroes who shot down some white men engaged in breaking up one of their meetings, have been tried and sentenced to the penitentiary for from two to ten years each. The Atlanta Constitution says they were "ably defended under the care of the court;" but it adds, as an item of news, that one of the negroes "endeavored to smuggle a note, through the medium of a vest which he threw from the window to a negro woman named Anna Henry. The letter was found in the pocket of the garment, and besought Anna to at once communicate to Atlanta, as well as to Pledger, full particulars of their trial, and ask that aid be sent them forthwith." This shows how much "defence" the poor fellow was allowed.—New York Times.

—London butcher: "You've not been 'avin so many j'ints this last week or two, ma'am." Lady (who has been dabbling in American beef, but does not dare say so:) "Er—no—er we've had a good deal of game sent us lately by some friends in the North, you know!" Butcher: "Indeed, ma'am! Now, what sort of game do they send you in the month of April, ma'am?"

CONDITION PILLS

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirty Days. First time Free from Pain Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 187

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and was free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and twenty, but, as I am gaining strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 187

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you I advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they certainly cure them of aches and pains caused by exposure and hardship on the field. Please send by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 187

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and what they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad he could not lift his hand to his head or do a work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What he says he will do for himself speaks volumes for the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, you more than they were recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and want others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. P. PEVAR

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most intractable they had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. R. M. Mc my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately wrote to you for a package. I have taken four doses and am almost free from pain. The impression seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Shell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 18

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last years. For the nerves I think there is nothing good as those pills. I can recommend them to those who are similarly afflicted, they have done me much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, May 8th.

Charles Hammond, a graduate of Brentwood, was ordered to go there again for three months, it being proved that he was a common drunkard. The costs, $6.90, will keep him some time after the three months are worked out.

JOTTINGS.

Edward Kelly has kept a little shebeene on Chapel street, to the disgust of neighbors and others. Last Sunday he had a lot of drunken men-of-war's-men in and around the place, and the swearing and fighting going on at the time the attendants at St. John's church were passing, at noon, won more attention than admiration. The police determined to abate Edward and his hotel, and accordingly raided on him on Tuesday, seizing some twenty-five gallons of cider, two or three of rum, about a barrel of ale, lager, glasses, jugs, etc. That will take the profits off his Sunday sales.

The Pension Agency in this city is to be discontinued. President Hayes on Monday issued an order consolidating the fifty-eight pension offices in the country into eighteen, leaving only two in New England, those at Boston and Concord. Concerning the New England agencies the order directs, "That on and after July 1, 1877, the agencies for the payment of pensions at Portsmouth, in the Sate of New Hampshire, Montpelier and Burlington, in the State of Vermont, Augusta, Bangor and Portland in the State of Maine, will be discontinued, and the agency districts consolidated with the district of Concord, in the State of New Hampshire, and the pensions paid at the said agencies, including the navy pensions of the districts of Montpelier and Burlington, now paid at Boston, will hereafter be paid at the agency at Concord, N. H. The agencies at Fitchburg, Mass., Hartford, Conn., and Providence, R. I., are to be consolidated with the agency at Boston."

Two boys, aged respectively nine and ten years, were picked up by the police on Tuesday. It was drawn from them that one had been expelled from a school in Great Falls for some misconduct, and had persuaded the other to run away with him. As the baby tramps were hungry, the police sent them to an eating house to get dinner; and after they had eaten their fill they "went through the till," and then dodging out repeated the same performance in a store, getting between four and five dollars at the two places. They were sent back to Great Falls by the first train, and will probably find their way to Concord before many years.

Six persons—three young men, a woman and two girls—were baptised at "the landing" at Kittery Foreside, Sunday morning, by Rev. S. A. Hutchinson.

At a meeting of the Portsmouth Veteran Artillery Association, held on Monday evening, Col. T. E. O. Marvin introduced a resolution for the celebration, on the 14th of June next, of the one hundredth anniversary of the adoption by Congress of the "Stars and Stripes" as our National Ensign. The resolution was unanimously adopted. Commander Geo. W. Towle, Col. T. E. O. Marvin, Lieut. William O. Sides, Quartermaster John H. Wells and Sergt. William A. Ashe were appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements for a suitable observance of the occasion.

The May term of the Circuit Court of the United States convened in this city Tuesday forenoon, Judge Shepley presiding. There was also a session of the Rockingham county Probate Court.

Last August William A. Hoyt stole $300 and a check for $1000 from Charles Greeley of East Kingston. Hoyt was arrested in Boston on Tuesday and brought to this city for the attention of the Court.

Mr. John W. Drew of Concord will speak on the subject of temperance in Franklin Hall on Sunday evening next at half past seven.

Some time last winter one William Donohue bit off the thumb of Charles Davis of Kingston, in revenge, it is said, for Davis threatening to complain of Donohue for selling liquor at a place he then kept at Newton Junction. On Tuesday Sheriff Kent arrested Donohue at Haverhill, Mass., and brought him to this city to stand trial before the Supreme Court for aggravated assault.

The "brown loaf" for Sunday morning's breakfast is still sold in this city for ten cents, notwithstanding the war and the report of a rise in price to twelve cents.

Two horses belonging to Mr. Floron Barri backed off the wharf at the foot of Deer street on Tuesday, and were in the water nearly half an hour before being got out, both taking bad colds from the bath. They were engaged in hoisting coal from the schooner Sarah Wooster.

On Tuesday, James Calorin and James Hoye, belonging in Dover, were arrested in this city, having in their possession a badly-smashed team which they had stolen from Dover, the carriage having been broken on the way while the occupants were overcome by too much benzine. The men were taken to the police station and the team to Beacham's stable. An officer came down from Dover in search of the runaways, and made anxious enquiries for a third man who is implicated in the affair.

Correspondence.

RYE, May 8th.

"G" writes you that an item in last week's Rye correspondence casts some reflections on a conductor of one of the trains on the Eastern Railroad which are "unjust" and "unfounded in fact," and he says he was a passenger "on that train and saw that there was room enough and to spare for all," etc. So there was, standing-room; and all of his labored defence of the Conductor does not alter the fact, that passengers were obliged to stand from Newburyport to Greenland; and if he wishes proof of that fact he can very readily obtain all he wants, if he doubts the word of one who saw with his own eyes what was asserted in regard to that train. NAT.

SOUTH SEABROOK, May 7th.

Mr. Samuel Eaton died suddenly Sunday morning. He had been working very hard the day before, planting a piece of stump ground, and seemed in his usual health when he retired for the night; but about four o'clock in the morning he awoke his wife by his loud breathing, and she, thinking him in a nightmare, tried to arouse him, but he soon ceased to breathe. Dr. J. W. Colcord was called, and pronounced it a case of heart disease. Mr. Eaton was seventy years of age; a brother of seventy-seven and a sister of eighty-five survive him. He had always been an industrious man, and cut sixty cords of wood during the winter just past. He was a man of strict integrity, and his loss will be greatly felt by this community. ENO.

YORK, ME., May 7th.

On Monday (or some other day last week, or some other week now past) Deputy Sheriffs Durgin and Grant of Saco, made a raid on the Cape Neddick House in York,—got their labor for their pains, but didn't find any liquors of any kind. Mr. S. E. Grant and his lady keep a good, respectable house, and it is utterly useless for "smellers" to hope for gain at that establishment. The Cape Neddick House is the only one in York that is open for the reception of guests the year round; and under its new proprietor is fast winning back the enviable reputation it bore in "ye olden time" when "Ma'am Freeman" ministered to the wants of the traveling public, and when "the Cape Neddick House" was known far and near as one of the best. I have positive knowledge that the present landlord and landlady do all they can to make everything pleasant and comfortable for all who call upon them. May success attend them.

One evening last week Mr. Albert Tucker of this town ate at one sitting thirty hard boiled eggs and one raw one; and in order to get a full stomach he then drank two quarts of hard cider, and it wasn't much of an evening for eggs and cider, either. P.

KINGSTON, May 7th.

On Sabbath morning, May 6th, the Congregational Society of Kingston were much surprised to find in front of the pulpit in their church a fine Mason & Hamlin cabinet organ, which was a present to the church from L. D. Peaslee, Esq.

On the 1st of May, Dr. L. Bissell and Sec. Wm. Warren, D. D., visited Kingston, as they were travelling over the State, and gave us much interesting information about the character and condition of the nations of Western India, where Dr. Bissell has spent twenty-five years in missionary labor. C.

A Specimen "Reform" Paper.

The Charleston News and Courier having charged Woodruff, the Clerk of the South Carolina Senate, with buying wines, cigars, etc., for private persons with the State funds, that gentleman retaliates by having some letters read in the Senate, which he says he received from that paper in 1870. These are interesting specimens:

"Dear Woodruff: Enclosed find bill against the Speaker, arranged for discount of twenty per centum to the paying officer. Moses said it should be paid promptly. Let me know what the Port Royal Railroad wants of the Legislature."

"My dear Josephus. This is the most interesting feature of the legislative session. Shove it through the House in the same happy way, and there will be a Christmas turkey and trimmings for both you and I."

"De Fontaine tells me you want our proposal for State printing, and I enclose two proposals, one private, the other public. We have put the price at ten cents a line. If the offer can be amended or improved, let us know. What we want is to get as good a price as we can, and to give you twenty per centum on the gross amount, whatever it may be."

—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) on Saturday called on City Comptroller Vansant of Baltimore, to apologize for a rudeness of which he was guilty when lecturing at the Maryland Institute some years ago. The subject of his lecture was "Roughing It," and in giving a description of the "border ruffian," Mark Twain, supposing there was a large number of persons on the stage, pointing toward it, said, "I have brought some specimens with me," but upon looking around saw that only two people were on the stage, being ex-Mayor Vansant and Mr. Robert T. Baldwin. Mr. Clemens apologized to Mr. Vansant, who had not forgotten the circumstance.

The Best Recuperant

Of failing energy, that to which the fagged out man of business, the brain-fatigued author, the tired advocate or the weary artisan can resort with the greatest certainty that it will revive his overwrought powers, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most genial tonic cordial, as well as a benign remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and urinary organs, and a means of eradicating and preventing intermittent and remittent fevers. It not only enriches the blood and creates a new fund of energy in the system, but it has the effect of expelling impurities from the life current which beget disease. The injurious influence of abrupt transitions of temperature, of an unwholesome climate and injurious diet, are counteracted by it, and it promotes digestion, appetite and sound repose. Give it a trial and be convinced.

Pretty Lips

should have pearly teeth behind them. To make the teeth pearly, and to keep them so, there is nothing like Fragrant Sozodont. It neutralizes every element of impurity that affects the soundness or whiteness of the dental bone. Moreover, it prevents gum-boil and canker.

For the "attraction of cohesion," see Spalding's Glue.

DR. A. J. FLAGG'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

THE BEST MEDICAL TALENT indorses Walter Baker & Co's Breakfast Cocoa for the use of invalids, as well as persons in health. Travellers and students find it most convenient, as it is prepared for use in one minute, without boiling.

No hotel in this country or Europe is more thoroughly comfortable for families and ladies travelling alone, than the well-known Colonnade Hotel in Philadelphia, Pa.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Daily Chronicle.

—A gentleman observed an urchin who had a large slice of bread in his hand, and who was crying bitterly. "My son," he exclaimed, "what are you crying about?" "My mother won't (boo-hoo-oo) put any butter on my bread (boo,hoo,oo)!" "Oh, is that all?" said the gentleman; "come, dry up your tears and be a man." "It ain't so much the butter," retorted the urchin; "it's the disposition of the old woman."

—A Shelburne Falls, (Mass.) Dutchman, who had been to Greenfield to make some purchases and was on his way home by the cars, dropped his bundle while the train was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and jumped off after it. Some remarkable feats of tumbling immediately succeeded, but when the frightened conductor looked from the rear car in expectation of seeing a mangled corpse, the Dutchman quietly arose, picked up his goods and tramped home as if nothing unusual had happened.

—A tale of true love comes from Lanesboro, Berkshire county, Mass. Half a century ago there lived in the town a rich farmer with a pretty daughter, and a young blacksmith sued for her hand. Though acceptable to the girl, the father had higher aims for her, and refused the young blacksmith's offer, and he at once left New England and went West. Meanwhile the girl married, lost her husband, married again and was again bereaved. Lately her father also died, and now the blacksmith, who has nearly reached the age of three-score and ten, returns, his suit is accepted, and another wedding soon takes place.

—A West Side man read that Emerson had a habit of writing down every good idea that strikes him, even getting up in the night to jot down some valuable thought, and determined to profit by it himself. Last Monday night, when the city clock was striking two, he jumped out of bed with a whoop, fell astraddle of the rocking-chair, barked his elbow on the washstand, knocked a hole in his cranium on the corner of the bureau, totally wrecked his night-shirt, and while he lay groaning in the dark his wife howled "Burglars, police!" etc., the baby struck in with a bawl, and when his oldest son rushed into the room armed with an old cavalry sword and a horse-pistol, followed by one of the boys with a light, dire confusion prevailed. The old man explained; and as he pulled the covers around him he muttered "Confound that old dough-head Emerson. I'll let my ideas go to blazes and sleep after this," and he did.—Erie Dispatch.

ESTABLISHED IN 1853.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL
— IN THE —
UNITED STATES.
No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.
SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1853 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 29 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Velpeau's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England.
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
— USE —
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water or houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by sufficient drains or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer the same to remain into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, or any other of the still houses in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption, its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Heetic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative powers.

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other medicine and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

The Gossip of History.

Some novelists, if no serious historians, have attempted to draw flattering likenesses of James II., but most men will be of opinion that he was fairly gibbeted by Macaulay. The man looks so contemptible, deserting a young and pretty wife, for ugly mistresses. "I can't find what he sees to admire in me," said Catherine Sedley; "certainly 'tis not for my beauty—and as to my wit, he has not enough to see that I have any." The accomplished Marquis of Halifax had an equally poor opinion of his intellect, and was wont to say of Charles and James, that "the elder could see things if he would, while the younger would see things if he could;" a cruel sentence, which is yet something of a compliment to the moral nature of James. He must, indeed, have had some good qualities, for he was devotedly served in the days of his exile, and men rarely devote themselves for a principle which is not more or less amiably incarnate. There is a little story told of James, which shows that he possessed at least some of the Stuart urbanity. He was sitting to Sir Godfrey Kneller for a portrait designed as a present to Pepys, when the news of the landing of the Prince of Orange was brought to him. The King commanded the painter to proceed and finish the portrait, that his friends might not be disappointed. Of James' successful rival, on the other hand, Macauley's portrait must be considered too flattering, especially by contrast. William was not only an unfaithful husband, but as ostentatious in his fidelities, as careless of conventionalities, as little regardful of his wife's feelings as Charles II. Now, Macaulay gives one a good deal of precise information about the private life of the two last Stuart Kings, and touches but lightly on the failings of William. He even goes out of the way to praise the latter for trying to compel one of his officers to marry a young lady whom he had wronged—excellent counsel, no doubt, but which must have come with bad grace from a man whose morals were in no wise above the level of the age in which he lived. There is an anecdote told of our Dutch ruler which reflects some little credit on him, though not much—for he could hardly have acted otherwise—but which is chiefly worth relating for the curious light in which it sets the first constitutional King of England. William had sentenced an insubordinate regiment to be decimated. The soldiers accordingly drew lots, every tenth man, of course, drawing a prize—the prize of death. Not unnaturally one of the winners felt disposed to sell the lot he had drawn, if haply he could find a purchaser. One poor fellow at length agreed to be shot in his stead for a hundred pistoles to be paid to his relatives after his execution. William, having been informed of the bargain, sent for the soldier, and asked whether what he had been told was true. "Yes," replied the man, sulkily, "I have run the risk of being killed all my life for next to nothing a day, and now I can secure my wife and children something substantial, I am ready to die." William pardoned the man—he could hardly do less, and gave him the hundred pistoles. Martial law was formally recognized by Parliament in 1689, but the decimated regiment must have been a Dutch or German one, for English public opinion would at no time have tolerated such a barbarous mockery of justice. Dutch ideas of liberty, however, were always curious, or at any time exhibited a striking discrepancy on some points from English ideas, and somehow or other, we incline to the latter as the sounder. Yet there was that much was lovable in the character of William, who was a staunch friend and generous foe; and perhaps he is the most estimable in the long line of our sovereigns, with the exception of Alfred, and perhaps of Cromwell.—Cornhill Magazine.

Baby Brutes.

The Central Park menagerie, or rather Mr. P. T. Barnum, who is the proprietor of most of the animals exhibited free to the public during the winter, has recently become possessed of a litter of panthers, two lions, a baboon, and a dromedary, all born in the cages. The lions are now nearly four months old, and are about as tall as a moderate-sized terrier dog. They are exceedingly fat, and, like all young of their species, are covered with a short downy fur, profusely mottled. They possess, in brief, all the characteristics of kittens, except gracefulness of motion; for they are the personification of clumsiness. Their legs are thick, short, and bent, their paws, which already possess formidable claws, appear too large, and their bodies are long and ungainly. The temper of the infants, despite their innocent and childlike expression, is none of the best; for they show ranges of white sharp teeth, and spit viciously on any stranger approaching their cage. The cubs are of especial interest to zoologists from the fact of their being the offspring of a cross between the Asiatic and African species of lion. This mingling of breed has not before been attempted, and the characteristics of the young will be carefully watched.

The panthers are of the ordinary variety, peculiar to this country. As is the case with most untamable brutes, they breed unfrequently in captivity. The cubs are of the same age as the young lions; and were it not for their peculiar markings, resembling closely those of some species of young deer, they might well be mistaken for good sized cats. Their behavior, when stirred up, is a ludicrous mixture of fear, curiosity, and defiance. A slight poke from the end of a cane causes the cub touched to beat a speedy retreat toward the mother; then it turns and watches the stick with intense interest, relieving its feelings by an occasional spit. Finally one paw flies forward, and a spiteful dig is administered, and then another retreat takes place. This is continued as long as the intruding object remains in the cage.

It is curious to notice, both in the lioness and in the panther, that peculiar pride in showing their offspring which the domestic cat manifests in the most unmistakable manner. It seemed also as if the old animals regarded raps on the bars of the cage, or the introduction of canes to induce their progeny to take better attitudes for sketching purposes, in the light of grateful attentions; as, no matter how much the young ones spit and scratched, the mothers never showed the slightest resentment, but quietly crouched and stared at the interloper in abstracted calmness. The writer saw the lioness deliberately wake up her cubs, who were cuddled into an undistinguishable ball of fur, and spread them apart with a blow of her paw, for no reason that could be divined other than that she wished to display them. They manifested no hunger, but sat up and blinked like suddenly awakened babies, until their eyes became accustomed to the light.—Scientific American.

The War.

The war news Wednesday morning was even less definite than usual. Doubt is thrown on the reported capture of Kars, though all accounts agree that the two wings of the Russian army are far past that place, and that Mukhtar Pasha is between the Russians and Erzeroum. This shows that even if Kars has not been taken the Russian forces in Asia Minor are strong enough to invest it, and still have troops enough at liberty for active operations in the field.

From the scene of hostilities in Europe there was nothing of importance. A despatch from Bucharest reported that the Turks had ceased bombarding Kalafat, the Roumanians making a defence of unlooked for vigor. The Russians on the 8th bombarded Matchin, in the Dobrudscha, for four hours, from the batteries on the opposite shore. The Russians are preparing to close the sailing mouth of the Danube to the monitors, by batteries. It was expected Roumania would declare herself independent of Turkey.

A Constantinople despatch says "Notwithstanding the Russian promise that Turkish ships should have eight days to leave Russian waters ten Turkish ships were seized at Kertch the day after the declaration of war. The Porte has instructed Musurus Pasha, its Ambassador at London, to request England to remonstrate at St. Petersburg against the act."

A despatch from Pera to the London Globe, Wednesday, reports a severe battle between Kars and Erzeroum, the Russians being victorious and fourteen thousand Turks captured.

News and Notes.

George M. Finney, the defaulting navy pay inspector's clerk, has surrendered himself to the San Francisco authorities, and been held in $20,000 bail to answer charges of the forgery of government certificates of indebtedness.

The subject of Mexican raids across the border into Texas was discussed at the Cabinet meeting on Monday, and Secretary Evarts was instructed to notify the Mexican Government that these raids must be stopped, and if the Mexican Government did not stop them this Government would, and if need be cross the Rio Grande to do it.

Charles T. Brent failed to answer in Court at Louisville, Tuesday, on the charge of forgery, and the supposition is that he has fled again.

The dead body of a man with the arms tied behind was found floating in the water near Lombard's dock, Boston, Tuesday forenoon.

The decision of the court-martial on the case of Major Reno, of the Seventh United States Cavalry, has been mitigated by the Secretary of War to suspension from rank and pay for two years from the 18th of May, 1877. The order announcing this says: "Major Reno's conduct toward the wife of an absent officer, and in using the whole force of his power as commanding officer of the post to gratify his resentment against her, cannot be too strongly condemned; but after long deliberation upon all the circumstances of the case, as shown in the record of the trial, it is thought that his grave offences, grave as they are, do not warrant the sentence of dismissal and all its consequences upon one who has for twenty years borne the reputation of a brave man and an honorable officer, and has maintained the reputation upon the battlefields of the rebellion and in contests with the Indians. The President has, therefore, modified the sentence, and it is hoped that Major Reno will appreciate the clemency thus shown him, as well as the very reprehensible acts of which he was found guilty."

Norwegian barque Azeov was run down and sunk in Chesapeake Bay, at one o'clock on the morning of the 8th inst., by steamship Murenberg, for Baltimore from Bremen. The captain and nine of the crew of the barque were saved, but four men were drowned.

Bringham Young, the able and unscrupulous old scoundrel who has run things to suit himself so many years in Utah, don't seem inclined to yet admit that "the world" is more powerful than his church, and is reported as defying the Government in his sermon on Sunday. He said that Mormonism was the work of God, and the day of its triumph is near. He rehearsed the persecutions of the Saints, and said that the Gentiles were clamorous for blood, which they should have to their hearts' content; that if they had not had enough in the last twenty years they would now get their fill, and others nations would learn to fear the Saints as the United States now does. The people of the nation wanted more than they expected, and would get it before they were ready for it. George Q. Cannon preached an equally defiant sermon. These harangues, together with the military order of Bishop Dame, have aroused the Gentiles of Salt Lake to the truth of the situation, and many talk of leaving the Territory.

Dave Farmer, a conjuring old negro of Bucklin, Mo., lately so worked upon the superstitious fears of several of his race as fairly to frighten them to death. First he scared Frank Hayes into the other world, and then a whole family succumbed to his voodooistic power, one having died and three or four more, it is said, being at the point of death. The conjurer, however, has now explated his offences, having been shot dead through a chink in his cabin by one of the victims to his spells.

A letter to Congress from the Secretary of State upon the business of other countries, based upon and containing reports thereupon from U. S. Consuls, shows there has been great depression, and to an amount greater in many of them than in our own country.

The Chief Engineer of her Majesty's ship Tourmaline recently cut his throat in sheer despair at the incurable defects of the vessel's machinery.

The attorney for the bonanza firm in the court at Virginia City, Nevada, has announced his readiness to confess judgment for the amount due for delinquent's taxes, amounting with fees and costs to $300,000.

The New Haven Union of May 7th says: "Donn Piatt, who advised the assassination of Hayes in his paper, the Washington Capital, the Sunday following the promulgation of the decision of the Electoral Commission, called on Mr. Hayes, on Saturday, and had an interview with him. Yesterday the Capital contained a bid for Government advertising, which is set down as a 'curious coincidence.'"

By a gas explosion in the Wadesville mine, near Pottsville, Penn., on Wednesday, a large number of men were imprisoned and many killed. Six bodies were recovered soon after the disaster.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 149.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

At this time a view of the civil government of 1817, sixty years ago, will be given. Wm. Plumer of Epping was Governor. He had been Governor in 1812. Mr. Gilman of Exeter, was elected in each of the three following years, and in each Mr. Plumer was the opposing candidate. Parties, Federalists and Republicans were nearly balanced, Mr. Gilman, Federalist, usually having less than a thousand majority.

In 1817, James Sheafe of Portsmouth was the candidate of the Federalists. In Cheshire county, however, that party voted mostly for Jeremiah Mason. Mr. Plumer's majority was over seven thousand.

Mr. Plumer was in a minority in Epping, his own town, having 98 votes to 102 for Mr. Sheafe. In Mr. Sheafe's town, Portsmouth, he was in a large minority, having 174 to 467 for Mr. Plumer. Greenland, 76 for Plumer, 15 for Sheafe. Rye, 196 for Plumer, none for Sheafe. Exeter went largely for Sheafe,—207 to 64 for Plumer.

The Councillor for Rockingham district was John Bell of Chester, afterwards Governor one year. Clement Storer of Portsmouth, was Senator for District No. 1, John Brodhead of Newmarket for No. 2. The Representatives of Portsmouth were J. Davenport, J. Els, John Langdon, Jr., E. G. Parrott, G. Lang.

Jonathan Harvey of Sutton was President of the Senate, Henry B. Chase of Warner, Speaker of the House; Ichabod Bartlett of Portsmouth, was Clerk of the Senate, E. B. Nealey of Lee, Assistant Clerk; Moses L. Neal of Dover was Clerk of the House, and Nathaniel Weare of Deerfield, Assistant Clerk.

Quite a number of ministers were members of the legislature; we will name those we know were such: Brodhead in the Senate; in the House, Tucker of Loudon, Dyer of Nottingham, Wilson of Barnstead, Osborn of Lee, Perkins of New Hampton, Morse of Fisherfield, Blake of Ellsworth. The number of Representatives was 206. Length of the session 25 days.

The Bristol silver mine is flourishing. It is being worked day and night by Mr. E. F. Couch, a practical miner from Newburyport, with as large a force of men as can work to advantage. The shaft is 6x11 feet and has now reached a depth of sixty feet.

It is understood that Chief Justice Doe will resign as soon as he finishes writing the opinions on which he is engaged.

Hon. Mason W. Tappan and Miss Imogene Atwood of Lisbon were married on the 8th inst.

A barn owned by Dr. E. B. Hammond, of Nashua, was destroyed by an incendiary fire on the night of the 8th inst. Loss $600.

Charles H. Collins, clerk of the Nashua Iron and Steel Company, is a defaulter in the sum of from ten to twenty thousand dollars, and has fled. His peculations probably extend over a period of two years. Fast horses and high living were the cause. He has a wife and two children.

Nettie, the little child of Harvey Reed, of Cornish, was fatally burned Monday while returning from school. She entered the cellar of a house that was burned the day before, where her dress caught fire, and being unable to extinguish it, she ran some thirty rods to a brook, where she was found with clothing all burned off. She died Tuesday.

—When Von Moltke returned to Holstein, after reorganizing the Turkish army, he found living there with his sister—who had married Mr. Bute, an Englishman,—a young girl between fifteen and sixteen, a daughter of Mr. Bute's first marriage. The pretty little girl loved already, before seeing him, the soldier who had sent from the Orient such interesting letters to his sister. As for Von Moltke, he had until then seen in a woman only a being constantly interfering with the methodical life of a worker. But when a man more than forty years old is loved by a bewitching girl of sixteen, he ends by returning her affection. From that time there was but one woman in the world to him, as there was but one work. He married sweet Mary Bute, and when she died in '68 the great Field Marshal could say that his life as a social being was ended; only the soldier remained. The Countess was buried in his beautiful park in Silesia, and on the marble above her is written, "Love is the fulfilling of the law." Mary von Moltke was very bright, very charming, very merry, and it is told as a pathetic truth that since her death the Field Marshal has not been seen to laugh.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and what they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indivisi bought his gal. one of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helps him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '7

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for the last two years, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who call here. Please send one box of the package more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, May 9th.

Edward Kelly, who kept the liquor nuisance on Chapel street raided on by the police on Tuesday, was arraigned for keeping liquor for sale, and bound over in $200 to appear at a higher court. We do not learn that Kelly's place was any worse than some others in the city, but he would keep open on Sundays, to the great disgust of a respectable neighborhood, the residents of which were scandalized at the procession of small boys and girls with jugs and tin pails, going to and from the place on Sunday on errands for beer for their parents, and the gatherings there of older persons who wanted beer or rum for themselves. As he paid no attention to warnings the law has at last sat down on him—another illustration of the old fable of the efficacy of stone-throwing when grassy missiles fail to effect anything.

At the regular monthly meeting of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held on the evening of the 7th inst., the following resolutions of respect were unanimously passed:

Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. Chas. Burroughs our society loses a member distinguished for social culture and moral worth, whose life exemplified the grace of a Christian character.

Resolved, That the poor suffer the loss of a friend whose charity never failed to respond liberally to every call for help, and whose sympathies were keenly alive to the distresses of the unfortunate, upon whom her bounty was unsparingly bestowed.

Resolved, That we can best honor the memory of our deceased benefactor and coladorer in the cause of humanity, by perseveringly following the example of benevolence which she has left us as a precious legacy.

The Society acknowledge the receipt from a friend, for the use of the Society, of fifty dollars.

JOTTINGS.

The ten-mile race between Mr. Locke's "Kenoza Boy" and Col. Hilton's "Julius Cæsar," which was originally intended to be from this city to the Union Hotel in Hampton and to come off on Friday, the 11th inst., will take place on the Dover race-track on Saturday, the 19th.

At a meeting of the general committee on Memorial Day observances, held in the Common Council chamber on the evening of the 8th, Chief Marshal Frank W. Hilton, Wallace Hackett and John E. Colcord were appointed a committee on music. John Moore was added to the general committee, J. E. Colcord to committee on invitations, John H. Locke and Wallace Hackett to committee on finance, Edward D. Coffin and John Moore to committee on decoration of graves. Adolph Nelson was appointed to look up the old veterans and invite them to participate in the observance. The several committees were instructed to make an estimate of their probable expenses, and report at an adjourned meeting to be held on Monday evening, the 14th, at the same place.

It is announced that Maggie Mitchell is soon to return to this city and present the play of "Becky Mix." This is a new play here, and there will be another large audience to greet her if she comes.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD CASE.

In view of the recent alleged complications and pecuniary embarrassments of the Eastern Railroad that have from time to time appeared in various papers, and for the express purpose of ascertaining correctly concerning their truth, a representative of the Boston Post has obtained the following facts from parties who it says "are thoroughly familiar with the subject. Especially is this case in regard to the attachment suits recently begun in New Hampshire, which from various causes seem to have been misapprehended, both as to their origin and effects upon the Eastern Railroad.

These suits have been begun by a creditor of the road having an old debt secured by what has been known as the company's ten-year coupon notes. A very recent decision of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts has determined that such a creditor is not entitled to receive certificates of indebtedness for his collateral, but only for his debt alone; so that practically the security is valueless, and a creditor with no other security for his debt than the company's additional promises to pay is really no better off than an unsecured creditor. It is thought the New Hampshire suit has been begun in a moment of irritation and disappointment at the recent adjudication of the Massachusetts court. It has been begun by trustee process served upon the station agents and upon the principal customers of the road in New Hampshire. By the laws of Massachusetts such a process would have had the effect of attaching only the funds and credits as they exist on the day of service; but under the laws of New Hampshire a trustee process not only covers everything on hand and due at the date of service, but also all that may be received or become due between that time and the time of the Trustee's disclosure. Such being the case, it is presumed that the plaintiff in the New Hampshire suit hoped and undertook thus to sequestrate for his own benefit all the receipts and credits of the road accruing in the hands of the parties trusteed between this and next October, the earliest term of the Court at which the Trustee's answer can be made.

The railroad, by advice of its New Hampshire counsel, has taken such measures as will effectually secure to the road the use of its earnings from this date until the meeting of the Court. In this way the amount actually diverted by the trustee process is comparatively trifling in amount. In October next the suit now begun will probably be tried and the value of the plaintiff's attachment tested. In the meanwhile it is understood that the management of the Eastern Railroad is advised that it has nothing to fear from the decision of the Court, as by the statutes of Massachusetts, and the mortgage made in pursuance of it, the receipts of the road are mortgaged to the Trustees of the mortgage, as well as all the rest of its property. Again, under the settled law of New Hampshire, that mortgage has the same operation and effect there as in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Hence it is claimed that nothing has been attached by the trustee process in New Hampshire because the legal title to the receipts, credits, etc., is in the mortgage Trustees and not in the Eastern Railroad. This is claimed to be so plain a result of general principles, as well as of the laws as uniformly laid down by the Courts of New Hampshire, that the present attempt at attachment is believed to have been made, not so much with any real expectation that it would succeed, but rather with the idea that it could be made so annoying and inconvenient to the road that it would be forced to offer some terms of settlement. This, however, it is authoritatively stated, the road has no power to do, even presuming that it had the inclination to do so, which it has not."

SPRING BEDSTEADS.

Among household comforts an important place is held by the spring bedstead. By its use feathers can be dispensed with and husks, hair, or other material substituted with decided advantage. We have seen a new style, patented last November by Mr. John E. Staples of York, Me., simple and light in construction and moderate in price. The slats are secured by a pin, over which is placed a piece of flannel. It has all the qualities in the spring of the highest priced article in the market, and is superior for the reason that if it gets out of order the cost of repair is trifling. Mr. John W. Nowell of Greenland has bought the right for Rockingham county, and is now manufacturing them at Mason's mill on Russell street, the retail price being but $2.50. Several families in this city who have tried them say that their use is a sure recommendation.

—"Do you drink?" said one of the ladies of the Women's Temperance Union of New York to the bookbinder, when he went with a rummy breath to the ladies to deliver some of his work. "Vell, I don't care oph I takes a leetle," said the good-natured German, misunderstanding the question of surprise for an invitation.

Gossip

Has been more than usually busy, whispering from one to another concerning certain matters of which "you must not tell," but all is out at last. Truth could no longer be smothered. It is on every body's tongue that Dr. Peirce's Favorite Prescription perfectly and permanently cures those diseases peculiar to females. It has been used for many years with entire success, as thousands testify. It is tonic and nervine, effectually allaying and curing those sickening sensations that affect the stomach and heart through reflex action. The back-ache, and "dragging-down" sensations all disappear under the strengthening effects of this great restorative.

The Best Recuperant

Of failing energy, that to which the fagged out man of business, the brain-fatigued author, the tired advocate or the weary artisan can resort with the greatest certainty that it will revive his overwrought powers, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most genial tonic cordial, as well as a benign remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and urinary organs, and a means of eradicating and preventing intermittent and remittent fevers. It not only enriches the blood and creates a new fund of energy in the system, but it has the effect of expelling impurities from the life current which beget disease. The injurious influence of abrupt transitions of temperature, of an unwholesome climate and injurious diet, are counteracted by it, and it promotes digestion, appetite and sound repose. Give it a trial and be convinced.

Pretty Lips

should have pearly teeth behind them. To make the teeth pearly, and to keep them so, there is nothing like Fragrant Sozodont. It neutralizes every element of impurity that affects the soundness or whiteness of the dental bone. Moreover, it prevents gum-boil and canker.

DR. A. J. FLAGG'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

THE BEST MEDICAL TALENT indorses Walter Baker & Co's Breakfast Cocoa for the use of invalids, as well as persons in health. Travellers and students find it most convenient, as it is prepared for use in one minute, without boiling.

No hotel in this country or Europe is more thoroughly comfortable for families and ladies travelling alone, than the well-known Colonnade Hotel in Philadelphia, Pa.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Some Genealogy.

The way they came by the name of "Quincy" was this: After old man Adams—not Adam, as it is generally written—was turned out of the garden of Eden he wandered about this neighborhood for some seven or eight thousand years, and as by that time the country had become thickly settled, and cellar-doors invented, the old man was wont to sit on one of those easy seats and relate to the boys of two or three hundred his experience with that apple. After he had told the story a few thousand times it got to be a bore to his audience, and they, in retaliation, used, when they met him, to say, how about that quince? and the old man would roar out that it was not a quince, it was an apple, and go off with the old yarn again. Gradually he came to be called Quincy Adams, and the name has always remained in the family, which is one of the oldest in the world.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

—A lady in a Boston dry goods store asked for English laces. The salesman exhibited the article. "Are these really English?" "Well," replied the salesman, a little confusedly, "they were, until Mr. Moody came."

—A Nashville bank robber burrowed under a street for five days, and at length came up in the coal vault of a beer saloon, three doors away from the bank, and was bitten in eleven places by the most uncompromising dog he ever tried to conciliate. The next time he attempts any mining operations he will take a practical engineer along.

—The Massachusetts State Board of Health issues a circular descriptive of the hydrophobia. The disease is divided into three stages—the first is marked by restlessness, the second by spasm and frothing, and the third by paralysis. An attack of the disease, it says, may be avoided in a vast majority of cases, after a person has been bitten by a rabid animal, by at once washing and cauterizing the wounds with a white-hot iron or nitrate of silver.

—A workman in the Airside Iron Works at Leeds, England, met with a singular and terrible fatal accident recently. He had gone to sleep on some slag at the foot of a tip, and before he was noticed a mass of red hot slag was shot down. He was observed to look up at the moment of tipping, but before he could effect his escape he was overwhelmed by an avalanche of incandescent metal and burned to death. Men were set at work immediately to dig out his body, but only his skeleton was found with a few fragments of roasted flesh adhering to it.

ESTABLISHED IN 1855.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL
IN THE
UNITED STATES.
No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y.
SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1855 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—300 pages—full of plates—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only Agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Send by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's Celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Dr. S. Y. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Rook, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England,
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the cause of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst Cases. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption it's effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

Train on Twain.

Mr. George Francis Train had the support of an orchestra at his last "intellectual treat" in the New York Parisian Varieties, which previous to his arrival, discoursed many popular airs, but thereafter quietly yielded to the superior noise of his oratory.

In the first place, that evening, the orator began with a presumably original poem, descriptive of the glories of the United States of America. Of course this was wildly applauded. "Why do you applaud?" demanded the poet, turning ungraciously upon the audience he had entrapped. "Why do you applaud, fools? Don't you know that that is but the miserable clap-trap of the Fourth of July orator? the vain bunkum of the Union League Club statesmen? the miserable bombast of Tammany Hall thieves? Why do you applaud, creatures! Don't you know that the facts are not these? Don't you know that the American flag has been dragged in the dust of nearly every country on the globe? Don't you know that the country has been disgraced by its officials? Forty-two million of people are being ground up between the two mill stones, the Union League and Tammany Hall."

Here Mr. Train paused, and the audience breathed again. "How do you like it so far as I've got?" said he.

"Bully," "Give us some more," were the answering shouts.

"Yes; I'll give you enough before I get through, but just let me show you what the press, the mighty press of New York, who got millions of dollars from Tweed, have to say about the man who brought the arch-thief to justice." Thus speaking Mr. Train drew from his vest pocket a long roll of brown paper, on which were pasted the cuttings of the last Monday's newspapers. They were not complimentary to Mr. Train in the main, and in proportion as they were not Mr. Train took his revenge upon the editors. But for a typographical error which made his name Twain in one of the papers, Mr. Train was the most enraged and indignant. Indeed, this demanded a personal explanation which he had long contemplated making. "Twenty years ago," he said, "I wrote one or two books that had a deservedly world wide reputation, and I also wrote occasionally for the newspapers. My writings were, besides being profound and erudite, always sparkling and brilliant. At times I indeed descended to humor—the highest, best kind of humor, mark you; as, for instance, my celebrated anecdote of the Englishman who inquired of an American whether the law of hentail existed in the United States, and to whom the American replied, 'No; but we have the universal rule of coctails,' etc., etc.,—little gems that I threw gaily from the end of my pen. Well, now, imagine my astonishment one day upon learning that some young humorist in California was calling himself Mark Twain. You see he had said to himself very shrewdly that Train was a name known the world over and a name that would always attract crowds, and so in effect he stole it, and that same Mark Twain has been for fifteen years living upon my audiences. I have borne this silently like a Christian (immense sensation in the audience, in which Mr. Train took part with his left eyelid) for all these years, but now, when they begin to mix me up with him, as he has endeavored to have himself mixed up with me, it is a little too much, and I won't stand it. Besides, I can't discover that this Twain ever wrote anything funny except his exquisite 'Punch, brothers, punch with care' song. Why, even his play, the 'Gilded Age,' would have fallen flat if it hadn't been for me. Shall I tell you about that?"

"O yes, let's have it. Give it to Mark; he hasn't got any friends," responded the house.

"Well, you see the night it was produced I took a box and invited Matilda Heron and Bijou to go with me. I saw at once that the thing was a dead failure. There wasn't any fun in it. It was as dreary as a tomb. Says I, 'Pshaw, this fellow has stolen my name, but I'll help him.' So I got up and stepped to the front of the box. Everybody recognized me. I clapped. The effect was, of course, instantaneous. The house accepted my judgment, and the play was stamped a success. So much for this Mark Twain. I wrote him a letter the next day, and he didn't have the politeness to answer it."

A Flying Marriage.

The San Francisco Chronicle of the 30th ult. gives the following account of a marriage on on the rail: The passengers on the overland train from the East, which arrived here on Saturday night, were treated to a sensation pleasanter than the regular ones of the rush through Echo Canon and the rounding of Cape Horn, or the occasional one of meeting on the same track a train accidentally bound the other way. It was a marriage at the rate of forty miles an hour between Galt and Stockton, by Rev. J. C. Hamilton of the latter place, of Dr. Israel Davis of the latter place to Mrs. J. Susan Armstrong of Leavenworth, Kan. It would be too long a story—the romantic one of their youthful betrothal, the interposition of a cruel fate that married each to one other than the first choice, the combined death by a relenting fortune of both of the second choices, and the renewal, through the United States mail, of the interrupted love of their younger years. The engagement was renewed, and Mrs. Armstrong, a very pronounced brunette, verging now upon embonpoint and forty, set forth to be spliced at Stockton to her real affinity. She was detained for a short time by snow near Cheyenne, and the ardent doctor, determined that no malign circumstance should again put aside his happiness, set off post-haste to meet her. The minister set off post-haste after the doctor, and it is supposed that if there had been any intervening trains the guests would have set off post-haste after the officiating clergyman. The doctor, an elderly, but remarkably well-preserved gentleman, in full dress and faultless beaver and black three-buttoned kid gloves, met the train of his affianced at Sacramento. She was tastefully and stylishly clad in a brown travelling suit, and the greeting between the lovers was most affecting. Both came on to Galt, where they were met by Rev. Mr. Hamilton. All three then continued on to Stockton, but the long endured strain had become too severe. There was an ardent and unheard request by the gentleman; a coy and blushing consent by the lady; the peanut boy was despatched for the conductor to lend an official air to the ceremony; the gentleman and lady stood up in the aisle as they could, hanging on to each other and to the ends of the seats; the clergyman stood up in front of them, and, amid the boom and the rush of the train, the questions were bellowed out and responses shouted back hap-hazard, and then the minister, in a voice like a trombone, declared the loving and long-separated couple man and wife. In the excitement of the moment the lady released her hold of the seat and was shot head first against the lower extremity of the conductor's vest. He gallantly kissed her and returned her uninjured to her happy husband, and the two sat down and received the stentorian congratulations of the pleased spectators.

The War.

Indications of active movements on the part of the armies in European Turkey are apparent. The Russian batteries at Ibrail were bombarded on the 7th by two Turkish monitors and the batteries at Ghaciet. Ibrail was uninjured, and the Russians next morning opened fire on Ghaciet. The Turks in Widdin and the Roumanians in Kalafat threw shells at each other on the 8th, but did no great harm. A despatch from Bucharest, on the 9th, reported the Russians preparing to cross the Danube in force at Widdin and Rustchuk, and the Turks massing to oppose them. The Montenegrin commander reports his forces in readiness for the Turks, and strong enough to defend Montenegrin territory.

The Constantinople papers of the 10th announced a retreat of the Russians from Kars and Ardahan, toward the frontier.

News and Notes.

The winter was extremely mild in Iceland, horses and sheep being able to subsist in the open air, without shelter, until the middle of January. The fish harvest in the western part of the island was a good one, but in the southern part the yield was poor, and the people consequently suffered from lack of provisions.

At a special meeting of the Mayor and Aldermen of Lowell, Wednesday forenoon, 203 liquor licenses were granted, making a total of 231 to date; only one applicant was refused. The Mayor declared he should decline to sign any of them. Major Emery tendered payment for his hotel license to the Treasurer in the forenoon; it was accepted, and he has opened his bar without receiving the license signed by the Mayor. He denies that officers can prosecute him for not having a license posted up on his premises, since he has paid for it, but the Marshal has announced his determination to prosecute all who sell without a license signed by the Mayor. Legal complications are imminent.

Steamship Dakotah, of the Williams & Guion Line, has been totally wrecked on Point Lynas, seventy miles from Liverpool. Crew and passengers saved. She was an iron steamship of great size.

Commodore Benjamin J. Totten, U. S. N., died in New Bedford on the 9th, aged 71 years.

Chief Justice Waite has gone to South Carolina to preside at the trial of the Ellenton murderers. The Ellenton massacre was a White League affair, and much interest is felt to see how Judge Waite will be received. The Hamburg massacre is in the State courts, so nothing will ever be done about that, as the democrats rule the State courts.

A new hotel, with a capacity of 100 guests, is being erected at Bald Head Cliff, on the coast between York beach and Wells. These famous cliffs have long attracted the attention of tourists and visitors who have frequented the several seashore resorts between Portsmouth and Old Orchard.

The Permanent Exhibition at Philadelphia was formally opened on Thursday, just a year from the opening of the Centennial Exhibition. President Hayes, Ex-President and Mrs. Grant, Secretaries Evarts, Sherman, McCrary and Devens, Director General Goshorn and many other prominent personages were present. It is claimed that the Permanent Exhibition "is the Centennial deprived of the more objectionable, with nearly all that was admirable boiled down and consolidated."

William P. Wallace, the democratic Sheriff of Hamilton county, Ohio, and Dan McCarthy, turnkey of the Hamilton county jail, were found guilty on Wednesday in the United States Court of aiding Federal prisoners to escape from jail. The prisoners referred to were arrested by the United States authorities for taking an active part in the wholesale election frauds in Cincinnati which sent Milton Sayler and the "Bounding Banning" to Congress; and Wallace, who owed his election to the same frauds, (in which indeed he was an active agent,) aided one Jack Young, a Baltimore rough who led the gangs of democratic repeaters, to escape from jail.

The jury in the case of Charles S. Brown, accused of the murder of his father at Middletown, R. I., brought in a verdict of not guilty.

At an early hour Thursday morning the wholesale oil establishment of William E. Dunham, at Fall River, Mass., blew up and took fire, and was entirely destroyed, the Kendrick Loom and Harness Works also being burned, and the office of the French paper La Procteur.

The Secretary of War has issued an order directing that 2500 enlisted men of the army be discharged before the 1st of July, in order that they may be paid out of the appropriations for the current fiscal year. The discharges are made on account of the postponement of the extra session of Congress. Under the act of August 15, 1876, the President was empowered to increase the number of enlisted men to 100 for each company of such regiments of cavalry as may be employed during the existing Indian hostilities, provided that not over 2500 enlisted men thus be added at any one time to the 25,000 authorized by the act of July 24, 1876; and it is the additional men thus enlisted who are now to be discharged. The amount required to pay these men will be in the neighborhood of $900,000.

The United States Government is now officially aware that Turkey and Russia are at war. Turkey gave notice of it some time ago, and the Russian minister announced the fact to Secretary Evarts on Wednesday.

A French machinist has discovered that by keeping his turning tools constantly wetted with petroleum he was able to cut metals and alloys with them, although when the tools were used without the oils their edges were turned and dulled. The hardest steel can be turned easily if the tools be thus wet with a mixture of two parts of petroleum with one part of turpentine.

Some of the Spanish papers are advocating the suppression of the bull fights, and are publishing an eloquent appeal to the Cortes asking that it may be illegal for horses to take part in them. There are one hundred bull rings in Spain, and only twelve savings banks. Several of the towns which have recently built rings have no schools.

Lieutenant De Kalands of the Russian navy and Miss Jennie Burdick, "that was," of San Francisco, who lately eloped after much difficulty and in spite of the furious father of the lady, have been married again, this time by the Russian bishop, Very Rev. Father Alexander, chaplain of the man-of-war Bagan. The ceremony took place on board the flag-ship Vsadnick, which was gayly decorated and was crowded with the elite of San Francisco and Vallejo society and Russian officers resplendent with orders.

The marriage of Lieutenant L. C. Logan, United States Navy, and the eldest daughter of Admiral Porter, took place at the church of the Epiphany in Washington, Wednesday evening. The affair was a very brilliant one. The church was decked with flowers, and there were many navy and army officers present in full uniform. The bride was dressed in white satin, and the ten bridesmaids in white tulle garnished with blonde lace and white lilies. The groomsmen were all in full uniform, and eight of the ten ushers were also of the navy. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Perit, pastor of the church.

Pettengill's Newspaper Directory.

A very useful and interesting volume of 376 pages has just been issued by the old and well-known advertising agency firm of S. M. Pettengill & Co., New York, entitled "Pettengill's Newspaper Directory and Advertisers' Hand-Book for 1877." The preparation of the work has involved much careful labor, information having been sought from every city, town, and village where even the smallest newspaper is published. The leading facts are given respecting 8,574 separate publications, designating the political or other distinctive character, the frequency of issue, the names of publishers, etc., and showing how many of each edition (daily, weekly, monthly, etc.,) are published in each State and Territory in the United States and Province in British America.

The book is elegantly printed from new type, and, besides its mine of information, it contains portraits of leading New York journalists, and illustrations of the extensive offices where the publishers transact their business in New York, Philadelphia, and Boston. It is sold at the low price of $1.00 per copy, and is certainly cheap at the price to any business man who does advertising, or to any person who is interested in the extent of the newspaper business in America.

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds, and I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; and I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a day from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for more twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most incessantly. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most obstinate that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MESSRS. W. LANE—Sirs:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good at those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and adviser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, May 10th.

Patrick Cronin was brought before the Court, charged with having been so bewildered Wednesday night, shortly after midnight, as to have to stop people on Water street to enquire of them if they could show him where Cronin's was. This Cronin must not be confounded with the Tilden Electoral College of Oregon, being another man, though of similar name and habits. On a previous occasion, when brought before the Court, he explained that he was not drunk, but had been eating a lot of lobsters; but the Court considered that a man who would eat so many lobsters, at a time when nobody else had seen one in the market for three months, was just as dangerous to society as a drunkard, and sent him up accordingly. On this occasion he said he had just risen from a sick bed where he had been confined two weeks, to attend a wake; and in consideration of this he was let off easy—$5 fine, costs $6,90—Brentwood.

GOOD NEWS.

The heirs of J. W. Peirce having purchased the entire interest in the property of the old Temple, a building will be at once erected on that site by the Peirce heirs and other parties, which will compare favorably with any opera hall in any city in New England, of the size of Portsmouth. It is intended to be fire proof; the walls will be of brick, on a solid granite foundation, the windows protected by heavy iron shutters, and the roof slated. In the internal arrangements the convenience and safety of the audience, and the securing of ample stage-room and good acoustic properties, will be especially regarded; the house will accommodate in comfort one thousand persons; and will have such facilities for egress as shall be entirely satisfactory to the public, and every accommodation required in a public hall. Work will be commenced at once, the entire stock being already taken.

JOTTINGS.

The Band of Hope will meet Saturday afternoon at Mechanics' Hall, at 3 o'clock. Every boy and girl belonging to the wide awake organization is requested to be present, and also those who wish to join in season for the May festival.

The Portsmouth Dramatic Club went to North Hampton Wednesday evening, and played "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" to a large and appreciative audience. The club have been invited to present this play in Exeter.

Schooner J. P. Ames of this port left here on the morning of the 3d for Calais, Maine, distance two hundred and eighty miles, and arrived there next morning. It will be remembered that this schooner was wrecked at the Isles of Shoals last winter, purchased by Rider & Cotton and Thomas S. Gay of this city, and was afterward gotten off and repaired here.

We are informed that Daniel Kane was stabbed in the ribs by John Long, in a quarrel at John Dwyer's place at the north end of Market street, Wednesday night, but not dangerously injured. No arrests.

The San Francisco Post prints a long account of the statements of the captain of the steam-tug Monarch, which was towing the ship Frank Jones to sea at the time she was wrecked, and of other steam-tug captains, relative to the loss of that vessel. From this account, and the comments of the Post, we gather that the Pilot Board of San Francisco laid the blame for the accident on the captain of the tug, while the tug captains and the Post reporter considered the pilot of the ship wholly at fault. Three other vessels started for sea on the same afternoon the Frank Jones was beached, but only one of them got out, the remaining two both parting their hawsers just about where the Frank Jones parted hers; neither of these vessels—the barques Oakland and Bohemia—had a pilot on board, but each hoisted jibs, and sailed back to a safe anchorage. The captain of the Monarch asserted that if the pilot of the Frank Jones had let go the anchor when the ship's hawser parted the first time, and held on (as he could easily have done) until the steamer's hawser could have been gotten out, instead of trusting to the rotten ship's hawser a second time, there would have been no danger of wreck.

The State Normal School closed a successful year Wednesday afternoon, 9th inst., graduating in the second course ten ladies, and in the first course twenty-seven ladies and six gentlemen.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the State held its annual meeting at Fisherville on Wednesday, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Rev. Father M. J. Goodwin of Laconia; Corresponding Secretary, D. P. Donavan of Concord; Recording Secretary, D. E. Barry of Concord; Financial Secretary, D. D. Mahoney of Dover; Treasurer, T. B. Crawley of Nashua; Sergeant-at-Arms, Patrick Kelly of Fisherville. One Vice President was elected from each county. It was voted to have a State parade at Manchester October 10. Adjourned to meet at Dover May 9, 1878.

The oldest person now living in York county, Me., is Mrs. Susannah Johnson of Limerick, widow of Daniel Johnson, who was 100 years of age on the first day of April last. Mrs. Johnson was born in Wakefield, in this State, and was the daughter of Joseph Perkins, who fought in the Revolutionary war, removing from Wakefield to Limerick when she was 11 years of age. At this time the country was a wilderness, and they were guided by marked trees. On Tuesday, April 24th, of this year, she rode from her home to the house of her nephew, Mr. Perkins, a distance of five miles. She reads fine print without glasses, and is in possession of nearly all her faculties.

A hearing on the will of the late Mrs. Whitehouse of Pembroke was had before the Judge of Probate at Concord, May 9th. The relatives of the deceased contest it on the ground that the testator was not of sound mind at the time it was made. The hearing was adjourned till the 23d of May.

Congressman H. W. Blair will deliver the Decoration Day oration at Keene.

The celebrated Parker riot case at Hanover has just been settled by the payment by the students of $350.

George Aiken of Keene lost an eye on the 9th inst. while breaking a stick of wood, which flew up and struck his face.

Alec Bauer, aged 35 years, dropped dead while coming out of the Amoskeag mills at Manchester, Wednesday evening, where he was an operative.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9th.

Candor compels the admission that the postponement of the extra session of Congress is interpreted here to mean the Administration's disinclination to accept the wager of battle offered by the disaffected members of the republican party, and a disposition to defer the attack to the latest possible date. The democrats are disposed to regard the matter in a rather facetious light. Mr. Randall calls it an exhibition of great weakness and is inclined to believe that the move, instead of mollifying the resentment of certain well known leaders, will only render them more aggressive and remorseless when an opportunity serves for them to ventilate their grievances, real or fancied, or both. No occurrence for some years has created a more genuine surprise, and perhaps it may be said with equal truth, more consternation among the merchants, hotel-men and boarding-housekeepers of Washington, who had been counting on a prosperous summer season. Many an air-castle came tumbling to the ground with the announcement of the postponement, and it will render necessary a general readjustment of plans of the business man, the social leader and the politician. The extra session of a date not later than the 15th proximo was an accepted fact; and it is whispered about that the later investigations of Secretary McCrary have convinced him that his assent to the later date of October was premature; as he has discovered that without Congressional aid he cannot after the close of the fiscal year, fulfill the requirements of law relative to the pay of discharged soldiers. It was a very great oversight, and it is hinted that the proclamation may be even now amended by inserting June instead of October. Undoubtedly there was much uneasiness felt in business circles over the prospect of a summer session, and some apprehensions entertained lest some marplot legislator should tackle finances or the tariff as stepping stones to fame. But on the other hand it is urged that to keep the soldiers and officers without their pay for four months would involve great hardship, and be a great injustice as well. It is also understood that the Department of Justice is almost wholly without funds, as are also some of the Bureaus of Executive Departments; and that in view of our exposed condition from the miserable condition of our Navy, when the whole earth is trembling under the tread of armed men and every sea is being covered with terribly destructive navies, large appropriations at the earliest hour practicable should be made to render efficient what vessels we have, and to construct new ones. The verdict will probably be when more time has been allowed for mature reflection, that if any vital interest is likely to suffer for Congressional aid, measures should be at once adopted for securing it, without much reference to the criticisms to which the Administration is, and ought to be, liable at any time. The opponents of the Southern policy could have done nothing more damaging, probably, than to talk, and they will do that with quite as much effect outside the walls of the Capitol, as they could within.

The latest intelligence from Europe is interpreted here to mean early participation of both Austria and Great Britain in the momentous struggle now going on between the Turk and Russian; and their intervention can hardly fail to provoke like action on the part of the other powers. KNOX.

—Sergeant Bates, Donn Piatt and Dr. Mary Walker all refuse to join the European belligerents, notwithstanding the unanimous invitation of the American press.

—The advice "Go West" has been followed too well, according to an alarmed newspaper at Dallas, Texas, and the cry is now raised, "Young man, go back." The trouble appears to be that there has been a rush of tramps to Texas; and the unusual picture of men begging their bread in the streets of Dallas has presented itself to the dilating eye of the Texan journalist. The trouble is probably not so alarming as it seems, but it may be as well for those who think of rushing off to Texas without forethought to understand that they there say, "Go back."

—Jennie June says that the Ledger has greatly fallen off in circulation, and she concludes that all the girls in the country have got through asking Bonner if it is "tony" to sit on a fellow's knee at a candy-pull.

—A young Parisian, noted for the number of duels in which he acted as a second, was called on by a friend to witness his signature in the marriage registry. Before the ceremony was performed the force of habit overcame him and he exclaimed: "Gentlemen, gentlemen, cannot this affair be arranged?"

The Best Recuperant

Of failing energy, that to which the fagged out man of business, the brain-fatigued author, the tired advocate or the weary artisan can resort with the greatest certainty that it will revive his overwrought powers, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most genial tonic cordial, as well as a benign remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and urinary organs, and a means of eradicating and preventing intermittent and remittent fevers. It not only enriches the blood and creates a new fund of energy in the system, but it has the effect of expelling impurities from the life current which beget disease. The injurious influence of abrupt transitions of temperature, of an unwholesome climate and injurious diet, are counteracted by it, and it promotes digestion, appetite and sound repose. Give it a trial and be convinced.

Pretty Lips

should have pearly teeth behind them. To make the teeth pearly, and to keep them so, there is nothing like Fragrant Sozodont. It neutralizes every element of impurity that affects the soundness or whiteness of the dental bone. Moreover, it prevents gum-boil and canker.

DR. A. J. FLAGG'S COUGH AND LUNG SYRUP.—Thousands of persons die every year, from that dread disease, Consumption. We constantly read of some discovered remedy and sure cure. As the man or woman finds that he or she is infected, and pronounced incurable, their great desire is to find something which shall at least prolong life. Dr. A. J. Flagg of Claremont, N. H., being aware of this fact, and the importance of meeting the requirements of thousands of his fellow beings, gave his attention to the matter, and after years of experience and trial has discovered a remedy which he confidently believes will do all that he claims for it. His Cough and Lung Syrup is pleasant to take, and has worked wonders in a medical point of view. Persons afflicted with Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma or any of these diseases, should by all means give it a trial and see if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

THE BEST MEDICAL TALENT indorses Walter Baker & Co's Breakfast Cocoa for the use of invalids, as well as persons in health. Travellers and students find it most convenient, as it is prepared for use in one minute, without boiling.

No hotel in this country or Europe is more thoroughly comfortable for families and ladies travelling alone, than the well-known Colonnade Hotel in Philadelphia, Pa.

"Twenty cents!" repeated the citizen in astonishment; "twenty cents for a little bunch like them. Why, they ain't worth ten cents." It is now the vender's turn to be amazed. "What are you talking 'bout?" he demanded with asperity; "offerin' ten cents for a bunch of radishes? Guess you ain't heard of the war in Europe, hev yeh?"

—Charles Mackay tells a story that Mr. Seward, when in England, went with him to the Crystal Palace. The American lighted a cigar and proceeded to smoke with great enjoyment, when a policeman, meeting the pair, said to Mr. Seward, in a tone of authority, "Sir, it is against the rules to smoke in these grounds. Put out your cigar or leave the place." "Sir," Mr. Seward rejoined with equal dignity, "it is against the rules for me to give you half-a-crown. Take it, and put it in your pocket, and leave my presence." The man looked round for fear of listeners, took the half-crown, smiled pleasantly, and discreetly turned away in the opposite direction.

LANGDON PARK

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

THE citizens of Portsmouth are respectfully informed that any person can obtain permission to set out one or more Trees in the Park, on application either to a member of the Board, or to Mr. GEORGE E. SMART, Keeper, at No. 3 Mt. Vernon St.

Or any citizen, or Son of Portsmouth resident elsewhere, may have a Tree set in his name, of such variety as he may indicate, by sending $5, or any larger sum he may feel disposed, to the Treasurer or any member of the Board—as has already been done by many, and their names and trees placed upon the roll.

☞ Trees which are dead may be replaced by others in the same positions, by the same parties who planted the first.

The funds which were placed in the hands of Trustees by citizens and others have been entirely expended in the improvements thus far made in the Park. They, therefore, would hereby inform all interested that they are ready to expend in further adornments and improvements of the grounds, such sums as may be donated for the purpose; and contributions of any amount are hereby solicited to be sent at any time to the Treasurer or either of the other Trustees.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
—USE—
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's
COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES Colds, CURES Coughs, CURES Catarrh, CURES Consumption.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Effects of Tobacco on Health.

The following is a part of a valuable tract on the subject which every pastor and every church member in the land ought to read. It can be had by writing to O. M., 136 Chesnut street, Syracuse, N. Y., at fifty cents per hundred.

1. Dr. Willard Parker of New York city says, "It is now many years since my attention was called to the insidious, but positively destructive effects of tobacco upon the human system. I have seen a great deal of its influence upon those who use it and work in it. Cigar and snuff manufacturers have come under my care in hospitals and in private practice, and such persons can never recover soon and in a healthy manner, from cases of injury or fever. They are more apt to die in epidemics, and more prone to apoplexy and paralysis. The same is true of all those who smoke or chew much."

2. Dr. H. V. Miller, of Syracuse, furnishes the following: "A French physician investigated the effects of tobacco smoking, upon thirty-eight boys between the ages of nine and fifteen, who were addicted to the habit. The result was that twenty-seven presented marked symptoms of nicotine poisoning; twenty-three manifested serious derangement of the intellectual faculties, and a strong appetite for alcoholic drinks; three had heart-disease; eight decided deterioration of blood; twelve had frequent nose-bleed; ten disturbed sleep, and four ulceration of the mucous membrane of the mouth."

3. That very able work, "Diseases of Modern Life," by Dr. Richardson, sums up the effects of tobacco thus: "Smoking produces disturbances in the blood, causing undue fluidity and change in the red corpuscles; in the stomach, giving rise to debility, nausea, etc.; in the mucous membrane of the mouth, causing enlargement and soreness of the tonsils; in the heart, producing debility of that organ and irregular action; in the organs of sense, causing in the extreme degree, dilatation of the pupils of the eyes, confusion of vision, with other analogous symptoms affecting the ear; in the brain, imparing the activity of that organ, and oppressing it, if it be duly nourished, but soothing it if it be exhausted. The effects of tobacco, often severe, even on those who have attained to manhood, are especially injurious to the young, who are still in the stage of adolescence. In these the habit of smoking causes impairment of growth, premature manhood, and physical prostration."

This a terrible arraignment by medical science, of habits that find shelter in the Christian church, and justification even, in the example of Christian pulpits! And yet,

4. Perhaps the worst thing to be said of tobacco, is the medical testimony which follows. "The parent whose blood and secretions are saturated with tobacco, and whose brain and nervous system are semi-narcotized by it, must transmit to his child elements of a distempered body and erratic mind; a deranged condition of organic atoms, which elevates the animalism of the future being, at the expense of the moral and intellectual nature." And here is the law of hereditary transmission or penalty. (Exodus xx: 4, 5, 6.) Few parents who indulge in strong drink, or tobacco or opium, or other sensual habits, think of the terrible results to children of their own flesh and blood.

Canine Sagacity.

The Pacific Rural Press tells the following story: Mr. J. W. Smith, of Monticello, recently sold his flock of sheep to Mr. Jared Walters, of Pope Valley, and sent a boy with his shepherd dog Rover to help him drive them home. It was a distance of twelve miles through a very rough, mountainous country. On the following day the boy returned, bringing Rover with him. For several days after this Rover appeared uneasy and restless, and finally disappeared. Search was made throughout the valley for several days, and Rover was given up for lost, when word was received by Mr. Smith that his dog was at Mr. Walter's place, in Pope Valley. He went immediately to Mr. Walters, and was surprised to learn that Rover had made two attempts to drive the entire flock home. At one time he succeeded in driving them half way back before being overtaken.

The Critical Periods of Life.

From the elaborate table drawn up by Dr. Farr, it would seem, as far as can be made out, there are certainly very critical periods in our career. A baby, for instance, has a very small chance indeed of growing up. But, on the other hand, the period between the tenth and twelfth years exclusively is that in which the death average is the smallest. At about thirty-five we must begin to take care of ourselves. At this period, constitutional changes set in; our hair and teeth begin to fall us; our digestion is no longer what it used to be; we lose the vigour of youth and neglect outdoor exercise—above all, the cares of life begin to make themselves perceptibly felt. It is at this time that deaths from suicide take a marked place in the returns of mortality, and there is also considerable reason to believe that habits of intemperance are apt to suddenly develop themselves. The picture, however, has its sunshiny side. It would take, of course, a professional notuary to deduce from Dr. Farr's tables their exact result. It appears, however, that if a man tides over his 50th year he may make tolerable certain of living to 70, while if he reaches his 75th year there is very strong presumption that he will either turn his 90th birthday or very near it. A still more interesting question is opened by a series of tables which show the average mortality in different professions and pursuits. Gamekeepers are, for obvious reasons, the healthiest class of our whole population; clergymen and agricultural laborers come next, and are followed by barristers; solicitors and business men are less fortunate, while at the extreme end, of the scale come unhealthy pursuits such as printing and filegrinding.—English Paper.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1877.

The War.

A despatch from Bucharest via London, Friday morning, says the Russians were preparing to force a crossing of the Danube simultaneously at three different places, namely: at Kalafat, at Nicopalax and at a point between Reni and Galatz. The Turkish gunboats were actively bombarding all of these points, and the Russians erecting batteries to defend themselves from the enemy's fire.

Turkish advices of the 11th state that a Russian attempt to cross the Danube at Reni on the 9th was repulsed, the bridge and boats being destroyed by Turkish gunboats, and a great number of Russians killed and captured. Despatches direct from Roumania do not mention any fight at Reni.

No Pay for the Navy.

The Secretary of the Navy has issued the following circular to pay-officers of that branch of the service:

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May, 1877.

Sir: I have carefully considered the probable embarrassment to which the officers and men of the navy will be subjected because of the deficiency under the appropriation for the pay of the navy and the consequent inability to make the current payments for the months of April, May and June, but I find myself unable, without violating express provisions of law, to afford them any relief in an official form. If I possessed the power it would gratify me to exercise it for their protection. The law prohibits all the departments of the Government from expending in any fiscal year any sum in excess of appropriations for that year, or from involving the Government in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriations. It moreover subjects any officer who shall violate it to indictment and punishment. These provisions are imperative, and leave me without any official discretion whatever. At the expiration of each month any officer on your rolls who may desire it, may be furnished by you with a certificate showing the amount due him by the Government. If the law permitted to be attached to this a promise by the Secretary of the Navy that the money would be paid out of any future appropriation, it is believed there would be no difficulty in procuring the money upon it; but it is impossible. Under the law all further transactions must be conducted solely between the officer holding the certificates and the person advancing the pay.

Respectfully, etc., R. W. THOMPSON,
Secretary of the Navy.

He also issued a general circular announcing that:

"The Department having decided that it will not be proper to pay the balances remaining due to officers and men under pay of the navy, at the close of the present fiscal year, from the appropriation made for the next fiscal year, the pay officers of all stations and vessels are hereby directed not to carry their balance forward to their pay rolls for the third quarter of 1877, but to leave them as remaining due and unpaid on their rolls ending June 30, 1877, and they will be considered as turned into the Fourth Auditor's Department of the Treasury for final adjustment and settlement, when an appropriation shall be made therefor by Congress. In opening their pay rolls for the third quarter of 1877, pay officers will transfer to the pay accounts of all the persons on their books as usual, only omitting the balances remaining due and unpaid; but, where officers or men are indebted to the Government, balances overpaid shall be transferred and taken upon the new accounts. In order to enable the department to ascertain the exact total deficiency at the earliest possible moment, pay officers will make up and forward their accounts ending June 30, 1877, as soon as they possibly can after the close of the quarter."

The body of the man taken from the canal at Manchester on the 7th, was that of John Butler of Derry.

"Survival of the Fittest."

The ingenious doctrine propounded by Mr. Darwin, the tireless investigator of nature and her laws, is as applicable in determining the fate of medicines as in that of the animal species. Every year new remedies are brought before the public, and are soon completely discarded as their sale rapidly decreases. Only those medicines which are best suited to the people's wants survive the first test. If they "are tried, and found wanting" in the merits which they are claimed to possess, no amount of advertising will make them popular. Of all the remedies ever introduced to the public, none are so popular as Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. Their sale has steadily increased each year, and wholesale druggists assert that the present demand for them is greater than ever before. If you would patronize medicines scientifically prepared use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is alterative, or blood-cleansing, and an unequalled cough remedy; Pleasant Purgative Pellets, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, constitute an agreeable and reliable physic; Favorite Prescription, a remedy for debilitated females; Extract of Smart-Weed, a magical remedy for pain, bowel complaints, and an unequaled liniment for both human and horse-flesh; while his Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the Head" ever given to the public. They are sold by druggists.

The Best Recuperant

Of failing energy, that to which the fagged out man of business, the brain-fatigued author, the tired advocate or the weary artizan can resort with the greatest certainty that it will revive his overwrought powers, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most genial tonic cordial, as well as a benign remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and urinary organs, and a means of eradicating and preventing intermittent and remittent fevers. It not only enriches the blood and creates a new fund of energy in the system, but it has the effect of expelling impurities from the life current which beget disease. The injurious influence of abrupt transitions of temperature, of an unwholesome climate and injurious diet, are counteracted by it, and it promotes digestion, appetite and sound repose. Give it a trial and be convinced.

Pretty Lips

should have pearly teeth behind them. To make the teeth pearly, and to keep them so, there is nothing like Fragrant Sozodont. It neutralizes every element of impurity that affects the soundness or whiteness of the dental bone. Moreover, it prevents gum-boil and canker.

For the "attraction of cohesion," see Spalding's Glue.

A well-timed and judicious concession to the popular demand for reduced rates has added very greatly to the former excellent popularity of the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia.

A DELICIOUS CUP OF COCOA is easily made. Ask your grocer for the preparation made by Walter Baker & Co. It is healthful and stimulating, and far less injurious than tea or coffee.

THOUSANDS of persons are just beginning to appreciate the curative qualities of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. He receives daily a large number of commendatory letters, relative to the wonderful results being attained from the use of this last and best remedy for Consumption. Sold by all Druggists.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR SORE THROAT, PULMONINE COROLLA is for sale at the UNION STORE, Market Street. Price 50 cents per bottle.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the Medal Pills in the world. Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 7

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for about two years, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most obstinate they had ever had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mobley my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have live applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MESSRS. W. LANE—Sirs:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

CITY AFFAIRS

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, a petition of heirs of George Chesley for leave to open Russell street to repair drain was referred to committee on widening streets.

Asa T. Walker's complaint of the street sprinkling apparatus in Brewster street was laid over till next meeting.

Petitions of H. Peyser & Co., for leave to put up awning posts on Daniel street; of Wm. Stearns and others, for repair and grading of Tanner street; and of J. Albert Walker for sidewalk on Tanner street, were referred to committee on streets.

Petition of Woman's Temperance League for use of South ward room on Saturday afternoons for the Band of Hope, was referred to committee on city lands and buildings.

Notice of Robert C. Peirce, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Burroughs, of termination of occupancy of land near the Court House yard, was received. The subject was referred to committee on city lands, etc., to ascertain on what terms the land can be procured.

Claim of Samuel S. Whidden for payment for lamb killed by dogs, was referred to committee on claims.

Petition of James R. Connell and others for change in the line of Dennett street was received and a hearing appointed for Thursday, May 31st.

Received from Common Council, a bill entitled "an ordinance authorizing the transfer of certain unexpended appropriations," passed by the Common Council. Said bill was read once and referred to committee.

Committee on accounts reported bills approved by them, which were ordered to be paid.

Petition of R. H. Beacham, for leave to erect a post on Congress street, and subject of paving on Vaughan and North streets, were referred to committee on streets.

Wm. B. Lowd's complaint of the breaking of windows in his house on South street by boys, was referred to committee on claims, with Mayor added.

The committee on widening streets, etc., to whom was referred the petition of Brown and others for a new highway reported that in their judgment the entire land damages will be about $500.

Committee on fire department reported that Hon. M. H. Goodrich says that the city may take the land needed for a reservoir and set their own damages. The report was accepted.

Sent up from Common Council, a bill entitled "an ordinance making appropriations, etc.," passed by the Common Council; said bill was read once and referred.

Adjourned for one week.

The following report of a committee of the Common Council, laid before the Board on Thursday evening, fully explains itself:

Your Committee, to whom was referred "An ordinance authorizing the transfer of certain unexpected appropriations," beg leave to report that they have examined the bills allowed and ordered paid by the Board of Aldermen during the past year; that the excesses to the appropriations have in some cases been proper, and ought to have been allowed in a legal manner. The appropriations, a year ago, were not in all cases adequate to the demands, (while many of them were abundant at a time of general depression of business and high taxes,) and the last outgoing administration used most of such as were made before going out of power, [so that additional appropriations had to be made to complete the year; and yet the excessive expenditures appear to be not only in violation of law, but most flagrant and unwarrantable, inasmuch as, if there had been a just demand for the expenditure, the appropriations could have been made as the law directs. Chap. 2, Sec. 12, City Ordinances, reads: "Whenever any appropriation shall have expired the City Clerk shall give notice of the fact to the Mayor, the President of the Common Council, and the Committee on Accounts, and said committee shall pass no more claims until the City Councils shall have provided the means for paying the same." The City Clerk did give the required notice aforesaid, on Nov. 9, 1876; and yet we find that since that notice was served there has been allowed in direct violation of law the sum total of $8024.92, previous to the 1st day of February, 1877, and since that time, has been expended $10,898,06. A minority of the Committee on "Rents and Repairs of Schoolhouses," without consulting with the majority of the committee, have expended not only the appropriation of $2000, but (since the legal notice was served by the City Clerk) the additional amount of $1658.78, previous to the making up of the yearly accounts on the 1st day of Feb., 1877, and since that date an additional sum of $592.08, making a grand total of $4250.86, as far as reported,—and we know not how much yet to report. This serves to point out to us, how our taxes are kept so high and the expenditure so profligate; and we do not feel that we ought, now the deed is done, to be called upon to legalize and endorse past illegal conduct. We do not recommend the passage of the Ordinance. If the Board of Aldermen are capable of contracting and paying bills, without the consent of this Board, they certainly ought to be able to raise the money themselves, without our assistance; and we are willing they should do so.

Respectfully submitted,

Signed { O. M. KNIGHT, E. B. PRIME, J. W. DAME, J. BUZZELL.

The Council accepted and adopted the report, and another ordinance under the same title, covering the unexpended balances into the Treasury, was passed and sent to the Aldermen for concurrence.

Dennis H. Mead for insulting a police officer, was fined $3, costs $6.90—just what he would have had to have paid for an average drunk. The officer was at the depot with a prisoner, bound to Brentwood, a day or two before, when Mead advised the prisoner to run away, and on being admonished by the officer to attend to his own affairs he was abusive $9.90 worth.

GIVE US PURE AIR.

Messrs. Editors: Your readers were treated to a piece of good news indeed, Friday morning, in the announcement of the new opera house to be immediately erected on the favorite site of the old Temple. Everybody has been impressed with the need of such a building since the destruction of the Temple. The enumeration of the many points of promised advantage makes one impatient for its erection; yet through inadvertence, doubtless, one important point was left out—ventilation—unless the word comfort covered the whole ground. After safety, convenience of ingress and egress, let ventilation be the next desideratum. We know it will be beautiful, from the well-known taste of those engaged in its construction; but let the Peirce Opera House be the best ventilated building in the country.

GRATEFUL CITIZEN.

THE "FRANK JONES."

The attempt to haul off the Frank Jones Monday night was unsuccessful. The tugs Monarch, Neptune and Rescue parted one eleven and one twelve-inch hawser in the attempt, but did not move the ship an inch. This is not strange, considering that she has still 425 tons of ballast and seven feet of water in her hold. She is reported to be badly hogged and strained. No time has been fixed for another attempt. An amusing feature of the affair was an account of it given by a stock contemporary yesterday afternoon—"The ship Frank Jones was successfully floated off the beach this morning. The speculators who, by some 'hocus pocus' were permitted a few weeks ago to buy her as she lay for $4700, have cleared about 1000 per cent profit on the transaction. The ship is worth to-day $50,000. We hear of no movement on the part of the underwriters to investigate either the running of the ship ashore or her hasty sale."—San Francisco Commercial List, May 30.

A despatch from San Francisco, May 9th, says: "The wreck of the ship Frank Jones has been abandoned, all attempts to get her off having been unsuccessful, and she will be sold (second time) on the 11th."

"A SAD CASE."

Under the above heading the Boston papers of Friday printed the following item of Salem news:

"On Wednesday evening Officer Heathcote of Salem came across a family consisting of a man, his wife, and four children, bound for on foot to Portsmouth, N. H. Their story was a sad case. They had been settled in Northern Michigan, were burned out, and started for Portsmouth, N. H., where they had friends. On reaching Boston their money gave out, and they walked to Salem, arriving about 6:30 P. M. Two of the children were too small to walk, and they, aged two years and ten months respectively, were drawn in a toy express wagon, being bundled in with a valise, the only baggage of the party. The kind-hearted officer took the whole family to Mr. C. H. Kezar's eating-house, and that gentleman furnished them good suppers, after which they were provided with comfortable quarters for the night at the police station. Mr. Heathcote raised for them a small sum of money; Mr. Kezar added $5, and yesterday morning they were turned over to the railroad officials to help them on their way."

On making enquiries at the Eastern Railroad depot in this city, our reporter learned that the same party of unfortunates was here about six weeks ago, destitute, and anxious to "go West;" so the hard-handed but kind-hearted railroad boys contributed generously of their hard-earned shekels, made up a nice little purse, and sent them on their way rejoicing. On Friday they arrived back from "the West," or wherever they may have been in the meantime, hung around the depot for awhile and then emigrated to Dover, paying their way on the train. As to who they are or where they are from our reporter could gain no information.

JOTTINGS.

Morse & Ilsley will sell by auction today two eligible lots of real estate. At eleven o'clock, A. M., the double-tenement house numbered eleven and thirteen on Mechanic street, belonging to the heirs of the late Elizabeth Halstead, will be offered; at twelve o'clock, noon, the residence of the late Dr. Stevens, No. 54 Middle street, will be sold. See advertisements.

The temperance meeting on Sunday evening next will be addressed by Mr. John W. Drew of Concord, Franklin Hall having been engaged for the occasion. It is expected that there will be a crowd to greet Mr. Drew, as he will be remembered by many of those in this city who attended the temperance meetings a year or more ago, as one who, with the celebrated temperance evangelist, Mr. Osgood, made such a stir here and in this vicinity in getting signers to the pledge. Since that time Mr. Drew has been devoting himself wholly to the work of reform in New Hampshire, and has succeeded very well, having formed many clubs, and procured the signatures of thousands to the pledge. We hope our citizens generally will attend the meeting on Sunday evening. Admission five cents.

The stock and fixtures of the apothecary store lately occupied by H. W. Briant, and his interest in the lease of the store, will be sold at auction at noon to-day, on the premises, by Col. J. Horace Kent, assignee in bankruptcy. The sale is positive, and the terms cash. See advertisement.

At Bow Mission, Sunday afternoon, there will be a service especially appropriate for business men (and women,) which promises to be very interesting. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested, and their friends. Bible service at 2:30 P. M.; regular service at 4:15.

William S. Roberts, who was drowned near "boiling rock" on the evening of the 7th inst., was a native of Dover, where his relatives still reside. The Dover Democrat says that when drowned he "had on his person articles of a good deal of value; one gold watch worth about $150; a considerable sum of money, the precise amount not known, and probably several hundred dollars worth of securities, mostly western county bonds. It is known that he owned some $800 worth of these bonds, and only about $200 worth can be found among the avails at his home in Portsmouth. The presumption is that he had them in his pocket, although it is not certain." The drowned man's brother, Capt. J. G. Roberts of Dover, offers to pay $25 for the recovery of the body.

The American House, Boston, always reckoned one of the best of Hotels, like good wine seems to improve with age. Its location is unsurpassed for parties, either on business or pleasure, and it has few equals in its thousand contrivances for the comfort and pleasure of its guests.

The Eastern Railroad has commenced running Pullman cars between Boston and Bangor, for the season.

Mr. Stephen Raitt is building a goodly sized shop for his blacksmith business, on Green street, near the site of the old cemetery. Mr. Raitt proposes to make a first-class shop of it, with conveniences for doing pretty much anything in the blacksmithing line required in this city.

Passengers arriving in New York by way of the Grand Central Depot will find the new and comfortable Hotel Devonshire, which is opposite the main entrance on 42d Street, the most inexpensive place to stop. It is a modern hotel, and first-class in all appointments.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society, through the agent, A. F. Craig, has just paid a policy of $5,000, on the life of the late Robert C. Jarvis of this city.

Captain William Shackford, of this city, left for New York on Friday to take command of the Cresent City, one of the steamers belonging to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The Cresent City is about 3000 tons register, and sails between New York and Aspinwall. Capt. Shackford has been in the employ of this company for fourteen years, and has commanded, during the last five years, the Great Republic and China, of 5000 tons each, on the San Francisco and China line, and the Colima, which runs between San Francisco and Australia.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT:

On Tuesday the court heard the equity suit of W. Emery, administrator of estate of Wm B. Dodge, an action brought by Emery in the interest of the creditors of the estate to recover a farm and building in Hampton which William B. Dodge in 1871 conveyed by deed to Henry L. Dodge, his son, as was contended by the plaintiff without a full consideration, and to defraud the creditors of said William.

On Wednesday, case George B. Sias vs. Roger Williams Insurance Co. was tried. This was an action brought by Sias as mortgagee upon a boarding house in Gorham, insured for $2500, and burned in 1875. Defence claimed a violation of conditions of policy, but a verdict was given for the plaintiff for $1627.50; exceptions taken.

On Thursday the Court was occupied with the case of John R. Poor vs. the Hudson Fire Insurance Company of New Jersey, action on a policy of $2500 issued by A. F. Craig of this city as agent of the defendant, insuring the Oceanic House at the Isles of Shoals, destroyed by fire in November, 1875. Several witnesses were examined for the plaintiff, and testified as to the occurrence of the fire and circumstances relative thereto. The defendants relied upon the alleged cancellation of the policy, which they claimed had occurred previous to the fire. The Court seemed to doubt the completeness of the cancellation, which point was argued by counsel and resulted in the delivery of an opinion by the Court that the cancellation was not complete. The parties then agreed that the case should be taken from the jury and submitted to the Court, to be disposed of as the exigencies of the case required, which action resulted practically in rendering a verdict for the plaintiff.

The Court then adjourned until Tuesday, 15th inst., when Judge Clark will preside and criminal business will be disposed of.

The Brown Sparrow.

Don't import them into your section of the country. Don't. They will drive out every other feathered songster you have, even to the robins. Not even the quail can withstand them. The writer lives on one of the most beautiful avenues in the city of Brooklyn, where the houses are on a large plat of ground, in villa style, the sidewalks broad and well lined with shade trees. Before the English sparrows were introduced the early spring and summer mornings were gladdened with a variety of native songsters, carolling to the delicious morning air. Since the aggressive sparrows were colonized half the exquisiteness of nature has fled. Now one hears only harsh, twittering notes and sees short, homely, stocky birds. If you have any sense of beauty and appropriateness, don't engraft the English sparrows on your neighborhood.—Turf and Field.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before we was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION,

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success., and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

—Said Grace Greenwood once, speaking of public singers and dancers:—"Happy is the woman whose genius locates itself in her throat or her heels, for she shall have money and friends."

—A morning paper, in an obituary of one who died in Boston a few days since, says: "He was formerly a native of Lynn." What place he was a native of in later years is the unsettled question.

—It is said that Ralph Waldo Emerson will get up in the middle of the night to jot down a thought or see whether there is a mouse in the trap.

—Secretary Evarts telegraphing to England the other day got half a sentence on the cable and choked it up. The sentence was finished the next morning and the kinks were taken out of the wire.

—The editor of the St. Louis Republican recently insisted that poets must be brief. The next day he received the following, entitled "The Ballad of the Merchant:" —Trust—Bust!

—The reports of the insanity of Paul Morphy, the great chess-player, are authoritatively denied. He is quietly pursuing the practice of his profession, the law, in New Orleans.

—A Washington letter says:—The Russian minister's wife is said to be such a devotee to smoking that she makes a recluse of herself that she may uninterruptedly enjoy her cigarettes.

—A man who hanged himself in Nevada left a letter to his friend, in which he said: "I advise you earnestly to follow my example. You ought to know you are too mean to live. The world would be better without you, and it is your duty to die, and leave more room for better men."

—A correspondent of the Boston Transcript says that the theater train on the New York and New England railroad has been taken off for want of travel. Former country theater-goers have been converted in the Moody and Sankey revival, and now they use their evenings for prayer meetings and sewing circles.

—As a train was slowly crawling out of the station at Indianapolis the other day, an individual, with terror depicted in every line of his countenance, was seen running after it, making time that would not have disgraced the record of a lightning express. [illegible] himself up on the steps, the look of terror [illegible] in his face, he confided his secret to a stranger who stood on the platform. He had just awarded the premiums at the baby show that afternoon.

—The town of Canton, Mass., is the owner of a hearse, which, from years of service, has become dilapidated, and is detested by the inhabitants. A few days ago a lady, noted for plainness of speech, felt that, despite her wishes to the contrary, she was about to pass over that river more mystic than the Mystic. Calling her husband to her she made him promise not to have her body conveyed in that hearse, assuring him that if placed in there she would "kick the darned thing all to pieces and come out." Her husband, fearing that she would carry out her threat, hired a new hearse from the neighboring town of Dedham to take the body to the cemetery, and now they both rest in peace.

—"Did I ever love any other girl?" repeated a prospective bridegroom, in answer to the tearful query of his intended. "Why, darling, of course not; how could you ask such a question? You are my first, my only love. This heart knew no wakening until the sunshine of your love streamed in and woke it to ecstacy." And then he kissed her tenderly and went home and said to himself, "I must hurry them things outer the way right off or there'll be a row," and he collected together a great pile of letters, written in all kinds of feminine hands, with lots of faded flowers, and photographs, and locks of hair, and bits of faded ribbon, and other things, and when the whole collection had been crammed into the kitchen grate, he drew a deep sigh and said to himself, "There goes all that's left of fourteen undying loves—let 'em flicker."

—When the Marine Mutiny bill came to be considered in Committee recently, rather an amusing incident occurred. The Irish members forced upon Parliament the undignified work of discussing the instrument of torture. They got out the fact that there are two "cats" used in the navy, the severest of which is called the "thieves' cat," and has three knots in each of its three thongs. Mr. Sullivan observed that it was scarcely creditable that the English House of Commons, on the brink of a European war, should be discussing the torture of her Majesty's marines. He moved that the lashes should not be administered by any instrument save one duly approved "and stamped" by the Lords of the Admiralty. This alarmed the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Ward Hunt. Noble and beneficent as the "cat" may be, that gentleman had no idea of transmitting to prosterity his name and fame stamped on an instrument so certain to take its place in the Museum along with the thumb-screw. So he eagerly protested against the stamping, to the amusement of the House. Flogging in the army has been abolished; in the navy there were only seven cases last year. Next year there may be one or two cases; thereafter none.—M. D. Conway.

The Steamship Accidents.

The captain of the steamship Dakotah says the night was intensely dark when his vessel struck; she was going seventeen knots an hour, and he had no idea she was out of her course. She rebounded, and struck a second time. Another account says that a storm of thunder and lightning was raging when the Dakota went ashore. The passengers were saved mostly by life lines thrown over the vessel from rocky crags, by means of which, with the great heroism of the Welsh coast-guardsmen, all were saved, notwithstanding the high surf and breakers. One boat load of women and children had an exceedingly narrow escape, having struck once against the rocks, but a high wave fortunately carried it to the top of a crag, and left it there, whence the coast-guard rescued them all. With the coming of daylight the mist which had enveloped the steamer cleared away, and another large steamship was observed passing close at hand. Rockets were at once set off from the Dakota, warning her off the coast, and thus probably averting another disaster. The total number of passengers on the Dakota was about 250. Wreckers have been at work trying to save part of the cargo, but the vessel is hopelessly wrecked; her value was $750,000. The scene of the wreck is close to the place where the Australian steamship Royal Charter was lost in 1859, with 446 lives, and between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000 in gold. Steamship Abbottsford also became a total wreck at the same place in 1875; though no lives were lost.

The report of the arrival of the missing ocean steamship City of Brussels at Queenstown, Ireland, Friday evening, was premature; no tidings have been heard of her. She had on board about 300 passengers, most of whom were pilgrims on the way to Rome. Reinsurances were effected on the vessel, Friday, at forty per cent. premium.

Up to Saturday evening no further tidings had been heard of the Anchor Line steamship Sidonian, which burst a boiler and killed the captain, three engineers and three firemen, in mid-ocean week before last, and is trying to reach Europe under sail.

Another Horror.

A portion of the walls of the new county court house at Rockford, Ill., fell in on Friday, burying over twenty men in the ruins. Eight are known to be dead, and it is believed at least four more were killed; four bodies were recovered in a few hours after the accident. Ten or twelve others were badly hurt, and some of them will die. The building was not finished, and all the victims were workmen or engineers. The pecuniary loss is about $65,000.

An Earthquake.

There has been an earthquake on the Pacific. On Thursday, at Gaviota, San Luis Obispo county, California, an earthquake wave caused the tide to rise and fall about twelve feet, three times in twenty minutes. At Fort Point, at the entrance to San Francisco Bay, the self-registering tide-gauge recorded a series of waves one hour apart all through the day, the rise and fall being fourteen inches.

A despatch was received in New York, Saturday afternoon, from Valparaiso via London, that the city of Iquique had been destroyed by an earthquake and a tidal wave. This is a small seaport of Peru, with a population of 1000, and is a great place for the shipment of copper ore.

The War.

An artillery duel took place at Ibrail between the Russian batteries and Turkish squadron, Friday, in which a Turkish monitor was blown up by a shell and 300 men on board killed; she was the largest monitor on the Danube. The Russian battery which sunk her was masked by a vineyard until an hour before it commenced firing.

Mahommedan insurrections in the Crimea and Caucasus are giving the Russians much annoyance.

Turkish advices on the 11th reported a big battle imminent in Armenia. Ismail Pasha, at the head of 40,000 troops, had gone out to meet the Russians, who had withdrawn from Bayazid and Kars, and were massed in front of the Turks.

Roumania has declared her independence of Turkey.

News and Notes.

It is quite a remarkable circumstance that the brig H. C. Sibley, of Belfast, Me., now at that port for repairs, has, on every long voyage that she has made, lost a man overboard—five in number. They were, in every instance, knocked overboard by the mainboom or some gearing about the mainsail.

Pittsfield, Mass., had a remarkable elopement on Thursday. Early in the morning a little son of James Carver, aged three years and a half, and a three-years-old daughter of Samuel Parker were missing, and after a vain search in the neighborhood, they were found late in the afternoon taking dinner at a house in Pontoosuc, three miles and a half from their homes.

A week ago Miss Ella May Roberts left her home in Worcester, Mass., leaving behind a note indicating an intention on her part to emigrate to another world. After several days' search she was found in a friend's house at Rutland, Vt., the parties who had been following her trail having traced her to two different ponds between Worcester and Rutland, which she had visited with the possible purpose of committing suicide, but if so had been prevented from carrying out her purpose by the presence of objectionable spectators. She was taken home, and in explanation of her performances it was stated that she and a young man who had been paying her attentions had had a falling out. On Friday Miss Ella and John A. Alsop, the young man referred to, left Worcester together "on the quiet," their trunks being checked for Montreal.

At Newbern, N. C., a few evenings ago, three young colored persons, a man and two women, were returning from church during a severe storm when a stroke of lightning killed them all. They were walking under a steel handle umbrella.

Mr. Thomas H. Gibson of Westerly, R. I., has discovered a new use for eel grass. By a cheap chemical process he contracts the blade to one-quarter its natural width, giving it a permanent curl that resembles curled hair, thereby adapting it for use in upholstering. It is also an excellent paper stock, for which it will be used in the manufacture of the finer grades of paper, as it is susceptible of a high finish. Boston gentlemen have proposed to start the manufacture of it for paper stock and upholstering.

The most remarkable game of base ball ever played was played on Friday on the Boston grounds, between the Harvard club and the Manchesters, of Manchester, in this State. Twenty-four innings were played, neither club scoring a run. The best previous scores were in the games between the Stars of Syracuse and the Browns of St. Louis, fifteen innings and no runs, and between the Bostons and Hartfords, eleven innings and one run each.

Political.

The Senate of South Carolina has passed a resolution authorizing and requesting the Governor to invoke the clemency of the President of the United States in behalf of the prisoners now held to answer the charges of riot and murder in the late political struggle in that State. Good thing for "Gen." Massacre C. Butler.

The democratic editors are weeping the saltest of salt tears because the soldiers and sailors will get no pay after the 1st of July, owing entirely to the wicked refusal of the republican administration to call an extra session of Congress in June. But some people say the endeavor of the last democratic Congress to make cheap political capital for use in the Tilden campaign, by refusing to make the appropriations which were absolutely necessary, had something to do with the matter. People will talk, no matter what the democratic economists and army-and-navy-sympathizers say.

New Hampshire Items.

The defalcation of Charles H. Collins, late paymaster of the Nashua Iron and Steel Company, is the engrossing theme in Nashua, and many and curious are the conclusions reached. The amount of his peculations has not been determined, but it is said that it will exceed $10,000. False entries in copying from the shipping clerk's books to the journal was understood to be the method by which he abstracted the funds of the company; thus, a charge of $250 was copied as $50 and the balance pocketed.

Rev. Eleazer Smith, Chaplain in the New Hampshire State Prison, has served in that capacity for fifteen years, and has been a minister of the Gospel for fifty years. He last year preached 107 sermons in the prison, and his labors in the hospital, neighboring pulpits, etc., made in all 327 different efforts, or nearly one for every day in the year.

William A. Hoyt of Haverhill, Mass., who was arrested at Boston on the 8th inst. by Sheriff Kent, for the robbery of $1200 from Charles H. Greeley of East Kingston, last August, has been sentenced to two years in the State Prison at Concord, and taken there by the sheriff. All the money was recovered but $24.

The Strafford Guards of Dover are to celebrate their 54th anniversary on Tuesday, May 29th.

A double wooden house on Hanover street, Manchester, owned by C. K. Kendall and one Fairbanks, was burned on Thursday. Loss to the former about $1000; insured in the Ætna of Hartford for $1500. Fairbanks's damages about $1200; no insurance. The most of the furniture was removed.

The Nashua Telegraph is indulging in some wholesomely plain talk about Collins, the swindling book-keeper of that town, and about Jonathan Ladd, Esq., of Lowell, who calls himself counsel for Collins, but who is really shielding the thief from arrest, according to the Telegraph. We do like to read a newspaper article in which a thief is called a thief, even if he has stolen large sums of money entrusted to him, and "moved in the best society."

As a son of James Wightman, aged about twelve years, and a son of J. H. F. Varney, aged about sixteen, were in the woods at Rochester Saturday forenoon cutting bean poles, young Wightman was accidentally shot by a pistol in the hands of Varney. The Wightman boy was sitting on the ground, and Varney, while running after a squirrel, caught his foot in some brush and fell, thereby discharging the pistol, the bullet striking Wightman in the head. He lived but a short time.

The "Fighting Parson."

The editor of the Austin (Texas) Statesman, who was personally acquainted with the late Parson Brownlow, pays this tribute to his memory: "He was personally the most generous of men, and most devoted and tenacious in his attachments, and the very poor in East Tennessee never knew such a friend. When Knoxville was once ravaged by cholera there was no hut of poverty and wretchedness that did not have its pale watcher by the bedside of the plague-stricken in the person of the violent, fighting parson. When Brownlow's Whig was the most successful newspaper in money-making in the South, the editor and proprietor, who railed out so bitterly against his partisan enemies, gave money to the poor and helpless everywhere until he was himself always impoverished. Bitterly as he was denounced, and fiercely as he was hated as a party leader, it was never safe, where Brownlow, the man and private citizen, was personally known, to denounce his name or deeds."

Ivy Poisoning.

A correspondent of the Scientific American writes as follows: I send you a prescription which I am satisfied, from ten years' experience, is the very best remedy for ivy poisoning. It is simply to bathe the parts affected freely with spirit of nitre. If the blisters are broken, so as to allow the nitre to penetrate the cuticle, more than a single application is rarely necessary, and even where it is only applied to the surface of the skin three or four times during the day, there is rarely a trace of the poison left the next morning. Having often, previous to the discovery of this antidote, been rendered helpless and blind by ivy poison, I know its worth to those affected thereby."

—A train of cars on a Florida railroad passed a man on horseback, and there was a great hurrahing among the passengers until they discovered that the horse was tied to the fence.

—A young lady sent a poem entitled "I Cannot Make Him Smile" to a British newspaper. The editor ventures to express the opinion that she would have succeeded had she shown him the poem.

—A Yale Sophomore recently excused from work because of sore eyes made his second 400-yards bull's-eye at a rifle shoot just as his professor came up to congratulate him on his speedy recovery.

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 6th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, and I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go home and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure anybody, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MESSRS. W. LANE—Sirs:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. May thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

IN MEMORIAM A. P. STEVENS.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Merrimack Valley Dental Association, held at Lynn, Mass., May 4th, Dr. C. G. Davis, of New Bedford, addressed the Association as follows, in reference to the life and death of the late Dr. Albion P. Stevens of this city:

Mr. President and Gentlemen: As a friend of Dr. Stevens,—and who that knew him was not his friend?—I feel it to be a sad but pleasing duty to offer, on the altar of that friendship which cherishes kindly recollections, a few words, however inadequately expressed, as a tribute to his memory. Whatever of faults fell to the lot of my friend, when viewed from the standpoint of others, I see only that which challenges my respect. There was an atmosphere created by the presence of Dr. Stevens that drew others, as well as myself, at once within its influence. I shall not forget the first time I ever saw him; it was on the occasion of my first meeting with this Association at Salem. Taking a seat in the rear of his, my attention was soon attracted by the shape of his head, and the high moral qualities indicated thereby, which impressed me that the man was one of more than common ability among us. At that meeting I obtained an introduction, and from that moment till the day of his death a constantly ripening friendship was maintained between us. We had frequent and prolonged private interviews, from which I always came away feeling myself much his debtor. One of the secrets of his influence was the dignified geniality of his manner in intercourse with all men, but especially with his professional brethren. His dignity was not that of the self-opinionated, but it was that of self-respect for a conscious manhood, made gracious by an equal respect for the manhood and brotherhood of others; while added to this was the intelligence of a naturally strong and original mind, well furnished by a reflective observation and love of books. His knowledge of our professional literature was not excelled, if equalled, by any member of this Association; I am not sure that I am saying too much if I say, by any dentist in New England. I need not remind you with what respectful attention you always listened to whatever he said upon any subject under discussion in this Association. There was no shadow of pretension or of arrogant self-assertion in his make up; whatever he did, or however well he did it, it was done with becoming modesty and a desire rather to be useful—to get and impart useful information—than to display himself or his attainments.

As a practical dentist he had few equals in many of the qualities that go to the make up of a successful man. He always inspired confidence, and commanded the respect of his patients to a remarkable degree, not only by his manner but by the gentle magnetism of his touch, doing long and tedious operations with the minimum amount of exhaustion to his patients, and executing the work so well as to make it not only useful but a source of pride to both the patient and operator.

But it was his qualities of heart, more than of mind, that determined his manner and enshrined him among the precious memories of his friends. I have seen him in his own family circle, and it was there that he shone brightest, and with a lustre peculiarly his own. That indefinable aroma of concord and harmony begotten by well-earned love and admiring respect, pervaded his household. Every lip was wreathed with a smile of happiness, and every eye brightened with pleasure in his presence. It was not merely so with wife and children, but with acquaintances and friends who happened in as visitors. I will not speak of the history of his ambition, and of his effort to avert the fate of an early and untimely death. It was foreshadowed to him, and he struggled with strong hope to attain in other pursuits, and another climate, that measure of health that would put far away to a riper age the event that must come once to us all; but when the weakness of organization gave way he met the inevitable with that same cheerfulness of spirit and hopefulness for the future that so characterised his life. That life, my friends, was not spent in vain, that so inspired those who knew it as to embalm its memory among their sacred treasures, and surround it with the aroma of living thought.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, This society, since its last meeting, has been informed of the death of one of its members, therefore

Resolved, That in the death of A. P. Stevens, D. D. S., of Portsmouth, N. H., the Merrimack Valley Dental Association has lost one of its most valued members and honored ex-presidents; the dental profession one who, though young, had already become distinguished as among the foremost in its ranks; and the community in which he lived a worthy fellow-citizen, a genial gentleman, and a practicing dentist of no common skill and attainments.

Resolved, That as fellows of this Association we sincerely mourn his loss, and miss from among us the influence of a presence whose dignified but genial intercourse invited friendship, and whose readiness, intelligence, and courtesy in debate, commanded our admiration.

Resolved, That we extend to his family, in this dispensation of afflictive events, our earnest sympathy; and we most deeply feel how inadequately words can express the meaning of bereavement created by the death of so devoted a husband, so loving a father and so devoted a son.

Resolved, That these expressions of our appreciation and sympathy be placed upon the records, and that a copy be transmitted to the family of the deceased and to the Dental Magazine and the papers of Portsmouth and Dover.

A HINT FOR THE SECRETARY.

Messrs. Editors: When I read in the CHRONICLE of the 12th inst. the circular of the Secretary of the Navy, in which he declares his inability to pay the navy after a certain date "without violating express provisions of law," I could not help thinking it would be a good thing for him to take a lesson from the action of the Board of Aldermen of the city of Portsmouth, and learn how to "carry this on indefinitely," the law (which he has sworn to obey) to the contrary notwithstanding. Cannot the highest United States officials be clothed with as much power as our aldermen?—for then there would be no difficulty in their paying anything they chose, law or no law!

CITIZEN.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Persons who have lost relatives or friends (ex-soldiers or sailors of the United States) since last Memorial Day, or who know of the location of any hitherto undecorated graves of deceased veterans, are requested to give information of the same to John H. Locke or Robert E. Rich, of the Citizen's General Committee.

JOTTINGS.

On Saturday Messrs. Morse & Ilsley, auctioneers, sold the double house Nos. 11 and 13 Mechanic street to Henry Peyser for $400, and house No. 54 Middle street to Charles H. Sides, for $3000.

The announcement that Ex-President Grant and family had engaged passage to Europe in the steamship Indiana, of the American Steamship Company's line between Philadelphia and Liverpool, brought out a statement that the captain of the Indiana, Redford W. Sargent, is a native of Kittery. But a Dover man writes to his local paper that Capt. Sargent was born and educated in that city, his mother removing to Kittery after the death of his father, and that his first voyage was to San Francisco and around the world with Capt. Henry Libby of this city, in the ship Orion. He served in the navy during the war, then entered the Peninsula & Oriental Co's service, continuing in it several years, and then joined the Indiana as second officer, being promoted to the command in November last.

We hear that Brig-Gen. Clough has appointed First Lieut. David Urch of the Portsmouth Heavy Artillery to the office of Assistant Inspector General of the State Militia. Portsmouth is fortunate in getting this office, and the Artillery company is to be congratulated in furnishing the man worthy to fill the place. The duties of Lieut. Urch, who will now rank as Lieutenant Colonel, will be to visit, drill and inspect at least twice a year all militia companies of the State, and report to the Adjutant General, through the regimental commanders, the condition and efficiency of each company as inspected and drilled. —Times.

The stock and fixtures of the apothecary store lately occupied by H. W. Briant, bankrupt, and his interest in the lease of the store, were sold at auction on Saturday by Col. William H. Hackett, by direction of Sheriff Kent, the official assignee. The lease for an unexpired term, at $800 per year, brought $1; shelf bottles, labelled, with contents, 211 in number, brought ten cents each; prescription case sold for $50; and counter scales, which cost $100, sold for $45. The fixtures of all kinds belonging to the bankrupt (not including show case, mirror, soda fountain, etc.,) brought $775. The stock of medicines, perfumery, etc., brought $120. Dr. S. C. Whittier was the purchaser of nearly everything.

Deputy Sheriff Charles A. Shepard brought to this city and lodged in jail, Saturday morning, Hiram G. Gove, of Raymond, for attempting to shoot William M. Leighton of that town on Thursday. The case is quite an aggravated one, growing out of the ownership of a cow. Gove has considerable literary reputation, and is correspondent for several papers. He is a democrat in politics, but worked against Frank Jones at the late election in about the same way that Caleb Moulton worked for him, except that Gove nominated another man for Congress while Moulton nominated himself. Moulton's game beat Gove's.

Lieutenant Samuel S. Frye of the Veteran Artillery Association has tendered that organization a complimentary supper, to be given on the evening of June 14th, after the celebration of the one hundreth anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes.

A gang of men commenced clearing away the rubbish on the site of the Temple, Saturday morning, preparatory to putting in the foundations of the new opera hall.

It is reported that a dog belonging to Mr. John Mitchell, who lives on Bridge street, went mad Friday afternoon, and was shot at seven or eight times before he was killed. No wonder he got mad at such shooting as that.

Hon. Thomas E. O. Marvin's picture has been placed in the portrait-gallery of the city's Mayors, in the Aldermen's room in the city building.

SAD ACCIDENT.

A young son of Mr. John Walling in Hunking street, a lad of about 10 years, while at play on the planking over one of the water wheels of the South Mill on Sunday afternoon, about half past five o'clock, fell into the large tank in which the wheel was rapidly revolving and was carried around many times with great velocity before the machinery could be stopped. His injuries are serious, his right arm being broken, his throat badly gashed, besides a general bruising of the whole body. Messrs. John S. Tuckerman, Edward S. Watkins and C. Wesley Rand were especially active in rescuing the unfortunate boy from his perilous situation, and kind friends and neighbors flocked to the residence of the lad's father, as soon as the little sufferer was conveyed to his home, anxious to assist in any manner that they might be able. He was alive at last accounts, but his recovery is considered very doubtful.

Mr. Walling the father of the boy about referred to is peculiarly unfortunate. He has been sick for a greater part of the past year or more, and having a large family and much sickness in one way and another, he is very poor. We have assurances from reliable sources that he is a worthy man, and that his case is one deserving the sympathy and attention of the charitable.

The Best Recuperant

Of failing energy, that to which the fagged out man of business, the brain-fatigued author, the tired advocate or the weary artizan can resort with the greatest certainty that it will revive his overwrought powers, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most genial tonic cordial, as well as a benign remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and urinary organs, and a means of eradicating and preventing intermittent and remittent fevers. It not only enriches the blood and creates a new fund of energy in the system, but it has the effect of expelling impurities from the life current which beget disease. The injurious influence of abrupt transitions of temperature, of an unwholesome climate and injurious diet, are counteracted by it, and it promotes digestion, appetite and sound repose. Give it a trial and be convinced.

Pretty Lips

should have pearly teeth behind them. To make the teeth pearly, and to keep them so, there is nothing like Fragrant Sozodont. It neutralizes every element of impurity that affects the soundness or whiteness of the dental bone. Moreover, it prevents gum-boil and canker.

A well-timed and judicious concession to the popular demand for reduced rates has added very greatly to the former excellent popularity of the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia.

A DELICIOUS CUP OF COCOA is easily made. Ask your grocer for the preparation made by Walter Baker & Co. It is healthful and stimulating, and far less injurious than tea or coffee.

THOUSANDS of persons are just beginning to appreciate the curative qualities of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. He receives daily a large number of commendatory letters, relative to the wonderful results being attained from the use of this last and best remedy for Consumption. Sold by all Druggists.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

—Dartmouth College has forbidden its students to play billiards, drink liquor or dance, and there will, of course, be a rush to Yale or Harvard, where nothing stands in the way of education.

—It is said that through careless legislation in repealing a severe statute, Tennessee has now no law against horse stealing, robbery or larceny from the person, house or bridge-burning, or house-breaking to commit larceny or robbery.

—A type foundry in St. Paul has lately furnished the types for the Framvari, an Iceland newspaper to be published in the Iceland colony at Keewaun, on the Red river in British territory, about sixty miles from Fort Garry. This will be the first newspaper published on the American continent in the Icelandic language. The preparation of the types required the greatest care. They are in the Roman alphabet, but with a great many peculiarities in regard to accentuation, and are of a very antiquated form. The Icelandic language is something like the Norwegian language as it was spoken about a thousand years ago.

—"Henry V." was played in Atlanta, Ga., recently, and one fiddler constituted the entire orchestra. "In the furious battle scenes," says the Constitution, "this bow flashed across the strings like shining strokes of swords." The climax of the lone orchestra's performance is thus described: "Then when the charge rested and the King stopped for breath, the fiddler stood by his post. The wounded groaned on the A string, begged for water on the E catgut, and cursed their luck on the G cord. Andante and adagio, piano and pianissimo, all the terrible scenes of the fight were produced by the orchestra with painstaking labor, sudorific suffering and sublime skill. He crescended on the crescendo with crescending crescendo, and diminished on the diminuendo with diminishing diminution."

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
— USE —
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or into any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, or any other of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any brook, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

☞ IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

"The Beautiful Blue Danube."

The Danube, from its source to its mouth, in an air line, is 1000 miles, but the stream is so tortuous that its actual length is 1820 miles, and it traverses nearly 22 deg. of latitude and 5 1-2 deg. of longitude. The Danube and its tributaries drain an area of 300,000 square miles.

At Belgrade, the capital of Servia, it receives the waters of the Save, and pursues an easterly coarse, constituting the boundary between Austria and Servia, until it reaches the Transylvania or Eastern Carpathians at the extreme western end of Roumania.

Its course through this range is eighty miles, and the pass offers a great obstacle to navigation. The river is narrowed to less than half its breadth above, and in seven different places there are rapids and whirlpools, of which those in the so-called Iron Gate, below Old Orsova, are the most violent. At this point, opposite the small village of Tichevizzha, the stream is narrowed from a width of a mile to about 180 yards, and with a depth, as far as can be ascertained from the violence of the current, of from 800 to 1000 fathoms. The mountains on either side are very lofty, nearly five thousand feet high, those on the Austrian side being a thousand feet higher than those on the opposite bank. The mountains rise nearly sheer for about three thousand feet above the stream, and where not perpendicular, rather overhang the water. When the river is low, the sharp, craggy points of subaqueous rocks begin to show themselves above the stream, and between these the passage is most narrow, winding and shallow, and, in fact, can only be passed by steamers especially built for the purpose, of light draught of water, four paddle wheels and immense power, and even these steamers make use of a channel cut through the ledge. At the breaking up of the ice in the spring of 1876, the ice became jammed among the crags in the Iron Gate, which caused the stream to back up until vast tracts in Hungary were under water. Such a deluge was unprecedented, and it suggested at the time the feasibility of producing a similar effect by artificial means, as a measure of war. The blowing up of the precipice of Mt. Schireber on the Austrian side of the pass, would bring down many millions of tons of rock across the Iron Gate, and long before the obstructions could be removed a vast part of eastern Europe would be turned into an inland lake.

Having passed the Carpathians, the Danube takes a southerly course, forming the boundary between Roumania and Servia for a short distance, and then becoming throughout the rest of its course the boundary between Roumania and the Turkish province of Bulgaria. Below Widin it takes a turn to the east, which it pursues until it reaches a point only thirty-two miles from the black sea. Then it takes a sudden turn to the north, flowing in that direction for 1000 miles, to the junction with the Sereth, near Galatz. Then it turns again to the east, receiving the waters of the Pruth, which marks a part of the Russian frontier. After flowing east about forty miles, in the vicinity of Ismail and Tultcha it is divided into several branches. These wind sluggishly through the low and dreary alluvial country known as the delta of the Danube, and empty the waters of the great river into the Black Sea by three principal channels—the Kilia, Sulina and St. George—and four lesser ones. The most northerly of these—the Kilia—is the boundary at this point between Bulgaria and Roumania, and is only about twenty-five miles distant from the Russian boundary line.

The rapidity of its current in its upper course, its tortuous windings, the shallowness of the water in the portion which flows through Hungary, and in the outlets into the Black Sea, and the reefs, rapids and whirlpools which mark its course at many points, have rendered the navigation of the Danube so difficult that its commercial use has not yet been fully developed. The introduction of steam in 1830 inaugurated a new era in its history. By the convention of Nov. 7, 1856, between the States through which the river flows, vessels of all nations were allowed to ascend the Danube from its mouth to any point above, but navigation between the different points was reserved to the subjects of the countries along its banks. The treaty of March 13, 1871, authorized the levying of a provisional tax on all commercial vessels for paying for the removal of the remaining obstructions at the Iron Gate, in case that work should be undertaken. An Austrian company, which almost monopolizes the through traffic of the river, has a very large fleet of steamers and transports. Its vessels make the voyage from Vienna to Constantinople in seven days. This company employs 150 vessels on the lower Danube, and these are now all laid up by the impending hostilities.

Crows in the Cornfield.

I noticed in one of your numbers an article on the above, in which you advise, in some way, either by poison, trap, or any way, to kill a crow and hang it up, as a warning to the living. Now don't send them to my farm to kill crows. Crows and I are good friends. They do more good than harm every year. They are an enemy to potato bugs and destroy large quantities. They never pulled up a kernel of corn for me and I don't think they ever will.

I take my corn and soak it from twelve to twenty-four hours in warm water, then put the corn into a leaky box so the water will run off, then to about six quarts of corn pour on about two table spoonfuls of common tar, stir it with a stick till it all becomes coated with the tar, then sprinkle in ground plaster and continue to stir in plaster till it becomes dry so it will not besmear the hands. Plant as usual. By soaking it will not effect its coming up; if tarred dry it will retard it in germinating. By this process crows or birds will not pull it up nor worms destroy the kernel. I told this to my neighbor last year and he had not a hill disturbed and used nothing to scare them off. Brother farmers, try it.—Cor. Nashua Telegraph.

What They Are Mad About.

Fred Douglass having delivered a lecture in Baltimore in which he told a great deal of unwelcome truth concerning Washington society in the past and the present, his removal from the position of Marshal of the District of Columbia is vigorously demanded by both political parties. The following is the substance of Mr. Douglass' lecture, according to the reports in the Baltimore papers:

"Washington was not a good city at the start. It had a good many churches, but it was some distance from the spot to which their spires pointed. It had a bad beginning, and never produced any great statesman or philanthropist. The descendants of its old families have made no mark. It sided with treason against loyalty, and its selection was a great mistake, being sandwiched between two slave States, and the head-quarters of the slave trade, where boys were sold as swine. It was cruel without reason and indecent without shame. Freedom of speech and of the press was unknown, and its idol was slavery. John Quincy Adams was threatened with death for advocating the right of petition. Drinking and gambling were prevalent under the dome of the Capitol, the duelist was in repute, and the place filled with poisonous weeds and serpents. Moral life was a sham; all was fair without, but foul within. Its boasted chivalry was to challenge a Northern man to fight and to whip a negro with his hands tied. The people applauded Breckinridge in his treason, stood between Andrew Johnson and impeachment, and in their midst was hatched the devilish plot that robbed Lincoln of his life. During the war Jeff Davis would have been more welcome than Lincoln, Lee than Grant, and the Stars and Bars more than the Star-spangled Banner. (Applause.) Washington society fanned into a fury the passions of men, and much of the old spirit was left. The portraits of Giddings, Gerrit Smith and such men had no place on the walls of the Corcoran Art Gallery, but the Calhouns and McDuffies were numerous. They know how to make Northern men with the Southern principles, and that class were reappearing now. It was again getting dark for the colored race, but the shadow would ultimately pass away. (Applause.) The Washingtonian is indolent in all his movements. Step into a store and you will wait five minutes before you are noticed. Every one of them has been or expects to be a great man. (Laughter.) They walk slowly but not measured, their arms hanging listlessly by their sides. He excels all other Americans in sitting, and can remain in an easy-chair longer without fatigue than any other man. (Laughter.) He is fully equal in this respect to the Turk. All Washingtonians wear their hats over their eyes in a sombre, unhappy, and sinister way; a fashion probably learned from members of Congress, who wear their hats in this way sometimes to avoid recognition, and sometimes because of intent thinking. The Washingtonian has a strong negro pronunciation, learned from the slaves. There is also a class of poor white trash in Washingtonian who in slave days were drivers of the negroes, but live now by huckstering, fishing, and hunting, and though they make a better living now than before, still they are not happy. Besides these there are office-seekers of all kinds, and more people trying to get something for nothing than in any other city in the country. To be honest in Washington is to be considered a fool. Nobody ever says no; all say yes. There is more insincere politeness and obsequious hat-lifting there than anywhere else. After all that can be said about the morals of the place, there has been a favorable change, and that in the condition of the colored people is wonderful. In conclusion, Mr. Douglass said he considered the future of Washington a hopeful one, and he was glad that in this day and generation he lived in Washington. I would have the Capital stay where it is. It is no longer sandwiched between two slave States, and is no longer a contradiction and obstacle to human progress, the hot-bed of slavery, the home of the duelist and bully, but a redeemed city, a bond of perfect union and peace on earth and good will to men. All American citizens may meet there under the dome of the Capital and shake hands, not over a bloody chasm, but over a free, united and enlightened nation."

The Washington correspondents, and the extreme partisan press of the whole country, have been for years depicting Washington as a very hot-bed of vice and iniquity, without making any especial stir; but as soon as Fred Douglass says something not half so severe there is a terrible row over it. The reason is that Fred Douglass is known to be a man who tells the truth, while nobody suspected the Washington correspondents and democratic editors of anything of the kind.

News and Notes.

In consequence of the continued strike of the shipwrights, twenty-two Scotch shipbuilding firms, including all the shipyards of Glasgow, Greenock, Port Glasgow and Dunbarton, have agreed to a lock-out of all shipbuilding workmen, commencing on the 19th instant.

Frank Brasser, a young man eighteen years of age, was murdered at Brandon, Vt., on Saturday, by an unknown tramp, who blew his own brains out on being hunted down by the citizens.

Campbell & Thayer's oil-works in Brooklyn, N. Y., were burned Sunday. Loss $400,000; insurance $300,000.

The missing steamship City of Brussels was spoken Thursday evening, about halfway across the Atlantic, by steamship City of Richmond, and supplied with provisions. The City of Brussels was under sail, having broken her shaft on Monday morning, April 23d.

A Boston importer bought two cargoes of sugar, amounting to 5,152,000 lbs., some three weeks since, and sold it at an advance of about one cent a pound soon afterward. His profits were upward of $51,000.

Rev. Philip Brooks in one of his Yale lectures said: "There is a creature who ought to share with the clerical cheat the abuse of the people. I mean the clerical jester. He lays his hands on all sacred things. He is full of Bible jests, and he talks about the Bible with jests that have come down from generation to generation. The principles which, if they mean anything, mean life and death to the soul, he turns into material for jest."

A British member of Parliament recently travelling in this country, examining by the way the public schools, remarked regretfully that in no case did he meet with a pupil who expected to follow the occupation of his father, if the latter was employed in a mechanical pursuit.

The members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives have voted themselves one hundred dollars extra pay, and now they find that their chief legislative fame consists in being written down as salary grabbers.

Mrs. Gen. Sheridan has presented her husband with twin girls.

A New York paper says: A sufferer from the ravages of the potato bug for several years past, gives his plan of ridding potato fields of this pest. He says: Prepare mashed or ground raw potatoes by sprinkling thereon a little Paris green, and scatter it around on shingles or chips throughout the fields at a distance of about ten feet apart, commencing as soon as the crop is in the ground. He states that where this plan has been adopted thousands of bugs have been slaughtered before depositing their eggs, which not only does away with the old settlers, but prevents the immense increase in numbers which would otherwise occur.

The town of Vineland, in New Jersey, numbering 10,000 inhabitants, but whose charter prohibits the sale of liquor or beer, pays annually only $350 for police and peupers. The pauper-making and police demanding monster does not reign there. Every one of us has an unmeasured interest and an unspeakable responsibility in the overthrow of the greatest enemy of our land; in the settlement of the greatest living question of the present day.—Word of Truth.

The latest fraud on the farming community is the spring bed swindle, the modus operandi of which is as follows:—The first of the gang engages storage room in the farmer's barn for spring beds, representing himself as agent for the manufacturers. He gets the victim to write down his name and address and departs. Shortly afterward another stranger informs the farmer that the spring beds he ordered are at the depot and presents his bill for a large invoice. The farmer disclaims the transaction, upon which the collector shows him his signature to a large order for beds. If he still refuses to settle, two more strangers visit him representing themselves to be the lawyers of the company. They threaten legal proceedings, but are willing to compromise for a portion of the claim.

Gail Hamilton observes: "Compared with the ordinary party organs—reprehensible as these too often are—the organs of reform have a bad pre-eminence in the violation of the Ninth Commandment. The only advantage which they have over their neighbors is that they flaunt the banner of virtue while holding the carnival of vice. Under a thin veil of Pharisaism, one discerns the judgment of the infant, the conscience of the assassin, the tactics of the Thug. I set the Springfield Republican alongside the Nation as brothers in unity of slander; and I confidently assert that no peculation, no dereliction of duty has been committed by any officer of the civil service that is more malignant in its motives, more savage in its methods, more immoral in its tendencies, more cruel in its legitimate results—in one word, more destructive of society—than the slanders perpetrated by these reformers."

The War.

The Turks announce a severe repulse of the Russians before Batoum, Friday, the latter losing 4000 men and the Turks a baker's dozen or so. The Russians announce an overwhelming victory over the Turks near Batoum, Friday, the Turks losing many thousands and the Russians about forty.

Democratic "Economy."

The mischief caused by the democratic majority of the House of Representatives, in refusing to make the appropriations necessary to meet the expenses of the government, is incalculable, and extends to the civil as well as to the military branches of the service. Not only are the officers and men of the army and navy deprived of the pay which the law assigns them, but the course of justice is interrupted. Witnesses, jurors and officers are without pay, and in some cases the courts have adjourned, because, as the Judge at Trenton said, "the courts could not be run at the cost of the officers." All this was pointed out and fully explained when the bills were passing through the House. The estimates prepared were based upon the laws, and upon the experience of former years. It was clearly shown that the amount appropriated was insufficient to meet the expenditures required by law. But the democrats were pledged to "economy," to "retrenchment and reform," and their idea of retrenchment was to appropriate less than the exigences of the public service and the laws of Congress required; their idea of economy was to save money by refusing to pay the obligations of the government, postponing them to the future, and leaving the public service to all the embarrassments and dangers consequent thereon. The wrong to officers and men of the army and navy, and of the civil service, reacts upon the service itself, crippling it and greatly impairing its efficiency, in some cases interrupting it altogether, and, in the end, increasing the inevitable total, rendering a diminished service, at an increased expenditure. Such is the evidence that the democrats afford of their fitness to govern the country.—Providence Journal.

Feliculture.

The Toronto Free Press states that "Mansfield Island, in Lake Erie, has been bought by a man who intends to stock it with black cats, and kill their progeny for their fur. He will feed them at first on fish caught off the shore by men who will live on the island; but after the enterprise is well started he will utilize the meat of the slaughtered cats as food for the living cats." The wise man who said there was nothing new under the sun was unacquainted with the versatility of American genius. It would seem from the above that the old story of the Kilkenny cats is to be put to practical account. Whether feliculture, as we have ventured to call the enterprise, will prove to be a profitable investment remains to be seen. There will be music in it, whether there is money or not.—Ex.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 23, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2[illegible] years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 23, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is owing to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room about all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., JAN. 29, 1875.

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

JOTTINGS.

Henry Walling, the unfortunate little boy who fell into the mill race at the South End on Sunday afternoon is not likely to recover, inflammation of the brain having set in on Monday. A severe contusion of the scalp was discovered on the morning following the accident which was inadvertently overlooked by the surgeon at the time his injuries were examined, so that all hopes of recovery are banished. A subscription paper is being circulated for the relief of the family, and no one need refuse for fear of misapplying his charity, as it is a clear case of need.

Mr. John W. Drew of Concord gave an excellent temperance address in Franklin Hall on Sunday evening to a rather meagre audience. The lecture merited a full house. Mr. Drew has very greatly improved in the matter and manner of his delivery, since his last visit here, so that he will now compare very favorably with some of the best temperance orators.

We recently received an offer from Ash & Robbins, 360 Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y., of $72 to insert an advertisement in the DAILY CHRONICLE on condition that they pay $18 upon receipt of paper containing the first insertion. Like offers have been made other papers, and we have taken the trouble to investigate the matter. Our investigating agent having climbed three stories of a wretched old building based on a gin mill in Brooklyn, on which there was no sign to indicate the whereabouts of "Ash & Robbins," and reported all he found out to us, we have come to the conclusion that we would much rather have them pay $18 in advance than to give them the benefit of even one insertion and run the risk of losing by the operation. Cash is the best thing to operate on newspaper people with, now-a-days, Messrs. "Ash & Robbins," and the more of that article you send them the more confidence they will have in you. Take our advice, do with publishers as you would have them do with you, and you will find that $18 in cash will go a great deal further with them than $1800 worth of promises.

The famous Callender's Georgia Minstrels are coming, and will give an entertainment at Franklin Hall on Tuesday evening, May 22d. The New York Graphic says "It is one of the best negro minstrel troupes we have ever seen. They are colored men, and they certainly give the audiences more of the unadulterated negro than any other troupe has yet offered. For melody, action, grotesque humor and natural extravaganza, the Georgia's are unsurpassed. Any of their four end men is equal to the best end man of other troupes." The Memphis Appeal and Petersburg (Va.) Index praise the company as being far ahead of any "burnt-cork" troupe, and the Richmond Enquirer says: "It is a rare thing in this city to see ladies in attendance at minstrel shows, but the recollections which those famous colored men bring with them of plantation melodies, break-downs, and other diversions, have gained them nightly a fashionable attendance, which they richly merited."

Sunday and Monday were the warmest days of the season so far, and started out the plum and cherry blossoms in good shape.

Sometime between the hour of extinguishing the street lights Saturday night and daylight Sunday morning, some maliciously mischievious person or persons besmeared the sign, windows and door of the second-hand clothing and clothes cleaning establishment of Joseph Williams, corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets, with coal-tar. We do not know that suspicion points to any particular person as the perpetrator, but if he is discovered he will find out that such a "joke" is regarded by the law as a serious misdemeanor.

An interesting programme has been arranged by the committee of the Veteran Artillery Association for the celebration of the one hundreth anniversary of the Stars and Stripes, which occurs June 14th. There will be a reception to the Governor, the raising of the Stars and Stripes with "the original thirteen" thereon, a parade, with music, and a complimentary supper in the evening as already mentioned.

New Hampshire Items.

The skeleton of Evans, the Northwood murderer, which has been for several years in the medical museum, of Dartmouth college, was on Monday morning discovered suspended by the neck at a height of thirty feet between two republican flagstaffs on the Campus, attired in a duster and tall hat, with umbrella and carpet bag, the latter labelled "Montreal," in allusion to the seniors' contemplated but abandoned excursion to Montreal. The college carpenter with much difficulty succeeded in cutting down the skeleton, the Campus being filled with spectators, students and citizens.

Mr. Chauncy Cheswell of Newmarke, died on Saturday, the 5th inst., from the effects of an injury received the day before last day. He was at work in the mill, and in stooping to look at some machinery the pointed tube of an oil can was driven into his leg several inches. He thought nothing of it for a day or two until it began to pain him a little, when he called upon Dr. Greene and asked for some liniment to bathe it. Dr. Greene asked him if he shouldn't look at the wound, but Mr. Cheswell said it only pained him a little, and thought it would be no use. He continued his work till about the middle of the following week, when his arms and legs began to swell, and Dr. Greene being called saw that it had poisoned his blood, the wound being near an artery in his leg. He continued to grow worse and suffered much for two days, and on Saturday died.

George D. Stackpole, postmaster at Hill, who was charged with opening a letter addressed to the Boston Journal, of which paper he was agent, and held in the sum of $500 to appear at the present term of the U. S. Court at Portsmouth, has been honorably released from arrest by the grand jury.

Correspondence.

SOUTH SEABROOK, May 12th.

A warrant has been issued for a school meeting May 30th in District No. 5, to see if the district will vote to build a new school-house instead of repairing and refitting the old one.

The Boyd schoolhouse has been recently fitted with blinds; the money for the purchase of the same was raised by exhibitions given by the scholars.

Mr. Bryant Eaton has recently lost forty hens by some kind of an epidemic disease.

Mr. Washington Eaton will open a new store on Walton road in a few days.

I send you a copy of The Word of Truth,* the paper which is making such a stir in Newburyport just now. The publisher, J. E. Wolfe, was hired as City Missionary of Newburyport with the interest of funds left by Mrs. Emery to the Old South Presbyterian Church; the trustees this afternoon discharged Mr. Wolfe, three of the grocers mentioned in the paper being members of that congregation. One member has threatened to horsewhip Mr. Wolfe, and the excitement is great. Elder D. P. Pike gives a temperance lecture to-morrow (Sunday) night in the City Hall; he endorses Mr. Wolfe, and invites all horsewhippers to take front seats. ENO.

*This paper contains a "list of names of firms paying special tax for the sale of spirituous and malt liquours, for the year 1876, ending April 30, 1877," every two or three names being followed by "God says: 'Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that puttest thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken also.'" It has also a number of brief but pungent editorials on temperance matters, and we can readily credit that it has created a marked sensation in Newburyport.

Mrs. Tom-ri-jon Elliott.

During the past week a woman dressed in a long, gray frock coat, white trousers, with red stripes, and a crimson hat with flaming brim, has paraded Broadway. On a large label on her hat is "Tom-ri-jon's Volcano, 6 cts.," and slung to her side by a broad red band is a box containing copies of the paper. Newsboys followed her, and others stared. For the past three years she and her husband, Tom-ri-jon Elliot, published the paper in Boston, but two months ago they moved to New York. The husband is a tall man, with fierce beard and hair standing straight on end. Mrs. Elliott calls herself by her maiden name—Susi Dunli. She has two children, whose names are Retaliation and Avenger Elliott. Tom-ri-jon is actually the given name of the father. Susi Dunli says she is of Italian extraction, but was born in Smyrna, Maine, about twenty-seven years ago. She first adopted male attire four years ago, in order to sell her papers. The Volcano is a queer little sheet, illustrated with cuts. While Susi Dunli was standing at Pine street and Broadway, Wednesday, she was arrested for obstructing the street. In the Tombs Police Court she said that she disliked the brilliant colors of her clothes, but wore them so as to attract attention to her paper. Justice Otterburg asked her why she wore men's clothes. She at once took exception to this remark, and said they were not men's clothes; that they had been made for her and fitted to her form.

"But," said the Judge, "they are different from other ladies' garments, and they attract too much attention."

"Are there any two ladies who do dress alike? And besides, they all dress to attract attention. I dress to suit myself, and to attract attention to my paper. Dr. Mary Walker attracts a still greater crowd. Sensible men do not stand around and look at me, and I always try to avoid a crowd. I will take off this hat if you would like me to, and wear one less gaudy."

Justice Otterbourg said there was no law to prevent her from wearing what attire she pleased, but there was one against blockading the street. "Why," he said, "I myself would stop and look."

"Oh, no, Judge," she replied, "I can't believe it; no sensible man would."

"I certainly should."

"If you fine me I shall appeal and carry the case up," she said.

"You appear to be a lady, and act like a lady," the judge replied, "and I will treat you as such. The officer was right in arresting you. You are discharged, but I will impose a fine if you are arrested again."

Then she left the court room. Her stock of papers was sold in the court room.—New York paper.

A Goose's Fight with a Bull.

A heavy-throated bull near this village, noted for his fierceness, accidentally stepped on one of a brood of goslings recently which a stately gander was holding watch and ward over with great solicitude. Straightway the gander attacked the bull, and seizing him by the tail with his beak, his wings lashed the animal's flanks with the greatest fury. In vain the bull wheeled about to reach his antagonist; the gander wheeled with him, all the while retaining his hold upon the bull's tail, and showering blows with his powerful wings with telling effect upon the bull's legs, until he fairly roared with pain and terror. At last the gander, apparently thinking that his adversary had sufficient punishment, let go his hold and the bull took to his heels with the liveliest speed, only stopping when he reached the farthest corner of the field—Middletown (N. Y.) Argus.

If your lungs are half wasted by consumption Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will not cure you, yet as a remedy for severe coughs, and all curable bronchial, throat, and lung affections, it is unsurpassed.

The Best Recuperant

Of failing energy, that to which the fagged out man of business, the brain-fatigued author, the tired advocate or the weary artizan can resort with the greatest certainty that it will revive his overwrought powers, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most genial tonic cordial, as well as a benign remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and urinary organs, and a means of eradicating and preventing intermittent and remittent fevers. It not only enriches the blood and creates a new fund of energy in the system, but it has the effect of expelling impurities from the life current which beget disease. The injurious influence of abrupt transitions of temperature, of an unwholesome climate and injurious diet, are counteracted by it, and it promotes digestion, appetite and sound repose. Give it a trial and be convinced.

Pretty Lips

should have pearly teeth behind them. To make the teeth pearly, and to keep them so, there is nothing like Fragrant Sozodont. It neutralizes every element of impurity that affects the soundness or whiteness of the dental bone. Moreover, it prevents gum-boil and canker.

A well-timed and judicious concession to the popular demand for reduced rates has added very greatly to the former excellent popularity of the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia.

A DELICIOUS CUP OF COCOA is easily made. Ask your grocer for the preparation made by Walter Baker & Co. It is healthful and stimulating, and far less injurious than tea or coffee.

THOUSANDS of persons are just beginning to appreciate the curative qualities of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. He receives daily a large number of commendatory letters, relative to the wonderful results being attained from the use of this last and best remedy for Consumption. Sold by all Druggists.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

A Muscular Christian.

It is the custom in Baltimore to hold open-air religious services on Sunday afternoons. These meetings invariably attract large numbers of people, who for lack of something else to do or from motives of curiosity are always on hand. The Baltimore American gives an account of one such meeting. An old man conducted the services, and soon had a crowd about him. Among them was a fellow under the influence of liquor, and who was also inclined to be argumentative. He commenced by interrupting the speaker with a question about St. Peter's ear, and followed it up by another relating to the size of St. Thomas' feet. The speaker stopped, quietly stepped down off the box on which he had been standing, and going to the disturber said, "St. Thomas' foot was not used as mine is, nor were St. Peter's ears ever thwacked thus," and thereupon began to kick the disturber with his foot and beat him over the head with his cane. The rowdy ran away without attempting any defence, and the muscular speaker reascended his improvised pulpit, remarked that if any one else had it in their mind to be noisy or troublesome he would regulate the order of the meeting without delay, and then went on preaching as though nothing had happened.

—Rev W. H. H. Murray, of Boston, says: "If you want to hear a minister's faults, get another minister to talk about him."

—Kate Claxton was in the Richmond Theatre when it burned in 1811, according to the New York Graphic.

—A man in Green Bay, Wis., saved a young lady from walking off a bridge, and so far from being grateful for it, she married him.

—A man out West who offered bail for a friend was asked by the judge if he had any incumbrance on his farm. "Oh yes," said he, "my wife."

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

THE citizens of Portsmouth are respectfully informed that any person can obtain permission to set out one or more Trees in the Park, on application either to a member of the Board, or to Mr. GEORGE E. SMART, Keeper, at No. 2 Mt. Vernon St.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extensive reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption it effects has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Heetic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, writes as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that the representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

Dead Languages and Death.

A New York druggist, whose name and place of business are paraded in the papers of that city in a way that is likely to ruin him, put up a prescription recently which by only a bit of luck failed to kill the patient who took it. The affair is of more than passing interest to others besides the patient and the druggist. The secret of it is just here; the prescription was written in Latin. Whether or no it is necessary to have a mystic R on all prescriptions to make them effective may be left open still to debate. R is necessary to oysters; it may be equally so to other things that it is good for us to take. But there is little argument in favor of using Latin terms that can stand against the logic of one such affair as this in New York.

The physician wrote hydragyri chloride. This, it is admitted, "might mean" calomel or it might mean corrosive sublimate, according as the druggist understood it. "Almost any druggist would have read it calomel," said one expert, who was spoken to about it. The druggist who had it to do, however, put up the poison, knowing its strength, but assuming that the medicine was for external application. The lady who took it was so nearly killed that it was several days before she was out of danger.

Now, if instead of the Latin name, the physician had written "calomel," nobody supposes the patient would have received corrosive sublimate. Does it need a single other fact to prove the folly of the present so frequent use of a language that is not ours? Doctors are no better penman than the rest of mankind, and when they write their prescriptions in Latin, marking the quantities, too, by symbols in which one curve more or less may make a dose eight times too big or little, an opportunity for mistakes is created which is altogether too great to fail of being often realized. The druggists buy a large part of their stock in English, and the whole tendency of the trade at wholesale is toward simplicity. It is a good time now for the doctors to begin the same sort of reform in their methods. People would be cured as readily, for example, by "cold water" as by "aq font.," and they would be saved the chance of a dose of aqua fortis; and people can be cured about as well by what they understand as by what they can't understand. It is not fair either to people or druggists to perpetuate the perils and annoyances of the present system, and it is far as possible from disrespect to suggest to physicians of good and regular standing that they have nothing to lose in discarding this element of mystery from their practice, and that it is just as well not to treat live people in a dead language.—Hartford Courant.

The Blue and the Gray.

In response to an invitation by the Mayor of Cincinnati and others to be present and participate in the exercises at Spring Grove Cemetery on Decoration Day, Postmaster-General Key has written the following letter:

Dear Sir: I thank you and the committee of which you are Chairman for your invitation to attend your memorial ceremonies on Decoration Day. I wish I could attend, but my official duties will demand my time and prevent my acceptance. I rejoice to hear you say that the soldiers that are buried in your beautiful city of the dead, whether they wore the blue or the gray, will be respected alike. He who dies for a cause which he believes is just may have done wrong in engaging in strife, but he committed no sin. He may have died a Christian and an honest man. The fact that the Southern soldier staked his life on his cause manifested his sincerity. Say, if you please, that he was mistaken; that he did great wrong; but say at the same time that he was honest and brave. On the grave of such a one tears may fall from kindly eyes, and flowers be strewn by lovely hands, without reproach.

"Give us our Wolves Again."

The feeling against dogs which is rapidly strengthening here is not confined to this side of the Atlantic. John Bull is becoming disgusted with the sheep-worrying and hydrophobia for which the canine race is responsible. An English journal of recent date remarks under the above heading: "This aspiration, which, in half earnest, Sydney Smith made use of in a well-known passage, is no more than a good many persons would seriously utter, if by the reimportation of wolves, they could be rid of the present terror from dogs. At all events the wolves would keep themselves to the better-wooded districts, and prowl mainly by night. The dogs roam unchecked everywhere and at all hours. They jostle us off the pavements of the street, spring out upon us in our country walks, are bigger, fiercer, less reverential towards human beings than any European wolves, and they go mad. It is quite true that to have a big dog at his heels is as necessary to male contentment as to have the plumage of a bird over head is to female vanity. I see that a correspondent recommends taxing dogs in proportion to their size. I should prefer a high general tax per head, with an abatement in all cases where service of value can be proved. Is there no bishop or archdeacon, at least, who will get hydrophobia for the general good, that the present mania for turning wild beasts loose upon the community at large may be restrained within limits?"

The War.

In the British House of Commons, Monday evening, a vote was passed sustaining the Ministry on the Russian-Turkish war question by a sweeping majority. It is reported that the Russians are preparing to cross the Parnia table-land into India in case there should be a war with England.

The Russians officially deny the Turkish account of a Russian defeat at Reni, on the Danube; no fight has taken place there.

A Turkish gunboat tried to run the gauntlet of the Roumanian batteries at Kalafat on Monday, and was reported to have succeeded. It is now stated that she was forced to surrender by the batteries. A Constantinople despath to England says: "News is received that a Russian corps with cavalry and artillery has crossed the Danube near Potback and entered Dobrudscha."

The Turks having stored several hundred tons of coal at Getchet for the use of their Danube flotilla, the Russians went over from Ibrail with lighters on Monday and stole it.

There has been a collision between Greek insurgents and Turkish troops in Thessaly. The Greek papers unanimously demand war.

News and Notes.

Every train that crosses the Niagara suspension bridge stops before making the passage, and the passengers get out and walk across, being told that the structure is not safe. The charge is made by the Great Western Railroad Company, which leases the bridge. The bridge company replies that the desire of the lessees is to break the lease, and then build a bridge for themselves. Referees are to investigate and decide the dispute.

In Oregon every man who drinks has to take out a $5 license. It is a penal offense for any liquor dealer to sell a drink to an unlicensed person.

Thomas Crapo of New Bedford, Mass., with his wife, will start from that port the 25th instant to cross the Atlantic to London, in a boat thirteen feet in length of the keel. It has been constructed expressly for the trip, which Crapo expects to accomplish in forty days. He is a seafaring man, and has been a mate in the merchant service. The venturesome fool may have a right to throw away his own life if he wants to, but he has no right to murder his wife in such a manner.

The State of Delaware indulged in its semi-annual diversion of flogging criminals last Saturday. Five men, all colored, were publicly whipped at Newcastle by the Sheriff of the county. Delaware is a little State, but it "wallops" more people than all the rest of the country.

Mr. Ross, the father of Charlie, has at last betaken himself to Barnum for assistance in his quest for the lost child. It is believed, from evidence recently obtained, that the boy is still alive, and that a liberal reward, with a guarantee of immunity from punishment would bring him to the arms of his much-afflicted parent. The great showman, it is said, will make a personal offer of $10,000 for the return of the child, and "no questions asked." Doubtless there is a bargain by which he is to exhibit him, if found, and so make a profitable speculation of it. The idea is not altogether a pleasant one, but if it results in bringing Charlie to light nobody will have the heart to criticise the means.

A shifting engine on the Boston & Maine Railroad at Lawrence, Mass., ran into a freight train Monday afternoon, smashing the cars, and blocking all trains for some hours.

Disastrous forest fires are reported in Northern Massachusetts, New York and Canada. The villages of Clinton Mills and Cannon's Corners, in New York, have been destroyed and over fifty families rendered homeless. Several lives are reported lost at Clinton Mills.

Chain Stallings, of Franklin county, N. C., who was found dead leaning against a tree in his field, in 1862, and was supposed to have died from natural causes, is now known to have been murdered by his colored help, Matilda, her two sons, and a negro named Gray. He was smothered, and his body was carried out and leaned against a tree. He had in his pocket $500, which the negroes divided. The murderers are all living, and will be tried for murder in August.

In Newtown, L. I., Monday morning, John Jansen was beaten to death by burglars while in bed with his wife, who was also fatally injured.

The Meriden (Conn.) Savings Bank was robbed of $2100 on Monday, by two thieves who entered the bank by a back door while a confederate kept the clerk engaged at the front.

The jury in the case of Smith, charged with the murder of Mr. Trim, his daughter, Mrs. Thayer, and her little girl, at Ellsworth, Me., on Monday rendered a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree," after being out thirty minutes.

Albert F. Joy, alias William Williams, has been indicted for murdering Charles H. Gilman at Rockport, Mass.

On Tuesday an immense number of people in New York city made fools of themselves, and called it a "carnival."

Rev. Mr. Thomas, pastor of the Baptist church of Gardiner, Me., was stricken with paralysis on Sunday while in the water baptizing a convert, and would have drowned had not the convert dragged him to the bank. It is believed the attack will prove fatal.

A large gang of non-union coal miners at Streator, Ill., were poisoned on Monday by arsenic put in their dinner pails, supposed by strikers; five or six of the poisoned men will die. All the men poisoned were Americans, Scotchmen, Germans or Swedes, not one of the Irish miners having been troubled although many of them are at work in the mines.

British steamship Sidonian, which burst a boiler in mid-ocean some time ago, has been spoken again, making fair progress toward Queenstown, Ireland, under sail.

Nearly the whole business portion of St. Stephen, N. B., was destroyed by fire on Monday; loss $400,000 to $600,000. One man was killed and many injured. The fire started in a bakery. Eleven wharves, sixty-three houses, a depot with cars and engines, and all the mills and warehouses in the place, were burned. The fire department of Calais, Me., which is just across the river from St. Stephen, was promptly on hand to aid, but the fire spread until it fairly burned itself out.

Miss Kate Claxton, the actress, has written a letter from Minneapolis, Minn., in which she complains bitterly of the annoyances to which she has been subjected since the Brooklyn Theatre and Southern Hotel (St. Louis) fires. She denies explicitly ever having had an interview with any one in which she predicted her death by flames. After speaking of the silly superstition which induces the guests at the hotels where she may stop to provide themselves with rope ladders, and of the coarse jests at her expense which sprinkle the columns of the Western papers, she says: "Do you not think with me that it would be acting the better part for the different writers to withhold their rough jokes about my late terrible experiences until the graves caused by these fires, and which hold some of our best fellow men and women, are a little less green?"

New Hampshire Items.

An immense fire is raging in the woods of northern New Hampshire and Vermont, from the vicinity of St. Johnsbury, Vt., on both sides of the Connecticut river as far as the eye can reach, through Lunenberg, Littleton, Norrisville, Passumpsic, Wells River, Woodsville and other small towns in this State. No estimate can yet be made of the loss, but it must be very great.

A large number of Manchester's business men have been swindled by a brother of George F. Avery, the "walking man," who announced a walking match between Avery and John Forster of Canada for $250 a side, and collected pay for a lot of advertisements that were to appear in a circular called "Avery's Bulletin." Neither walking match nor advertising circular have yet dawned on the Manchesterians. By-and-bye they will find out, as others have found out before them, that the most serviceable as well as cheapest method of advertising is through the medium of the local papers, which enter all homes and are read by all classes.

The annual convocation of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of New Hampshire was held in Concord Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Henry P. Glidden, Dover, W. P. Grand Master; Harvey L. Currier, Manchester, Deputy P. Grand Master; Edward Dow, Concord, P. Grand Master; Joseph W. Hildreth, Concord, Grand Treasurer; John A. Harris, Concord, Grand Recorder; James Adams, Candia, Grand Chaplain; J. Frank Webster, Concord, Grand Conductor; George A. Hatch, Laconia, Grand Captain of the Guard; Henry Lewis, Manchester, Grand Marshal; Charles E. Canny, Dover, Grand Steward; Samuel W. Emerson, Concord, Grand Sentinel.

Correspondence.

RYE, May 15th.

The Congregational Society have invited Rev. Mr. Smith, late of Essex, Mass., to supply their pulpit for one year.

The members of the "Cable Staff" are having comparatively an easy time of it, since the price of messages has increased from 25 to 75 cents per word. It makes a decided difference in the number of messages received and sent, whatever may be the effect in the receipts financially.

The wind has at last got round westerly, and brought with it, a smoke as dense, almost as any northeast fog. Some of the weather-wise predict three months of hot, dry and smoky weather.

The inside of the new Episcopal chapel, near the Farragut House, is being finished off, and it will be in complete order for services this summer. Another chapel is being built on Little Boar's Head; and Mrs. J. C. Philbrick (who with her accomplished daughter Miss Fannie is now spending a few weeks in California) is having erected a fine cottage at the same locality.

There is a stove of the Morrison pattern in this town, still in operation, which was set up in 1840 and has never been moved, and has had a fire in it every day since that time. How much longer it will continue to do duty remains to be seen, but if set up at auction it wouldn't bring many cents, unless somebody should want it as a relic. The house in which said stove is located was built in 1760. NAT.

YORK, ME., May 15th.

A dense smoke, with the odor of burning bushes, has choked us for the last forty-eight hours. Reports to-day say that in the vicinity of what is known as "Tattock," in the town of South Berwick, (and what was formerly a part of York,) a gigantic fire is raging, two miles in width, and progressing eastward at a fearful rate; the smoke is so dense here as to cause a bad effect on the eyes of the people, although ten miles from the fire. "How Could You Ask Me?"

It is said of the late Governor Briggs, of Massachusetts, that he requested a lady whom he met at a party, and who took him to task for declining to drink wine at the table, to think over the families of her acquaintance, and note the effects of intemperance among them. She accepted the challenge, and in a little time responded with, "O, Governor Briggs! how could you ask me to do such a thing at a party? I am appalled. It is so dreadful to find that I do not know a family that does not number one victim, and some have all their brightest and best fall by it—fathers, husbands and children. It is too dreadful to think of; I would not have believed it. You are quite right, and I will never ask you to drink wine, nor ever call you fanatical for not taking it."

Now read the above earnest extract carefully, and then think over in your mind how many families of your acquaintance have been distressed and cursed, in some way or other, by strong drink. Oh, what a multitude of hearts and homes can testify to-day to the awful blight and withering curse of the intoxicating cup. Look at the vast army of drunkards in our land marching on to a fearful death and endless ruin. Think of it! Tramp, tramp, tramp,—on they go to darkness and eternal death. All these are somebody's fathers, husbands, sons, brothers, and loved ones, rushing right on to a dreadful future. Where is not the curse of rum felt to-day? Where is there a heart or home that has not been blasted by it in some way?

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the last three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Mr. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving you praise so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his head to his head-board or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yet I hear that they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. FEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '7

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for several years with Neuralgia in all its violence and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis my attention was called to the advertisement of DR. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mr. Louis Sherrer, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last 10 years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to those who are similarly afflicted, they have done me much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who ask me about them. Please send me two more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT

ECLECTIC CLUB EXCURSION.

The Amateurs of the "Eclectic Club," who gave so charming an entertainment in Franklin Hall two weeks since, repeat the same, by very urgent request, in Portland Thursday evening, before a company of the best people in that city, by whom the tickets have been all engaged. Our Portland friends are to be congratulated on the very pleasant entertainment in store for them.

The company having been so urgently solicited to play there, proves that the complimentary notice given them in the CHRONICLE was a well deserved tribute, one or two jealous friends (?) "Cæca est invidia," and a profoundly ignorant "Admirer of Home Talent" who did not know the difference between a complimentary notice and a dramatic criticism, to the contrary notwithstanding. The article which so moved the indignation of the "Admirer of Home Talent" made not the slightest pretension to being a criticism of either play or players, the lady who wrote it having been for too many years connected both by personal friendship and professionally, with some of the best dramatic talent in the land, both writers and actors, not to be able to know the difference between a simply complimentary notice (well deserved) of persons giving a very pleasant entertainment for their friends, and that much deeper thing a dramatic criticism. That most unprovoked and uncalled for attack upon a woman who never in her life, here or elsewhere, wrote or procured to be written, a single word against any one, has only served to raise her still more in esteem of our people, and draw them more closely about her—but "verbum sat sapienti," so I will say no more. JUSTICE.

MEMORIAL DAY.

A meeting of the Citizens' General Committee was held Monday evening in the Common Council chamber. The finance committee made a favorable report, and the sub-committees presented their estimates. Chief Marshal Hilton announced the engagement of the Portsmouth Cornet Band, and probably other music. The Veteran Artillery Association, Heavy Artillery and Light Artillery have voted to participate in the observance, and it is probable that the Portsmouth Cavalry, Marine Corps and a company of sailors from the U. S. S. Enterprise will also accept the invitation already extended to them. On account of incomplete uniforms the Fire Department will not parade. The Committee will have their next meeting on Monday evening, the 21st.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

The Circuit Court of the United States resumed its sessions in this city Tuesday forenoon at eleven o'clock, Hon. Daniel Clark, United States District Judge, presiding. The criminal docket was taken up, and the United States vs. Shea came first in order.

State vs. John Shea was tried. Responden was charged with committing perjury in falsely swearing to a voucher for payment of an invalid pension. Verdict guilty; Lew. W. Clark for deft.

United States vs. Cyrus Dunn (trial commenced) is an indictment for fraudulently concealing property, to wit, a lot of whisky, rum and cigars, valued at $2000, omitting the same from his schedule in bankruptcy. Hall for U. S.; Marston and L. W. Clark for deft.

Walter C. Harriman, Esq., of this city, was on motion of Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett admitted to practice as an Attorney in the United States Courts of this district.

JOTTINGS.

At the closing of the school term of the Conant High School at Jaffrey, the Principal, Mr. Wm. H. Gardiner of this city, was presented with a silver goblet, as a token of regard, by the pupils. Mr. Gardiner has been engaged for the next three terms, (the school year,) as Principal of the same school.

Concerning Mr. J. H. Randlett, the Dover carriage-builder whose advertisement is in another column of this paper, the Manchester Mirror says: "No man in New Hampshire makes more fashionable or better carriages than J. H. Randlett, of Dover. We have patronized him largely for the last fifteen years, and have never yet used a carriage built by him long enough to start a spoke, felloe or hub. He has the finest taste, employs the best workmen, and is honorable in all his transactions."

Squday, Monday and Tuesday were more like September days than days in the middle of May, being warm and hazy, and the air filled with the smoke from bush fires. The rise in temperature brought the leaves and blossoms out on the trees, and some of the early-planted crops and potato bugs out of the ground. The bug yield promises to be very large and will need assiduous cultivation with kerosene, Paris green, etc., or it will crowd out more valuable crops; a friend informs us that in ploughing a small piece of ground last week he turned out thousands of the bugs, all of the liveliest kind, and another gentleman asserts that while he was planting potatoes the bugs followed along closely in his wake and put a mark on every hill. One farmer of our acquaintance has commenced fighting the bugs already, his plan being to smash raw potatoes up as fine as possible, sprinkle Paris green over the pulp and then put the prepared food on shingles—a table-spoonful on each one—which he places in his potato fields at distances of about ten or twelve feet apart; how it will work he cannot yet tell, but it is said to have done good service in other places. We presume he will keep his poultry cooped up while that kind of fodder is abroad.

The police on Tuesday took to the station and killed, by request of Mr. Joseph S. Pfeiffer, a dog of his that was bitten by a rabid dog some weeks ago.

See advertisement of auction sale of choice plants at C. Dwight Hanscom & Co's store on Congress street, to-day.

Our York, Me., correspondent reports a great fire raging in the woods at South Berwick, Me., on Monday and Tuesday. It is probable there are other forest fires to the westward of this city and not very far off, as the smoke which has enveloped us since Monday evening could hardly have come from South Berwick (which is nearly due north of Portsmouth) with a southwest wind, and the extensive fires in the northern part of the State,—reported in another column,—would seem to be too far away to smoke us much, and not in the right direction, either.

On Monday, in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, the rule forbidding the introduction of new business was suspended upon motion of Mr. Osgood of Salem, and a bill presented allowing the Eastern Railroad Corporation to make a transfer of certain collateral security held by it. The bill provides that the Eastern Railroad Company, with the assent of the Trustees under the mortgage made in pursuance of chapter 236 of the acts of 1876, may pledge as collateral security for money borrowed any of the property which by section thirteen of said act it is authorized to sell with the assent of said Trustees; and may give the pledges of the same right in the property so pledged as if the same were not mortgaged to the Trustees; provided always that the proceeds of a loan so effected shall not be applied or disposed of except for the purpose specified in said section thirteen, and except with the consent of the Trustees first had and obtained. The act is to take effect upon its passage.

A "generous rivalry" exists between the Grangers of Stratham, Greenland and other neighboring towns, as to who can hold the most hens' eggs in one hand. Mr. James Pickering, of Newington, one of these aspirants for fame, some time ago held twenty-five eggs, which at that time put him ahead of all competitors, but a Stratham man "saw" his twenty-five and "raised" him a half-dozen; so Mr. Pickering tried it again, and this time piled thirty-six eggs upon his open palm, there being fifteen eggs in the first layer, or "ground tier." They were common-sized eggs, weighing one pound and three-quarters to the dozen. We think that like the deacon's yellow turnip, this "can't be beet."

We understand that the proposed May festival at Elwyn Park, which was announced to take place on the 24th, is to be postponed until June 14th, on account of the inability of several prominent speakers to be present on the first named date. A committee of the Park trustees are to wait on the Veteran Artillery Association relative to jointly uniting to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the "Stars and Stripes," which occurs on June 14th, and which the latter had previously voted to celebrate. There is no doubt but that the proposition will be accepted, and a fine celebration may be expected.—Times.

—The quiet old town of Guilford, Conn., has a very sleepy male population, and its ladies have formed a society of "United Workers" to attend to the municipal affairs neglected by their inefficient lords. Becoming tired of dark streets at night, a year or so ago, the society provided lamps, etc., and has kept them trimmed and burning ever since at its own cost. About the same time the same women took charge of the village park, put it in order, and thereafter assumed its entire care. A few days ago they joined their forces and came out to give the park what they had bestowed upon their houses, a Spring cleaning. Each lady carried a rake adorned with bright ribbons, and the procession was escorted to the ground by a brass band, which cheered the laborers with music. Upon reaching the park, the ladies took possession and allotted the work to be done in sections. All masculine intruders during the performance were compelled to pay a fine, which went into the society's treasury, to be devoted to future enterprises of utility or charity. The music woke up the sleeping lords of creation, who proceeded to investigate the proceedings and each was at once compelled to pay the imposed fine. The result of the day's work showed rosy cheeks for the ladies, a tidy park, a replenished treasury, and a general condition of good humor and jollity.

—Just because a Memphis man dyed his bald head in squares of yellow, green, crimson, etc., and then went to church and theatre, they shut him up in an insane asylum. He diverted the audiences too much.

—A frisky young boar that was being expressed on a German railroad, escaped from his cage and devoured a number of pounds of yeast cakes. The inflation in pork that followed was tremendous.

—Another mill closed on account of over-production. The supply of graduates at the Chicago Normal School exceeds the demand, so the school is to be closed a year.

—Riches are the baggage of virtue. They cannot be spared, nor left behind, but they hinder the march.

—Bennie, you're a pig, said a father to his little five-year old boy. Now, do you know what a pig is, Bennie? Yes, sir; a pig is a hog's little boy.

The Best Recuperant

Of failing energy, that to which the fagged out man of business, the brain-fatigued author, the tired advocate or the weary artizan can resort with the greatest certainty that it will revive his overwrought powers, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most genial tonic cordial, as well as a benign remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and urinary organs, and a means of eradicating and preventing intermittent and remittent fevers. It not only enriches the blood and creates a new fund of energy in the system, but it has the effect of expelling impurities from the life current which beget disease. The injurious influence of abrupt transitions of temperature, of an unwholesome climate and injurious diet, are counteracted by it, and it promotes digestion, appetite and sound repose. Give it a trial and be convinced.

Pretty Lips

should have pearly teeth behind them. To make the teeth pearly, and to keep them so, there is nothing like Fragrant Sozodont. It neutralizes every element of impurity that affects the soundness or whiteness of the dental bone. Moreover, it prevents gum-boil and canker.

For the "attraction of cohesion," see Spalding's Glue.

A well-timed and judicious concession to the popular demand for reduced rates has added very greatly to the former excellent popularity of the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia.

A DELICIOUS CUP OF COCOA is easily made. Ask your grocer for the preparation made by Walter Baker & Co. It is healthful and stimulating, and far less injurious than tea or coffee.

THOUSANDS of persons are just beginning to appreciate the curative qualities of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup. He receives daily a large number of commendatory letters, relative to the wonderful results being attained from the use of this last and best remedy for Consumption. Sold by all Druggists.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

—The first thing a young man does on seeing a friend with a new hat on is to take it off and serenely try it on his own head. When a young lady sees an acquaintance with a new bonnet on she just lifts her nose and serenely wonders "where the thing got that fright."

—Passengers are not allowed the sweet privilege of jumping off and on railway trains in motion in England, as they are in this blessed land of the free. A young man in London lately, who had to jump or lose his train, was arrested for the offence, fined and soundly reprimanded by the Judge.

—The amount of water passing over Niagara Falls has been estimated at 100,000,000 tons per hour, and its perpendicular descent may be taken at 150 feet, without considering the rapids, which represent a further fall of 150 feet. The force represented by the principal fall alone amounts to 16,800,000 horse-power, an amount which it is had to be produced by steam would necessitate an expenditure of not less than 266,000,000 tons of coal per annum, taking the consumption of coal at four pounds per horse-power per hour. In other words all the coal raised throughout the world would barely suffice to produce the amount of power that annually runs to waste at this wonderful fall.

LANGDON PARK

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

THE citizens of Portsmouth are respectfully informed that any person can obtain permission to set out one or more Trees in the Park, on application either to a member of the Board, or to Mr. GEORGE E. SMART, Keeper, at No. 2 Mt. Vernon St.

Or any citizen, or Son of Portsmouth resident elsewhere, may have a Tree set in his name, of such variety as he may incline, by expending $5, or any larger sum he may feel disposed, to the Treasurer or any member of the Board—as has already been done by many, and their names and trees placed upon the roll.

☞ Trees which are dead may be replaced by others in the same positions, by the same parties who planted the first.

The funds which were placed in the hands of Trustees by citizens and others have been entirely expended in the improvements thus far made in the Park. They, therefore, would hereby inform all interested that they are ready to expend in further adornments and improvements of the grounds, such sums as may be donated for the purpose; and contributions of any amount are hereby solicited to be sent at any time to the Treasurer or either of the undersigned Trustees.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the damp trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

☞ Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or any where else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the causes. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practising physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

THEATRICAL MEMORIES.

While we cannot but acknowledge there are faults of the stage that need correction, still there are few enjoyments of the past, especially those of our more youthful years, that we recall with greater pleasure than the hours we have spent within the walls of a theatre, when the drama, at its best, was presented for our entertainment. Such a time recurs to the writer in the palmy days of the old Tremont Theatre of Boston. It was on a holiday night, when the house was crowded from pit to gallery, and a new French drama was the chief attraction—how much so the audience little anticipated—that had never before been enacted upon the American stage. When the curtain rose, a room on one of the upper floors of a Parisian lodging, or what we would now call tenement house was seen. At the left was the fair Mrs. Barrett, representing, as she sat at work over an embroidery frame, the heroine of the drama; by her side was a dressing-table, with a looking-glass, and other needed articles for the toilet; behind her was a bed, with its neat white curtains. At the right a girl sat reading a novel, occasional passages of which she would declaim in the most rapturous mood, until interrupted by her companion in telling her that her lover, a young cabinet-maker, had come that morning to say that as he would reach his majority next day, his father was to furnish him a little money to enter business, and that he wished they should at once be married. The other girl, though but a poor seamstress, replied that she did not wish to marry a mechanic and continue to live as she then did in a room or two, but quoting from her book the kind of existence she would fancy, gave one an idea that it mattered little to her whether he who could furnish her the means for the luxurious life it pictured, was a husband or lover. At this point a flashily dressed but shabby-genteel looking individual made his appearance (a tenant also of the lodging-house,) and producing a bottle of cider and a paper of nuts, the fruits of his success at billiards that day, as he said, invited them to partake of his luxuries. Just before his entrance, the heroine of the drama, in connection with what she had said of her lover, had told her companion that the owner of their lodgings, a young man of fortune, Edmund as she called him, had overtaken her in a shower the day before, drove her home in his cabriolet, and complimenting her voice, that he had heard in passing the door of her room, offered to procure her admission, as a pupil, to the Academy of Music; an offer which the other urged her to accept, not doubting, beautiful as she was, the ulterior object of the youthful landlord in his proposal, Alexandre adding his advice to that of Terese, as we will call them. As they still talked of the matter, the young cabinet-maker entered, presented to his affianced a fresh-blown rose, and repeated what he had said in the morning about their immediate marriage; but she, amid the temptation by which she was beset, urged delay until they would be able to have a less humble home than then; the lover, Michel by name, still urging his wish for their union at the proposed time, and telling her, as he looked at her visitors, that he feared she had been listening to bad advice, took his departure, saying as he did so, that they must be married, if ever, the morning following. When she was left alone, the fair orphan, for such she was, musing over the situation in which she was placed, thought as she gave a look into the glass at her side and took a step or two before it to the sweet air the music was playing, that she would not wholly fail to grace a higher sphere than she had ever known; then saying in a voice that fell like music upon the ear, "If I were Edmund's wife, and he but faithful, what a brilliant lot would be mine!" Musing still, and then expressing the hope that the spirit of her mother will direct her in her dreams that night what to do, the scene closed by leaving her kneeling at her bedside, while the curtain fell to a soft, sweet strain.

The second act opened to a suite of apartments of the most luxurious description; the late embroideress entered in the most costly array, accompanied by servants bearing rich articles of merchandise she had purchased by way of whiling away her time. Terese, transformed into a duchess, or so she styled herself, appeared, and after chatting of matters connected with the style of elegance in which both were living, told the lady of the mansion that she had seen Edmund, looking pale, thin, and poorly attired, very different from what he had done when she was aiding him to get rid of his fortune; to which the other replied, with something of a regretful air, that it was very much his own fault, representing himself, as he did, to be richer far than he really was. Mons. Alexandre, changed from a poor fan-painter to a rich horse-dealer and gentleman artist at billiards, came to say that he had a splendid pair of bays at his stables, of which he would make her ladyship the first offer. A servant entered with the information that "my lord" was below, and wished to see the lady; but she, who had seen his carriage from a window, sent word that she was much engaged, that he could come next day, and would be the more welcome if he brought what he failed to do at his last visit. In a freak of fancy, when again alone, she sent for an upholsterer to redecorate her apartments, elegant although they already were, when Michel came, as his agent, and on their recognizing each other, she offered him a costly diamond necklace, saying it would bring him large wealth, but although acknowledging that he loved her still, though nearly ruined by her desertion of him, he could not accept her gift.

After various changes in the downward fortunes of the heroine and those of Terese and Alexandre, she was seen as the keeper of a boarding-house of a medium class, and ambitious to do well, that had been left to her by her last "friend," the proprietor of an establishment such as people resort to for the purpose of winning the money of others, but oftener lose their own. Terese, without the slightest idea to whom she was to offer them, came to the door to sell oranges from the basket she bore on her arm, who brought the information that the last she heard of Alexandre was that for some indiscretion he had been obliged to "leave his country for his country's good," and had consequently gone on a trip to New South Wales.

The next that was seen of the unfortunate heroine, pale and emaciated, and cheaply clad, but still retaining much of the gentleness of manner of her better years, she had become the keeper of a humble lodging-house, and Terese, long unaware of her whereabouts, came to seek employment as a servant; and, to the horror of the mistress of the place, Alexandre, with a companion as villanous looking as himself, both escaped convicts from Botany Bay, after committing a burglary, also came in quest of lodgings and a place for the concealment of their plunder. A posse of the National Guard, with Michel as their captain, getting upon their track, arrest them, and the stolen goods being found in the house, without a knowledge of their being there by the mistress, she, in her distress, being equally liable to arrest, ran into the street, followed by the guard, with Michel at their head, who was most kindly disposed towards her, and before she could be overtaken, leaped from a bridge and disappeared beneath the waters of the Seine, the guard and their commander forming a tableau as they gazed upon the scene, after failing to rescue the unfortunate one from her fate.

While the audience looked on with downcast eyes, tears, that few could restrain, falling like rain, a mist obscured the stage to the footlights, and when it had passed, the same soft air being heard again with which the first act closed, the scene reappeared just as it was, with the orphan girl reposing in slumber upon her pillow, from whence she was awakened by a loud knocking at her door, and the voice of Michel calling on her to open it. Leaping from the bed to the floor, after a moment of bewilderment as if doubting if she was yet awake, she exclaimed in wild rapture. "Why, it was all a dream, and I am not so wicked as I dreamed that I was! Everything is just as I left it last night, even to the rose in the tumbler that Michel gave me, fresh and bright as when I placed it there. The spirit of my mother has indeed guided me in my dreams!"

The entire audience arose together to their feet, and while tears of joy took the place of those of sorrow, a scene of wild excitement caused, such as, from a similar cause, probably never before or since occurred within the walls of a theatre. Besides touching the hearts of all from the absorbing interest felt in the principal character, the moral lesson the drama conveyed was not overlooked. The play was that of "Victorine, or, I'll Sleep on It," the latter words being uttered by the heroine ere lying down upon her couch. It is now but seldom performed, though having a long and successful run, on its first production, in the large cities on both sides of the Atlantic.

The War.

A despatch from Constantinople via London, on the 16th, says that the Turks claim to have stormed and captured Soukgoum Kaleh. The natives joined against the Russians, and all the country around has broken out in insurrection. This is an important port and fortified town which the Russians captured in 1791. It is situated on the eastern shore of the Black Sea, in the Russian Province of Abassia.

The statement that Roumania has declared war against Turkey is repeated. The Roumanian army is said to be small and badly equipped.

News and Notes.

The unknown man who murdered Frank Brasser and then killed himself at Brandon, Vt., has been identified as Charles Williams of Bristol, England, eighteen years of age. He was probably insane from family troubles.

Lillian Stearns, seventeen years old, a daughter of engineer D. B. Stearns of Jessup & Laflin's paper mill at Westfield, Mass., drowned herself near the mill Sunday night because her young man had left her for her sister. The lover and her sister heard her cries, and she might have been saved except for the lover's helpless fright.

The French ironclad Revanche burst a boiler at Villa Franca on the 15th inst., killing and wounding eighty-two of her crew.

Capt. Henry C. Sewall, of the American barque Edmund Phinney, of Portland, the chief officer and three seamen, and the captain's sister, died of cholera at Akyab, India. The cholera has prevailed to an alarming extent in the district about Chittagong, and on the islands along the coast which were inundated by the great storm wave on the 31st of October, 1876. More than 20,000 deaths have been reported from cholera alone, and in addition to these there have been a large number from pestilential fevers attributed to the same general causes, infection of the air by the decomposition of the multitudes of human beings and cattle which perished at the time. This state of affairs is likely to continue till the heavy rains carry off the remaining impurities.

—Brig C. C. Bearse, from Charleston for Boston, has been wrecked at sea. The two mates, steward and one seaman were picked up from a raft; the captain and three seamen were drowned.

The New York "carnival" on the 15th inst. was the first ever held in that city, and will be the last. The whole procession was simply an immense parade of out-door advertising, of beer, soap, suspenders and all sorts of patent gimcracks. The procession was several hours late in getting off, and gaps of tedious length were developed in it as it proceeded. The representations of the vaunted floats were simply ridiculous as a whole. No order was preserved, and many of those advertised were wanting. The people were much dissatisfied. After marching around the city the procession brought up at Gilmore's Garden, where a grand carnival ball took place, The ball was a most brilliant affair. The Times says the carnival proved the greatest failure that ever disgraced New York city. The morning procession was merely an advertising panorama. "Rex" turned out to be a stupid Staten Island brewer, who paid a large sum for the doubtful honor.

A fat German in San Francisco was going home late at night, recently, when two highwaymen demanded his money. He shouted for help so loudly as to scare the thieves and wake up all the police for three blocks, and made a dive at the throat of one of the thieves, who started on a run, pursued by the fat Dutchman, who made glorious time. Finding he could not shake off his pursuer, the robber fired several shots at him from a derringer, but he paid no attention to that. Finally the robber jumped over a high fence and crouched behind it, and the German in climbing after him fell, landing on the crouching thief and knocking all the wind and courage out of him. Finding this worked so well the fat German got up and sat down vigorously on the fellow some more, until he begged piteously for mercy, when the German took away his derringer and coolly escorted him to the police station.

Judge A. J. Willard was on the 15th inst. chosen Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of South Carolina, receiving 86 out of 128 votes cast in the Legislative convention. This is Willard's reward for supporting Wade Hampton.

Five children of the station master at Little York, a station on the Syracuse & Binghampton Railroad in New York, were burned to death in the building on the 15th inst.

Gov. Rice of Massachusetts has vetoed the local option liquor law, on the ground that the law as it now stands has only existed a year and has not therefore had a fair trial.

New Hampshire Items.

On Thursday Mrs. John Hanson, of Dover, died at the age of 84 years and six months, and the death of her husband at 90 years occurred a few hours afterward. These aged people had lived many happy years together, and have gone to peaceful graves esteemed by all who knew them.

Josiah Clifford of Allenstown, a well-off farmer, hung himself in his barn Thursday morning. Family trouble was the cause.

A young daughter of Josiah B. Jones, of Epping, disappeared from her home last week, and a young man named Peavey is suspected of foul play in the case. Detectives are at work on the affair.

The seventh annual reunion of the sons and daughters of Gilmanton will take place on Memorial Day, May 30. The citizens have been long in preparation, and it is intended that the present shall eclipse all former occasions of this nature. Rev. L. S. Coan is to deliver the address, and distinguished speakers from a distance have been invited to be present.

Extensive forest fires were raging in the vicinity of the Crawford and Fabyan Houses in Carroll on Tuesday and Wednesday. Large quantities of wood and timber were destroyed. Trains over the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad were stopped, as it was dangerous to run through the burning woods.

A mysterious stabbing affray occurred on Saturday evening in Manchester, which has baffled every attempt of the authorities to unravel. At about nine o'clock Charles J. Benson, a young married man, was engaged in conversation with a young woman on Merrimac square, when they were approached by a female figure, and by a rapid movement both Benson and his companion were stabbed in the breast with a knife. The assailant then disappeared in the darkness.

A Sea Serpent Caught.

A veritable sea serpent has been captured in the harbor of Oban, on the coast of Scotland. It is not an infant specimen like the one nine feet in length washed ashore near Cape Ann a few years ago, but is one hundred and one feet in length by actual measurement, and eleven feet in circumference at the thickest part. It has a pair of side fins four feet wide, and a huge dorsal fin of five feet in height, but otherwise is a veritable serpent in all its shape and configuration. It was observed in the harbor and a large party of fishermen and inhabitants of the port went out to capture it. They formed a line with their boats across the waters of the harbor and by shouts and splashings frightened it so thoroughly that it was stranded on the beach, where it was killed by the musket balls of a party of volunteers. The body was taken possession of under the flotsam and jetsam rights of the Crown, and undoubtedly will be preserved in the best manner for the interest of science. It is lucky for the reputation of the sober inhabitants of Oban that the sea serpent was actually captured, for they might have fought him all day in the harbor, and thousands have seen him, but without his visible body the world would not have believed their oaths, and would have set down Oban as the abode of liars, in particular. Even now it will hardly be believed until the sea serpent is articulated and set up in the British museum beside the remains of the pterodactyl and the megatherium, and, in fact, we have been so often disappointed that the most trusting would rather see than hear tell on't. The facts, however, are given with all particularity in the Glasgow News.

—"Now, Mr. Professor Bell, as the telephone exhibition, can any one suggest a sentence that he would like transmitted to our friends at Manchester and Lowell?" A ripple of laughter passed over the rear of the hall when a youth said, in a voice audible to those in the vicinity. "Tell 'em to wipe off their china." The message was not sent.

—A Philadelphia judge decides that a railroad company is not responsible for baggage further than to check it, pound it to pieces, and keep an ordinary watch over the handles.

"Authorized" Notice.

In reference to a notice in the Times of the 16th inst., to the effect that my advertisement that I will furnish Hacks for Funerals at $3 each "is entirely unauthorized" by the hack proprietors of the city, I would say with all good feeling that I have not considered it necessary to be "authorized" by anybody to conduct my private business in my own way. My advertisement stated that I, and not they, would furnish hacks at $3 each. JOSIAH F. ADAMS.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show the invalids power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, at two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Hay. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-five pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 6, 1875.

MR. LANE:—Dear Sir:—I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise. I tend you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times he would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. I persuaded my father to send for some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not send them. He has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know of, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the good such medicine will do others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 7

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they will advise me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get money to go to Florida when, through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathews my attention was called to the advertisement of DR. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrod, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875

MESSRS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last 4 years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to those who are similarly afflicted; they have done me much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

Wednesday, May 16th.

John Shea, of Manchester, who was on Tuesday convicted of willful perjury in swearing to an affidavit required to draw a pension, was brought into Court, and sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and to be confined in the State Prison at Concord at hard labor for the term of two years. He was taken to Concord on the afternoon train in charge of U. S. Marshal Patterson.

United States vs. Cyrus Dunn was tried. Indicted for willfully and fraudulently concealing a large portion of his assets from his assignee in June, 1875, when he went into bankruptcy. A number of witnesses were examined by the Government, and the case was argued by Lewis W. Clark for defendant, with whom was Gen. Marston, and by J. G. Hall, District Attorney, for the United States. The Judge's charge occupied three-fourths of an hour, and the case was given to the Jury at 4:45 P. M.; and at about 6:15 they came in with a verdict of guilty.

United States vs. Thomas Howe, of Manchester, for perjury in the case of Crohan, tried in this Court last October term, will be in order for trial Thursday morning.

POLICE COURT

Wednesday, May 16th.

William A. Plaisted was arraigned for renting to another man a building to be used for the sale of liquor. Mr. Plaisted claimed that the prosecution was prompted by personal malice and not by any desire to enforce the law for the benefit of the public, and that he should therefore be discharged; but Judge Batchelder ruled that he had nothing to do with the motives of the complainant, and as there was probable cause to consider defendant guilty of the charge brought against him he was bound over in the sum of $400 to appear in answer to the charge at the October term of the Supreme Court. The law making the letting of a building for the sale of liquor a misdemeanor was passed in 1870, and under its provisions a fine of from $50 to $200, at the discretion of the Court, can be imposed in case of conviction. We believe this is the first prosecution brought under this law, in this city.

JOTTINGS.

Mr. Josiah F. Adams in another column announces a very decided reduction in the price of funereal goods.

The steam yacht Maud, which has been running on the Merrimac, has been sold by her owner, Capt. Henry Vatter, to James A. Speed of South Newmarket, who intends to run her on the Piscataqua. She will be brought round to this port during the present week.

Considerable attention was attracted on Wednesday by a cook-shop on wheels, drawn about the streets by a sleek, comfortable-looking horse, while two men therein cooked and peddled out waffles. Everything about the "Centennial Waffle Bakery" (that is what was painted on it) looked neat and nice, and as we didn't know from experience what waffles were we bought a quarter's worth and ate 'em. Having just previously made a fairish dinner on dandelion greens and boiled ham, we managed to exist until supper time without great suffering from the pangs of hunger; but we made a calculation that if we were really hungry it would cost about two hundred and twenty-five dollars to give us a square meal of those cakes of baked atmosphere with sugar on, called waffles.

On the arrival at this city, Tuesday, of the pay-car of the Eastern Railroad, with Paymaster Hobbs, who had been settling the accounts with the employes of the road along the line to this city, a trustee process was served upon him by a Sheriff, at the instance of the Merchants' National Bank of Salem, which has recently made several attachments on property of the road. Paymaster Hobbs disclaiming any connection with the Eastern in paying off the men, another process was immediately served upon another gentleman who occupied the same car, presuming that he held the funds. He also disclaimed any connection with the road, stating that he was acting for outside parties; and, paying no attention to either process, they proceeded on their way.

The old house on Badger's Island, which was never unoccupied during the palmy days of shipbuilding but has been allowed to fall into decay since that industry went down, is this week being torn down and removed.

An old citizen writes us the following "Recollection of the Old North Burying Ground:" At a time previous to the introduction of tanks into Baptist churches, with conveniences for warming the water in the colder seasons, and when good people had courage and endurance enough even to go through a pathway cut in ice in the river side, a large gathering took place to witness such a scene at the portion of the North burying ground bordering on the mill-pond. Those who came first for the convenience of obtaining the best view stationed themselves by the fence that then ran along the edge of the water, and as the crowd increased behind them, to the great joy of the boys the fence began to strain and creak like an old cow-bedstead, not a little assisted as it was by the boys' own sly exertions. At length, when it could endure the pressure no longer, just as the good man who officiated on the occasion was about plugging one of the subjects for immersion into the chilling element, the fence gave way, posts and all, and so did the ice, thin and porous as it was, when such an "immersion" took place as had not been looked for. Of course the water was not very deep, if there was mud at the bottom, and much fun was afforded to others, while it was anything else to the victims of the accident as they wended their way home in dripping garments.

The San Francisco Bulletin of May 8th says: "Another attempt was made yesterday morning to pull off the ship Frank Jones, ashore at Port Point. The ship was moved forward a short distance; but it was found that the water was entering in great volume, and all feared that the pumps would not be sufficient to keep the vessel free from water. There was still about 150 tons of ballast in the ship, which, together with the sand which had worked in, made the total weight of the ship about 800 tons. As the ship would in all probability sink if got out into deep water, the attempt to haul her off was abandoned. There were three pumps on board, but they were evidently insufficient to keep the water down. Whether another attempt will be made is uncertain. The ship could undoubtedly be got off, as she was moved yesterday quite a distance, but if it is certain that she could not be kept afloat, as is now thought, it is probable that she will be broken up where she lies." The vessel was offered for sale at auction on the 11th inst., by the parties who bought her when she was first wrecked, they having given up the idea of getting her off.

Mr. Henry Ridge, having purchased the building lot on Spring street next west of Mr. A. Pearson's place, has commenced putting in the foundations for a large dwelling house; Mr. James Stirling is building a house on Miller avenue, nearly opposite Mr. James Miller's residence, and Mr. James Janvrin has the foundations laid for one next north of Mr. Miller's lot, on Broad street. The change of this neighborhood from what it was when Hon. Frank W. Miller built his house and commenced to make streets there a dozen years ago, is something wonderful for a "sleepy old town" like Portsmouth.

An Old Letter Just Published.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10 1875.

My Dear Friend: I shall not lose my patience with you, but another letter of same purport from anyone else will certainly try my temper, which has already been put to the test by two similar raids upon it.

I met Bowles of the Springfield Republican a few weeks since in Maine, on his return from a Moosehead Lake tour, and rode with him for a day Boston-wards. He improved the occasion by assuring me that I had no chance for the Presidency, but that I might do a great thing for myself and my country by openly espousing the cause of Charles Francis Adams. Shortly afterward Charles Nordhoff wrote the same thing in substance on both points, urging me to "see Adams at once, ally myself with him, and make myself chief of his party." From Nordhoff, whom I like, this mild nonsense may be tolerated; but from Bowles, whom nobody likes, it is quite unendurable. I replied to Nordhoff in writing, as I did to Bowles in conversation, without mincing my words, and I shall do you the same favor. I assured Nordhoff that he could not have a lower estimate of my personal prospects than I had myself; that, in fact, the subject never entered my mind as one of serious promise, and I am sure I told you at Saratoga in August last that my nomination was not within the scope of remote probabilities—scarcely of possibilities. You need not, therefore, try so gingerly to let me down without hurting, for I really never felt that I was up.

But the cant and the nonsense which Bowles and Nordhoff and yourself put forward about Adams as the coming man both amuse and enrage me. When he comes the republican party is gone. "It would not be Adams' fall, but his rise, that would ruin us. No Adams ever yet headed a party without taking the life out of it. Old John—in many respects the best of them—took the Federal party in 1796, when it had the talent, the character, the culture, the wealth, and the patriotic traditions and prejudices of the country all largely in its favor, and in four years he so entirely destroyed it that it never reappeared, except as a ghost wherewith to frighten two succeeding generations of statesmen. A large part of the quarter century that he lived after he retired from the Presidency was spent in querulous efforts to throw the responsibility of his failures on the friends of Hamilton and the eleven other contrary jurymen.

John Quincy Adams was equally unfortunate with the republican party of his day. When he was inaugurated in 1825, there was no other political organization in the country, and a wise leader of men and of parties would have found no difficulty in harmonizing the personal feuds which were permitted to grow into such fearful magnitude and acquire such destructive force. Indeed, the Administration of the second Adams so wickedly wrecked the great republican party which Monroe left, that it never was heard from again except under an alias. Had John Quincy Adams died the day he left the Presidency, he would never have filled the prominent place to which he is entitled in our history. He would simply have been known as a child of political fortune—always in office, no matter which party was in power—head of an Administration which was remarkable only for its failures, author of a diary conspicuous only for its malignity, sire to a son unwise enough to publish it. The last seventeen years of his life, spent in the House of Representatives, all but one year in the opposition, developed those qualities which secured him his fame. It is in that field alone that the present generation know him, and Mr. Seward, when he wrote the biography of the "Old Man Eloquent" (he never was eloquent when young,) devoted more space to his service in the House than to all the preceding history of his official life, which may be said to have begun about the time he was weaned. As an Executive he was as utter a failure as his father.

Don't talk to me, then, I pray you, about nominating Charles Francis Adams as our candidate for the Presidency, unless you mean death for us all without resurrection. The republican party can be beaten under some candidates in 1876 and still have a future, but if it should win with Adams it would never breathe again. The day of his inauguration would be the day of its funeral. He is not the equal in talent of his father or grandfather, and though I have a very slight personal acquaintance with him, I judge him to have a plentiful supply of those qualities which made the two Adamses the conspicuous failures among our early Presidents, and a great lack of those characteristics which, with all their faults and failures as Executives, still made them justly illustrious in our annals.

The Presidents who were great leaders of men and of parties have been our successful Presidents. Washington and Jefferson among the early Presidents, Jackson and Lincoln at later periods, are the most shining examples. Among the men who possessed in a pre-eminent degree the talent and aptitude for the station were Hamilton, DeWitt Clinton, Henry Clay, Seward, and Stephen Douglas. But in not a single quality of any one of them can you find the least counterpart in Charles Francis Adams. Stat magni nominis umbra. And only the shadow! Very sincerely yours,

J. G. BLAINE.

—A young Indian girl who had curiously watched the process of marking barrel-heads in a flouring-mill in Winona, Minn., stole in one day, and taking possession of the stencils, ornamented her blanket with the words "Ellsworth's Choice," and paraded the streets in great delight, but to the disgust of Mr. Ellsworth, who is a bachelor and had made no such choice.

The Debris of the System

Must either pass through its natural channels of exit, the bowels, the kidneys and the pores, or, in default thereof, poison and disorder the fluids of the system. In order to effect the complete expulsion of this dangerous refuse, the organs through which it passes off must be active and unobstructed. Fortunately there is a certain means of rendering them so when they are not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stimulate the action of the secretory organs, and by diffusing a genial warmth through the circulation, encourage moderate perspiration. By this triple effect the exodus of the focal and other waste matters are encouraged, and the system freed from peril it would otherwise incur. The action of the bowels which follows the use of this beneficent alterative is easy and unaccompanied by griping, and its stimulative effect upon the urinary organs very conducive to their local health.

GERMAN SWEET CHOCOLATE. A superior brand is furnished the trade by Walter Baker & Co. on the most favorable terms. The public are assured of a really nice article in purchasing this make.

We learn that Dr. Kinsman has refused a very large sum for the recipe from which the celebrated Johnson's Balsam is made. This is one of the most valuable cough remedies ever placed in the market; its sales are enormous, and not a single failure to cure is reported. Price 35 cts.

A well-timed and judicious concession to the popular demand for reduced rates has added very greatly to the former excellent popularity of the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the inclemency of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure, and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, N. H., certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.
WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG: My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Abolish the Constitution.

Mr. Stonara's contribution to the North American Review is printed just as he wrote it. He is in doubt whether "self-despatch" might not advantageously be substituted for our practice of duelling, but he has no doubt at all about the inconvenience of a written constitution, and advises us to "reform it altogether." Here is what he says about it:

I think, of all countries I have been in, this country is most backward. It is because here there is no change. In every other country there is change. The times we live in are the most changeable times that have ever been known. Japan changes, China changes even a little, Turkey changes also, only little, because of religion, all the other European countries change, only America in politics for a hundred years never changes. Always just the same constitution—but since that constitution was made, steamboats, railroads, telegraphs, many wonderful things have been invented, so the manners and customs of people have been changed, their opinions about every thing are quite different, liberty and freedom are being everywhere introduced, only in America the rights of the people have not been increased for one hundred years.

In Europe the people will not allow this; they make revolutions, then comes more freedom. In twenty years how much has happened! In Austria Hungary has been separated, and free institutions have been given—with two chambers. At Vienna also in two chambers all different races in the empire are represented, and can talk freely. In Germany, Empire has been formed with chambers also rather free, only Bismarck has too much power, but there is no old constitution to stop freedom when he dies. In Italy, the whole country has been united, bad governments of Naples and Pope have been abolished, king has no power—all power is in the chambers, quite free. In France, Empire has been abolished, free chambers have been established, only they have one bad thing, written constitution—only it is very short, and can easily be changed. In England, Queen has no power at all—House of Commons, that is, people's House, has all power. Immediately when people want, they can change government.

One hundred years ago when American constitution was made, people in Europe could not press themselves upon governments; now it is almost impossible for any government to resist will of the people. In France it is quite impossible. Always almost immediately they make revolutions. In England, also, it is not possible. There the people make peaceable revolutions, but government never can go against the people. Only here that is possible. This is the only country in the world, where, in a popular election, majority cannot elect their candidate.

One hundred years ago this government was most free of all governments. Since that time all other governments have moved on, pressed by the people, always pressed; so they go forward quite rapidly in a free direction. Only this never moves. It is the same with that remarkable people, the Chinese. I remark much resemblance between Americans and Chinese. They are both afraid to move from old customs. This is in many respects a good thing. It is just opposite in Japan. Japanese go too fast; they think they know everything, when they know very little, and they go rashly on—but Americans are too slow in politics. Only one step have they made in a hundred years, and that is backwards, when they gave votes to a different race, who have no education and small intelligence, to help to elect a President who for four years is not responsible to anybody. Already it has been found that many things are not provided for in the constitution; I counted nineteen difficulties during last election for which no provisos was made in the constitution. How can you go on with a constitution that allows such great dangers to exist? It has been proved, by what has just happened, that at any time they may occur again, but never again could you settle the question eight to seven. I have conversed with many persons who say that never again will they agree to that.

In Japan it would not be possible for those seven men to live, who have proposed this plan. After it failed they must commit seppukku, or the "self-despatch." Though I do not approve this practice, I think, until countries have arrived at an advanced political state, it is in some respects good. It makes men very careful in proposing political plans. The practice, in this country, by which political enemies kill each other with pistols, does not make them so careful, but perhaps it is necessary while the old constitution lasts, but with the introduction of popular government and a responsible Cabinet it might be abolished. In Japan it is hoped in the same way to abolish "self-despatch," which I think is a better check upon political violence and bad language than duels. In Japan all editors of newspapers writing like those in this country would be obliged to perform this act, and even Mr. Tilden after he had got majority of nearly 300,000 votes could not survive his defeat with honor, but this is not because he had used bad language, but because he himself has been so much abused. For this reason he would have to commit seppukku. In my book which I am going to write in Japan upon the moral condition of this country, I will show how far the higher morality of Japan is due to sappukku, so that they may not abolish it rashly, or without providing some other check, by which all persons using violent language, slandering other persons, bribing other persons, being bribed, making false returns, frightening voters, or otherwise behaving badly, may be restrained. None of these vices exist now in Japan. This is in consequence of former government when such things were not possible. I believe they in this country entirely result from the hundred years old constitution.

To make this Republic into a more free government, there is no necessity to change the name. To take away power from President, there is no necessity to change his name. So I do not propose, because I want to see this government more free, to change any names; the only thing to be done is, abolish the constitution, then all is simple. Then make a law that President must choose his Cabinet from two Houses of Congress. Then make another law and give more power to House of Representatives, because that is people's House more than Senate. If the majority in the House of Representatives is against the government, then at once the President and the Cabinet must both resign.

Daily Chronicle.

The War.

The Roumanians lost 110 in killed and wounded during the artillery duel between Kalafat and Widdin. The Turks have 50,000 troops in Widdin.

An English correspondent says the Turkish fortifications of Rustchuk are very strong.

A Pera despatch, dated the 15th, says: "The Russians are apparently attempting to force the Danube, or by a manœuvre draw away the Turks from other points. Up to last night, however, they were not successful." On the same day there was a two hours' cannonade between Totrokan and Oltenitza, and the Russian batteries at Ibrail shelled the Turkish defences of Matchin.

Sixteen Bulgarian villages have been pillaged and burned by the Turks.

The correspondent of the London Telegraph sends word from Bucharest that the Russian campaign will now proceed according to the original programme, the Roumanian army remaining on the defensive, within their own territory, the Russians crossing the Danube at eight points simultaneously and pressing forward toward the Balkans with all possible rapidity, leaving behind in Bulgaria civil officials charged with the reorganization of the institutions.

A despatch to the New York Times from Giurgevo, dated the 17th, says heavy cannonadding was going on; the Russians were bombarding Rustchuk, had set Turkuksi on fire from Oltenitza, and Matschin also was burning. A determined attempt to force the passage of the Danube was looked for, and an equally desperate resistance, the Turks having gotten their ironclads into position at the exposed points of the river.

From the scene of war in Asia Minor there is but little news. The Russians acknowledge a check at Batoum, where the Turks claimed to have defeated them with great slaughter. Russian despatches speak of the bombardment of Soukgoum Kaleh by the Turkish fleet, and the landing of a hostile force, which was repulsed; the Turks claim to have driven out the Russian garrison, and to have been joined by the inhabitants, creating a revolt in the Russian rear. Should this revolt prove extensive it will badly disarrange the Russian plans of the campaign in Asia.

News and Notes.

The three-year-old daughter of J. P. Davis, of Thompsonville, Conn., bitten by a dog last August, died of hydrophobia on Sunday evening.

A flood has overwhelmed both banks of the Tigris river, and opened a new branch above Bagdad, completely blockading the city and sweeping away two hundred houses in the village of Kiamizie.

A forest fire in Wisconsin has swept over a belt of country from two to fifteen miles wide and 120 long.

Reports from Camp Brown on the 15th inst. state that the Snake Indian scouts discovered a hostile camp on the head of Bad Water, about seventy-five miles northwest from Brown, on the west side of the Big Horn Range. They report fifty or sixty lodges. Capt. J. Mix of the Second Cavalry, commanding at Camp Brown, with a portion of his command and Shoshene Indians under Tom Cosgrove, will move against them immediately.

A twenty-years-old son of Mayor Overstolz, of St. Louis, recently eloped with and married an actress named Lizzie McCall, several years his senior.

The Russian men-of-war which have been at San Francisco for some time past, sailed on Wednesday under sealed orders.

The Permanent Exhibition at Philadelphia is quite a success in regard to the numbers that attend, and some days fairly rival the corresponding days of last year in this respect. There have been not less than 18,000 persons within a single twelve hours on several occasions. The Philadelphians who didn't attend last year's exhibition are making up for lost time.

The Chicago and Boston base ball clubs played a sharply contested game at Chicago on Wednesday, the Bostons winning by a score of 1 to 0.

Sixteen square miles of woodland on the eastern end of Long Island have been burned during the past week.

Advices from Paris on the 16th announced the resignation of the Ministry, and that President MacMahon was trying to form a mixed Royalist and Imperialist Cabinet. It is expected that the Chamber of Deputies will be prorogued and then dissolved. The Republican majority will reply by a vote of want of confidence. The position is grave and a coup d'etat is feared. The situation causes great excitement in Paris.

The Russian squadron sailed from New York on Thursday, receiving salutes from the forts and U. S. S. Minnesota as they went.

Ex-President Grant sailed for Europe on Thursday, in steamship Indiana, Capt. Sargent.

George Carman, a miner, investigated some nitro-glycerine stored in an unused tunnel at Georgetown, Colorado, on the 15th, when it exploded and blew him into fragments, his remains being scattered for a distance of quarter of a mile.

The rediscovery at Canquenes, Chili, of the once famous gold mine, "Los Cristales," has created somewhat of a sensation. This mine, whose yield is supposed to have been almost fabulous in the old colonial times, has been lost for forty years. Having been abandoned at the breaking out of the revolution, it filled with water, and then a landslide removed all traces of it.

The Edinburgh Scotsman states that a firm of importers of nitrate of soda at Glasgow have receiving a telegram confirming the destruction of Iquique, Peru, by an earthquake. No lives were lost.

From the tone of the New York papers we should say that the "Yankee Carnival" was not a success. The Herald speaks of "the gimcrack day procession," "a two-mile funeral of show wagons and hand-bill throwing," "the gingerbread nut procession;" the World tells of the visit of King Carnival in "a somewhat heterogeneous fashion;" and the Times has a racy and quite funny account of the show under the head, "the festival of the fools, insane stupidity and pageantry." The great procession appears to have been a long line of advertising vans; or, as one paper expresses it, "a grand combination of dealers, an organized company of advertisers who occupied the public streets, impeded travel, and nauseated passengers with claptrap and vulgarity."

New Hampshire Items.

The great forest fires in this State burned 6000 cords of wood belonging to a coal company near the Fabyan House. Five hundred cords of wood were burned Tuesday night two miles west of the Twin Mountain House. The Portland and Ogdensburg train bound west was delayed thirteen hours.

The Spring meeting of the Dartmouth Athletic Association will take place May 23 and 24. Hon. J. W. Patterson will act as referee. A match game of base ball between the Harvard and Dartmouth Freshmen nines is expected to be a feature of the sports.

Earnest temperance meetings are being held every afternoon and evening at Music Hall in Manchester.

The citizens of Manchester have filed a petition in the Supreme Court against the City Government to prevent the construction of highways through Concord square.

President Bartlett of Dartmouth College arrived in Hanover, Wednesday afternoon, and will enter immediately on the duties of his office, but will not be formally inaugurated until commencement.

The musical festival at Manchester was not a success. The chorus was light, and a general want of co-operation on the part of local musical talent was manifest all through it. Annie Louise Cary drew the only large house.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars of New Hampshire met at Pythian Hall, Dover, Wednesday forenoon, George A. Bailey of Manchester presiding. The Secretary and Treasurer made their reports, showing an increase of members during the past year.

At the annual convocation of the M. E. Grand Royal Arch Chapter of New Hampshire, held in Concord on the 15th inst., the following officers were elected and installed: John J. Bell of Exeter, M. E. Grand High Priest; George W. Currier of Nashua, E. Deputy Grand High Priest; Albert S. Waite of Newport. E. Grand King; Clark F. Rowell of Keene, E. Grand Scribe; Joseph W. Hildreth of Concord, E. Grand Treasurer; John A. Harris of Concord, E. Grand Secretary; Jas. Adams of Concord, E. Grand Chaplain; Henry A. Bailey of Manchester, E. Grand Captain of the Host; Charles N. Towle of Concord, Grand Principal Sojourner; Charles G. Conner. Grand Royal Arch Chaplain; Henry P. Glidden of Dover, Grand Master of the Third Veil; Benj. F. Webster of Portsmouth, Grand Master of the Second Veil; George A. Hatch of Laconia, Grand Master of the First Veil; James Farrington and George T. Woodcock, Grand Stewards; Samuel W. Emerson of Concord, Grand Tyler.

John B. Huckins' farm buildings at Plymouth were burned by an incendiary, Wednesday night. Loss $2500; insurance $1100.

The Dover Democrat of the 16th inst. says; "Together with all the rest of the business projected for this season in Dover, the United States engineer and others arrived here to-day to resume the work of clearing out the bed of the river below the mills and complete the deepening of the channel. There are, we believe some $14,000 to be expended, and that, it is supposed, will finish up the job which was undertaken several years since and has been carried on by piece-meal ever since. This with the new mill, the new street, and the erection of somewhere from fifty to a hundred new tenements in the city, ought to make Dover a very lively place."

—A rumor is current, which seems to give the Western papers much grief, to the effect that "Ralph Waldo Emerson don't take no interest in base ball.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 29, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 3 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 23d, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty; but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of these pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, yet I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room and all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. I could not lie down nor ever get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, which I did, but it was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MESSRS. W. LANE—Sirs:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all whom similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of these Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT:

Thursday, May 17th.

In the case of United States vs. Cyrus Dunn, counsel for the defendant moved to set aside the verdict and for a new trial, on account of errors in the charge of the Court to the jury, and asked leave to file exceptions thereto.

United States vs. Thomas Howe, indicted for perjury at the trial of Crohan, at the October term of the Court, was opened by Dist. Att'y Hall at the coming in of the Court in the morning. [Crohan was one of the Manchester ward five repeaters, and was acquitted on Howe's evidence, which it is claimed was false.] Seventeen witnesses were examined in behalf of the Government. Mr. Hatch opened the case for the defendant at about 4:30 o'clock P. M., and called several witnesses to testify to the good character of the defendant. The case was continued for trial on the 18th, when it was expected to be disposed of.

An incident occurred during the afternoon which tended to relieve the monotony of the trial. Counsel for defendant was examining a witness with the object of establishing the fact that the defendant had been a member of the State Legislature, when his Honor observed that it was a gratuitous statement and not material. Counsel—"But I think, your honor, it is evidence of respectability for a man to have been a member of the Legislature of this State." His Honor—"Hum—I have my doubts about that!" Counsel—"I will not press the point, your honor."

TEMPORA MUTANTUR.

The burning of the Temple has left the city without any suitable place for the assembling of large audiences, at operas, theatrical performances, lectures, fairs and high-toned negro minstrel shows. Such a place is needed, but will it pay to build it? —Chronicle, Dec. 27, '76.

The CHRONICLE this morning, with its usual enterprise, contained the above item, which was no doubt intended to keep amusements from this city while leading astray parties unacquainted with our hall facilities. We take particular pride therefore in saying that Franklin Hall offers every facility for entertainments, being large, finely and completely appointed and easy of ingress and egress, its constant demand proving that it is a most desirable place, the CHRONICLE to the contrary.—Times, Dec. 27, '76.

We are glad to be able to announce that on yesterday afternoon the heirs of the late Joshua W. Peirce effected the purchase of the entire interest in the property of the old Temple on Chestnut street, and a splendid opera hall is to be immediately erected thereon by the Peirce heirs and other parties. * * The entire stock for this new and much-needed opera hall has already been taken.—Times, May 11.

The "Evangeline" Combination have concluded to "jump" Portsmouth, we hear, because the stage at Franklin hall is not large enough to accommodate the big whale and other features of the great show. —Times, May 14.

FATAL COLLISION.

Schooner Marietta Tilton was run down and sunk off Cross Rip, Wednesday night, by steam collier Harrisburg, and the captain and his wife, the mate, cook and two seamen, were drowned. Two men were saved. The Marietta Tilton is well, known as a regular trader to this port with coal, and her master, Capt. Penniwell, some months ago married the only daughter of Mr. Henry Bright of this city. Mrs. Penniwell went to Philadelphia with her husband on a recent trip, and was on her way back to Boston in the vessel when the disaster occurred.

A LITTLE MORE.

Messrs. Editors: Allow me to come to the rescue of that profoundly ignorant dolt who does not know the difference between a complimentary notice and a dramatic criticism. Perhaps that maligned individual did have a shadowy glimmer of the difference, and tried to express it when he recommended discriminating praise, but not being gifted with the crisp and concise style of "Justice" failed to make his reasoning clear. If "Justice" is as well acquainted with logic as with equity, will he explain why an invitation from a neighboring city proves that a dramatic company possesses talent equal, if not beyond, that of any professed artists ever seen by an experienced observer? Did he never read in the law books "Qui nimium probat, nihil probat?" It looks like a "non sequitur" to one unacquainted with law. QUAERITUR.

["Peace reigned in Warsaw;" it also reigns in the Southern States, excepting in places where obnoxious republicans still live; pray let us have peace here. Our contributors having got to talking law, we think the subject should be dropped, as we confess we are off soundings as soon as we got afloat on the law. We never had anything to do with the law but once, and that was a few evenings ago, when a man walked into our office and paid us seventy-seven cents as our fee as witness in a case in which we never appeared and which we are not positive we ever heard of. We could not see that we had a shadow of right to take that seventy-seven cents, but we took it, and spent it as quick as possible for a bottle of mucilage and some peanuts, for fear the man would come back after it; this shows the demoralizing influence of contact with the law, and we want nothing more to do with it. Our friends have drifted from a discussion about an amateur dramatic performance, into dangerous proximity to a sea of law terms; and we can't stand it. So we trust that if they cannot make up and be friends they will at least do as well as the good Samaritan, and pass by on the other side without saying anything. —Ed. Chronicle.]

DIPHTHONGAL.

We recently received a communication, appended to which was a brief note which at once brought to our mind the story told by the engineer of the first locomotive that ran into Colorado. While the engineer, black and grimy from his long run, was looking over and oiling his engine, two rough-looking hunters came up, and after critically examining the machine and its driver one of them asked, "Air this a engine?" "Yes," was the answer. "Be you the engineer?" again queried the hunter; and receiving an affirmative answer he turned to his companion and remarked, "Bill, it don't take much of a man to be engineer, do it!" The note which brought this to our memory was as follows:

Will the editor see that the type setter makes no mistake in the diphthong "æ," (the letters "a" and "e" joined) in first word of first Latin quotation.

Our correspondent evidently thinks of an editor as the hunter thought of the engineer—"it don't take much of a man to be editor." The Chief Justice of the United States once told a young lawyer, who in arguing his first case before the Supreme Court was explaining at length some of the simplest principles of common law, "The Supreme Court of the United States may be supposed to have some knowledge of law;" and our contributor might have "supposed" that the editor of even a little country paper would know what a diphthong is,—and al-so how to spell it!

JOTTINGS.

On Thursday, May 17th, Mr. Frank P. Hill entered into a partnership (particulars under head of "marriages," in another column,) which we hope will prove eminently satisfactory to both the contracting parties; we have strong faith that neither will ever have cause to consider the step taken a false one. Mr. Hill is one of the craft, having for some years been employed in Mr. Charles W. Gardner's job printing office; but his first lessons in the art were taken in the CHRONICLE office, and no employe of all the long list of those who "stuck their first type" in this office under our direction ever started in better, or were better, than he. Throughout the years of our association we ever found him entirely trustworthy; and we do not doubt that the blooming young bride he has selected to look after him in the future, will find him always the same. The youthful pair have the heartiest good wishes of many friends (including "we") for their prosperity and unalloyed happiness. P.

The ten-mile race between Col. Hilton's horse "Julius Cæsar" and Woodbury Locke's "Kenoza Boy," for stakes of $500, comes off on the Dover track to-morrow, commencing at three o'clock P. M. A special train will be run over the Dover Railroad, leaving this city at 1:15, and Dover immediately after the race; fare 40 cts. for the round trip.

George E. Bartlett of Eliot has brought a suit against the town of Kittery for ten thousand dollars, for alleged injuries received two years ago by being thrown from his carriage near Portsmouth Bridge, his horse taking fright at some iron boilers lying by the side of the road.

The band organ man was around the streets on Thursday, to the delight of the small boys. Some of the older people, too, were pleased, for the organ was a good one.

The management of the Eastern Railroad has adopted a new standard of color and style in painting passenger cars. Henceforth the body of cars will be a rich straw color with red corner posts and number panels, dark platform trimmings and dark trucks, gold letters with blue shading; and uniformity in striping of panels will make the cars more neat and durable than before.

The old "American House" on Vaughan street, which has been thoroughly overhauled and put in splendid condition since it was last occupied, has been leased by Mr. James W. Goodwin, late of South Berwick, and will be opened immediately as the "Commercial." The furnishings will be entirely new throughout, to correspond with the great improvements in the building.

The advertisement of Callender's Georgia Minstrels (composed of twenty genuine negroes—no burnt cork) will be found in another column. The Boston Traveller says of them: "No question is made of the assertion, that this troupe surpasses all other organizations of the kind. The performances are the most artistic, refined, and thoroughly enjoyable of any ever given here, and absolutely the best we ever saw." There is no approach to vulgarity in their entertainment, though there is plenty of fun.

The wind made a sudden shift to the eastward, Thursday forenoon, greatly increasing the comfort and catarrh of the people. The thermometer at about two o'clock indicated sixty-three degrees above zero in the shade; at the same place and hour Wednesday it stood at eighty-two degrees above.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, M. D., Professor of Anatomy, Harvard University, says: "My three months' experience of the Health Lift has been entirely satisfactory. It furnishes a concentrated form of exercise which I have found salutary, agreeable and exhilarating. It calls the blood into the muscles and leaves them ready for further action, so that I have found myself more disposed to take a long walk after four or five lifts than before. I may add that the particular apparatus used at your rooms, 'The Reactionary Lifter,' is a most ingenious, convenient, and serviceable arrangement, by which the lifter's own weight is made to do service, and by an easy and simple adjustment of leverage, to furnish a resistance to be overcome, all the way from 20 to 1000 pounds and more." The Health Lift may be seen and tried at Badger's building, Daniel street.

The liquor law of Maine undertakes to punish the Attorney General and County Attorneys for failure to perform certain duties. In Nebraska, however, they go further, and provide that the justice who tries the case "shall render judgment for the whole amounts of fine and costs, and be committed to the common jail until the sum is paid!" This arrangement would suit the victims of the law in this State without doubt excellently well.

Political.

The country has been in a very useless sweat, it appears, over a reported interview between the President and Mr. Cowles of the Cleveland Leader. That journal publishes this statement: "It is true that Mr. Cowles had a very pleasant interview with the President, but it is not true that he told him that there was no hope of carrying Ohio on account of his Southern policy; and the statement in regard to Messrs. Evarts and Schurz, and the President not rewarding his friends, is false in every particular." So another bubble vanishes into thin air.

As the result of the investigation into the Cincinnati election frauds, Judge Cox, (republican) takes the seat on the bench of the Superior Court of Hamilton county in the place of Harmon, (democrat,) elected by the vote of repeaters.

What Will They Do?

It is not carpet-baggers who are now dispensing justice in Mississipi. There is undiluted home rule in De Kalb, and just what sort of rule this may be the country will be better able to judge when it sees what the native authorities purpose to do about the recent popular pastimes in that village.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Mississippi authorities will do just as much to apprehend the Kemper county murderers as Gov. Nicholls did to bring to justice the assassins of Weber, the leading white republican of West Feliciana, who was murdered sixty days ago under circumstances which left no doubt as to the identity of the assassins. The punishment of a Southern democrat for killing a republican is a thing unheard of, and only such soft greenhorns as conduct the Tribune fancy such a thing will ever be done by the men who hold the offices in the South to-day by the triumph of the bullet over the ballot. —N. O. Republican.

LANGDON PARK
PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

THE citizens of Portsmouth are respectfully informed that any person can obtain permission to set out one or more Trees in the Park, on application either to a member of the Board, or to Mr. GEORGE E. STARR, Keeper, at No. 3 Mt. Vernon St.

Or any citizen, or Son of Portsmouth resident elsewhere, may have a Tree set in his name, of such variety as he may indicate, by sending $5, or any larger sum he may feel disposed, to the Treasurer or any member of the Board—as has already been done by many, and their names and trees placed upon the roll.

☞ Trees which are dead may be replaced by others in the same positions, by the same parties who planted the first.

The funds which were placed in the hands of Trustees by citizens and others have been entirely expended in the improvements thus far made in the Park. They, therefore, would hereby inform all interested that they are ready to expend in further adornments and improvements of the grounds, such sums as may be donated for the purpose; and contributions of any amount are hereby solicited to be sent at any time to the Treasurer or either of the other Trustees.

Asthma Cured.

HALLOCK, Illinois.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D.:

Dear Sir—I had been afflicted with the Asthma seven years. Last spring I took five bottles of your Discovery, and I had no return of the Asthma during the summer. In the fall it returned and I commenced taking your Discovery, and was soon entirely relieved again. I have heard of others being cured of Asthma by using your Discovery, and yet you are silent about the medicine being good for this disease. I know that nothing else could have effected the cure, for I took no other medicine.

Yours truly, P. W. CRADY.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT!

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG: I have found Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

The Last Siege of Gibraltar.

The most memorable, in some respects, of all the fourteen sieges to which Gibraltar has been subjected was the last, called the "great siege," one of the mighty struggles of history, which began in the year 1779. The famous General Elliott was commander of the fortress. Spain, in alliance with France and Morocco, endeavored to surprise Gibraltar; but a Swedish ship gave Elliott the alarm. The garrison comprised but five companies of artillery, and the whole force was less than five thousand five hundred men. The enemy's force was fourteen thousand. The siege began by the blockading the port, and a camp was formed at San Roque with the design of starving out the garrison. When the English Governor resolved to open fire upon his besiegers, a lady in the garrison fired the first shot. Never did a siege war rage more furiously than did this for nearly three years. The garrison was often reduced to sore straits for food; "a goose was worth a guinea," and Elliott tried upon himself the experiment of living upon four ounces of rice a day for a week. Exciting stories are told of the privateers that ran in, amidst terrible dangers, with provisions, and of the storms which threw welcome wood and cork within reach of the besieged. The rock at one time would surely have been taken had it not been for Admiral Rodney, who, sailing off the strait, captured a small fleet of Spanish war ships and merchantmen, and clearing the strait of besiegers, brought his prizes into port. But all danger was not yet averted; Gibraltar was again blockaded; scurvy broke out in the garrison, and Morocco refused her harbors to English ships. The enemy crept closer and closer to the fortress, but relief coming every now and then enabled the English still to hold out. The bombardments were fearful to endure. "The city was almost destroyed; scarcely a house habitable, and those left standing pierced by shot and shell." At one time the desperate garrison fell to plundering the town; Elliott shot the leaders in this outrage. The long agony, full of terrific combats and frightful privations, ended by the final abandonment of the siege early in 1783. If in that year the English had to make up their minds that they may must let go their American colonies, they had at least the consolation that Gibraltar was still theirs.—Harper's Magazine for June.

An Old Yarn Spun Over.

The following thrilling item of "news" has been going the rounds of the press for a month:

"A few months ago a Russian peasant and his wife and four children, while travelling in a sleigh along the banks of the Pruth, were pursued by a pack of wolves. The peasant urged on the horses, but soon saw that the wolves were fast gaining upon him. At the moment when the sleigh was surrounded by the ravenous beasts the man seized one of the children, threw it in the midst of them, and while the wolves were struggling over their prey he hastened on his horses and gained ground. Four times the wolves came up with the fugitives, and four times the horrible sacrifice was completed. At last the peasant and his wife arrived at the nearest village, leaving behind them the bones of their four children. In the bitterness of her despair the mother informed against her husband, but the judges, considering that if the peasant had not resigned himself to the horrible sacrifice he would not only have lost his children, but also his wife, acquitted the prisoner."

We remember reading the same yarn over hundreds of times when we went to school, thirty years ago, as it was in the class reading book then used in the schools of this city. The story was entitled "The Uncalled Avenger," and related how a woman in Russia, pursued by wolves, threw her four children to them one after another, and thus escaped; but when she turned the steaming horses into the yard of an inn, and related the horrible incidents of the journey, a man stepped up to the sledge and with the remark, "Woman, you are unfit to live," brained her with an axe. This man we suppose was "The Uncalled Avenger;" and he was pardoned by the then Empress of Russia. The old reading-book yarn makes a very good story once more.

A Few Hints to Book Lenders.

A correspondent of the Boston Transcript writes:

"I have a considerable library, quite miscellaneous in make up, and I have for years lent books under certain restrictions. In the first place, I seldom lend a volume out of a set, or if for good cause I make an exception, I stipulate the time for its return, as I am a firm believer in what is worth borrowing is worth returning. In the third place, when I need to use a book loaned, or when I think it has been out long enough to be read, I send for it, whether the borrower be friend, neighbor or acquaintance. In the fourth place, I always intend to cover my paper a book I lend, though I believe a careful borrower should do this if the book is taken uncovered. As to fine bindings, I am more chary about loaning, my decision depending upon the borrower and my opinion of him or her. I seldom have lost a book by lending. If the borrower dislikes being reminded of his delinquency in keeping the book an unnecessarily long time, or of my (the owner) needing the same, perhaps he will not soon again borrow, which decision on his part suits me exactly, if my experience with him shows his principles."

News and Notes.

Thomas Burton, clerk and porter for H. B. Claflin & Co., of New York, has been arrested for robberies committed during the past six months, which aggregate fully $52,000. It appears he carried off quantities of goods, almost daily, and sold them to a dealer in dry goods and notions. He was caught in the act with 85,000 needles and 35 packages of thread. By the aid of his confessions bonds are discovered covering $9000. Daniel March was also arrested in the act of carrying off goods from the same firm.

The Massachusetts Legislature adjourned Thursday evening, after a session of 135 days.

Gen. Wells of Utah says that no orders have been issued for a muster of the Nauvoo Legion.

A hurricane passed over Fulton, Miss., Wednesday evening, demolishing ten dwellings and a portion of the railroad depot. One man was killed and several injured.

The crew of the brig C. C. Sweeney mutinied at sea a few days ago, and the mate was shot dead. The brig returned to Havre, France, Wednesday, and the murderers were arrested.

The New York Herald gives the following description of the "Grand Carnival Ball" in that city: "Eleven o'clock, a dreary waste of floor; twelve o'clock, the 'King' and a dozen courtiers, looking blank, bedraggled and disappointed; one o'clock, a fair gathering of ladies and gentlemen who wisely kept their seats on the tiers, or, promenading unmasked, showed their respectability; two o'clock, twenty or thirty couples on the floor, pirouetting with a strange suggestiveness of the fancy touches of a public dance-house or something worse; three o'clock, a strong accession from the brothels, a retirement of decent people, a public man making a speech in which he threatened to plunge into the fountain if he was interrupted, fun fast and furious, and the can-can as wild and desperate in its lascivious surroundings as if its votaries had been born in filth and fertilized in corruption."

The monument on Dorchester Heights, to commemorate the evacuation of Boston by the British troops, was formally dedicated on Thursday.

The Boston base ball club beat the Cincinnatis, 5 to 0, on Thursday; the St. Louis club beat the Chicagos, 3 to 2, and the Hartfords the Indianopolis club, 2 to 1, on the same day.

The Iron Age says that the Russians have been constructing a torpedo-boat, which, at a distance of six feet below the surface of the water, is calculated to discharge from a submarine cannon a rifled torpedo shell twelve feet long and one foot in diameter with such force against the object to which it is directed that it will go one mile in a straight line under water.

Of all the dog laws yet invented, that of Hartford is the most stringent and at the same time the most absurd. By its provisions all Hartford dogs are required, from the 27th day of April until the 27th of September, to be either confined on the premises of their owners, or else kept continually and securely muzzled. And any citizen has the privilege of killing any dog found at large without a muzzle. When will people make a distinction between the curs of the gutter and the well bred dogs that are but little less valuable and no more liable to hydrophobia than their horses. If anything would make a dog mad it would be keeping him chained for six months, or compelling him to wear a muzzle.—Forest and Stream.

Mr. Charles Birking, of Newark, N. Y., must have a passion for conversation. When the burglars entered his sleeping room one night they saw him sitting up in bed, whereupon they bolted. Mr. Birking then remarked: "Stop a moment; I want to speak with you;" but they uncivilly refused to comply with the polite request. Mr. Birking was so indignant that he fired several shots at the fugitives, that they might be prevailed upon to stop, but so anxious were they to avoid conversation with him that they left behind them a considerable portion of their plunder.

Freedom Centennial Stackpole is a small boy of Salmon Falls. It is rare to find in one name so much of human attainment, national history and agricultural progress.

The Mississippi Tragedy.

Miss Cornelia Chisolm, the heroic daughter of Judge Chisolm of Kemper county, Mississippi, died a few days since from gangrene of the arm, resulting from one of the wounds she received while trying to protect her father from the organized band of assassins. We give a few extracts bearing on this brutal affair in Mississippi, from papers which have always been notably lenient toward local troubles in the South:

"The death of Cornelia Chisolm so deeply intensifies the public horror at the bloody affair in Mississippi that the Kemper County tragedy threatens to become a political catastrophe. It is in vain that democratic newspapers exhaust their ingenuity to show that the passions of party had nothing to do with the massacre, and overhaul old records to prove that the victims were men of doubtful character and turbulent manners. The spectre of this heroic young girl, with her "sweet intelligent face, brown hair, and large resolute blue eyes," shot to death while trying to save her father from the murderous mob, shielding him with her shattered hand, struck in the face and pierced with bullets, dying at last a martyr of filial devotion, puts argument to flight and defies cool judgment. It may be true that the feud which has reached this shocking termination was not entirely a political quarrel. Yet the Northern people will be sure to decide that Chisolm, his son and daughter, McLelland and Gilmer, were all massacred because they were republicans; and the Northern people will not be far from right. No one can read the story of the deliberate gathering of two hundred armed men, "sober, cool, and determined," on that black Sunday morning in De Kalb, or can recall the incidents of the long quarrel which preceded the murder, without feeling convinced that political animosity had more to do with the affair than the people of the district are willing to acknowledge. The most serious feature of the case is the tolerance, not to say the approval, with which the people of the county appear to regard the outrage."—N. Y. Tribune, (Ind.)

"Judge Chisolm and his daughter are both dead. It gives a much deeper sense of the intensity of hatred and the utter barbarism of the community to know that the mangled and hopelessly wounded father was compelled to die behind barricaded windows to prevent his end from being hastened by shots from assassins impatient at his lingering hold upon life, and that the heroic young girl, who risked her life to save her father's, was suffered to perish in agony from a slight wound because no surgeon was willing or dared to go to the house to dress it, than the story of the first hot tragedy. A community is liable to be hurried into cruelty and violence by passion, but such cold-blooded malignity and vindictiveness as this could only exist among barbarism. If the story had been told of Roumania, it would have afforded another text for an outcry against the unspeakable Turk, and if it had been done by the Sioux we should have rejoiced at the scalps which avenged it. Yet it was done in one of the States of the Union, and was not the act of a single abnormal criminal, but of an entire community, in good repute with itself and called civilized."—Providence Journal, (Repub.)

"Isn't it about time the country heard from Gov. Stone of Mississippi? What does he propose to do about the arrest and punishment of the bloody scoundrels who participated in the DeKalb massacre? These things have not been done in the dark, and and he may rest assured they will be remembered to the discredit of the entire State and his own reputation as an Executive."—Cincinnati Commercial (Ind.)

Why Printers Die Young.

A writer fully accounts for the reason why printers die young and why they are continually tramping from place to place in search of peace and quietude. He says that working for forty editors and scores of authors, every one of which is as sensitive as a sore thumb and as lively and interesting as a hornet, no wonder the printers die young, and only pachydermatous, grizzly, mulish specimens get their share of life. The writer wishes he could offer himself as an awful example of the perils which environ the man who meddles with cold—type. A thoroughly-trained printer should have a step-mother, and then a step-father, and then have been bound out to a tanner, and then have married a scolding wife and lived in a smoky house, and have had a family of babies who are afflicted with the colic. He should have added to all this discipline a thorough knowledge of science and law, languages, theology, history and biography. If, in addition, he has a vicious-looking countenance and an amiable disposition, he may stand some chance with these authors and editors; but the probabilities are, after all, that they will worry him to death. This picture will have a very depressing effect upon ambitious boys who are anxious to learn the "art preservative of arts." The picture, however, is a tolerably correct one. —Elmira Advertiser.

A Rabid Cow.

Mr. James Bolter lost a valuable Alderney cow yesterday from hydrophobia. The animal was taken sick on Friday last, the hired man reporting that she would not eat. Sunday she showed symptoms of hydrophobia, and was kept locked up in the barn. Mr. George Tuttle, a stock raiser and cow doctor, who lives on the Blue Hills road, was sent for, and pronounced it a case of hydrophobia without a doubt. He has had sheep bitten by rabid dogs, and he pronounces the symptoms exhibited by Mr. Bolter's cow as identical. The cow was killed yesterday morning. She was a valuable animal, worth $200. It is supposed that the cow was bitten by a rabid dog while in the pasture.—Hartford Courant, May 15th.

—A girl who can put a square patch on a pair of pantaloons may not be so accomplished as one who can work a green worsted dog on a yellow ground, but she is of more real value in the community.

CONDITION PILLS

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years. Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $5.00.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May, John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them, and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '7

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get relief for a time. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or six months, sometimes able to be walking and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered. I was advised to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was starting to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Matthews my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrill, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MTHOS. W. LANE:—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

CLEAR THE TRACK.

Messrs. Editors: Please allow me space in your columns to utter a brief complaint, and give a hint (which may be of value) to the city authorities. My complaint is that in front of certain of the dry-goods stores on Market street the sidewalk is not only pretty thoroughly blockaded by large packing-cases all through the day and every day, but that the boxes are allowed to remain there all night, to the serious inconvenience and not trifling danger of pedestrians. These boxes are probably put there as advertisements, the same as cloths are hung out on awning posts and railings. and though it is a nuisance to have the public thoroughfares thus illegally (as I believe) obstructed yet no serious evils are likely to arise, as people can see to thread their way through in the daytime; but it is different at night, as I was recently made aware by falling over one of the boxes as I was hurriedly passing along at a late hour. I was not injured—only annoyed—by the occurrence; but had I been seriously hurt I have no doubt a suit against the city for actual and exemplary damages would have been successful. I would suggest to the Mayor and City Marshal, that if there is a municipal ordinance against obstructing the sidewalks it would be well to enforce it, at least so far as to have the walks cleared at night, lest at some time the tax-payers have a heavy bill of damages to pay; and if there is no such ordinance, I would suggest to the City Councils the propriety of immediately passing one declaring the sidewalks the property of the public and not of individuals. U. S. CIRCUIT COURT:

Friday, May 18th.

The trial of Thomas Howe for perjury was continued, the first witness in the morning being Abram Jackson of Manchester, the gentleman who acted as moderator of the famous ward five in the city of Manchester at the March election in 1875, when the repeating was carried on openly and unrestrained. Jackson is a tall, cadaverous specimen, adorned with white hair and a bald pate, and graced with manners very "suave." He has testified before in cases arising out of that March election, and tells his story with a degree of confidence that is seldom equalled on the witness stand. The graceful wave of his hand, his profound bow, his knowing smile, are all studies, which can only be appreciated when seen in harmonious combination in the Court room.

Mr. Hatch, one of the counsel for the defendant, next testified as to occurrences transpiring at a former trial in which he was counsel, when the same matter was in issue though another man was defendant.

Hon. Lewis W. Clark began his argument for the prisoner at ten o'clock A. M., and occupied an hour. Mr. Clark seemed—judging from his tone of voice—to apprehend that some of the jury might be deaf; and as compared with the quiet, convincing manner of Dist. Atty J. G. Hall, who followed him, his plea was like the raging ocean, followed by the calm sea of logical argument for which the Attorney of the United States is justly celebrated.

The case was given to the jury at half-past two o'clock, and after considerable deliberation they were unable to agree upon a verdict and were discharged from the further consideration of the case.

Wm. Haskell, of Warner, was tried for being a retail dealer in liquor without payment of a special tax required by the revenue law. The evidence showed but two sales, and those under circumstances that did not convince the jury that he was a dealer; and they returned a verdict of acquittal. A. R. Hatch and W. C. Harriman, for the respondent.

The Court takes a recess until some time in July, when cases will be heard upon motions for new trials, etc. The petit jurors were discharged.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, May 18th.

Martin Johnson and his wife Margaret were arraigned on a charge of keeping a disorderly house on Brewster street. The man acknowledged the offence, but the woman pleaded not guilty; both were bound over ($100 each) to appear at the October term of the Supreme Court.

JOTTINGS.

The Band of Hope will meet this (Saturday) afternoon at three o'clock at Mechanics' Hall, when the question of the May Festival will be considered.

The steam yacht "Mollie" touched here on Friday morning with a party of gentlemen from Dover, who were on a piscatory excursion to the Isles of Shoals for the day. The "Mollie" is just the boat for down-river parties; she is strongly built, and somewhat similar in style to the steam launches used by our naval vessels; is about thirty-five feet long, with a beam of nine feet. She is owned by Mr. Eugene Smart; and Mr. Warren, who knows all the crooks and turns of the river, is skipper. We presume this fine little boat will be a favorite with fishing and other excursion parties from Dover and the other up-river places, this summer.

There was no meeting of the City Councils on Thursday evening. The Common Council at its last meeting, on the 10th inst., adjourned for two weeks; and there was no quorum in the Board of Aldermen until after eight o'clock, when it was considered too late to tackle the appropriation bill.

There will be a Temperance meeting at Mechanics' Hall to-morrow (Sunday) evening, at half-past seven o'clock, commencing with Praise Service, followed by speaking by members of the Reform Club. A collection will be taken to defray expenses.

Harry Bloodgood's Combination will give an entertainment in Franklin Opera Hall on Thursday evening, May 24th.

The apprehension expressed by many people last year that the improvement and alteration of grade of Richards avenue would be fatal to many of the fine trees there, seems not to have been well founded, for with one or two exceptions they have leaved out as well as ever and appear to be thriving finely.

The following additional particulars of the loss of schooner Marietta Tilton are given. The collision with the steamer Harrisburg occurred close to the light-ship on Cross Rip, Vineyard Sound, at about nine o'clock on the evening of Wednesday, May 16th, the schooner going down in about two minutes, two hundred yards from the light-ship, in seven fathoms of water. The crew of the schooner made an effort to cut the boat clear from the stern, but before the gripes were cleared—there being but one knife among the party—the vessel went down, carrying the boat, in which were the entire crew and the captain's wife. The steamer's boats were covered with the debris from the falling spars of the schooner, and it was impossible to clear them in time to be of service in saving any lives. Capt. Worth of the Harrisburg hailed the light-ship immediately on the sinking of the schooner, and they sent a boat's crew, which reached them in seven minutes, and assisted in saving one man, for which promptness they deserve great praise. But three of the crew were seen after the vessel went down, one of whom was struck while in the water by the mainmast as it fell clear of the steamer, and was not seen afterward. The Harrisburg was entangled in the wreck for two hours. After clearing from it, anchored and remained until daylight.

The Portland Press of Friday morning contained the following notice of the dramatic entertainment given in that city by the Portsmouth Eclectic Club: "Last evening Music Hall contained a select and appreciative audience to witness the plays of 'A Happy Pair' and 'Meg's Diversion.' The acting was very fine and the audience testified their appreciation of it by their liberal floral offerings."

Those who live in the vicinity of the corner of Hanover and Fleet streets can fully appreciate the improvements made by Mr. James F. Jenness. The old stage stable which was a disgrace to the city for so many years, made its exit from the scene long ago; and the old rattletrap houses and pieces of houses, piles of ashes, dead cats, tin pots and hoop skirts which for some years occupied its site, have given place to a park, neatly fenced in and planted with fruit trees. The old Goodrich mansion has also been torn down, and some changes are intended there which will beautify the district and increase the present valuation of the real estate in the neighborhood.

Last week two young men of this city took a trip to Gilmanton, and brought back with them two hundred and forty-five trout. Those who know what brook trout are say that they were the handsomest lot ever brought to Portsmouth.

Miss Jeannette E. Hoyt of Newington has been appointed teacher of the Lafayette school. She is but sixteen years of age and came off victor over three other older and more experienced competitors, her rank being 96 1-4 per cent. There were fourteen applicants for the position, though only four presented themselves for examination.

The suit of George E. Bartlett of Eliot vs. Town of Kittery, for alleged personal injuries by his horse taking fright at a boiler lying by the side of the road, damages being laid at $10,000, has been decided against the plaintiff.

Amos S. Alexander, Esq., formerly of this city, died on the 9th inst., in Chicago, where he was an honored member of the bar. He was widely known in this State, was a native of Bow, and read law at Concord, where he was admitted to the Merrimack county bar. He practised his profession for a few years at Fisherville, then came to this city. He had resided in the West some twenty years, and was a member of the law firm of Merriam & Alexander. The bar and judges of Cook county, Illinois, held a meeting, at which addresses eulogistic of the deceased were made and resolutions passed to the memory of him who had long been a worthy member of the Chicago bar, honest, earnest and able, a lawyer of large experience and ripe judgment, and who was diligent, conscientious and courteous in the discharge of his professional duties. Mr. Alexander was one of the latest democratic editors of the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, and one of the most able of the many able men who have occupied that position; he was a keen and fearless writer, and a gentleman.

Mother says you don't come and get it but six days in a week before we've seen it." Thus the familiar trifles of the croquet ground begin to be heard again as they float along the street.

Titans and Men.

"Blessed are the meek," exclaims the voice of inspiration, but can a man be meek with the consciousness that a dreaded monster is consuming his vitals. We are not a race of Titans. A Prometheus might stand chained to the torturing rock with a vulture perpetually gnawing his liver, and his face ever wear an expression of heroic and even meek endurance. But Prometheus has left no descendants. With vultures (disease) consuming his liver, the modern man makes himself and every one around him miserable. Fretful, gloomy, hypochondriacal, he sees the world and life all on the wrong side—the dark side—and whoever dares to assert that there is a sunny side, he regards as an enemy, or at best a mocker of his imaginary woes. Unlike the mythical Titan, the victim of disease is not succorless. There is an arm to rescue—a balm to cleanse and heal. As remedies for this most depressing of all diseases,—"Liver Complaint,"—none are more efficient or popular than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets. The Pellets effectually remove the effete and poisonous matters, while the Medical Discovery imparts strength and health to the entire system. They are sold by druggists.

The Debris of the System

Must either pass through its natural channels of exit, the bowels, the kidneys and the pores, or, in default thereof, poison and disorder the fluids of the system. In order to effect the complete expulsion of this dangerous refuse, the organs through which it passes off must be active and unobstructed. Fortunately there is a certain means of rendering them so when they are not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stimulate the action of the excretory organs, and by diffusing a genial warmth through the circulation, encourage moderate perspiration. By this triple effect the exodus of the foecal and other waste matters are encouraged, and the system freed from peril it would otherwise incur. The action of the bowels which follows the use of this beneficent alterative is easy and unaccompanied by griping, and its stimulative effect upon the urinary organs very conducive to their local health.

Daily Chronicle.

—Blood relations—The news of the next few months.

—Wagner travels about so much that they are beginning to call him the "Flying Dutchman."

—Acording to the Lawrence Eagle, they are a little personal in the Lawrence City Government. "Does the Council understand the question now?" asked the President. "I did," answered Councilman Sweeney, scratching his head, "till you began to explain, but now I don't know anything about it."

—Wedding cake is now prepared for fashionable distribution with a covering of icing on which is the monogram of the bride and bridegroom in colors. It is nothing if not unique, and has been received with great favor. Each square piece thus decorated is put into a satin covered box, on which orange blossoms are worked in floss silk.

—"I think, my dear," said the President, as he took his nightshirt from under the pillow, "that we will give a dinner, bye and bye, and have Sherry—" "Rutherford!" said Mrs. Hayes, "—have Sheridan and some of the army people," concluded the commander-in-chief, as he adroitly slipped into bed, and left his wife to tuck up the baby and turn down the gas.—Com. Bulletin.

—A newspaper correspondent in Virginia tells a rather romantic story about the widow of Commodore Vanderbilt. It is, in brief, that Miss Crawford, before her marriage, had a great liking for a cousin of hers in Virginia, a young physician, and their engagement was reported. After her marriage to the Commodore the physician also married. Now she is a widow, and he a widower, and the report is that their intimacy has been renewed, and that their marriage is likely to follow.

—The Emperor William's favorite mare which he rode at the battle of Sadowa died a short time ago, and in connection with the event this story is related. During the battle, the King accompanied by Prince Bismarck, repeatedly placed himself in great danger from the shells whizzing all around. In vain Prince Bismarck urged him, and replied, "Well, Bismarck, now let us ride on." So saying, His Majesty turned and cantered away as slowly as though riding along the Linden. That made me wild, and riding up behind him I gave Miss Sadowa a sly kick that considerably hurried her movements. The King looked round surprised, and I fancy had some slight suspicion of the truth, but he said nothing."

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before we was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery?

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve You Lungs.
or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England.
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
—USE—
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their own ers or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any offal of meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 17. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substance.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be a thing that he claims for it.

The Bootblack's Saratoga Trip.

"This begins to remind me of a trip to Saratoga," sighed one of the bootblacks, as he dragged himself into the shade of a post. "Purty hard times to go off down there," realized one of his friends; "it takes cash to travel around and boss hotel clerks." "What! Ain't you going anywhere?" "Well, ma and I went to State Prison last July, and we are talkin' of goin' agin this summer, but I don't think we'll swing around to Saratoga. We've got to have a new ice-box and a clothes-line, and we ain't the kind to put on style and go without the comforts of home. Be you going?" "Jim, kin I trust you?" asked the first in a whisper. "Yass." "I'm going to blow around about Saratoga wherever I can, but when the time comes to go I'll take a walk up to the water works, lay out for a few nights, and come back all wrinkled up, and I'll get all the credit and save all the expense. Keep mum, Jim—style is everything."

How the Artist got his House.

In connection with the recent sale of some pictures by Adrian Van de Velde, the Flemish painter, the Journal d'Anvers relates how he became possessed of his country house near Antwerp. The house belonged to the great Lord Clarendon, and Van de Velde, happening to pass by it one day, was so much struck by the beauty of the site and of the gardens that he determined to transfer them to canvass. He took up his quarters in a neighboring village, and after completing the picture went with it to London, where he put it into a public sale with a heavy reserve upon it. Lord Clarendon, who was in London at the time, happened to attend the sale, and, recognizing his own house, bid for the picture. There were several other offers, and Lord Clarendon, after having been outbid several times, said, "I will give the original for this copy." At the word "copy" the painter, who was in the room, apostrophized Lord Clarendon in no measured terms, and asked him what he meant by suggesting that the picture was a copy. Lord Clarendon repeated his offer, adding, "I know that Van de Velde is the painter, and I will give him the original for the copy." There was no mistaking what this meant; the offer was accepted.

—The Brookville Jeffersonian relates that the first book agent of the season appeared yesterday and met with an ovation. It struck him just ova the left eye and eggsploded.

—Love may be a relic of paradise, but when a man has been sitting up in the back parlor with the light turned down till half-past twelve his imagination, as his footsteps reverberate through the silent shadowed streets on his homeward way, does not revel so much in thoughts of poetry and buds and flowers, as it does in the prospect that there are a few cold beans left in the house.—Norwich Bulletin.

—At a very exclusive ball at the French seaside, a young druggist clerk approached one of the fairest and most aristocratic of the ladies, and humbly solicited the favor of a quadrille. The lady inspected him critically from his tie to his boots, and, taking her card, said: "I never, monsieur, dance with people whose names are not preceded by a de. What shall I inscribe?" "Monsieur Peroxide de Manganese, mademoiselle," he replied.

—This is the way the prohibitory law is enforced in Maine: A lodger at the Johnson House in Gardiner got up in the morning awful thirsty, and approaching the landlord, said he must have a drink of cider. He was assured he could not buy it in the city. "Can get it by the gallon, can't I?" he said. He was told he could. So he went up to a store and inquired if they had any cider to "sell by the gallon." He was told they had. He wanted to try it, and drew a pint dipper full and drank it. He said he "thought it was too hard for mince pies," and threw a dime on the counter and left.

—A silly fellow in San Francisco recently got the worst of his own practical joke, as every joker ought. He advertised in the San Francisco newspapers for one thousand able-bodied men, to receive $2.50 per day. Two thousand unemployed workingmen assembled before the Mechanics' Exchange at the appointed time. When they saw that they were heartlessly hoaxed, they marched to the City Hall and asked the Mayor to discover the author of the hoax. The latter was arrested next day, just after he had paid for an advertisement offering a twenty-five dollar reward for information regarding the author of the hoax.

—The Hartford correspondent of the Springfield Republican has this story of a Congregational clergyman of that city who exchanged with another: On his way home from the church he found himself behind three ladies engaged in a lively discussion over the music of the service, one condemning the soprano and another the tenor, while the third stoutly defended both. As the discussion grew warm, the third lady sought to pour oil on the troubled waters, and, in the words of the clergyman, "did so to perfection by a single judicious and truthful remark, to which all of them at once assented." "And what was that, pray?" asked his interested auditors as he told the story. "Oh, said he, "she simply said, 'Well, it was a miserable sermon anyhow.'"

MONDAY, MAY 21, 1877.

The War.

A despatch from Bucharest says, in the Turkish village of Tourtakai there is quite a Christian element, though subordinate in numbers to the Turks. On the night of the 16th inst. the latter made a concerted and general attack upon the Christians. Some frightful atrocities took place; the males were put indiscriminately to the sword; many of the older women shared the same fate, and the younger were brutally outraged. The cries of the victims were distinctly heard by the outposts of the Roumanian army on the opposite side of the river, and the story is further corroborated by the reports of two Bulgarians, who in some way succeeded in avoiding the fate of their companions and managed to effect their escape by crossing the Danube. Their account of the outrage and murder of old and young and the cruel deaths inflicted is horrible.

Eight Turkish soldiers, captured near Ibrail, were armed with American rifles, firing thirty-six cartridges without reloading. In addition to the charges contained in his rifle, each soldier was provided with a hundred and twenty rounds of ammunition.

The New York Sun's London special of the 18th says: From all naval rendezvous prodigious accumulations of naval and military stores are en route to the Mediterranean stations. Orders have been sent to India to mobilize the Mussulman contingent. Under these signs the markets have become unsettled, and corn, anticipating cavalry demands, has reached extreme prices. The tone of the majority of the London and provincial press is outspoken for instant intervention upon almost any pretext. War newspapers repeat the street arguments that the Russians disregard the final clauses in the Black Sea treaty of 1854 guaranteeing the inviolability of a narrow slip of territory north and west of the Danube. War measures are welcomed with enthusiasm among the great body of merchants whose business is crippled by the blockade of the Black Sea and the cessation of traffic with that region, which is Liverpool, Glasgow and London more than equals trans-Atlantic operations. Besides this, various ranks of business sustain heavy losses, many suffering bankruptcy by the capture, confiscation or dispersion of their Asiatic branches. In English homes, even among the lower ranks, a feeling of intense hostility against Russia is marked. They charge upon the Czar's covetous ambition the hardships arising from the rise in the price of bread, the stagnation in business, and all the miseries that accompany war without its advantages. England's interests will be the pretext, and the first Russian success of magnitude the occasion for intervention. That this will be the end, the best informed men in Parliament, the press, and in public life concur in declaring. The war party press clamor for instant protection of England's interests.

The reported desperate and bloody conflicts at Kars, Batoum and Poti, in Asia Minor, are now said to have been mere skirmishes, "neither of which can be elevated to the dignity of a battle."

News and Notes.

A Mrs. Donovan, of Cincinnati, having some trouble with her husband on Friday, took her two children, a boy of six months and a girl of two years, to the river, and drowned them and herself.

A private telegram received at London says that the amount of property destroyed at Iqique in Peru was considerable, including stores, quays and about 10,000 tons of nitrate of soda ready for shipment, and the railway connections were so much damaged that it will require a month to repair them. The earthquake extended along the Peruvian coast and to Bolivia. At Fabel Lon-de-Pisca a number of vessels were wrecked.

The British brig Maggie Vail, Capt Fields, from Richmond, Va., for Rio Janeiro, went to sea from Cape Henry Dec. 28, and as she has not since been heard from, it is supposed that she has been lost with all on board, some eight or ten persons. She had a cargo of flour, registered 430 tons, and hailed from Halifax, N. S.

Lloyd's agent at Valparaiso telegraphs that seventeen ships were totally lost and forty damaged on the coast of Peru by the earthquake that destroyed Iquique.

The crippled steamer Sidonian has been spoken within less than a hundred miles of the Irish coast.

New Hampshire Items.

Charles Ryan, for the past three years tax collector of the town of Marlboro, is reported to be "short" in his accounts with the town about $2200; an error in the drawing of his bond, it is said, will render it valueless, and the town will have to bear the loss.

Russell Charles of Chatham, now in his 80th year, recently drove a pair of steers and harrowed two acres of ground twice over and went about a mile home to dinner and back. Mr. Charles is the father of nine sons and two daughters, all of whom are living.

The case of Joseph Buzzell, charged with instigating the murder of Susan J. Hanson will come before the full Bench in Concord in June. The question as to whether Buzzel can be tried twice for the same offence is still engaging the attention of the lawyers, and the decision is awaited with considerable anxiety.

The suspending of the skeleton of Evans, the murderer, by the Dartmouth students, on the college campus, recalls another incident in regard to his remains, which caused considerable excitement. Three years ago this Spring, after the execution at Concord, his body, which he had sold to the Dartmouth Medical College for $50, was placed in the dissecting room. Four students broke in by night, took away the body and placed it in the chapel in the Freshmen's seats, where it was discovered the next morning at prayers, and the Freshmen were excused from attendance that morning. The Faculty and Trustees were very indignant over the matter, and no pains were spared to discover the authors of the deed, but they were never found.

The Dover Press is authority for the statement that no less than four persons have become insane since the close of the revival meetings in that city, caused by religious excitement.

The dwelling house and barns of Elon Cutting, in Newport, were partially destroyed by fire early on Saturday morning. Loss $4000; insured $3000. The fire is supposed to have been the work of tramps.

Political.

There is considerable talk about the restoration of the Whig party in North Carolina. If there is anything left of that party above ground it is likely to be found in the old Tar State, which was a Whig State as long as there was a Whig party. But the best word that comes from North Carolina is the revolt against partisan despotism and intolerance which has begun there. Gen. Leach, a democrat, appears to be a leader in the movement, but he is not alone. He declares his approval of the President's course, and predicts that any Southern Congressman who votes against his policy and runs again will be know as the candidate who "ran for office and got no votes." He warns the democratic leaders of the State that if they continue to pursue their present bitter and intolerant course, there is trouble ahead.

A "conciliatory" preacher, one Rev. Walker Lewis, in delivering the oration at Macon, Ga., on the Confederate Memorial Day, thus addressed his hearers: "Stand then to your principles, and give the present hypocritical administration the tribute of your immeasurable loathing. Its head, if not himself a thief, is knowingly a receiver of stolen goods, and neither previous worth nor subsequent conservatism can condone the injustice of his infamous inauguration, or cover the shameless degradation of wearing the stolen honors of another. False to his own party, false to the stupendous villains that gagged States in his behalf, false to the black commission and its perjured judge, all that he does with seeming decency is only the bid of a hypocrite for the treachery of others."

The democratic Chicago Times is more forcible than elegant, but at the same time sound, in its criticism of the refusal of ex-Governor Tilden, Governor Robinson and other New York democrats to attend the Chamber of Commerce dinner "lest their attendance should seem an endorsement of the declaration of the election of President Hayes." The Times says: "The behavior of those incorrigible relics of the silurian party was ridiculous and contemptible. They simply made conspicuous asses of themselves."

A Precious Rascal.

Miss Ella E. Jones, the sixteen-years-old daughter of Josiah P. Jones of West Epping, who has been missing for some time, was found on Friday at the house of Ira Rollins at Alton Bay, in company with Cyrus W. Peavey, the canting young hypocrite who enticed her from her home. The girl's story (which is believed in Epping) is as follows:

"Peavey called in the evening and asked me to take a short walk with him. I was acquainted with him and thought there was no harm in going. We went slowly as far as the depot. When I wanted to go back home he said if I would walk a little ways down the railroad he would then go home with me. We then started down the track. I soon grew tired and bagged of him to take me home. He then threatened me and said that I must go with him. I was tired and could hardly stand. Then he held a bottle to my nose and in a short time I lost all recollection and knew nothing more till I found myself in Rochester next morning. Afterward, through fear of him, I kept with him, as he visited friends and relations, until my father found me. I tried to write home but he would give me no chance to. He told the people where we visited that he was married to me."

The girl disappeared on Sunday evening, May 6th. She is sickly, and had always borne a good character until she left with Peavey, who while in Epping pretended to be very religious and an apostle of temperance. When Peavey and his victim were found, the girl gladly accompanied her father home; but before papers could be made out for the arrest of Peavey he had fled. Why in the name of common sense somebody did not arrest the scoundrel without papers we cannot see. And a choice lot of worthy citizens the people where the pair have been stopping must be, not to have acquainted the girl's father with her whereabouts; for it is impossible, with the wide publicity given the affair by the press, that they should not have known all the suspicious circumstances of the case.

—"Pull out, Bill!" shrieked an engineer's son to one of his playmates, a brakeman's boy, who was in imminent danger of getting smashed by his mother, who was coming after him; "Git on the main line and give her steam! Here comes the switch engine!" But before the juvenile could get in motion she had him by the ear and he was laid up with a hot box.

—The growing custom of putting the choir at the pulpit end of the church has the very serious drawback that it prevents a man from turning around and looking up at the organ in a critical manner just before the contribution box approaches his pew.

The McGarrahan Claim.

The celebrated McGarrahan case, involving the title to the New Idria Quicksilver Mine, is again before the Interior Department. McGarrahan is asking no special action by the Government at this time. He has brought suit in the California courts upon the manuscript of a patent which he claims to have been issued by the Interior Department. The California court having decided adversely to his claim, he has appealed to the United States Supreme Court, and the case will be tried at the next term. Per contra, the New Idria Mining Company desires to have the Interior Department issue a patent to them, and the question whether they are bound to do so has been submitted to the Attorney-General for his opinion. It is this question which has been recently been argued by Judge Montgomery Blair, counsel for McGarrahan, and ex-Senator Stewart for the New Idria Company. The debate on this occasion was quite heated and personal. This great land suit has now been running on for a number of years and excites the deepest interest in California; it has been before Congress and the Supreme Court several times and has been debated by the ablest legal minds. The claims of the New Idria Company were supported by Hon. Jere S. Black, ex-Speaker M. C. Kerr, Hon. Eugene Casserly and others, while McGarrahan's case has been upheld by Hon. James B. Beck, John A. Bingham, Hon. Montgomery Blair and Hon. George W. McCrary, now Secretary of War, and other distinguished gentlemen.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month latter to a Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gained in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving my testimonial; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some people think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MTHOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DEACONS BEWARE.

A correspondent at Kingston (a clergyman) writes us as follows: "Beware of an imposter. He has been operating in eastern Massachusetts, and has lately turned up in this county. He has various aliases, and hails from different places,—but regularly wants to 'borrow' only two or three dollars just to help him on his way home, as he has a 'sore thumb' and can't work. He is described in a Boston paper as 'a good sized man, past twenty years old, with light complexion, smooth face,—is a glib talker,' especially interested in the children. In Massachusetts he wanted to go to Maine; and now here, he wishes to get back from Maine to some place west of us. He professes to have been a Sabbath School Superintendent, and hunts out the deacons for his victims."

THE IRON-HORSES' STABLE.

While taking a walk about the town a day or two ago we chanced to wander up along the Eastern Railroad track to the "Round House," so-called, and through the courtesy of our friend Mr. Edward A. Ferguson we were shown the various objects of interest in this neat and extensive department of the E. R. R.. In the semi-circular brick building near the creek that one sees as he rides out of the city by rail toward Boston, there are fifteen locomotive pits. Over these pits at different hours of the day or night are trundled the several engines of the road, each engineer having a regular place for his engine. For instance, pit No. 1 is "Charley" Green's, pit No. 2 is Peter Page's, pit No. 3 "Billy" Calder's (perhaps,) and so on through the fifteen. In each section (embracing three pits) there is a good sink with plenty of soap and crash for "washing up;" an ample locker, with all the necessary appurtenances for oiling, cleaning and supplying the engines with small stores as are in common use in the daily running of these machines. So the engineer can here make his toilet; and the fireman, after cleaning up his engine, can also make himself up here in a style good enough to allow him to meet his girl on his way home without that maidenly blush that was so common when we were boys, and an old, dingy, dirty engine house was the stabling facilities of the E. R. R.

In one portion of this immense "round house" are piles of springs for locomotives, so that if an engine should come in with a broken spring, all that is needed is to find a No. of spring corresponding with the No. of the engine, "jack up" the machine, take out the broken piece and insert the new, and the engine is again as good as ever. Just so with trucks. There is a goodly supply of locomotive trucks, so that if one is sounded (as it always is on arriving here) and found broken or weakening, a new one is substituted.

A large turn-table is situated in the arc of the semi-circle formed by the construction of the building, and every locomotive must needs run upon this and be turned ere it reaches its pit. The ingenious manner in which this table is constructed, together with the nicety of its adjustment enables a twenty or thirty-ton locomotive to be turned with the ease with which a father would turn a perambulator containing his first pair of twin babies. Just across the neatly graded yard is a large coal shed containing 800 tons or more of coal, and three immense water tanks that are kept constantly filled with water, for the purpose of supplying the engines with their sinews of life before they take their respective trains. In another apartment may be found sleeping berths for those firemen and engineers whose trains leave or arrive at various hours of the night. Conveniently near are sinks for washing, together with the modern appliances for bathing, hot and cold water being supplied in the most abundant manner; so that a fireman can have just as good a wash as he could were he a regular boarder at the Rockingham. Separated from these bed-rooms by a brick wall is a large storeroom where all the necessary small stores, such as kerosene, sperm oil, benzine, cotton waste, and so on, are kept in bulk and issued whenever required by an individual selected for the purpose, who notes everything thus disposed of in a small book kept for the purpose, and at the end of each month makes a return of his doings to the Master of the Yard, who, after incorporating it in his more extended monthly account, forwards it to headquarters.

A pleasant room with all the machinery for making the needed repairs on locomotives that may chance to get out of order, and another room where there is one forge in full blast and appurtenances for two more, complete the construction facilities at this station. Everything in and about those buildings is neat and orderly. The business of the yard is conducted quietly and systematically. Each man knows his duty and is expected to attend to it. When he don't, his discharge is as sure as the going down of the sun, and a new man appears in the morning.

The supervising manager, Mr. E. A. Ferguson, has held his present responsible position some four or five years, and thoroughly knowing his duty faithfully attends to it. No better evidence of this statement need be adduced than a general look at the several departments in and around this locomotive yard.

JOTTINGS.

On Thursday evening, as the seven o'clock train from this city for Dover was crossing Dover Point bridge, the dead body of a man was seen floating up the river. It is supposed it was the body of William S. Roberts, drowned near Boiling Rock some days previously.

The Portland Advertiser says: "Callender's Georgia Minstrels far excel their darkey imitators in many points. The new melodies find in them the fittest interpretations. They have a wealth of plantation sayings you look in vain for among the more pretentious delineators of negro characters. The little extravaganzas are very rich in their fidelity to negro life, and they are full of natural rollicking fun, in which there is no taint of vulgarity. Their audiences are large and fashionable ones, and are enthusiastic over their performances." They will appear at Franklin Hall to-morrow evening, when Bob Height, Billy Kersands, and other artists will take part.

Sloop yacht Ada, built for Rev. W. H. Hepworth, and latterly owned by Messrs. O. & C. Laighton of the Appledore House, Isles of Shoals, has been purchased by Valentine Doane of this city.

In the paragraph relating to the excitement in Newburyport over the publication of the Word of Truth temperance paper, in our South Seabrook correspondent's letter last week, it was stated that "one of the members of the Old South" congregation of Newburyport threatened to horsewhip Mr. Wolfe, the editor and publisher of the paper; it should have been "one of the dramsellers" (and was so written), the grocers connected with the church who sell liquor keeping it only for their customers and none of them keeping a bar.

Schooner D. & J. Lee, lying at anchor near Pier wharf, was attached Saturday and Capt. Smith, her commander, arrested, for damages to schooner Active, off Nantucket Shoals, in 1875. Our shipping reporter says the D. & J. Lee sailed on Saturday, so we presume the matter was settled in some way.

Rev. Mr. Hubbell is preaching a series of sermons at the North church, Sabbath mornings, on "The Fruits of the Spirit." The subject of the last Sunday's discourse was "Joy."

The Exeter News-Letter says "Carmi A. Norton of Greenland came very near his end Saturday, May 12, by a horse he purchased the day before, from the Pierce farm. After placing himself in his carriage, the horse started to run, taking off the corner board of his house, thence over a horse power, and then over a wood pile, throwing Mr. Norton to the ground and completely demolishing the carriage. The horse then ran until the swamp brought him up, where he was found. Mr. Norton escaped with a lame ankle, much to every one's surprise."

Harper's Magazine for June is a beautiful number, and for the uniform excellence of its illustrations and the variety and interest of its reading matter, it deserves commendation. The illustrations are seventy-eight in number and represent the work of leading American engravers. For sale at J. H. Foster's book-store and Moses Brothers' newsroom.

The Burroughs estate on Pleasant street has been purchased by Woodbury Langdon, Esq., of New York, for $15,000, we are informed. Mr. Langdon is a great-grandson of Judge Langdon and a great-grandnephew of Gov. Woodbury Langdon; his mother, Mrs. Bassett of New York, is a sister of Mrs. Cutter of this city.

Parts 37 to 40 inclusive, of Zell's Encyclopedia, have been received, and fully sustain all we have said in praise of previous numbers. The work will be completed in sixty-four numbers, forming two quarto volumes of 2600 pages, containing 160,000 articles, nearly 3,000 illustrations and 18 maps, and, as we have before remarked, no student or professional man can afford to be without it. It is, in fact, equal to a complete library of works on all subjects. The subscription price is but fifty cents per number. T. E. Zell, Davis & Co., of Philadelphia, are the publishers, and Horace King of Thompsonville, Conn., is the New England agent. Address Mr. King if you wish a specimen number (which will be sent for twenty cents) or would like to secure an agency.

Schooner Clyde, Capt. Jamieson, of Valentine Doane's fishing fleet, on Saturday landed twenty-five thousand pounds of codfish, the product of five days' fishing.

The committee on music for Memorial Day have engaged (besides the Portsmouth Band) the Rochester Cornet Band, an organization that was down here on Memorial Day two or three years ago, and pleased and surprised our citizens by the quality of music they produced. The band had not then been long in existence, and it is probable has not deteriorated any since.

THE TEN-MILE RACE,

Saturday, on the Dover track, between Col. Frank W. Hilton's horse "Julius Cæsar" and Mr. Woodbury Locke's "Kanoza Boy," for $250 a side, was won by the former in 34 minutes and forty seconds—an average of three minutes and twenty-eight seconds to the mile. There were about 150 carriages on the grounds, and some five hundred people witnessed the race. Hilton's horse was driven by Golden, and Locke's by Dustin, both professional drivers. The start was effected at twenty minutes past three o'clock, the horses getting away on the second attempt, (Golden, Hilton's driver, having requested that the word might be given under any circumstances if he was behind at the score,) with "Kanoza Boy" slightly on the lead; but "Julius Cæsar" soon took the pole and kept it throughout the first and second miles, "Kanoza Boy" getting it on the third and keeping it throughout that mile (which was the only one in which he beat,) "Julius Cæsar" retaking it on the fourth mile and keeping it to the end of the race; the last two miles Col. Hilton's horse had an easy time of it, apparently, coming in at the finish on a jog-trot, shaking his head and seeming but little if any distressed. The time was as follows:

Miles	Minutes	Seconds
First	3	14
Second	3	7
Third	3	12
Fourth	3	11
Fifth	3	32
Sixth	3	29
Seventh	3	36

The Debris of the System

Must either pass through its natural channels of exit, the bowels, the kidneys and the pores, or, in default thereof, poison and disorder the fluids of the system. In order to effect the complete expulsion of this dangerous refuse, the organs through which it passes off must be active and unobstructed. Fortunately there is a certain means of rendering them so when they are not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stimulate the action of the excretory organs, and by diffusing a genial warmth through the circulation, encourage moderate perspiration. By this triple effect the exodus of the foecal and other waste matters are encouraged, and the system freed from peril it would otherwise incur. The action of the bowels which follows the use of this beneficent alterative is easy and unaccompanied by griping, and its stimulative effect upon the urinary organs very conducive to their local health.

Petroleum on Shingles.

In regard to applying petroleum to shingles to preserve them, a writer says: "It enters the pores of the wood at once and as it hardens makes it more compact in texture, and rather less liable to take fire. The petroleum also prevents the surface of the shingles from rising in downy fibres, or 'fuss,' and it is on the whole not so liable to fire from sparks when threatened with it. We have tried the experiment with shingles oiled some time previously, and find they are not so easily ignited by outside fire, although when once burning, they will of course, produce more flame than the wood without the petroleum." Petroleum is also very good to apply to the iron work and steel of farm implements to prevent their rusting when not in use. The crude article costs but $3.00 or $4.00 per barrel—the price may be higher at present—and it is useful to keep on hand. When an outbuilding or even your dwelling house is to be painted, one-half of the expense may be saved by applying a coat of petroleum with a fine whitewash brush; let it dry several weeks, and then put on one coat of paint, and by so doing a second coat of paint is rendered unnecessary.—The Farmer's Friend.

—The Brooklyn ferry company is annoyed by mobs of urchins, who buy their tickets by the package, and then peddle them out to passengers on the streets leading to the ferry, thereby robbing the company of many a full-rate transient fare. The juvenile speculators make a profit of twenty-eight per cent., which, as business goes, is quite princely, and the smartest of them often make from one to two dollars a day.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf; but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing adverse said to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy or vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any or said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

The Military Salute.

A correspondent of the Army and Navy Gazette writes: Within the last few years, among the many changes which have been introduced into the army is that of the salute. Why the old time-honored salute was abolished no one knows; but it is an interesting fact, and one probably unknown to most of our readers, that the old salute, which consisted of the hand being brought to a horizontal position over the eyebrows, has a very old origin, dating, in fact, from the very commencement of the history of the English army. Its origin is found in the tournaments of the middle ages, and was as follows: After the queen of beauty was enthroned, the knights who were to take part in the sports of the day marched past the dais on which she sat, and, as they passed, they shielded their eyes from the rays of her beauty. Such was the very interesting origin of the old salute; and it is a question worthy the attention of our military authorities, why should not the old salute, possessing such an origin, and associated with our army from the earliest time, be restored? It is difficult to discover for what purpose it was ever abolished.

Webster and the Highwayman.

Webster was on his way to his duties at Washington. He was compelled to proceed at night by stage from Baltimore. He had no travelling companion and the driver had a sort of felon look which produced no inconsiderable alarm in the Senator. "I endeavored to tranquilize myself," said Webster, "and had partly succeeded, when we reached the dark woods between Bladensburg and Washington—a proper scene for murder, or outrage—and here, I confess, my courage again deserted me. Just then the driver turned to me, and with a gruff voice, enquired my name. I gave it to him. 'Where are you going?' said he. The reply was 'To Washington. I am a Senator.' Upon this the driver seized me fervently by the hand, and exclaimed, 'How glad I am! I have been trembling in my seat for the last hour; for when I looked at you I took you to be a highwayman.'"

The Old Maid of the Period.

She don't shuffle round in "skimpt" raiment and awkward shoes and cotton gloves, nor has she hollow cheeks. The modern old maid is round and jolly, two dimples in her cheeks, and has a laugh as musical as a bobolink's song. She wears nicely fitting dresses, and cunning little ornaments about her plump throat, and becoming little knots and bows; she goes to concerts and parties, and suppers, and lectures, and matinees, and she don't go alone. She carries a dainty parasol and wears killing bonnets, and has live poets and philosophers in her train. In fact, the modern old maid is as good as the modern young maid—she has sense and conversation as well as dimples and curves—and she has a bank book and dividends.—Scrap Book.

A Queer Character.

A short time since some of the Boston papers noticed the death of Miss Joanna Farnham, about 80 years of age, and for a long series of years known as the housekeeper at the American House in Boston. She went from Milton, N. H., in her early days, and during her long life at the hotel nobody supposed she had any property, and at her death it was not generally known that she had a surplus dollar anywhere. But she had a trunk at the American House, which was opened and found to contain a variety of dry goods, notes for $5000 against the proprietor of the American House, a bank book of the Blackstone Bank showing depoits of $1700, a small sum of money, and also a piece of paper having a trunk key wrapped up in it, and on the paper was a writing stating that the key belonged to another trunk, which could be found at the house of a relative in Milton. This led to a visit to Milton, and some very curious developments were made. The trunk referred to as being at Milton was found, opened with the key found in the former trunk, and this second trunk was packed full of all sorts of fine wearing apparel, and contained also a key in a piece of paper, upon which was the statement that this key belonged to another trunk at a certain other house. And so this thing was followed up until twenty very large sized trunks and three huge packing chests were found, all crammed full of the most expensive articles of ladies' wearing apparel and house furnishings that the Boston market afforded. When these trunks and boxes were all collected they loaded down a four-ox team, and were drawn to a large hall in Milton, unpacked and inventoried, preparatory to an auction sale for the benefit of the heirs. Among all these valuables were eighty-nine dresses, new and perfect, made of silk velvet, satin, and all kinds of plaid silks, black and colored thibets, poplins, alpacas, brilliantines, cashmeres, etc., etc.; three silk velvet cloaks, nineteen shawls, from common to the richest Paisley and wrought crape; 106 skirts of all colors; 114 pairs of hose; undergarments too numerous to mention, counterpanes, blankets, coverlets, sheets, live geese feathers; sets of elegant China ware; a large lot of table and teaspoons of best coin silver, silver knives and forks; a fine gold watch and chain, and a large lot of fine jewelry, and so forth and so on. It is said that the best dress cost not less than $200. All of these goods are perfectly new and in the best order, never having been used at all. There is enough of the whole to stock a large store, and all in all it is the strangest legacy ever left by a poor housekeeper who worked for small wages all her life. Yet there is said to be no doubt that she came honestly by all, as it has since been ascertained where and of whom she purchased them at various times as she went along. The original cost of all these goods was not less than $3000, and the owner while she lived went clad all her days in the very cheapest sort of apparel.

The War.

Reports from Constantinople announce that the Sheik ul Islam has proclaimed a holy war, and that the Porte and the Turkish chamber are in opposition. It is also hinted that the present Sultan is likely to be soon put out of the way.

The Turks claim a victory at Ardahan, in Asia Minor, asserting that two Russian attacks were repulsed with great loss. Per contra, the Russian commander notifies his government that "The outworks of Ardahan, its fortifications, citadel of sixty guns, immense stores of provisions and ammunition, and the camp formerly occupied by fourteen battalions of Turks, lie at the feet of the Czar. On May 17th the admirable fire of our artillery, between three and six o'clock in the afternoon, made a breach in the walls. At six o'clock the Erivan, Tiflis and Baku regiments and the sappers advanced to assault. The enemy could not withstand the onslaught and fled, leaving a great number of dead. At nine o'clock our troops traversed the whole town and fortifications, the bands playing the National anthem. The troops are full of enthusiasm. Our loss is believed to be one officer and fifty soldiers killed and four officers and 180 soldiers wounded." Ardahan is an important fortified place, commanding a pass through a chain of mountains.

The Turks have really taken Soukgoum Kaleh, and have sent four large transports, with 10,000 troops and five batteries, our ironclads and a despatch boat, to hold the town and encourage the Circassian insurrections. The Turks report the Russians as having sacked and burned all the villages near, and massacred all the men, children and old women in true Turkish fashion.

A Wonderful Escape.

We have already reported the capsizing (on Wednesday, May 9th,) of schooner Codseeker, off Barrington, N. S., and the supposed loss of ten of her crew, the captain and two boys only escaping. Advices from Barrington now announce the arrival there on Saturday, May 12th, of four more of the Codseeker's crew; and that two others, cut out of the wrecked schooner's forecastle by an American schooner's crew on Sunday, the 13th, after being imprisoned from the time their vessel rolled over on Wednesday night, were safely landed there on the 14th. This is one of the most remarkable escapes ever recorded.

News and Notes.

There were half a dozen cases of sunstroke Friday in New York and Brooklyn, and two deaths from heat on Saturday.

The potato crop on Long Island is being entirely ruined by the potato bug.

Paul Valleau Cartier, a New York dancing master, waltzed for six hours on a stretch in New York, Friday evening, on a wager.

Marshal Austin arrived at Bristol, Tenn., Friday, with six illicit distillers, captured in Lee county, Va., a week ago. They were fired on by the outlaws last Monday, and Vandervitter, a citizen, was killed. Austin's party returned the fire, killing one and wounding three others. Sheriff Doyle, with a party of armed citizens, has gone in pursuit of the gang, and Gov. Kemper has promised aid to the United States officers to execute the Federal laws.

The steamer J. Bramall from New Haven, with munitions of war worth $1,000,000 for the Turkish army, arrived at Constantinople last Thursday.

Prof. Albert E. Carpenter, the mesmerist, under indictment at Worcester, Mass., for assault with intent to ravish on Mary E. Sterry, was released Saturday afternoon on $3500 bail, a despatch having been received from ex-Gov. Jewell of Hartford, Conn., directing H. H. Bigelow to furnish bail, and that he (Jewell) would see the bondsmen held harmless.

The steamer Sidonian, which exploded her boiler April 29th, on the passage from New York to England, killing the captain, three engineers, two bremen and one coal trimmer, arrived in Bristol Channel on Sunday, May 20th.

Near Arlington, Ky., Eli Fyle, a sixteen-year-old negro boy, attempted to outrage the wife of his employer, C. R. Fyle. Failing in his purpose he choked and beat her until he supposed her dead and threw her into a cistern. The water was only four feet deep, and Mrs. Fyle had sufficient presence of mind to tie her long hair around a projecting root. She remained in this position five hours and will recover.

The suit of Admiral Porter and other prominent naval officers for $3,000,000 prize money on account of their alleged participation in the capture of Richmond, has come to a disastrous conclusion. The Court below awarded $33,000. On appeal the decision is reversed with severe comments, the Court finding that the officers did not really participate in the capture, as is shown by the official reports of the officers themselves. The District Attorney characterized the suit as one of the most outrageous that had ever been brought, and the general opinion about the Court is that the high naval officers in the suit have placed themselves in a very unpleasant attitude before the country. Admiral Porter's own report in 1865 used this language, which shows that the navy then did not lay claim to the capture of Richmond: "As the movements have been regularly reported to the War Department, I have not deemed it necessary to report."

New Hampshire Items.

The body of Maria Clark, a young lady about 18 years old, was found floating in the canal at Manchester Sunday morning. She was an operative in the mills and has been missing from her boardinghouse seven weeks. The canals were dragged soon after her disappearance but without finding any trace. She was evidently driven to despair by the abandonment of her lover, a young unmarried man, who fled from the city two or three days before she committed suicide. Her relatives are respectable people living in Francestown.

Joseph Buzzell will be tried as accessary to the murder of Miss Hanson, of Brookfield. Several days ago Hon. Mason W. Tappan, the Attorney-General, communicated to the Justices of the Supreme Court his opinion that Buzzell can be tried as accessory to the murder before the fact, notwithstanding he has already been tried as principal. Cook, who made the confession, will be used as State's evidence. Buzzell's case will be presented to the Grand Jury at the October term of the Court for Carroll county, and there is no doubt but that he will be promptly indicted as accessory to the murder.

Ernest Lee Claflin of Hopkinton, Mass., a nephew of ex-Governor Claflin, and a student in Phillips Academy, was drowned in Exeter river on Saturday at noon. All attempts to recover his body proved futile during the evening. The search was kept up without intermission until Sunday morning at ten o'clock, when the body was found.

The loss of the Nashua Iron and Steel Company by the defalcation of Paymaster C. H. Collins, is not as large as was at first estimated. Upon further investigation of their books by the auditor, it is found that their loss will not exceed $3500. It is expected that Collins will return to Nashua the first of the week and that affairs will at once be settled satisfactorily to the company.

Political.

Governor Robinson of New York vetoed the item of the supply bill allowing $5000 for the "promotion of agriculture," but approved of the item giving $25,000 to the "Catholic Protectory" of New York city. Well, the returns show that agriculture did not do much toward electing Mr. Robinson, while the sponsors of the "C. P." made him Governor.

Ex-Governor Chamberlain told a reporter that all the negroes under the Hampton regime in South Carolina are kindly treated, and that there is no disposition manifested to maltreat them; that the State is at peace, and the whites and blacks alike devoting themselves to the development of the industries of the State. He also said that President Hayes's Southern policy was an experiment, the wisdom of which will only be known when it has had a fair trial.

The New York Evening Mail, referring to Governor Robinson's veto of the school bill, says that back of the reasons assigned, back even of the impelling power of Tammany, is another main cause of action, and its strictures will be easily recognized. "There has been going on for a long time," it says, "a silent revolution in the management of education. Here and there, by little and little, the deadly enemy of our system of free schools has won small victories. These victories are mainly the result of bargains made between this enemy and the democratic party. We see how it worked in this city, during the reign of Boss Tweed, when, in return for fifty thousand votes, the Boss secured illegal appropriations to the amount of nearly $1,500,000 for the schools and other private institutions of this powerful foe of free education. It is this foe that has instigated the veto."

"The Danicheffs."—Sara Jewett.

"The Danicheffs," which is now on the boards at the Globe Theatre, is, in some respects, the finest play ever produced there. For delicacy and purity of sentiment it commends itself to the most refined and fastidious. It is wonderful, and a promising sign of the times, that a play which cannot be called sensational, and which has no single character absorbing the chief interest of the spectator, thereby hiding the weakness of the plot and shielding the deficiences of the support, should be so successful. We have been so accustomed to the "one part" plays, that a well-distributed action and a finished performance of each has a novelty refreshing to everybody who knows that in art and in life, not exaggeration, but proportion is most beautiful.

The story of the Danicheffs is one of love and sacrifice:

"Of love that never found its earthly close Except through streaming eyes and breaking hearts."

It is not called a tragedy, but is tragic in many of its most impressive situations; not heroically so, but in a concurrence of circumstances and events which are the field of impassion and inevitable suffering, and in the sequel the happiness of the two long-tried lovers is overshadowed by the noble self-sacrifice of a third.

It would be too long to tell the whole story of "The Danicheffs." Vanity, pride, ambition, revenge, love and all the passions are wrought, in light and shade, throughout the piece.

Perhaps the two most interesting characters are Osip, the serf, and Anna, the serf girl. The latter character is played by Miss Sara Jewett, a lady well known in Portsmouth. She is loved by two men, the serf Osip and the Count Danicheff. She loves the Count, but is formally and legally, though not really married to Osip.

In the development of the plot which centers about her, she seems to have little else to do than "stand and wait." In fact we do not remember any modern play in which a chief character excites at once so much interest and says and does so little. It is something like a Greek tragedy, in which the chorus chants about the silent victim of divine wrath and chastisement the tale of all that has been, and foretells the suffering and compensation which must be. Anna stands motionless, awed and subdued by her mysterious fate. She cannot act; her wrongs come from her own household, from those she respects, leans upon and almost loves while they strike. She is a helpless spectator of the magnificent devotion and affection of two men who are at once most loyal to each other and to herself—they love each other and both passionately love her.

What can she do but await and submit to the solution which time and destiny alone can bring? To the sympathetic mind this is the most affecting thing in the play. It is so because it corresponds to woman's customary part in real human tragedy. Her capacity for suffering is greater, as her power of resistance is less than man's. She suffers, she weeps, she returns no blow, nor does she extricate herself from her perils otherwise than by yielding; but something in her nature often saves her in extremity, as the child's soft and unresisting limbs are saved in a thousand accidents which would undo the well-knit form of man.

Miss Jewett has herself, in a letter to a friend, given her conception of her own part in "The Danicheffs." We cannot quote the whole of it, but its substance is this:—and it will be seen that the woman and the actress are curiously blended in her ideas—she thinks the character of Anna is a cipher. She forgets her in her intense sympathy for the two men who love her, and so she cannot but wish for a part more absorbing, herself, although seeing that as a work of art the character completely fills the place for which it was intended. In brief, the woman is sufficiently interested and satisfied, but the actress wants a greater field for dramatic action. Anna seems to her a negative sort of woman, born to be content and to suffer, and therefore giving no scope for the higher flights of passion and speech which the aspiring artist covets. But her critics and friends cannot quite agree with her; for nothing finer could be imagined than Miss Jewett's poetic interpretation and rendering of the part of Anna. It will certainly be appreciated, as it has been, by those whose applause is more far-reaching, if not so loud, as those who laugh where they should cry, and who do not recognize the latent power of a movement, a gesture, a look, the eloquence of silence and the graceful energy of repose.

We understand that while in Boston Miss Jewett will have a benefit as Juliet, where she will have ample opportunity for the range and depth of her powers, and her friends and the public an occasion for testifying their appreciation of an accomplished woman and a finished actress. J. A.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the last three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. For nearly all the pain and bowel enitures and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.
WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.
WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.
Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."
EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Intrigued him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, you, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE
DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most obstinate they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Mr. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.
Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy are Headache.
LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
MESSRS. W. LANE—Sirs:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

ABOUT SERVANTS.

Messrs. Editors: I clipped the following local item from the Times of Saturday evening on account of the flippant, shoddy aristocracy that it contains, and I desire to comment upon the drift of it:

The thorough independence of "servantgalism" now-a-days was well illustrated in this city. It seems that a few days ago a servant living with a West End family (who had only recently employed her) was requested by the lady of the house to procure from the cellar a bottle of cider for dinner. The lady was rather taken aback on hearing the girl reply about as follows: "No marm; I've got conscientious scruples agin that thing; besides, the Lord won't let me do any such thing', and considerable more of like import. The result was that her services were no longer needed, and the family have now another servant.

No honorable man or woman of good common democratic sense can read the foregoing without getting a good impression of the character of that girl, whoever she may be. There is involved in that refusal a fearless conscientiousness that is to be admired, rather than ridiculed as it is in the above item. It was simply a rigid adherence to what she considered to be her duty in reference to the pledge that she had doubtless taken—"not to touch, taste or handle,"—and she stood firm and true to her convictions at the sacrifice of her place. If we had a temperance reform club made up of such stock, or a community composed of such conscientious individuals, we could challenge the world for virtue and integrity. And it is with feelings of regret mingled with shame that we learn from the same item that the parties who employed the girl did not have a sufficient admiration for true devotion to principle (even though they might have differed from the servant in opinion and have thought the idea ridiculous) to retain her in their service. I don't want to know the names of the master and mistress who thus made asses of themselves, but I would really like to know the name of the young woman who exhibited such a degree of moral courage. I will guarantee that she shall not be a great while without employment. * * *

POLICE COURT.

Monday, May 21st.

Samuel Hill and his wife Mabel, Robert H. Minge and Peter Williams (all colored) were brought up and tried for creating a brawl and tumult in Jefferson street Sunday evening. Williams, at the time the officers arrived at the seat of war, was standing on the doorstep of the next house; he went quietly to the station with the officers, but flatly denied having been engaged in the rumpus, and as there was no positive evidence that he had been he was released by the Court. The others were fined $8 each and one-third the costs, $8.40.

JOTTINGS.

This (Tuesday) evening, at Franklin Hall, Callender's Georgia Minstrels will give one of their favorite entertainments. The Boston Journal says of this troupe: "As to the merits of this company, it is enough to say that any one who attends their performances, is in danger of falling into a chronic state of laughter. The troupe is made up of gentlemen whose faces vary in shade—from the lightest mulatto, to those upon whom charcoal would leave a white mark. The troupe must be heard and seen to be appreciated. No minstrel company has ever enjoyed such popularity. Their success has been immense." Other papers—the Post, Traveller, Herald, etc.,—are equally warm in their commendations, and all agree that there is absolutely nothing approaching immodesty or low vulgarity in the programme or performance of the Georgians, while there is much fun and genuine music. Advertisement in another column.

The wreck of ship Frank Jones was sold for the second time at San Francisco on the 11th inst., and brought $700. Mr. A. Powell was the purchaser.

The yacht built by Mr. William Dixon at his yard at Kittery Point for Capt. Decatur, was launched Saturday afternoon.

At the annual meeting of the Methodist society, held on Friday evening, the following officers were elected: President, John H. Broughton; Trustees, John H. Broughton, Stephen W. Clarke, William C. Newton, Daniel McIntire, Samuel Cottle, Andrew Gardner, John F. Leavitt; Secretary, Daniel McIntire; Treasurer, Edwin H. Leslie.

Those who never saw a pine-apple growing and don't know how it looks, can see one on its stalk and surrounded by its uncomfortable leaves, by looking into the show window of Mr. Wm. B. Lowd's bookstore. This pine-apple plant and the cocoa-nut "in the husk" which lays beside it, were brought from Harbor Island, one of the Bahamas, in Valentine Doane, Jr's, schooner Mayor Jones, which arrived at this port on Sunday evening from New York. The Mayor Jones has been in the fruit carrying trade all winter, and arrived at New York from her last trip on Saturday, May 12th, after experiencing some very heavy weather on the coast, which she rode out with but trifling damage. She brought a load of salt with her from New York; discharged her salt and fitted for fishing on Monday, and on Monday evening was all ready for a trip mackereling. No great amount of time wasted there.

On Thursday evening, May 24th, Harry Bloodgood's Combination will give one of their select entertainments at Franklin Hall. No doubt our citizens will appreciate the agent's good judgment in reducing the rates, giving those who are disposed an opportunity to purchase reserved seats at the reduced price of 50 cents, while the admission will be 35. Harry Bloodgood needs no introduction to a Portsmouth audience, and his present troupe is highly commended. The Lawrence American speaks of their entertainments in flattering terms, their performance having given such satisfaction in that city as to lead to a most successful repetition the week following its first presentation. The programme includes minstrelsy, burlesque sketches, songs, dances, and general variety business which cannot fail to interest and amuse. Harry Bloodgood will appear in new sketches.

"Governor Goodwin" is to be the name of the large ship of 1700 tons now building at East Boston by Campbell & Brooks, and to be commanded by Capt. William Lester of Stratham. She will be ready to launch in June, and promises to be one of the best vessels in the country and a fast sailer as well. She is destined for the East India trade.

The Dover Democrat, in an item announcing the formation of a Drum Corps in Dover and urging the citizens to give it generous support, pays the following merited compliment to the Kearsarge Flute and Drum Band of this city: "This Company patterns, we suppose, from the famous Portsmouth Drum Corps, which discoursed such excellent music on our streets during the last Presidential campaign. We trust they may become as proficient in handling the drum-sticks as the Portsmouth brethren."

The second annual session of the Rockingham County Sunday School Convention is to be held at the Middle street Baptist church on Tuesday, May 29, commencing at ten o'clock A. M. This convention is composed of schools of all Protestant denominations in the county. Reports of the Sunday schools will be read, blackboard exercises given, and an essay presented by Rev. George E. Street of Exeter.

Persons out in boats in the lower harbor on Sunday report the flying of many very large flocks of coots, or some sea-fowl about the size of coots. One man, familiar with the coast for thirty years or more, tells us he never saw so many birds of the duck kind before in the same length of time.

Mr. John C. Philbrick and daughter, of Rye, returned on Monday from a six weeks' tour to California.

The Supreme Court resumed its session before Judge Doe at Exeter, Monday morning, case McIntire vs. Eastern Railroad being the first on trial.

RAILROAD WAR SETTLED.

The Boston Journal says: "We are sure that parties living on the lines of the Boston & Maine Railroad and Eastern Railroad, and the public generally, will hear with satisfaction that a committee representing the directors of both corporations have come to an amicable settlement of all the difficulties pending between the two roads. The committee representing the Boston & Maine were intrusted with full powers, and the committee representing the Eastern Railroad require the indorsement of the trustees, which will no doubt be given at an early moment. This settlement includes all law suits growing out of the contest and an equalization of charges on through freight upon terms satisfactory to both parties. It is a cause for congratulation that what seemed an irrepressible conflict has been terminated. The traveling public will lose nothing, and the stockholders will be benefited. Time which has been devoted to the study of legal quibbles will be devoted to the development of the property. Money which has been used to defray expenses incident to litigation will be saved to the treasury, and what is quite as important, these two competing roads will now be relieved of a fight for through freight, and will see that it is for their interest to study the possible resources of their own roads. The result must be beneficial."

—Do you know, ye who have insurance on your pictures in your houses, that unless your policy reads so much on pictures and frames that the frames are not insured but only the pictures contained therein?

—Very little is known of a remarkable natural curiosity in southern Illinois in the shape of a natural bridge. It is near Pomona, on the Cairo and St. Louis Railroad, and is a wonderful freak of nature. It is of pure sandstone, one hundred feet in length on top, and seventy-six feet from one abutment to the other. It is sixty feet high, and nine feet broad on the top. The average thickness is nine feet, and a team is said to have crossed it in perfect safety.

—In France recently a divorce case attracted a large crowd of ladies. The Judge remarked that he was sorry to see so many of the fair sex present, and he felt it his duty to notify them that some of the evidence would bring a blush to the face of any virtuous woman. Several ladies retired at once. The Judge added, after looking at those which remained, "Proceed, Mr. Counsellor, all the honest women have left."

—"Not lost, but gone before," exclaimed the man when his hat blew off and ahead of him.

—Charles, playfully—"How much, really, did that hat cost, Jennie?" Jennie, archly—"If you really want to inspect the bills for my dry goods, Charles, there is a way to do it." And what else could Charles do but propose on the spot?

—"Were you a member of the army?" asked the traveller of the wooden-legged man from West Hill. "Yes, sir," was the reply; "I was membered by a recruiting officer, dismembered by a rebel artillerist, and remembered by peg-leg manufacturer."

Equal Rights to All.

While this is the spirit of the constitution, the teachings of many directly oppose it. For example, the man who largely advertises dry goods, hardware, or Government bonds, is regarded by all as an enterprising benefactor—perhaps philanthropist; while he who advertises family medicines (no matter how universally acknowledged their merits) is denounced by some as a quack. Do all enjoy equal rights? Those who thus condemn may attempt to justify themselves by pointing to the worthless nostrums that flood the country. If that were a sufficient reason, why not condemn all dry good merchants and bankers, because some unprincipled knaves deal in shoddy goods or bogus bonds? Is it not as sensible?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the standard remedy for the cure of coughs, colds and incipient consumption. As an alterative, when used in connection with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, it will effectually overcome torpid liver and constipation. In skin diseases it has no equal.

The Debris of the System

Must either pass through its natural channels of exit, the bowels, the kidneys and the pores, or, in default thereof, poison and disorder the fluids of the system. In order to effect the complete expulsion of this dangerous refuse, the organs through which it passes off must be active and unobstructed. Fortunately there is a certain means of rendering them so when they are not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stimulate the action of the excretory organs, and by diffusing a genial warmth through the circulation, encourage moderate perspiration. By this triple effect the exodus of the foecal and other waste matters are encouraged, and the system freed from peril it would otherwise incur. The action of the bowels which follows the use of this beneficent alterative is easy and unaccompanied by griping, and its stimulative effect upon the urinary organs very conducive o their local health.

Gaps in the Ranks.

The finest teeth will decay, and drop out of the dental line, unless due care is taken to neutralize the impurities with which they are liable to be infested. Sozodont is the only preparation at present known that accomplishes this object with absolute certainty and keeps the enamel spotless.

Spalding's Glue makes broken things stronger than ever.

The most excellent attributes to the success of a first-class hotel are courteous treatment, a well-appointed cuisine, and well-furnished rooms. You can find all these at the Colonnade Hotel in Philadelphia.

We learn that Dr. Kinsman has refused a very large sum for the recipe from which the celebrated Adamson's Balsam is made. This is one of the most valuable cough remedies ever placed in the market; its sales are enormous, and not a single failure to cure is reported. Price 35 cts.

IF YOU WISH THE BEST, buy Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa. It is pure, healthful, and cheap. Sold the world over by leading grocers.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Daily Chronicle.

—A story is told of a shrewish Scotchwoman who tried to wean her husband from the public-house by employing her brother to act the part of a ghost and frighten John on his way home. "Who are you?" said the guidman, as the apparition rose before him from behind a bush. "I am Auld Nick," was the reply. "Come awa', man," said John, nothing daunted; "gie's a shake o' your hand—I am married tae a sister o' yours."

—The Japanese ambassador at Berlin has just been married to Fraulein von Bade, the daughter of a Pomeranian nobleman. The civil ceremony was performed at Berlin, but none of the evangelical clergy there would bestow the blessing of the Church on the union of a Christian with a Buddhist. The religious sanction was therefore sought at Bremen, and was given by Dr. Manchot, minister of the Church of St. Rembert, in that city.

—A parson, who was not over promptly paid by his parishioners on entering the church one Sabbath morning, met one of the most wealthy of his flock and asked the loan of a sovereign. "Certainly," said the man, at the same time handing over the coin. Dominie put it into his pocket, and preached his preach in most capital style, and, on coming down, handed the identical sovereign to the man from whom he borrowed it. "Why," exclaimed the leader, "you have not used the money at all." "It has been of great service to me, nevertheless," replied the parson; "I always preach so much better when I have money in my pocket." The hint was taken, and the rest of his salary was got together the following afternoon.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians and the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before we was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the inclemency of the ever changeable and trying climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall not be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any offal, or dead beasts, fish or any kind of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the City. Nor shall any fishermen of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the City, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive matter, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his hand into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success; and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My DEAR SIR:—Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

The State and Court of Monaco.

The Principality of Monaco, like bigger States, rejoices in its own red-book, from the pages of which may be gleaned much useful information. It would appear that the interests of the principality require that it should be represented abroad by two "Envoys Extraordinary and Ministers Plenipotentiary," and by 48 consuls or vice-consuls.

The internal administration is conducted by a Governor-General, a Secretary-General, 3 Councillors of State, 1 Secretary of State, 1 Bishop, 11 priests, 1 Chancellor and 1 Secretary of the Order of St. Charles, 13 Judges, 1 Treasurer-General, 1 Councillor for Naval Affairs, 1 Port Captain and 1 Port Lieutenant, 1 Artillery Guardsman, 1 editor of the official journal, 1 Chief of the Police, 12 "agents" and 28 carbineers or gendarmes. The military force of the State consists, in addition to the 1 Artillery Guardsman, of 1 Colonel, 1 Captain, 1 Lieutenant, 5 non-commissioned officers and 63 soldiers.

The court of Monaco embraces a household establishment of respectable dimensions, including, as it does, a chaplain, an honorary chaplain, two aides-de-camp, an orderly officer, a chamberlain, a secretary, a physician-in-chief, a commandant of the palace, an aide-de-camp to the hereditary Prince, a lady of honor to the Prince's mother, and "5 superior officers of the guards of honor."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Bartholdi's Colossal "Liberty."

In an article entitled "France to America," in Scribner for June, occurs the following description of Bartholdi's Colossal "Liberty," which is to stand in the harbor of New York:

Allowing twenty feet for the height of the island above the water, the pedestal is to be one hundred and ten feet high, and the statue, to the flame of the torch, one hundred and forty-five. This makes the torch at least two hundred and seventy-five feet above the level of the bay. It will equal in height the column in the Place Vendome at Paris, and will be larger than the colossus of Rhodes, so much celebrated by antiquity. Like that statue, it will have to be cast in pieces of manageable size, and built up much after the manner of an armored frigate. The construction will be a curious piece of engineering skill, for which the sculptor and Mr. de Stuckle will be responsible. At night it is proposed that a halo of jets of light shall radiate from the temples of the enormous goddess, and perhaps the flame of the torch may be fashioned in crystal, in order that it may catch the light of the sun by day, and at night form a glowing object illuminated by electricity.

In respect to the pose of the statue, that has been calculated with care. A Liberty would have to be draped, even if a draped statue were not advisable in a climate so cold as ours, where nude figures suggest extreme discomfort. But M. Bartholdi has also used his drapery to give a tower-like, and therefore solid look to this lofty woman, without forgetting the necessity for variety in the upward lines. Or perhaps it would be better to say that he has followed the laws of stability to be seen in the trunks of trees, which are very broad at the ground, where the roots are indicated, yet by no means of one monotonous breadth from the root to the branches.

She will stand so as to suggest that the strongest hurricane could never budge her from the pedestal she has chosen. Her gesture is meant to call the attention of the most distant person, and, moreover, to let him know unmistakably what the figure means. For in this statue, also, M. Bartholdi has applied his science to fine effect in getting the figure outlined against the sky, while the energetic attitude has not interfered with a certain dignified repose which inheres in the resting position which may be owing to the weight of the body being thrown on the left leg, as well as to the grave folds of ample drapery. Even if a stranger approaching from the Narrows should not know at once what she is holding up to see, the energy of her action will awaken his curiosity, and the dignity of it will make him await a nearer approach with confidence. When he can make out the tablets of the law which jut from her left side as they rest on her bent arm, and the flaming torch which she holds high up above her head, while her eyes are fixed on the horizon, he will be dull indeed if he does not understand what she wishes to tell.

—The excuse a base ball nine put in, this summer, for non appearance on the field was that the "pitcher was full."

—A dreamy writer says it would be curious to follow a pound of silk from its spinning until it became a lady's dress. No doubt; but most men would prefer to follow in after it became a dress, and the lady was in it.—New York Mail.

—A one-legged Welsh orator named Jones was pretty successful in buttering an Irishman, when the latter asked him, "how did you come to lose your leg?" "Well," said Jones, "on examining my pedigree and looking up my descent, I found there was some Irish blood in me, and becoming convinced it was all settled in that left leg, I had it cut off at once." "By the powers," said Pat, "it 'ud 'av been a deuced good thing if it had only settled in yer head."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 23, 1877.

A Frightful Accident.

The iron steamship Saratoga was to have been launched from John Roach's shipyard at Chester, Penn., at nine o'clock on Tuesday, but for some reason she started before the time fixed, and before the workmen were notified. Some forty of them were under the vessel and a number were killed and injured. The scene after the vessel had left the ways was most frightful and sickening. The bodies of the dead were scattered in every direction. Two were cut in half, others had arms and legs severed, and everything was covered with blood. Five men were literally ground to pieces beneath the moving vessel, two others were fatally injured, and three are missing; in addition, many were less seriously wounded.

Life Insurance.

As a matter of interest to those holding policies, we copy the following from the Boston Journal: "From a perusal of the twenty-seventh annual report of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company of Maine, presented to the directors by President De Witt, we are convinced of the fact that the policy of the management is such as not only to increase the confidence of those insured in this great institution, but to largely augment its business. The key-note of Mr. De Witt's management is to deal honestly and aboveboard with the public, to be economical in expenditure, prudent in investment, frugal in promises, prompt in payment, to win confidence by stating facts as they actually are, and so managing affairs as to do nothing that one would care to conceal; and to so invest funds as to have ready money when it was wanted. Few companies can excel the record of the Union Mutual Life, and a plainer report was never presented to policy-holders than the one we have been reading. The assets of the company have been marked down to hard-pan figures, and in referring to this fact, the Insurance Commissioners of Maine and Massachusetts believe that the estimated shrinkage will ultimately recover a very considerable margin. The system of non-lapsing policies, under the Maine non-forfeiture law, modelled after the law of our own State, is one of the special advantages which the Union Mutual now offers, and which will prove highly beneficial to policy-holders."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.

Recent utterances by Mr. John Goode, Jr., of the Second Virginia (Norfolk) district shows that he has actively entered the lists for the honors of the Speakership of the Forty-fifth Congress, making, eight democrats who have already tendered their invaluable services; and there yet remains about four months during which other aspirants can file their claims and impress the public with their peculiar qualifications. Goode's election is conceded to have been clearly fraudulent, by those familiar with the facts of the campaign in his district, and the decision of the contest for the seat between him and Mr. Platt, his republican competitor, a shameless outrage upon the theory of majority rule. Just before the final decision (which it was generally supposed would seat Mr. Platt, the evidence conclusively proving his election) the committee on banking and currency was driven to a vote on the repeal of the resumption act. According to the best information attainable, Goode was classed among those opposed to the repeal, making the members evenly divided; but the vote disclosed the fact that Goode had voted with the inflationists. "One Goode turn deserves another." He was freely charged with having sold his vote to them in return for theirs in his favor. Whether the charges of venality were well founded or otherwise, that element voted to seat him, and the iniquity was consummated by a bare majority, many democrats refusing to ignore the facts and voting for Platt's admission.

Now that the consideration of more important matters has been disposed of or deferred, Banning's right to a seat in the present Congress is again a subject of discussion. It will be remembered that he was declared elected over Stanley Matthews by a very meagre majority. Matthews' election to the Senate removed all danger of a contest; but it is claimed that Congress has the right to declare the seat vacant in view of the confessions of Eph Holland and Charley Young, either of whom cast more votes for Banning than enough to cancel his alleged majority. In the face of all the proven democratic frauds, the majority of democratic Congressmen are not credited with sufficient cheek to vote in favor of sustaining such a burlesque upon a fair election.

The present war and its threatened colossal proportions in the immediate future has invested the matter of the right of search and seizure of neutral ships at sea with more than ordinary importance. It appears that we have treaties with France, Prussia, Brazil, Sweden, Netherlands, several South American States, Spain, Holland and a few other powers, clearly defining the rights and duties of the searchers and the searched. It is stipulated that the vessel making the search shall remain beyond gun-shot range of the party suspected of carrying contraband goods, and only send one or two small boats with a small force to make an examination. The certificates relative to the nature of the cargo, where from and to, are bound to be accepted in good faith. Neither the batches nor packages are to be opened without bringing the vessel to port, and only then in the presence of competent officers; nor can the commander of the suspected vessel be required to leave his ship. The treaties with Great Britain and Russia are silent relative to all these particulars; the honesty or dishonesty of the ship's papers largely governing with the other nations named. By English laws, cannon, muskets, gunpowder, pikes, swords, horse furniture, ship timber, resin, tar, copper in sheets, etc., are, under certain obvious circumstances recognized as contraband. Our treaties generally confiscate what is really contraband, leaving the vessel and balance of cargo free, and in other cases the common law would apply.

Many of the intelligent here, who sympathise with every sincere effort abroad towards the substitution of republican government for the present monarchial and absolute forms, note with alarm the grave situation in France. It is felt that McMahon has allowed himself to be used as an instrument by all the reactionary elements of that country, including Bonapartists, Monarchists, Legitimatists, and Clericalists, to the destruction of the Republic by a coup d' etat movement. They have succeeded in forcing a rupture between the President, never a republican at heart, and his moderately republican Cabinet; and by the law of natural selection he has gone among the enemies of the present Government for his new Cabinet, some of the names of those composing it rendering it certain that the Republic has nothing to hope for from their Administration; and additional intelligence from the French Capital is awaited with profound anxiety. True to their instincts, many representative democrats do not seek to hide their gratification at the evidences of reaction across the water, and I am forced to believe from the sentiments expressed that the success of the present conspiracy to uproot the Republic will be hailed as a democratic triumph.

It is conceded that Gladstone has succeeded to driving the Tory Government of Great Britian into a clear definition of its purposes relating to Russia. The discussion has made apparent the fact that a minority of the present Government will never consent to a declaration of war against that power, so long as she confines herself strictly to obtaining guarantees that will hereafter protect the Christian subjects of Turkey from the barbarities of the past, and abstains from all attempts at territorial aggrandizement.

It would surprise no one here who has given any attention to European matters, to learn at any time that Austria has occupied Servia, followed by the active participation in the war of every other power in Europe, ranging themselves according to their own supposed interests upon the Russian or Turkish side. NNOX.

GREENLAND, May 22.

The old Brackett Academy is being thoroughly renovated, and fitted with modern appliances for a town hall and schoolroom. The school taught by Miss Merrill is held in the Eclectic Club rooms, next door east of the Masonic Hall, during the time occupied in refitting the academy. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupation by the 1st of September, and a full and flourishing school is hoped for that shall fill a want long felt in this community.

RYE, May 21st.

The proposals for building the roads advertised for by the Selectmen, were opened on Saturday; and bids as follows were made, and the contract for the road from John O. Foss to E. W. Lang's awarded to Joseph R. Holmes of Portsmouth, his being the lowest bid:

Joseph R. Holmes,	$863
Richard P. Goss,	875
Supply F. Trefethen,	973
George H. Seavey,	1247
Obed Rand,	1315
G. G. Lougee,	1600
Jenness Marden,	1789
Aaron Rand,	1717
John F. Locke,	1960

This road is to be finished by the 1st of June, 1878; is 231 rods in length, and will be quite an accommodation to the residents on the Beach Road, who will save half a mile in going to Portsmouth. The road was laid out by the County Commissioners some three or four years ago, and the town has been fighting it ever since, at an expense of nearly one-half of what the road will cost, which goes to show (in the minds of many tax-payers) that the most economical way to do is to go to work and build a road, after it is laid out, instead of going to law about it. Four bids were handed in for the road from the Farragut House to North Hampton line—the lowest by E. B. Philbrick, Esq., to whom the contract was awarded. The bids were as follows:

Joseph R. Holmes,	$550
Albion R. Philbrick,	410
G. G. Lougee,	340
Emmons B. Philbrick,	300

This road is 54 rods long, and is to be completed by the 15th of July. This, it is fondly hoped by the great majority of the tax-payers, will be the last that will be heard of new roads for twenty years at least, and that whatever is to be done in that direction hereafter will be for the improvement of those now in existence.

Potato bugs have made their appearance and are reported as being extremely lively.

The prospect for much of a crop of apples is not encouraging, except on the line of the seashore, and from quarter to half a mile back therefrom. It is a singular circumstance, that the apple trees there bear in the "odd years," while everywhere else, it is the "even years" that yield.

The warm weather of the past week has brought out the leaves, and started up the grass and clover, so that the face of nature wears a beautiful and green aspect. All the varieties of birds have arrived, including the bobolinks, Baltimore orioles and humming birds, which put in an appearance the past week. Mosquitoes have also come out, seemingly with more than their usual inclination for tormenting folks—and in numbers, far in excess of any demand.

Miss Bailey, of Portsmouth, who has a class in music at the Town Hall on Saturday afternoons, proposes to give a Floral Entertainment at that place on Thursday evening next, consisting of readings and musical exercises,—assisted by a fine soprano, and Miss Susie Ham, contralto.

John D. Marston, Esq., of Breakfast Hill, it is reported is soon to open a law office in Boston.

There is a fine opportunity at present for the curious-minded to see the stumps at Jenness' beach, at low water. A recent visit there was rewarded by a good sight of two hundred or more of these stumps, as well as some logs, all of which have been there apparently many hundreds (and perhaps thousands) of years, and are in a good state of preservation now, and likely to last many years to come. It is supposed by some that there was formerly a swamp there, as the stumps are cedar,—at any rate, it is evident that the ocean did not always ebb and flow over that particular spot as it does now. Nerves That Quiver, Heads that ache, stomachs that inflict dyspeptic torments, muscles and joints racked with the rheumatism, are infallibly restored to health by the celebrated elixir, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine prescribed by physicians, possessing infinite purity, and which no one takes in vain who is afflicted with any of the numerous complaints to which it is adapted. It frequently happens that so-called remedies fail to produce a permanent effect. This is because they are merely palliatives, and therefore do not remove the cause of the maladies, whose symptoms they after after a time cease to ameliorate. This is notably the case with opiates and sedative drugs. It is not so, however, with Hostetter's Bitters, which are a searching specific that conquers the disease as well as banishes its indicia.

Acidity of the stomach will destroy the strongest teeth, unless its effects be counteracted with Sozodont. This pure vegetable antacid and disinfectant protects the dental surfaces by removing every impurity that adheres to them, and preventing the formation of tartar.

A wretched mistake! Not to buy Spalding's Glue.

"Hurrah for the next who dies," exclaims the irreverent host. Better hurrah for the man who lives by using Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. It cures coughs, colds and lung difficulties. Price 35 cents.

A CENTURY is almost beyond the existence of any American business house, but for this long period Walter Baker & Co's great Chocolate manufactory has been a pride to Boston. Increasing years add testimonials of excellence from all parts of the world. Their goods are for sale all over the country, and are deservedly popular.

The most excellent attributes to the success of a first-class hotel are courteous treatment, a well-appointed cuisine, and well-furnished rooms. You can find all these at the Colonnade Hotel in Philadelphia.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, will sustain its well-merited popularity, and earn greater, by the sensible reduction of its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 20 of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not see them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Whatthelped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partially relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and hardly relieved, feeling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well, they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. M. M. Modlin, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Lover Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1876.

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.
